COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1945. 136th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 29. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, MAY 2, 1945. No. 55.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, MAY 2, 1945.

The Senate met at 3:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time. The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Creator, Preserver and Ruler of the world, we pray for our country, that her life and government may be established on the abiding rock of righteousness and justice, the only foundation on which a lasting peace for the world can be built.

Whatever differences there may be as to method of attaining world peace, may Thy Spirit so operate in the hearts and minds of ourselves and our allies that harmony may be reached and good will follow.

We pray that the prominence our country holds in the councils of the nations may inspire our leaders with the wisdom and the will to accept the responsibility of leadership. And may all the people support their every effort to effect an organization that will bind the nations of the world in a league for mutual protection and benefit.

We have faith to believe that the angels' song of "Peace on earth, good will to men" can be realized in our time. May we be wise enough to see this and big-hearted enough to adopt it for ourselves and for all the world.

We pray for the President and his advisers, for the Governor and his cabinet, for the Lieutenant-Governor and the members of this body, that the wisdom to see and the purpose to do the will of God may be theirs.

In the name of our divine leader, Christ the Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor, John C. Bell, Jr.) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Butler will proceed.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President and members of the Senate, in my mail this morning I received a piece of literature, literature of that form which to me is the vilest that the world knows anything about, literature that is unsigned by the sender, for the purpose of concealing his identity from the receiver of it. This purports to be from a Republican of Butler County, my home county, where I am well known, and where I think I have been favorably known as a man who believes in religion.

I am going to read that letter into the records of this day's session. It is dated at Harrisburg, Pa., May 1, 1945, and is as follows:

Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, May 1, 1945.

"Jacob W. Carr
Senator from Butler County
State Capitol
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

"Dear Sir:

"Last night I was at the Senate's hearing of the Holland Fair Employment Practices Bill and, when the vote was taken, heard you vote "No."

"Such a stand as you deliberately took is incredible considering the fact that you have been a religious leader in Butler County. Do you think one's religious attitude can be taken seriously when he uses his political influence against his fellow man because he does not happen to have as light a complexion or be of American or Gentile birth?

"In the sight of God all men are brothers, regardless of color. God does not have a heaven reserved for the white people only but one in which the white and black will mingle together. Only with such philosophy, entirely free of prejudice, can one really get a vision of the Brotherhood of Man. Having such a vision, one automatically becomes a liberal.

"The progressive thinker can no longer be a Republican or member of any other party if it means closing his heart and mind to the plight of the minority groups in this country and saying "I am better than you. I was born white, an American, a Gentile, therefore I am better than you. I resent the idea of your having an equal opportunity to earn a living and will use my political influence to crush you and keep you down, no matter how worthy or capable you are, or how many of your sons and brothers have lost their lives in this war, defending me. You must content yourself to remain a menial."

"That's what you did last night when you voted "No."

"You, a man of the pulpit, have the opportunity to mould public opinion, free the narrow minds of the people of Butler County from the shackles of prejudice, selfishness and bigotry and liberalize their thinking. After all these years you haven't even started. Your voting "No" last night indicates that.

"The silly excuse given last night that there is a tradition never to discharge a committee was simply subterfuge and didn't fool anyone. If all committees fulfilled their duties as they should, there would never be the need to discharge. The House and Senate have the right to discharge, regardless of any hidebound tradition and could use it if they wanted to. There is always a first time for everything. The first time could have been last night if the members of the Senate had had the vision of democracy and the desire to make it work. And you did not use your influence in behalf of democracy—you voted "No."

"On a political measure such as fair employment practices, reactionary beliefs spell prejudice, selfishness of entrenched power, incompatible with a living Christianity. One may claim to be a Christian, may talk his religion, but if he doesn't use it, what good is it? Such a person is, pure and simple, a hypocrite. If you have religion and Christianity, why don't you use it—you didn't use it when you voted "No" last night. It's time you woke up to the fact that this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is a democracy, that you were elected to defend and advance its cause and give the farmers of Butler County a vision of democracy in action.

"Preaching all the platitudes in the world will avail you nothing if you don't show by your vote your love for your fellow man, regardless of his complexion or how much money is in his pocket. How can you pray "Thy kingdom come" when you use your influence to prevent its coming and the world's consciousness of the brotherhood of man by voting "No" as you did last night?

"Your "No" cannot be pardoned by your lack of experience as a Senator. You surely have enough courage to take a stand for the right even though it means disagreeing with your colleagues and not letting them push you around and bulldoze you. Or have you?

"Religion that ends with the individual, ends. Doesn't your "No" last night indicate something is wrong with yours?

"What will the real Christians, the people of foreign extraction, the Jews and negroes of Butler County think of you when they learn (and never fear, they will learn) that you voted "No" last night on the Fair Employment Practices Bill?

A Registered Republican of Butler County."

Signed on the typewriter, with an envelope enclosing it that has no address on it, "A Registered Republican of Butler County.

Gentlemen of the Senate, I submit to you that is one of the most cowardly attacks that was ever made on a member of this body. I have my right to be conscientious as to whether or not I believe the fair employment practice bill to be a solution of the problem that has been confronting our country ever since the poor men of the black race were brought in shackled from their far off home in Africa, or I have a right to believe this bill is not the answer to the problem. I have a right to believe that those who presented this bill were not presenting it as an answer to the problem; I have a right to believe that it was presented for the sincere and simple purpose of bringing confusion and chaos to pass in this country of ours, in order that men who have a different philosophy of Democracy, which is called Communism, could get into a position where they might upset our government that has been so successful and under which we, black, white, Jew, Gentile, Italian, German, Irish—and my ancestors were both Irish and German—have lived together in this country in peace and happiness during all of its experience. And I have a right to believe my Christian duty is to protect this country of ours and all its citizens from anything that I believe would tend to engender hatred and bitterness in the hearts of men, more than exists at present. I believe that about the fair employment practice bill, that it would not create a better feeling among those various groups of people who make up the citizenry of our country, but that it would tend to separate more and more, and bring into antagonism against one another more and more, the different kinds of people who happen to have a different color of skin, or who happen to have had a different origin, or who happen to have had a different creed than I have.

It is my opinion—and I perhaps should have said this to explain my vote—it is my opinion that this bill would not accomplish the purpose for which it is idealisticly intended, that it would not bring peaceful relations between these different people, but that its whole accomplishment would be the engendering of more and more differences, more and more hatreds, more and more bitterness, between men who are Americans, and they are just as dear to me as they are to any other man in this country. May I say, Mr. President and my friends, that I have stood in the pulpits of the African Methodist church and that I have proclaimed the Gospel to these men whom I consider my brothers under the skin, even though their skin is black, and I can shake the hands of those men and look them in the eye. I have talked with some of them since this bill was put before us and they have said "you are right." And I can tell you that I have been invited by a Jewish congregation of my own community to come and stand in their pulpit, on D-Day in Europe, to speak to them from their own pulpit, and I have been invited to their synagogue time and again to speak to their women and to their men, because they know me to be fair, they know me to be just, they know me to be honest, they know me to be sincere in the way I am trying to live my life.

I say these things, my friends, because a communication like that, even though signed by one who dares not openly sign his name to it, hurts me to the quick.

I want to say these things because I believe that my vote, as I voted it, was not because the Republican caucus said they wanted a united front; there were other members of the caucus who did not vote that way, and if I had felt as they did I would have voted for the discharge of the committee.

Feeling that this bill is not going to accomplish the purpose for which it has been intended, I felt perfectly justified, and I feel perfectly justified in the sight of God as I stand here now, and I think my vote was cast in all good conscience and I want every man in the world to know that fact.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Today seems to be anonymous day. I received an anonymous card this morning and if I were to show it to the good lawyers of the Senate, Senator Geltz, Senator Jaspan, Senator Walker or Senator Stiefel, they would say to me "destroy that anonymous card, because it will only give you high blood pressure." That is the system and the method I have followed with all anonymous communications I have received in the past.

However, as I listened to Senator Carr my blood pressure did go up a little bit. I would like to say to that party that sent that card to me I believe that party refers to a statement I made in the press a few days ago, when I said that scoundrel and tyrant was a no good person, I meant everything I said, and to this anonymous person, when he says "shame on you to say those things," I say to this backwoodsman "come out in the open, be a man, be courageous, show yourself, identify yourself, and if you do not like this great country of America, get out, go away, because I believe in America and I shall stand up at any time to defend it."

Gentlemen of the Senate, I said the other day that when that tyrant and scoundrel was removed from the face of the earth it was a proper thing, it was a good thing for those good Italian people, and I said that those individuals who praised Mussolini, when he started to go down with his false propaganda, today are rallying to the ideals of democracy, because that is the only banner they can rally around, and I say those individuals, whether they be in high office or whether they be the humble people of our communities, should be responsive to the ideals of democracy.

If this party belongs in high office, an office of trust and faith, he should elect to stay here and be a good American and submit himself to the electorate of the city of Philadelphia.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland will proceed.

Mr. DENT. I do not believe that the gentleman from Butler, in his condemnation of the person responsible for the anonymous letter addressed to him, need worry about the charges made by any person who has not the courage to sign him own name. I also agree with the gentleman from Butler that he has a perfect right to make his own selection in the matter of how he casts his vote on any important piece of legislation.

I just want to state further I do not believe the gentleman from Butler meant exactly what he said, or at least the way it sounded to me over here as a sponsor of a bill that was presented to the Senate, the bill from which we tried to discharge the committee from any further consideration of, but the gentleman from Butler said that bill was a sincere and simple effort to create more chaos in a very disturbing picture. I do not believe the gentleman from Butler meant that the sponsors of the bill had in mind the creation of a chaotic condition; I do not believe he intended it to be meant that way. He may believe passage of this bill would do so, and he has every right to believe that and follow his own conscience in the matter of how he votes upon that legislation.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, I rise upon a matter of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Butler will proceed.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, is absolutely correct; I intended no reflection whatever upon the sponsors of the bill; I agree with the sincerity of their purpose. It is just a difference of opinion and I did not intend any reflection whatever on the sponsors of the bill.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I agree with the Senator from Butler about anonymous letters; I think they are the lowest depth anybody can go to in attacking anyone on how they vote.

However, I am going to ask the Senator from Butler, Mr. Carr, to expunge from the record his statement that this bill was communistically inspired. I think that is hitting below the belt. In his speech he brought out that it was—I forget the exact words, but he mentioned that the bill was communistically inspired.

I want to point out to the gentleman from Butler, Senator Carr, that on the platform in Pittsburgh quite recently we had Episcopal bishops, Catholic priests, and even as high as cardinals, who have come out for this bill. I think it is very mean and inappropriate to say that in any way, to even suggest that about the sponsors of this bill. I know Homer Brown is far from being a Communist, I know that Mr. Rosenfeld and Senator Dent and myself, whose names are on the bill, are far from being Communists.

I also want to point out to the gentleman from Butler something he must have forgotten in the history of his own party, that one of the greatest fighters for the Negro was a man named Abraham Lincoln, and the Republican party has certainly gone far from the principles of Theodore Roosevelt, who also fought for the same privileges we are trying to give them by law, and I also want to say to the gentleman from Butler there was another man of Pennsylvania who fought the battle of the Negro, and he was attacked from all sides—Thaddeus Stevens; in fact, they honor him in this Capitol.

So I say, Mr. President and members of the Senate, I do not think, in his attack on someone who wrote him an anonymous letter, he should inject in any way that this bill is communistically inspired. It is not. It is inspired by real Americanism, by people who have faith in America, who have fought for America, and members of their families have given their lives for America, and to bring into any argument on the fair employment practice bill about Communism is absolutely wrong. I am going to ask the gentleman from Butler to do the gentlemanly act on this and—where he in his speech said this bill was communistically inspired, or words to that effect—withdraw that statement.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. CARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, if any word of mine spoken here today intimated that Homer Brown intended to be communistic, or that the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, intended to be communistic, or that Elmer Holland intended to be communistic, I would like that word to be stricken forever from the memory of every person here, and from the printed page. I did not intend to intimate that any person here who is sponsoring this bill has communistic tendencies.

What I did mean to intimate was that, in my opinion, there are certain people who are Communists—and I have a little pamphlet on my desk demonstrating how they are constantly trying to arouse antagonism between races and classes in this country of ours, what they have done elsewhere, and by that means create a situation where they could bring about the overthrow of our form of democracy.

I did not, and I do not, intend to allege that any gentleman, a member of either the House or this Senate, has any intent or does anything toward furthering that end. But, Mr. President, I do maintain my right to the belief that what they are doing, in perfect sincerity, would mean that their ideas may be interpreted as having that effect, not intentionally, but I believe it is my right to think that it is having that effect, whether intentionally or not, and that is what I meant. Therefore I would not apologize to this body or to the world at large for that statement. I am willing to let the record stand as it is.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. ROSENFELD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, I certainly have no quarrel with the sincerity or the conscientiousness of the gentleman from Butler, Senator Carr. I am sure he felt he was saying the right thing, and as far as I am concerned I am satisfied.

The Senator from Butler, when he talked about communism, happened to omit my name when he spoke for the record. Of course, I assume that was an oversight and he did not intend to indicate that I was or am a Communist or that my name is included in the little book on his desk, for whatever it may be worth.

Mr. CARR. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia yield?

Mr. ROSENFELD. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. CARR. I have sincere pleasure in adding Senator Rosenfeld's name to the list of those I do not think to be Communists.

Mr. ROSENFELD. Mr. President, I would like to add two thoughts. There has been some misconception about the whole F. E. P. C. program. It was not intended especially for any of our race; it was intended for Senator Carr and Senator Carr's friends just as much as it was intended for any citizen of this Commonwealth.

Secondly, I would like to remind the members of the Senate that I worked on this bill. For the information of those of you who may not know, I used to be in the Legislative Reference Bureau, and I did not have any bill dictated to me by anybody, and that includes both the Homer Brown bill and the bill that was introduced in this Senate. I worked on the kind of good bills that Senator Farrell introduces, and the kind of bad bills that seem to come from outside.

FALL OF BERLIN ANNOUNCED

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Chairman of the Committee on Municipal Government, the gentleman from Clinton, Senator Stevenson.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Clinton permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. STEVENSON. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. The gentleman from Clinton has in his Committee House Bill 879, which passed the House on March 20 by a vote of 206-0, dealing with a three platoon system for fireman. I might add, Mr. President, that the sponsor of this bill is a registered Republican, a Republican Legislator. Yesterday I gave you amendments approved by the city firemen's protective association of Philadelphia.

Since this bill will not take effect until the end of hostilities are proclaimed by a proclamation, that is the intent, I might say to you that this would be a very fair amendment. The bill would not take effect immediately. It would not take effect until the boys come back from the different war areas and have opportunity to make application to become city firemen. Has the Committee on Municipal Government considered this bill this morning, or, Mr. Stevenson, do you intend to consider it at the next meeting of your committee or at any time before the end of the session.

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I might say in answer to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, that this bill, as it originally came from the House, was considered at the same time that a similar bill, introduced by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Farrell, was received by the Committee.

The Committee studied the bill very carefully. To those who were interested in the bill it was suggested that they go back to Philadelphia and bring us information that the city authorities in Philadelphia would be favorable to the bill. The committee felt, inasmuch as it would cost the city of Philadelphia about $1,300,000, and the state was making no contribution to that amount of money, that we should not as a Legislature force this bill upon the city unless they approved it. The amendments were also studied, and there was nothing objectionable to the amendments; in fact, I think they improved the bill.

But the Committee felt, if something should be done for the firemen of the City of Philadelphia, that they should have the same privilege of having the platoon system as the police have in Philadelphia. However, they adhered to the same policy, namely, they felt, inasmuch as the taxing authorities had to raise the money, that they should give an O. K. to the bill before it would be liberated from the committee.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Clinton.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Clinton permit himself to be further interrogated.

Mr. STEVENSON. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. In other words, Mr. President, the objection to having this bill come out of committee, is that the mayor of Philadelphia says he does not have the money; is that right?

Mr. STEVENSON. We did not specifically say the mayor of Philadelphia. We requested that they get the O. K. of the taxing authorities, which would be the mayor and the council, those who were responsible for levying the money upon the real estate of Philadelphia, or otherwise raising the fund, that they should give an approval to the bill, and then we would be very happy to report it out from committee in that form.

I might say, Senator, also, that we are not averse to setting up this system. In fact, the committee felt they would like to set this platoon system up in Philadelphia, but they just did not feel they should do it until the time arrived when the city would tell us that the money was available and they could afford to pay the bill.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I want to point out that the intent of the city firemen's protective association, in submitting these amendments to the bill, was to protect the returning soldiers, so that when they come back they will have the opportunity of having these jobs.

I feel, and I think the chairman of the committee feels the same as I do, that this legislation should be passed, because it is unfair to have the firemen of Philadelphia working such long hours as they are now working. I think the gentleman will agree with me that in all of this type of legislation, which we have been passing for years and years and years practically all of the local communities say they do not have the money. That is the easy way to end it.

I feel that the mayor's stand on this bill is unfair. It has been pointed out to me that some of those firemen would be glad to go before city council and show city council where this money can be had, without increasing any taxes or stealing from any other funds, and if the city authorities will give them that opportunity I know the city firemen's protective association will show the mayor and the city council of Philadelphia that this money can be made available without any new taxes or without cheating any other funds in the city of Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the final consideration of House Bill No. 119, as follows:

An Act providing for the construction erection and maintenance of roadside rests adjacent to State highway routes providing for the acquisition of interests in land by gift purchase or condemnation granting powers to and imposing duties upon the Department of Highways the Secretary of Highways the Governor and the Department of Property and Supplies authorizing rules and regulations and providing penalties for violations thereof and making an appropriation

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The Department of Highways is hereby authorized and empowered to construct erect and maintain roadside rests adjacent to State highway routes for the health safety welfare and accommodation of the traveling public The number location and size of such roadside rests not to exceed forty shall be determined by the Secretary of Highways and with the approval of the Governor

Section 2 The Department of Highways shall have the right and the power to acquire by gift purchase or condemnation such easements right of ways and other rights in real estate as may be necessary for the construction erection maintenance and protection from encroachment of such roadside rests The power of eminent domain for the purpose of condemnation of such easements right of ways or other rights in real estate shall be exercised in the same manner as is now or may hereafter be provided bv law for the condemnation of property in changing the widths lines and locations of Stat ehighways When and if such easements rights of way and other rights in real estate are acquired they shall become part of the highway route on which they are located or to which they are adjacent

Section 3 The construction and erection of such roadside rests may be done either by contract or by employes of the Department of Highways within the discretion of the Secretary of Highways Contracts for the construction and erection of such roadside rests shall be entered into in the same manner as is now or may hereafter be provided by law for the construction of State highway routes

Section 4 Such equipment and facilities as may be determined to be necessary for such roadside rests by the Secretary of Highways shall be purchased through the Department of Property and Supplies as purchasing agent in the manner provided by law

Section 5 The cost of the planning acquisition construction erection and maintenance of such roadside rests shall be paid out of moneys in the Motor License Fund and such moneys as may be necessary for this purpose not to exceed one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) are hereby specifically appropriated to the Department of Highways

Section 6 The Department of Highways is hereby authorized to accept gifts of realty money materials or supplies for use in the establishment construction erection or maintenance of such roadside rests Any moneys thus received shall be paid into the State Treasury and credited to the Motor License Fund

Section 7 The Secretary of Highways shall have authority to adopt and promulgate rules and regulations governing the use of such roadside rests by the public All persons using such roadside rests shall be subject to such rules and regulations Any person violating any of the rules and regulations posted on or in any such roadside rest shall be guilty of a summary offense and upon conviction thereof shall pay a fine of not less than five dollars ($5) nor more than two hundred fifty dollars ($250) and costs together with any amount which may be necessary to reimburse the Department of Highways for the expense of repairing any damage to such roadside rest or its equipment resulting from such violation Such fines and reimbursement for damages shall be paid into the State Treasury and credited to the Motor License Fund

Section 8 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, House Bill 119 proposes to provide roadside rests adjacent to the highways of the Commonwealth. I do not know how the membership of the Senate feels about this bill, which carried with it an appropriation and contemplated expenditure of at least $100,000 for roadside rests, and now I understand that $100,000 appropriation has been increased to $150,000. I believe the intention is to have at least one roadside rest in each county. It is my theory that one roadside rest in each county is inadequate, and we will not have one just by the passage of this bill. I feel that there are better way in which to spend our money and therefore I am going to vote against the bill.

And the question recurring,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—46

NAYS—3

Rosenfeld,	Stiefel,	Woodring,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the final consideration of Senate Bill No. 719, as follows:

An Act to reenact and further amend the title and the act approved the twenty-ninth day of September one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight (P. L. 53) entitled as amended "An act relating to institutions of counties cities wards boroughs townships institution districts and other political subdivisions for the care maintenance and treatment of mental patients providing for the transfer of such institutions to the Commonwealth providing for the management and operation or closing and abandonment thereof and the maintenance of mental patients therein including the collection of maintenance in certain cases providing for the retransfer of certain property to counties cities wards boroughs townships institution districts and other political subdivisions under certan circumstances conferring and imposing upon the Governor the Department of Welfare the courts of common pleas and counties cities wards boroughs townships institution districts and other political subdivisions certain powers and duties prohibiting cities counties wards boroughs townships institution districts and other poltical subdivisions from maintaining and operating institutions in whole or in part for the care and treatment of mental patients and repealing inconsistent laws" providing for the transfer to the Commonwealth of all grounds lands buildings and personal property used for the care and maintenance of indigent persons in conjunction with institutions for the care of mental patients heretofore transferred to the Commonwealth and for payment therefor by the Commonwealth to the political subdivisions and further regulating the procedure relating to property of such institutions abandoned by the Commonwealth and to institutions closed

Section 1 The title and all of the sections of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of September one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight (P. L. 53) entitled as amended "An act relating to institutions of counties cities wards boroughs townships institution districts and other political subdivisions for the care maintenance and treatment of mental patients providing for the transfer of such institutions to the Commonwealth providing for the management and operation or closing and abandonment thereof and the maintenance of mental patients therein including the collection of maintenance in certain cases providing for the retransfer of certain property to counties cities wards boroughs townships institution districts and other political subdivsons under certain circumstances conferring and imposing upon the Governor the Department of Welfare the courts of common pleas and counties cities wards boroughs townships institution districts and other political subdivisions certain powers and duties prohibiting cities counties wards boroughs townships institution districts and other political subdivisions from maintaining and operating institutions in whole or in part for the care and treatment of mental patients and repealing inconsistent laws" as reenacted and amended by the act approved the nineteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 262) are hereby further reenacted and amended to read as follows

An Act relating to institutions of counties cities wards boroughs townships institution districts and other political subdivisions for the care maintenance and treatment of mental patients providing for the transfer [of such institutions] to the Commonwealth for the care maintenance and treatment of mental patients of such institutions and all grounds lands buildings and personal property of such political subdivisions used for the care and maintenance of indigent persons connected with such mental institutions providing for the management and operation or closing and abandonment thereof and the maintenance of mental patients therein including the collection of maintenance in certain cases providing for the retransfer of certain property to counties cities wards boroughs townships institution districts and other political subdivisions under certain circumstances conferring and imposing upon the Governor the Department of Welfare the courts of common pleas and counties cities wards boroughs townships institution districts and other political subdivisions certain powers and duties prohibiting cities counties wards boroughs townships institution districts and other political subdivisions from maintaining and operating institutions in whole or in part for the care and treatment of mental patients and repealing inconsistent laws

Whereas Experience has proven that the care and maintenance of indigent mentally ill persons mental defectives and epileptics should be centralized in the State Government in order to insure their proper and uniform care maintenance custody safety and welfare and

Whereas Complete care for such persons in institutions operated exclusively by the State Government will effect great economies for municipal subdivisions

Section 1 All buildings acquired or erected by any county city ward borough township institution district or other political subdivision for the care maintenance and treatment of mental patients the personal property within such buildings or incidental thereto and any and all other grounds and lands connected therewith or annexed thereto are hereby transferred to and vested in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania regardless of whether or not such property was used solely for mental patients or in common with indigent persons [except that] Provided That where any such buildings for mental patients are operated in conjunction with buildings dedicated to the care and maintenance of indigent persons who are not mental patients the buildings used for the care of such persons the personal property within such buildings or incidental thereto the land actually occupied by such buildings and the lands or yards presently set apart for the use of the indigent persons cared for in such buildings and the lands necessary for ingress and egress thereto and therefrom [shall not be deemed to be] are also hereby transferred to and vested in the Commonwealth [but shall remain vested in the county city ward borough township institution district or other political subdivisions as theretofore]

Where any lands and property so transferred are presently used by any county city ward borough township institution district or other political subdivision as a farm and woodlands in connection with buildings dedicated to the care and maintenance of indigent persons who are not mental patients [the Department of Welfare of the Commonwealth with the approval of the Governor shall set apart and reconvey to the county city ward borough township institution district or other political subdivision through deed executed by the Secretary of Property and Supplies of the Commonwealth so much of such ground as the ratio of indigent persons bears to the total patient population of the institution as shall be determined by the Department of Welfare of the Commonwealth The metes and bounds of the lands so to be conveyed shall be determined by agreement between the Department of Welfare of the Commonwealth and the authorities of the county city ward borough township institution district or other political subdivision In case the Department of Welfare of the Commonwealth and the authorities of the county city ward borough township institution district or other political subdivision cannot agree as to the metes and bounds of the lands so to be conveyed to the county city ward borough township institution district or other political subdivision the matter shall be laid before the court of common pleas of the county where the lands are located by petition of either the Secretary of Welfare of the Commonwealth or the authorities in charge of the county city ward borough township institution district or other political subdivision which court after hearing all parties in interest on such notice as it shall direct shall determine the metes and bounds of the lands which shall be conveyed to the county city ward borough township institution district or other political subdivision and shall enter an order accordingly The action of the court shall be final] said lands and property are also hereby transferred to and vested in the Commonwealth

Where auxiliary structures and facilities furnishing light heat power water laundry kitchen sewage treatment servicies and coal supply are so transferred to the Commonwealth which were theretofore used in common for the buildings devoted to mental patients and also the buildings devoted to indigent persons [the Commonwealth shall thereafter continue to furnish the proper county city ward borough township institution district or other political subdivision with such services at the actual cost thereof to the extent the same may hereafter be requested by the county city ward borough township institution district or other political subdivision] such auxiliary structures facilities services and supplies shall remain vested in the Commonwealth Provided however that from and after the transfer to the Commonwealth of all grounds lands buildings and personal property used for the care and maintenance of indigent persons the Commonwealth shall be relieved from all obligation to furnish any institution district with such services

Any property so transferred to and vested in the Commonwealth shall if found suitable in accordance with this act be thereafter used as a State mental hospital but if such property shall [within one year thereafter] be found unsuitable for such purpose or shall [within one year after transfer to and use by the Commonwealth as a State mental hospital] be thereafter abandoned by the Commonwealth as such a hospital before substantial improvements thereto have been made then in either event such building lands and personal property so transferred to the Commonwealth shall absolutely revert to and vest in the county city ward borough township institution district or other political subdivision from which transferred and the Commonwealth shall have no further claim or title thereto

In the event that any personal property originally transferred to the Commonwealth cannot be returned to the political subdivisions from which transferred other personal property of value equivalent to that which was originally transferred to the Commonwealth may be returned by the Commonwealth to such political subdivision or the value of the personal property originally transferred to the Commonwealth at the date of return may be paid by the Commonwealth to such political subdiivions from funds appropriated to the Department of Welfare for such purpose

[The words "substantial improvements" as used in this section shall be construed to mean capital investments involving an expenditure of at least two hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($250,000)]

Section 2 (a) It shall be unlawful hereafter for any county city ward borough township institution district or other political subdivision to operate or maintain in whole or in part any existing institution for the care of mental patients or thereafter to begin to operate or manage any institution in whole or in part for this purpose Provided however that the county city ward borough township institution district or other political subdivision having charge of any such existing institution shall continue to operate and manage the same under existing laws until the Department of Welfare of the Commonwealth with the approval of the Governor formally takes over the management and operation of such institution or formally closes such institution in the manner hereinafter prescribed in this act And provided further That the authorities of general hospitals may continue to maintain or hereafter may set apart establish and maintain beds wards or departments for the temporary care of mental patients under licensure by the Department of Welfare as now provided by law

(b) Any county city ward borough township institution district or other political subdivision presently operating or maintaining in whole or in part any existing institutions for the care and maintenance of indigent persons shall cease to operate and shall vacate such institutions and forthwith surrender all such institutions to the Commonwealth but not later than the thirtieth day of November one thousand nine hundred forty-seven Provided however That the vacating of any of such institutions shall not be made until first notice shall have been given by the Commonwealth to the political subdivision that owns such institution that the Commonwealth elects to purchase such institution and second that the Commonwealth and such political subdivision have agreed on the purchase price and that the purchase price therefore has been paid in full so as to enable the political subdivision to enter into contracts for the building or purchase of land and suitable building or buildings for the care of its indigents and third that possession of such institution shall not be given to the Commonwealth until such time as it may be mutually agreed to by the Commonwealth and such political subdivision

Section 3 The Department of Welfare shall promptly make an investigation and survey of the institutions hereby transferred to the Commonwealth for the purpose of determining (1) which of the institutions are necessary having regard to the number of persons requiring care and treatment because of mental illness and the geographic location and capacity of other such mental hospitals and (2) which of the institutions having regard to existing facilities may be operated by the Commonwealth in such a manner as to insure the proper maintenance custody safety and welfare of mental patients Upon the completion of its investigation and survey the Department of Welfare shall submit to the Governor a report setting forth its findings and recommendations with respect to the institutions deemed necessary and suitable for the care maintenance and treatment of mental patients and the institutions deemed unnecessary or unsuitable for this purpose Upon receiving the report of the Department of Welfare the Governor shall from time to time but not later than the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-one having regard to the standards of necessity and suitability hereinbefore set out in this section determine which of the institutions shall be managed and operated by the Commonwealth as State mental hospitals and which institutions if any shall be closed Provided however That the Governor shall direct the State Department of Welfare to take over the management and operation of any such institution which is operated and managed by any city of the first class as soon as practicable after the effective date of this act and before the completion of the investigation and survey hereinbefore required in this section Before the management and operation of any institution is taken over by the Department of Welfare the Governor shall issue his proclamation setting forth the date on which the Department of Welfare will take over the management and operation of the institution In the event it shall be determined that a particular institution is to be closed the Governor shall issue a proclamation setting forth the date on which such institution will be closed The original of any such proclamation shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth and a copy thereof shall be furnished the county city ward borough township institution district or other political subdivision authorities having charge of such institution

Section 4 Each institution subject to this act which the Governor shall direct the Department of Welfare to operate and manage shall be operated and managed by such department as a State mental hospital in accordance with the laws of the Commonwealth relating to such hospitals The Department of Welfare in managing and operating any such institution shall have all the powers and perform all the duties vested in and imposed upon boards of trustees of State mental hospitals by the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) and its amendments designated as The Administrative Code of one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine All mental patients in any such institution at the time the management and operation thereof is assumed by the Department of Welfare shall have the same status as if originally committed or admitted to a State mental hospital Commitments may be made to any such institution mental patients may be detained maintained and cared for therein and transfers may be made therefrom and thereto in the same manner and in accordance with laws applying to other State mental hospitals The Department of Welfare shall have power to designate the counties of the Commonwealth from which commitments may be made to any such institution

Each institution acquired and operated by the Commonwealth as a State mental hospital under the provisions of this act shall be known as the ..... State (descriptive name of political subdivision in which institution is located) hospital for example the Philadelphia Hospital for Mental Diseases shall be known as the Philadelphia State Hospital

Section 5 When the Commonwealth through the Department of Welfare assumes the control and management of any institution subject to this act the terms of all officers and employes and the local management of such institution shall cease and terminate The officers and employes of any such institution shall thereupon become employes of the Commonwealth subject to removal by the Secretary of Welfare

Section 6 In the event it shall be determined that any institution subject to this act shall be closed [the Department of Welfare shall take charge of such institution and] the terms of all officers and employes and the local management of such institution shall cease and terminate [The officers and employes of such institution shall thereupon become the employes of the Commonwealth subject to removal by the Secretary of Welfare] when their services are no longer required No new patients shall be admitted to any such institution after the date specified for its closing The Department of Welfare shall as soon as practicable transfer the patients in such institution to any other State mental hospital including any institution transferred to and being operated by the Commonwealth under this act as a State mental institution As far as practicable the department shall transfer such patients to such State mental hospital nearest to the locality in which the institution to be closed is located After the patients in such institution are transferred therefrom the Department of Welfare shall with the approval of the Governor turn the institution and its grounds over to the Department of Property and Supplies for use for any other State purpose as may be deemed necessary and advisable by the Governor unless such institution under the provisions of section one of this act would revert to a county city ward borough township institution district or other political subdivision in which event such institution shall be turned over to the proper authorities thereof and shall thereafter be used for such purposes not inconsistent with this act as the county city ward borough township institution district or other political subdivision may determine

Section 7 (a) After the effective date of this act and until the management and operation of a particular institution is formally assumed by the Department of Welfare or until a particular institution is closed under the provisions of this act but not later than the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-one the county city ward borough township institution district or other political subdivision engaged in the operation and management of that institution shall continue to bear the expense of administering and operating the institution and the Commonwealth shall contribute towards the expense of indigent patients therein to the same extent and in the same manner as pertained under existing laws on the effective date of this act

BILL ON THIRD READING

OVER IN ORDER

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 58, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two hundred twenty-two of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant-Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined" by further regulating the vacation leave and sick leave to which State employes are entitled with pay go over in its order temporarily. I have been trying to get a copy of the bill all day and have not been able to do so. If someone has a copy of the bill I would like very much to see it.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 62, as follows:

An Act to further amend sections four and ten of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 149) entitled "An Act imposing a State tax payable by those herein defined as distributors on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth which are ordinarily practically and commecially usable in internal combustion engines for the generation of power providing for the collection and lien of the tax and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof requiring such distributors to secure permits to file corporate surety bonds and reports and to retain certain records imposing duties on retail dealers common carriers county commissioners and such distributors providing for rewards imposing certain costs on counties conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments providing for refunds imposing penalties and making an appropriation" as last amended by imposing an additional tax on liquid fuels providing for the payment thereof into the Motor License Fund making appropriations and providing for the distribution to certain political subdivisions of this Commonwealth with certain conditions making an appropriation to the Joint State Government Commission for certain purposes and imposing duties on the Department

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section four and section ten of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 149) entitled "An act imposing a State tax payable by those herein defined as distributors on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth which are ordinarily practically and commercially usuable in internal combustion engines for the generation of power providing for the collection and lien of the tax and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof requiring such distributors to secure permits to file corporate surety bonds and reports and to retain certain records imposing duties on retail dealers common carriers county commissioners and such distributors providing for rewards imposing certain costs on counties conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments providing for refunds imposing penalties and making an appropriation" by amending section four as last amended by the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I object.

MOTION FOR RECONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL No. 62

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 62 passed second reading.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may the Senate be at ease for a moment?

(The Senate was at ease)

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I am advised that there was no roll call on this bill on second reading yesterday.

The PRESIDENT. How did the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, vote on House Bill 62 on second reading.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, on second reading there is no roll call and everyone is recorded as voting in the affirmative and that is the reason I said I voted in the affirmative.

Mr. DENT. I second the motion, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. DENT. With the majority, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. In order to properly second the motion the Senator must say he voted in the affirmative.

Mr. DENT. In the affirmative, with the majority.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not think any members of the Senate who were here two years ago have forgotten the actions of the Chairman of the Committee on Highways on a bill similar to this. When that bill had passed the House and was on the Senate floor, on second reading, he arose on the floor of the Senate and moved to recommit the bill to the Committee on Highways for further study and told many members of the Senate, from both sides, that the bill was coming back. I attended the next meeting of the Committee on Highways, which was the final meeting of the Committee on Highways of that session.

At that time not only I tried to call the bill up, but a majority of the members of the committee, from the Republican side, tried to call the bill up for action, and the chairman took the attitude that the bill would not be considered by the committee.

So, in trying to save the face of the chairman of that committee, the then and now Republican State Chairman and President Pro Tempore of the Senate, Senator Harvey Taylor, introduced a resolution proposing a study to ascertain methods of getting the gasoline tax back to the various municipalities, and that study has been made through the last two years.

Mr. President, if House Bill 62 is enacted, as it was amended by the Senate Committee on Highways, it will completely ignore the recommendations of the Tax Advisory Committee and repudiate the expressed motive and objective of the Senate resolution, because enactment of the measure will not give the political sub-divisions a fair and proportionate share of the funds, nor will it equitably relieve local real estate taxation to the greatest extent possible.

Approval of the measure in this form will nullify the pledge to the people by the Senate in adopting the Taylor concurrent resolution two years ago, because the bill will only allocate part of the extra tax to be levied, and it will allocate the funds on a straight mileage basis. A straight mileage allocation will create gross inequalities of distribution, not only between cities, boroughs and townships, but even between political sub-divisions of the same class. For instance, Mr. President, some heavily populated second class townships are required to spend over $1,000 per mile on their roads, but others spend less than $100 a year per mile. Mr. President and members of the Senate, on a straight mileage allocation all would receive the same amount, about $97 per mile. It is therefore obvious that the straight mileage plan of allocating a share of the gas tax would not give each political sub-division a fair share of the funds.

My mind goes back, probably a matter of six weeks ago, when the Governor of this Commonwealth went down to York, Pennsylvania, and made a speech in which he said to the people whom he was addressing, and to the people of the state, that he was awfully tired of the local municipalities coming to Harrisburg with tin cups in their hands. I say to the Governor of the Commonwealth we are awfully tired of the Governor and the Republican majority coming to the municipalities with their tin cups and taking our money and giving us nothing back.

I am well aware of what went on in the Republican caucus last evening. When this bill was before them for consideration the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, had amendments similar to the ones I offered and was not given the courtesy of having read tonight. The vote in their caucus was 16 for the amendments of Mr. Geltz and 11 opposed.

As I am told the story—I am not a member, of course, of the Republican Party or of their caucus—a phone call came from the gentleman—or one of his agents—who said he was tired of the municipalities coming to Harrisburg with tin cups in their hands, and who has been telling the papers that he has no "must" legislation and that the problems of this Legislature will have to be worked out by them, but he saw fit last evening to call them and dictate to them: "You will pass the bill as it was amended in the Senate Committee on Highways or there will be no bill at all."

Mr. President, I can remember the days when the Republicans accused the New Deal in Washington, saying the boys did not have the power of their own votes, and that everything was dictated to them from the White House. During the sessions of Congress in 1936, 1937 and 1938 I want to tell them there were only two caucuses of the National Congress, other than when they formed at the beginning of the year. In Mr. Roosevelt's days never did he call the Congress and tell them "you will do it this way or else." He took the bills that came before him and either signed them or vetoed them. I do not believe in that form of government.

Now, Mr. President, we from Pittsburgh and the gentlemen from Philadelphia, come from two thickly populated spots in this state. If this one cent gas tax is given back to us on a mileage and population basis we will receive some money, but not near what we think we are entitled to, to try to maintain our streets.

Several weeks ago, and I voted for it, Mr. President, we passed a big truck bill here. That is going to impose another hardship on the streets of our municipalities and I think, Mr. President, that we ought to be compensated somewhat by the state for maintaining our streets. I do not think there is another state in the nation where the municipalities get less back from the gasoline and vehicle taxes than do the municipalities in Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this bill, such as it is. I hereby want to tell the members on the other side that I have been given information today that the toll bridge bills will be held on the Calendar in the House until they restore this back to a fifty-fifty basis.

I want to make one other point, Mr. President, before I sit down. I want to let the members of this Senate know that two years ago there was an appropriation of $7,000,000 to second class townships. That appropriation does not have to be made this year and that is $7,000,000 more the highway fund will have. Governor Martin, in his budget estimates there will be $22,000,000 from this one cent tax, and he is willing now to give only $8,500,000 back. In other words, he is going to enrich the highway fund and still stab the municipalities in this state.

I mentioned some figures last night, so I will not take the time of the Senate to give those figures again, but I say those figures were gathered on a spot calculation for allocating money to the boroughs and townships on this $8,500,000 basis, and they are not accurate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I would like to make just two comments on the scholarly address of my good friend from Allegheny, Senator Barr.

First, I would like to say to the gentleman from Allegheny that up to this point I have not been consulted by the officials of the city of Pittsburgh, either the present mayor or the members of the council; perhaps the successors to the present administration in Pittsburgh will consult with me, regardless of the outcome in 1945.

I also want to say I have heard from most of the boroughs and townships and third class cities in my Senatorial district, and their reaction to House Bill 62, as it now appears on the Senate Calendar, is just a little different from the impression the gentleman from Allegheny would attempt to create in the Senate here this evening. They have advised me that they are very happy about the situation and they are tickled to death that they are getting something back out of this gasoline fund.

But, Mr. President, the two items I want to mention that were touched upon by the gentleman from Allegheny, were, first, his play-by-play description of what took place within the Republican caucus. I want to point out, as the gentleman said, he is not a member of the Republican caucus—and that is, of course, his fault and not ours—and he was not at the meeting that he so carefully and meticulously described and, therefore, whatever information he had was, I presume, based upon hearsay. I want to say to the gentleman from Allegheny, because I know he is desirous of always presenting an accurate description of fact before the Senate, that what was told to him took place did not take place, there was not such a roll call and there was not such a telephone call. The gentleman from Allegheny attempted to imply that his Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, put in a phone call, and like Simon Legree, cracked a black-snake whip over the Republican Senate and said "this is the way you are going to do it." At this point I want to say to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, at no time has the Governor of Pennsylvania ever, directly or indirectly, appealed to the Republican side of this Senate to do something because it was "must" legislation. The only time the Governor has ever appealed for the straightening out of bills and getting things done has been in bi-partisan discussions that have taken place, when some of the gentlemen from the minority side are always present, and that, of course, is a departure because, while I was not present, I am told that did not take place during the administration of Governor Earle.

The gentlemen from Allegheny makes a threat that the toll bridge bills will be held on the House Calendar unless Houes Bill 62 is returned to the House in the same condition in which it left the House. That is a suggestion that bills will not be acted upon strictly on their merits, but that one of the political parties represented in the Legislature of Pennsylvania will deliberately hold a gun on bills until they achieve their own desires.

Mr. President, if I might resort to a somewhat homely illustration, about twenty years ago I had a nephew who lived next door to me, a little codger about three years of age—he is now flying a plane in Europe—but he was a stubborn little fellow and when he would not get his own way he would hold his breath until he got red in his face and everyone would make a great fuss over him, and when he saw he could get his own way by such a demonstration he would do it again—he was just a spoiled child—and when he could not get his own way he resorted to that type of action.

This business of threatening to hold bills on calendars until we get our own way is not my idea of being representative of the ten million people in Pennsylvania.

About these toll bridge bills the gentleman from Allegheny is threatening to hold on the House Calendar that is an interesting departure, because I did not know the influence of the gentleman from Allegheny extends to the House; I have had very little influence over there in the six years I have been in the Senate. If the gentleman from Allegheny thinks those bills will stay on the Calendar in the House until he gets House Bill 62 in the shape he wants, then that certainly is a clear indication of my three year old nephew holding his breath.

If these toll bridge bills are not good bills, they should not be passed, if they are good, if the people of Pennsylvania are entitled to have these toll bridges freed from their tolls, then they should be passed. Every bill has a right to rise or fall on its own merits and I think we are resorting to policital tricks when we threaten the Senate of Pennsylvania, and the people of Pennsylvania, on bills that are meritorous, in order to get other bills, on which there is honest difference of opinion, passed or fixed up in the Legislature.

I would like to say to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, that House Bill 62 has raised a lot of sincere and courageous discussion on both sides of this aisle, and there are men in this chamber who have sincere opinions as to how this money should be divided, and it is the consensus of opinion of a majority of the members of this Senate that the bill as it now appears on our Calendar, is the logical and most expeditious way to do this thing at this time. If that is the will of the majority then, Mr. President, those of us who have participated in the last twelve years in national elections have learned, although we do not like it, we bow to the inevitable will of the majority. The gentlemen to the left of the aisle must remember that we on the Republican side of the aisle are in the majority. As to determination of the policy of distribution of these funds, we are perfectly willing to appear before the ten million people of Pennsylvania to annswer for our conduct on this bill, and we do not think we should be threatened in the formulation of the policy of the party to which we owe our allegiance.

Mr. SNOWDEN. Mr. President, I do not believe in the long and lengthy discussions concerning a great many matters, that have taken place on this floor. However, in order to correct this record and keep it straight, I think a few remarks are in order.

As the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, brought up, it was perfectly true that in the dying days, or possibly the last week, of the session two years ago, there was a bill introduced in the House, passed by the House, it came to the Senate, making an appropriation to boroughs, cities and first class townships. I forget the exact amount, but possibly it was $8,000,000, $8,500,000 or $10,000,000. That bill was referred to the wrong committee in the Senate and I, as Chairman of the Senate Committee on Highways, at that time requested that the bill be sent to the Senate Committee on Highways for study and consideration.

When that bill came into the Senate Committee on Highways we looked over the situation and we could not find where we were going to get the revenue to meet this bill and therefore the logical thing to do was to kill the bill in committee, which we did.

As an outcome of that, there was a resolution introduced by the gentleman from Dauphin, Senator Taylor, and I believe at the suggestion of the Committee on Highways—to make an investigation and provide for this appropriation at the present session.

This matter was taken up by the Joint State Government Commission. In contradiction to what Senator Barr has said, the Joint State Government Commission appointed a sub-committee which studied this matter for a matter of eighteen months, and I may say there were eight or ten—I forget just exactly the number—very representative citizens of our Commonwealth who made a rather comprehensive study of this matter. As a result, a bill was formulated and introduced to make a division of the one cent emergency gasoline tax—of three-tenths of one cent to boroughs and cities of first class townships, three-tenths of the one cent to second class townships, and four-tenths of the one cent tax to the motor license fund. Evidently this was just thrown out the window and given no consideration, after the great deal of study that was given to this matter, and as an outcome we were presented with a bill that was entirely foreign to any recommendation that I ever saw come from either the sub-committee or the Joint State Government Commission.

As the bill came over from the House I considered it very unfair, from two angles. I do not believe we have a right to confiscate the whole one cent. I do feel that some of these moneys should be retained and kept in the motor license fund and I believe a certain part of it should be given to the different sub-divisions of our Commonwealth.

We took the liberty of amending this bill to what we thought was a fair bill. There is some objection, and it comes principally from the two larger cities of the state. I have no quarrel with the city of Philadelphia, I have no quarrel with the city of Pittsburgh, but under the bill we now have before us for consideration it is positively true that Pittsburgh and Philadelphia receive a little less money, in order to balance the entire program.

I just want to make this remark, that the Senate Committee on Highways introduced and reported out, over the last four years, a bill making an appropriation to the City of Pittsburgh, for $30,000,000, to construct the Riverside Park Drive. We also appropriated and agreed that Philadelphia should have $50,000,000 as a building program over a period of five years. I believe those two cities have been pretty well taken care of.

The third class cities of our state have never received a cent. Under this bill it is true that Allentown, Harrisburg, Lancaster, Williamsport, and all the balance of the third class cities, will receive a nice appropriation, and I feel it is about time that we took care of them, in order to be fair, that we take care of some of the other third class cities, and not give all this money back to the first class cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

The bill before us tonight is a temporary measure. It is only to be enacted for two years. In the meantime there has been a resolution, and also an appropriation, passed by this Senate, and I believe it will pass the House, which will set up a commission which will really make a very close and a very careful appraisal of the entire situation. Two years from now I certainly hope we will come back to this Senate, or at least that the Senate will be confronted with a program of making a permanent allocation to our sub-divisions. If I am here, I certainly will lend my support to that, because I do not like to have this controversy every two years. I do not feel our sub-divisions should come in here with tin cups in their hands asking for appropriations every two years. I would like to see this matter settled once and for all on an equitable basis. You can not do that by just grabbing some figures out of the air. I feel the proper thing to do is to pass this bill, exactly as we have it on our Calendar tonight, and go along with that proposition for two years and at the end of two years have prepared —which this resolution that Senator Taylor introduced will produce—a program we can go along with and settle this matter once and for all.

I do not like to continue this discussion, but there are certain facts the people of this state should know. I feel under this bill we are taking care of certain third class cities, which never received a cent before, and which certainly do deserve some consideration.

I am asking you gentlemen here tonight to go along and support this bill.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, will the chairman of the Committee on Highways permit himself to be interrogated.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Snowden, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SNOWDEN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, in the last biennium, was not the one cent emergency tax collected and used in the highway fund.

Mr. SNOWDEN. Was it used in the highway fund?

Mr. HOLLAND. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. SNOWDEN. I believe, Mr. President, it was put into the general fund, not the motor license fund.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, it is quite amusing to sit back here and hear the lily-white statesman from Allegheny county criticize others on the passing of bills. Just three weeks ago the gentleman from Allegheny county, Mr. Walker, threatened right at my desk, to three members of the House, that no bill would come out of his committee unless a bill presented by him, and which was in a House committee, was reported out. Quite an argument ensued for some time, and some of the House members came to me and asked me what I could do in the matter, and for him to stand up today and say that all this legislation should be considered on the merits and no threats made, does not come with good grace from him.

I asked the Chairman of the Committee on Highways whether or not the one cent emergency tax, which we are enacting tonight as a permanent tax, was ever used in the Highway Department. He admitted that it was not. Therefore, Mr. President, in these appropriations that are being made tonight we are not hurting the Highway Department in any way. We are merely taking the one cent relief tax and enacting it into a permanent law, and we should, if we are enacting it into a permanent law, return it back in the form of the relief tax it was originally intended for. It was intended first for the hungry people. Now I think it should be returned back to the poor districts of Allegheny county, Philadelphia county, and all the other counties of the state, which are in urgent need of money to repair and maintain their streets.

When the big truck bill was passed I said on this floor I was voting for the big truck bill because I was under the impression the one cent tax was going to be returned to the local communities.

There is one other thing, outside of maintenance of the streets, that you failed to take consideration of in passing the big truck bill, and I know this from practical experience, that is, in all the cities where the large trucks are being used today, sewers are caving in due to vibration of the large trucks passing on the streets. In the city of Pittsburgh alone it is going to require close to $2,000,000 to rebuild sewers in the coming year. The crowns of these sewers were not built to hold the very large loads of the trucks, as they were built in the horse and wagon days.

Therefore this appropriation is far-fetched. I wonder if the gentleman who is Chairman of the Committee on Highways knows that the money they are appropriating does not even begin to pay for the handling of traffic in the state of Pennsylvania.

The city of Philadelphia alone pays $3,000,000 a year for the handling of traffic, the city of Pittsburgh pays $900,000 a year for the handling of traffic, and the boroughs of Allegheny county pay over $300,000 a year for the handling of traffic. The appropriation you are giving them does not begin to pay the way of the motor truck industry in these cities.

I also heard the gentleman from Allegheny county say that he spoke to one third class city mayor in Allegheny county and he was for the bill. I received a call from Mayor Mullens and Elmer Malloy, stating that they were being cheated on the way this bill was written, and I have also talked to the representative of third class cities in the halls of this Senate, and he always was complaining he was being cheated, the way the bill was now drawn.

As far as saying there was not pressure brought, Mr. President, on the passage of this bill, I differ with you. It is common knowledge in the Capitol here that the Governor of this state did say if he did not get this bill he would not accept any other bill. Why deny it? It is common knowledge.

Mr. President, I am going to vote against this bill. I resent the idea of saying that local communities are coming here with tin cups, in their hands; they are not coming here with tin cups. It is their money. It is not the Governor's money. It is money that belongs to the people of Pennsylvania. In the large communities, with the large populations, we are suffering more from the large trucks as a result of the bill you people helped to pass, and which the Chairman of the Committee on Highways helped materially to pass. We are suffering from those bills. When this bill was proposed it was the intention—at least I was so told—that we would get this one cent entirely, because, after all, it is an emergency tax. We are not raiding the highway funds. You yourself, Mr. Snowden, I believe, voted against this one cent emergency tax for relief. Now we are enacting it into law. Therefore I say, if you are enacting a permanent law, it is no more than right to take this one cent and give it back to the communities, where it belongs, and help to pay for maintenance of the streets and take some of the load from the poor home owners.

You are subsidizing the trucking industry of Pennsylvania; that is what you are doing. You are making the home owner build streets, so that you and other people in the trucking industry can go over our streets and use them. I say it is unfair for you members of the Senate to place big trucks on the highways, in our cities, and not give proper appropriations to the cities to maintain the streets. The railroads pay for their own highways. Why should you allow the trucking industry to be subsidized by the government?

I say to you it is a very unfair bill. I personally am going to vote against this bill, because I do not believe, just merely because you give me a slice of the loaf, that I should vote and say thank you. I say to you this belongs to the people of Pittsburgh just as much as to the people of Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask the members of the Senate to vote down this bill.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not think the Chairman of the Committee on Highways really knows what is in the bill. If he will read section 2, page 10, he will find out an appropriation to the Joint State Government Commission is in the bill. I heard him say a few minutes ago he thought the bill had passed the House and the Senate. I am further convinced that the members on the other side do not know just what is going on.

Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Chairman of the Committee on Highways.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lycoming permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SNOWDEN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. If the gentleman from Lycoming can recollect back two years ago, when he said the committee killed this bill, does he remember us trying to get him to bring the bill before the committee for consideration, and the gentleman from Lycoming said he would not let us consider the bill in the committee.

Mr. SNOWDEN. Mr. President, that is absolutely correct. There was no use considering a bill to remove $10,000,000 from the motor license fund, if we did not have some means to replace that $10,000,000 with some source of revenue. So therefore it was certainly foolish to consider that bill.

Mr. BARR. My point was, in his statement a few minutes ago, the gentleman from Lycoming said the Committee on Highways had killed the bill, when it was the Chairman that killed the bill.

Mr. SNOWDEN. I take exception to that. I do not feel that any man has a right to stand up in this Senate and say the chairman killed the bill. The committee killed this bill.

Mr. BARR. I have to take issue with the gentleman. I was at the meeting two years ago, and that is the reason I can talk of the committee meeting, because it was not a committee meeting of this session. I was there, and members of his own side were there, and we begged him to let us consider the bill and he said no; very emphatically he said no. The committee did not kill the bill, I reiterate; the Chairman of the committee killed the bill, by not allowing us to consider it, because if he had, it would have been brought out and passed.

I listened to the remarks, a few minutes ago, of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, and either his hearing is bad or he just does not listen. He said I had said the Governor called up their caucus. If you will remember, I said it was either the Governor or some agent of the administration, but the gentleman from Allegheny forgot the second part, namely, an agent of the administration. I did not say there was any roll call in the Republican caucus, as the gentleman from Allegheny said;

I said there were sixteen men in favor of the amendments and eleven against them, when they got word from the administration.

Then again, Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny is trying to make me out a pretty big man by intimating that I can hold any bill in the Republican House of Representatives. Mr. Walker, you can not give the people of Pennsylvania the impression that Brother Barr can hold any bill over in the House. If that bill is held, it takes Republican votes to do it.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I have never learned to speak at length in the Senate Chamber, but I was very much interested in the story of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, about the horrid little boy who attracted attention by growing red in the face from holding his breath, and while he was telling that story, trying to apply it to his distinguished colleague from Allegheny county, Mr. Barr, I could not help thinking that it is true only fifty-fifty; the distinguished Senator from Allegheny often gets red in the face, but he has never learned to hold his breath.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair calls to the attention of the Senate that House Bill 62 is still under discussion.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not intend to get lost and I intend to follow the course of discussion on House Bill 62 rather than get out into the woods again with my friend from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward.

However, I might call the attention of the Senate to the fact that you are now passing a bill that represents another broken promise of the Republican Party, for in the general election of the year of 1938, when the then Republican leadership, headed by the breaker-boy from up in Luzerne County, was out campaigning, he made the statement that the Earle nuisance taxes would be repealed if he were elected Governor.

We find here tonight, seven years later, we are not only passing one of the Earle nuisance taxes, but we are making it a permanent tax upon the motorists of Pennsylvania. It was a direct promise of this administration that relief would be granted to the local municipalities, by granting to them some return from the gasoline tax. We in Pennsylvania ought to be ashamed of the financial condition of the municipalities within the Commonwealth. We are a broken, bankrupt government, so far as our local governments are concerned. Great municipalities with eighteen to twenty-five thousand population have street and sewer appropriations set up in their budgets as low as $13,000 a year. Why, they can not do any more than repair the holes caused by the traffic and the floods and the weather.

You gentlemen realize that in the early days, when the communities of this great Commonwealth had one or two paved streets, they did not need so much money for street care, but today most everybody in this great Commonwealth owns an automobile, and although a war is on and use is restricted, we will come again to the day when most of our citizens will use their cars regularly. They want paved streets, they want streets that are kept in good repair, they want streets that are kept open in the winter, they want streets they can travel over to get to and from their work, to get to and from their homes, to get to and from their schools and business in the community, and the only way they can do that is to have a greater return from the taxes the motorist pay. It is not fair to a home owner to place upon him the burden of maintaining the streets and the roads and the highways.

You gentlemen realize that by pressure the motorists, through their organizations, have achieved a goal they have had for years; they have restricted the use of all moneys received by the Commonwealth from taxation upon motorists, upon vehicular traffic, all taxes on gasoline, motor licenses, and so forth, they have restricted it to the use of highway purposes only.

When are we going to pass some law that will restrict the use of money assessed against real estate to the benefit of real estate only? Why should you ask a man who benefits none whatsoever from a highway or a street, an individual that owns a small home on an unpaved street in a community, when are you going to say to him, "you do not have to pay a share of the taxes we assess against your property to take care of a paved street downtown for the man that owns an automobile?"

I do not think any man on the other side will say we are asking for anything unfair. Forty-seven other states and commonwealths of this great nation give a greater proportion to the local communities than Pennsylvania does. They give as high as thirty-five per cent of all the revenue received from motor vehicles, all the revenue received from gasoline taxes and motor licenses, and here we are squabbling about three-tenths of a cent on one cent of a gas tax. We are squabbling about a percentage of one cent that is assessed against the motorist. We do not ask you to use this money to repair sewers, we do not ask you to use this money to put in lighting systems, we do not ask you to use this money for burglary protection or fire protection; we ask you to use this money for the specific purposes intended by the legislation that we have passed—strictly for road and highway purposes.

Gentlemen, the Chairman of the Committee on Highways said that upwards of $10,000,000 was asked in 1943 and the bill was defeated because they did not know where the money would come from. Does anybody in Pennsylvania not know how much of a surplus is resting over in the highway fund? Does anybody in this Commonwealth not know that they have more money than they possibly can spend in the next two years, with a restricted building program? That argument does not stand of its own weight, because, gentlemen, anybody knows that this is the cheapest, the chiselingest proposition that has ever been presented to the Senate of Pennsylvania. You men ought to know, from your years of experience, that the department heads selected to be members of the cabinet come down here to Harrisburg, under any administration, Democratic or Republican, to set themselves up in such a position that they will leave some sort of a record, whereby they have gained more power and more authority for the department they represent. It is not peculiar only to the Highway Department; it is peculiar to all departments of government.

We stand here in the Senate and listen to arguments against the federal government taking from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania great sums of money through federal taxes and dribbling back to Pennsylvania small sums in return, and you stand right here tonight and you admit that you are taking from Philadelphia, that you are taking from Pittsburgh, that you are taking from Jeanette, that you are taking from Podunk, and from every little town in Pennsylvania, more money than you return.

Do you think there is any difference between state rights and home rule? Basically, the principle is the same. Communities are drying up in Pennsylvania. We have worse conditions than any of our neighboring states. In the summer time the dirt streets are nothing but a cloud of dust—they can not even afford oil to keep the dust down. I know, because I served four years on a city council, and in those days in my young political career I learned that we had to get some money from the motorist, because he contributed not one cent to the upkeep of the streets. What would be the need if you did not have motor cars or trucks? No need at all—because people can walk without paved streets—but you can not drive cars and keep up the transportation system of this nation without paved streets.

Gentlemen, I know the argument behind this bill and I know exactly what the whole score is. They say, "sure, we could afford to give them the whole cent, but in normal times that might amount to as much as $40,000,000", and they do not want to give the cities, boroughs and townships $20,000,000—half that amount—so that they could take care of their streets

I say to you, and I say it advisedly, you might get away with this bill; I do not know. It used to be—and this is a sad commentary—that the thoughts of the people of Pennsylvania were usually exemplified by the action in the Senate. Shame upon the Senate of Pennsylvania. The House of Representatives, if you please, in this session of the Legislature, has shown exactly what the people are thinking in the matter of school legislation, in the matter of road legislation, in the matter of compensation, in the matter of labor laws. The House of Representatives has now resolved itself into the body that represents the thinking of Pennsylvania. I sometimes wish I were a member of that honorable body, Mr. President—and the Chairman of the Committee on Highways quite probably would be better pleased if I were.

The Chairman of the Committee on Highways said we passed a bill that gave Pittsburgh $30,000,000 for a park driveway, but he failed to explain to the Senate that that roadway, when it is built, will be built for the comfort, for the luxury and for the pleasure of tourists or the out-of-the-city driver; it does not relieve a fellow owning a home up on the hillside; it does not relieve one cent of taxation from any resident of the city of Pittsburgh. It is just like saying to me, "you are from Westmoreland county; we have spent millions of dollars in your county on Route 30 or Route 22, the turnpike." Why, gentlemen, the people in my county only use those national routes when they are going somewhere, when they are going out of the county. The streets that we use every day, we as home owners pay for the upkeep of, and I say that is unfair. I say this is the smallest possible thing we could do to relieve real estate. There has been nothing done yet in this session to believe one cent of real estate taxation, and yet every man in this Senate knows the backbone of the wealth of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is the real estate owner. He is the man that keeps our schools up, he is the man that keeps our communities up, he is the man that has built the physical wealth, which in turn is the sponsor of the cultural wealth of this state and of this nation.

Gentlemen, you can not do anything else but vote as you are voting. I will not accuse the Governor of swinging a big stick. The gentleman from Allegheny took it upon himself to try to divulge to the members of the Senate what went on in the bi-partisan meetings. I will say now that we have had the nicest relationship in these meetings, that I think the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is a very gracious gentleman, that at all times he has treated us as men who represent the thought not only of our parties, but of our people in our districts. At no time has he ever tried to take political advantage of the fact that he had representing him a majority in the House and Senate, but I do not hesitate to say to the Governor that he wants this bill passed as it is, as you have amended it. I do not hesitate to say that he has taken the responsibility for it, because he knows full well if you pass it in the form we ask that it be passed, he will be faced with the proposition of either having to sign it or veto it, and so he would rather have it come to him in the form he would like to have it—not he himself—but the Secretary of Highways wants it that way. You see, gentlemen, we have passed a couple of bills taking over toll bridges, and so we have to knock off a little money from the cities, boroughs and townships to pay for the toll bridges, so that the taxis, tourists and buses do not have to pay any more money to go over the bridges. We know that, but we do not bring it out publicly—we just insinuate the thing.

The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, said the communities will be happy to get this. You know, Mr. President, that is funny. You take a man that is starving, he is hungry and he will take a crust of bread and be grateful for it, but you know he needs a full meal; you know he will never gain his strength back by giving him a dry crust of bread, with a glass of water; he needs nourishment, he needs food, and that is what we are asking for. Why give him a crust of bread? Give him something substantial, something that will build our communilties up into places we are proud to live in, something as strong and substantial as the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania itself. Here we are like an arrogant father, with our pockets bulging with our money, and we see our children sick and weak and starved, and we will not spend the money we are hoping to save for another election, or our old age, if you please, we will not spend the money to make our children healthy.

I am going to take a different position than my colleagues who have asked you to vote "no". I am going to ask my colleagues of the Senate to vote "aye". I am not going to be a dog in the manger or a crow without bait; I am going to say to the members on this side, be bigger than political impulses would have you be. I am going to ask Senator Barr and Senator Holland to go along with me and to vote "aye" on this bill, because, as I said, even a crust of bread to a starving man may save his life, so that some day he may get to where he will sit down to a full meal.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr President, I am going to vote for House Bill 62 as it appears now, notwithstanding the fact that I introduced amendments last night to put this bill back in the same form in which it came to us from the House.

I intended to make no remarks to justify my position on the bill in introducing the amendments, but because of one statement made by the Chairman of the Committee on Highways, in which, inferentially at least, he seemed to indicate that this question arose simply because Philadelphia and Pittsburgh were not getting quite the share of the fund that they felt they should get. That is not the reason, Mr. President, I introduced the amendments. I introduced the amendments last night because, in the first place, as I recall, the Governor in his budget message made some statement to the effect that the Legislature should make a disposition and an allocation of the receipts from the one cent gasoline tax to the local subdivisions. I think the proper allocation and the proper disposition is to return to the local sub-divisions the full revenue from the one cent tax, whether that revenue is the $22,000,000 which has been estimated or whether that revenue is in excess of the $22,000,000.

There is not any question, I believe, in the minds of any of those who have made any study or examination of our system of taxation, that some revision is necessary and in that revision something must be done for the assistance of the local sub-divisions. We also know that this past winter was the worst winter we have had during the lifetime of most of us. Every local sub-division, whether it be second-class or first class township, borough, or any one of the various classifications of cities, will need a greater amount of money in the coming months in order to put their highways and streets back in proper condition because of the ravages of the extreme winter which we have just passed through.

I feel, Mr. President, in doing that, if we were to return the revenue from the one cent tax, we would, in effect, be taking nothing from the Commonwealth. If my recollection is correct, the Governor did not include any part of the revenue from this one cent tax in his budget. Therefore, to return the full one cent should not in any way affect the administration's budget.

In addition to that, in the last session of the Legislature, I believe, the second class townships received a sum of $7,000,000 in an appropriation. That, Mr. President, will not be done in this session, whether House Bill 62 passes in the form it now is, or with the amendments which I attempted to introduce last night. Therefore the general fund, or the highway fund, will in effect be $7,000,000 ahead of the game in this session from what it was in the last session.

In addition, of course, if the bill passes in its present form, with the $17,000,000 appropriated, there would be, even on the estimated revenue, a balance of $5,000,000, which would give the administration another $5,000,000.

In other words, Mr. President, I feel, and I felt when I introduced the amendments last night, that what I was doing was the just thing to do. It seems to me it is the one opportunity which we have in this session to give some positive relief to the home owner and the real estate taxpayer. Otherwise there seems to be little hope for relief of any kind for the real estate taxpayer. This is one way that we could at least make one move which might possibly bring about some little portion of that much needed relief.

Mr. SNOWDEN. Mr. President, I do not want to continue this discussion any longer than necessary, but there are a few things which should be corrected.

The gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, continually stressed that this bill carried a permanent one cent tax. I do not think that is correct. This is a temporary tax to be levied for two years. As I said before in my few remarks, at the end of this biennium we hope to have a bill that will be satisfactory to everybody and I do at that time hope to see it made permanent, the same way as the division of the funds will be made permanent, but at present this is not a permanent tax.

The gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, seemed to belittle the $30,000,000 grant to Pittsburgh. He seemed to feel that it did not benefit the proper people. The Chairman of your Committee on Highways in this session is certainly not in a position to say who this will benefit, but I do know it will deplete the motor license fund to the extent of $30,000,000, and to me $30,000,000 is a lot of money and should not be laughed about.

I have heard the opponents of this bill continually complain about the excessive damage the past winter has caused in the boroughs and the cities of this state. I admit that. That is positively correct. I know my own city suffered more damage this year than ever before, in its history that I can remember, but I also wish to call to your attention that the highway system has also suffered the same type of deterioration due to the excessive winter, cold weather, snows and floods, as did the cities and boroughs.

I wish to call your attention to this one fact—and I think we all have lost sight of it—that Pennsylvania has five times as much highway system to maintain as some of our neighboring states. Take New York state for instance. According to my recollection—I am only quoting from memory and I can be corrected on this—but I believe they have in the neighborhood of eight thousand miles of roads, and they have more revenue than Pennsylvania. Back in the days of the Democratic administration, under Governor Earle, I believe, at that time our system was enlarged from some twenty thousand miles to 40,600 miles. Think of that, gentlemen of the Senate, when you are considering this bill, that we have got 40,600 miles of highway to maintain, and yet if you gentlemen go out on the roads and find a bad place in a road, the first thing you do is complain to the Highway Department.

It costs money to maintain forty thousand miles of road. Our opponents talk about returning twenty-five per cent of the one cent tax revenue back to the subdivisions—they say thirty per cent in Ohio. That is all right. They have only got some twelve thousand miles of roads in Ohio, and they have practically the same revenue we do, and I would not know what they would do with the money if they did not return some of it back to the communities, but when you come to stretch our income over forty thousand miles, it does not go quite far enough.

I heard the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent—and I hope he hears this—say that the coffers of the Highway Department are bulging with money. It is absolutely true that we have money over there—and we would be positively bad housekeepers if we did not;

we have had decent revenue for the last several years. Due to the war and different conditions, maintenance could not be kept up, there could be no more construction, the federal government interfered with new construction, and we would be poor housekeepers if we did not build up a surplus.

I happen to have in my desk an estimate for the next biennium and it runs something like $185,000,000, if my memory serves me right. We do not have enough to pay that. If we do not get some extra revenue, or gasoline sales do not go up, we will be $15,000,000 short of putting across our program for the next two years.

Why complain about the enormous amount in the motor license fund? We need it. We are good housekeepers and we are running the department economically; we are running it like a business ought to be run. We are saving this money until the green light flashes and we can go ahead, and every one of you in the state of Pennsylvania will benefit.

I think this is a fair division of the money. I do not think it is fair to confiscate the whole cent. I am sympathetic with the third class cities and the townships. They should have some money, and they are getting a nice sum of money. $8,500,000 is not an insignificant sum, stretched out over a mileage basis.

It was never the intent of the Legislature that we would pay the entire cost of maintenance and upkeep of these roads. I have heard statements, previous to my coming to the Senate in 1939, where the intent seemed to be to try to meet fifty per cent of the maintenance costs of the townships, cities and boroughs, and that was based on the actual cost of the three previous years. The Legislature at that time tried to meet fifty per cent of that cost, and they came pretty close, and they did a mighty good job.

It is true, as was said by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, that we will be relieving the motor license fund of an appropriation of $7,000,000. That is true. We expect, under this bill, to get approximately $4,000,000, from this one cent tax, to turn back into the motor license fund. $7,000,000 plus $4,000,000 equals $11,000,000. That will partially take care of what our deficit will be after we put through the two year program for the next biennium.

I understand $185,000,000 is required to put these roads back in condition, and do the work already planned. We do not have that, and do not have it in sight. At the end of the biennium, the way it is going now, as near as we can estimate, we will still be $50,000,000 short. We will have $11,000,000 toward that deficit out of this bill that we have before us tonight.

Therefore I repeat, and I am going to cut it short, I do not believe in these long arguments, you could go on and on and on. There are a dozen more questions I have here to answer, but I am not going to answer them.

I am just going to ask my good friends of the Senate, on both sides, to support this bill. I know the opposition dare not go home without something. They say they are going to be magnaminous and vote for this bill. I feel they have just got to vote for this bill. They can not go back to their cities and boroughs without taking something back.

This is a good bill, it is a fair bill, it gives them a lot of money they never had before, and therefore I say let us pass it and get it off our Calendar.

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President, for the reasons expressed by my friend from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, I intend to vote for this bill.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I will only take one more minute. I want to again advise the Chairman of the Committee on Highways that he does not know what is in the bill. If he will look at page 6 he will find this is not an emergency tax. It says the entire amount of the additional—and the word "emergency" is stricken out. This tax of one cent per gallon is not an emergency tax.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 171 on third reading, entitled:

An Act providing for the complete medical and dental examination of all children of school age and teachers and other school employes in the public and private elementary and secondary schools of the Commonwealth and imposing certain duties upon the Department of Health and the Department of Public Instruction and making an appropriation go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 176, as follows:

An Act to add sections eight point one and eight point two to the act approved the thirtieth day of March one thousand nine hundred three (P. L. 106) entitled "An act authorizing and empowering the city treasurers of the several cities of second class and third class of of this Commonwealth to sell at public sale all properties upon which the taxes assessed and levied are delinquent and remain unpaid" by fixing the interests of the various taxing authorities having taxes or claims against property sold under the provisions of said act by the treasurer of any city of the second class and providing for the distribution of moneys received as income from or resale of any such property purchased by the city at such tax sale

Section 1 The act approved the thirtieth day of March one thousand nine hundred three (P. L. 106) entitled "An act authorizing and empowering the city treasurers of the several cities of second class and third class of this Commonwealth to sell at public sale all properties upon which the taxes assessed and levied are delinquent and remain unpaid" is hereby amended by adding thereto after section eight two new sections to read as follows

Section 8.1 After the period for redemption as provided for in this act has expired and the said lands have not been redeemed it shall be the duty of the city treasurer to certify to the Board or Boards of Assessors or proper assessing authorities charged with the duty of assessing such real estate for purposes of taxation that he sold the lands to the grantee named in the deed and that the period for redemption has expired and said lands have not been redeemed and if the said lands have been sold to the city the aforesaid assessing authorities shall not thereafter return said lands for purposes of taxation and no taxes shall be levied thereon as long as the property is held and owned by the city Copies of the aforesaid certification may also be furnished to deed registries or other interested authorities

Section 8.2 The interests of all taxing authorities having taxes or claims against any property sold to any city of the second class by the city treasurer under the provisions of this act shall be fixed and determined as of the time of the certification by the city treasurer as provided for in section eight point one and shall remain fixed without the necessity of filing or reviving liens or otherwise preserving such taxes or claims and if the said city receives income from the property it shall distribute any net income first to the cost of the treasurer's sale and the balance to the interested taxing authorities in proportion to their taxes and claims against the property until such taxes and claims have been iliquidated and thereafter in proportion to their rate of tax levy within the city

If upon a resale by the city of any property purchased by it under this act either for a sum sufficient to pay all taxes and claims or for a lesser sum as provided by laws it should be deemed necessary by said city to conduct any court proceedings to perfect its tax title acquired at the treasurer's sale it shall be lawful for the said city to deduct the costs of said proceedings from the sale price before distribution of the balance and if the sale price or balance remaining is more than sufficient to pay all taxes and claims then the sum left after all taxes and municipal claims have been satisfied shall be distributed to the interested taxing authorities in proportion to their rate of tax levy upon real estate within the city at the time of resale

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 514, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend subsection (b) of section sixteen of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 487) entitled "An act to provide for the permanent personal registration of electors in boroughs towns and townships as a condition of their right to vote at elections and primaries and their enrollment as members of political parties as a further condition of their right to vote at primaries prescribing certain procedure for the conduct of elections and primaries and the challenge and proof of qualifications of electors requiring the county commissioners of the various counties to act as a registration commission therefor and prescribing the powers and duties of citizens parties political bodies registration commissions commissoners registrars inspectors of registration and other appontees of registration commissions county election boards election officers municipal officers departments and bureaus police officers courts judges prothonotaries sheriffs county commissioners peace officers county treasurers county controllers registrars of vital statistics certain public utility corporations real estate brokers rental agents and boards of school directors and imposing penalties" requiring registrars to sit in voting precincts upon the petition of a certain number of qualified electors thereof go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. KLEIN. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I hoped last night, during the late hours of the session, that it would be unnecessary for me to take the floor of this Senate again during this session.

I am vitally interested in Senate Bill 514. While this bill may seem very unimportant I think it is perhaps one of the most important bills that has been presented to this Senate, and I think I would be a traitor to my cause if I failed to get up and voice my protest to having this bill go over in its order and eventually dying.

As I said last night, I do not like to get up on the floor of this Senate and consume valuable time, particularly during the closing hours of the session, but I would like to take a few moments of your time to tell you why I feel the way I do about this bill.

Some thirty-five years ago my father left the shores of Europe and came to this great country because he knew that America was a land of freedom and a land of opportunity. Some two years later it was my father's good fortune to have accumulated sufficient money to send to my mother so that she might bring my sister and I to this great land. America has been good to me and has been good to my family. We have resided in this great Commonwealth during the entire period of our residence in America As I travel across this great Commonwealth every week I admire its wonder, its beauty, and I am proud to be a citizen of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

When I was elected to this distinguished body last November I was proud, proud in the knowledge that only thirty-three years ago I left the shores of that land, and the people of my district had elected me to this high office. I am proud of America, I am proud of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and I am content to spend the rest of my days in this great state.

A few months ago my father called me to his home and said, "Son, I have many important documents; I have deeds to real estate which America has given to me, I have life insurance policies, I have bank accounts, but the most important paper I own is the paper I received from a federal court in 1916, my citizenship paper." And he said to me, "Son, because of that paper you today are an American citizen and have been since 1916."

Now, having been elected to this high office, I think I owe a duty to the people whom I represent; I owe to them a duty to represent them to the best of my ability. When I introduced this bill, as I stated yesterday, no politics entered into it, as it benefits Republicans and Democrats alike. My sole purpose was to make it easier for my neighbor, for my townsman, for my fellow Pennsylvanian, to make himself eligible to go to the polls—as my father has done for some thirty years, and as we do—so that he might cast his ballot for people of his own choosing.

I know, Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, that there is only one objection to this bill. That objection is that it might cost a little bit of money. I appreciate the position the municipalities, boroughs, towns and townships are taking, but I say if we can do anything to help these people who find it impossible, or extremely difficult, to register and make themselves eligible to vote, we ought to exert every effort to give these people an opportunity to be good citizens, to be good Americans. I know in the closing days of this session this bill will die.

My colleague and good friend, Senator Stiefel, said not long ago he must bow to the inevitable. Before I bow I want you gentlemen to know this bill is a just bill, it is a fair bill, it is a decent bill, because it gives to certain persons a right, an opportunity, it makes it easier for them to take their rightful place in the affairs of government, and when we have all of the people, or the great majority of the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, taking their rightful place in the affairs of government, then we need have no fears for the future of this Commonwealth, and when the people throughout the nation take their rightful place in the affairs of government, we need have no fears for the future of this great country.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr President, if the request to have this bill go over one day did nothing else but give us the opportunity of hearing the genlemen from Beaver say a few words, expressing his reviews as honestly and sincerely as he possibly could, it did something for those of us who have been closely associated with him in the General Assembly of Pennsylvania.

I am sure I share the general belief that truth and honesty and candor run like golden threads through his whole make-up. Last night was the first time the gentleman from Beaver ever spoke on the floor of the Senate of Pennsylvania. This is the first bill introduced by the gentleman from Beaver that ever got on the Calendar in this Senate.

I have said on several occasions, Mr. President, that the General Assembly is a sort of a mirror, a kind of screen in which is reflected the entire life of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Here you have every idea and every ideal in the great Commonwealth, represented in 258 members of this Legislature, and here is where those with conflicting opinions come to clash and in a peaceful, democratic way, settle their differences.

I imagine when the gentleman from Beaver sat in the Democratic Caucus and on the floor of the Senate, listening and learning and observing, and at times, I assume, suppressing an inclination to give expression to a thought, he must have been just a bit disappointed in the process of democracy as represented in the functioning of this General Assembly.

Back home in his particular district is a condition that he seeks to correct. The only bill he has had on the floor of the Senate of Pennsylvania, to take care of the situation back home, it looks to me, from the action of the majority party, as if his efforts are going to be in vain. I would be false to my real emotion if I did not say a word in behalf of this particular bill.

Senator Klein is a thoroughly decent gentleman, a supremely tolerant individual. He has sat in the Senate of Pennsylvania, voting for bills affecting Pittsburgh, affecting Philadelphia, and every other political sub-division, and I have a right to assume at times that perhaps he did not agree with the Democratic position, but as a loyal party man and as a follower of the late President Roosevelt, he suppressed his personal feelings and went along with the minority members in this Senate. I am going to ask my friends on the Democratic side and also ask the gentlemen on the other side of the Senate, if they will not let this bill be voted on tonight.

I am not too sure this bill has bad features. Under existing law one hundred voters can petition the Board of Registration Commissioners and ask them to fix a registration day All Senator Klein is asking for in this bill is to permit fifty electors to petition the registration commission to have a registration day in a particular precinct. I hope the sense of appreciation and the sense of loyalty and the great personal friendship we have for Senator Klein will assert itself, not only on the Democratic side, but on the Republican side, and that the Majority Leader will withdraw his request that this bill go over and have it acted upon tonight.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, at the outset let me say all of us on this side have deep personal regard for the gentleman from Beaver, Senator Klein. We have no desire to embarrass the Senator in moving that this bill go over in its order. I stand here representing the Republican caucus.

Mr. President, I submit to the gentleman that the bill is improperly drawn. On page 3, line 12, he talks about registrars sitting not later than thirty days. Mr. President, the law has been amended at this session of the Legislature, and now it is fifty days rather than thirty. And on page 23, where it states 45 days, that likewise should be fifty. The bill would have to be amended before it could be considered by the Senate, and I regret that it is necessary for me to again request that the bill go over in its order.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr President, may I interrogate my good colleague from Delaware?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, am I right if I say that I smell a little bit of Machiavelism in this discussion—carrying water on both shoulders?

Mr. HEYBURN. I do not know, I think maybe he smells something; whether it is water on both shoulders or not I do not know.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. I mean in the general discussion.

Mr. HEYBURN Yes, I understand.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Then I am right. I understand perfectly.

Mr. BARR. I desire to correct the Majority Leader. The Governor has not signed the bill for the fifty day registration. They just amended it yesterday in the House.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection to Senate Bill 514 going over in its order? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 716, as follows:

An Act to amend section eight of the act approved the twenty-first day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1969) entitled "An act relating to nonprofit cooperative corporations organized to engage in rural electrification providing for the organization consolidation and dissolution of such corporations prescribing the qualification for membership therein conferring certain rights powers duties and immunities upon them and their officers and members prescribing the conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers providing for the inclusion of certain existing cooperative or nonprofit corporations and associations within the provisions of this act conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State departments commissions and officers fixing fees conferring the right of eminent domain prohibiting the use of certain terms in the corporate names of other corporations exempting such corporations from excise taxes imposing on them a license fee and exempting such corporations from the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission and from the provisions of the Securities Act" by providing that before a certificate of incorporation shall issue to an electric cooperative corporation the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission shall find and determine certain facts and approve the articles of incorporation

Section 1 Section eight of the act approved the twenty-first day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1969) entitled "An act relating to nonprofit cooperative corporations organized to engage in rural electrification providing for the organization consideration and dissolution of such corporations prescribing the qualification for membership therein conferring certain rights powers duties and immunities upon them and their officers and members prescribing conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers providing for the inclusion of certain existing cooperative or nonprofit corporations and associations within the provisions of this act conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State departments commissions and officers fixing fees conferring the right of eminent domain prohibiting the use of certain terms in the corporate names of other corporations exempting such corporations from excise taxes imposing on them a license fee and exempting excise taxes imposing on them a license fee and exempting such corporations from the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission and from the provisions of the Securities Act" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 8 Execution Filing and Recording of Articles of Incorporation (a) The original copy of the articles of incorporation shall be signed by the incorporators and acknowledged before any officer authorized by the laws of this Commonwealth to acknowledge the execution of deeds and conveyances It shall be filed in the office of the Department of State If the Secretary of the Commonwealth finds that the articles of incorporation conform to law he shall [when the fees prescribed by this act have been paid] transmit the articles of incorporation to the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission The Commission shall fix a time and place for a public hearing on the proposed articles of incorporation and shall give at least thirty days notice thereof to the incorporators and to other persons and corporations having an interest by United States mail or publication or both as the Commission may determine If after hearing the Commission shall find and determine from the evidence submitted that the issue of a certificate of incorporation to the incorporators is necessary and proper for the service accommodation convenience or safety of the public and is in the public interest it shall enter an order to that effect and shall endorse its approval on the certificate of incorporation and return the same to the Department of State if the Commission shall find otherwise it shall enter an order to that effect and shall return said articles without its approval From the decision of the Commission an appeal may be taken by any party interested to the Superior Court in the manner provided by the Public Utility Law approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1053)

When a certificate of incorporation has been approved by the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission and the fees prescribed by this act have been paid the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall

(1) Endorse on the original copy the word "Filed" and the month day year of the filing thereof

(2) File the original in his office

(3) Issue a certificate of incorporation to the incorporators

(b) The incorporators shall file for recording a certified copy of the articles of incorporation in the office of the recorder of deeds in the county in which the principal office of the corporation in this Commonwealth is located

Section 2 This act shall be construed to apply to applications for certificates of incorporation which have not been marked "filed" prior to the effective date of this act

Section 3 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I wonder whether we realize to what extent this bill affects the farmer in the state of Pennsylvania. I wonder whether we realize the important part the farmer plays in our way of living. I further wonder whether we realize how hard he works, getting up in the early hours of the morning and working until the late hours of the night and enjoying very few, if any, comforts. For years he had been denied the right to have any electricity in his home, in his barn, and also on his farm, but finally the Legislature, in its wisdom in 1937, saw fit to pass a rural electrification act. Prior to the passage of this particular act thousands upon thousands of farms in Pennsylvania were not electrified.

Since 1937 electrification of farms has become a reality, and the social and economic advantages of low electric rates have been placed within the reach of our farmers. The purpose of the rural electrification act is to furnish electricity to farms at low rates, where it was not previously furnished, and what is more, where the utilities refused to furnish it excepting at exorbitant rates.

Let me give you an idea of how many farms have been electrified since 1937. The number of farms receiving electricity increased from 45,000 on December 31, 1934, to 112,800 on June 30, 1944. Generally the provisions of the rural electrification act were taken advantage of in virgin territory. The law is rather specific on this point. I now read from section 3, paragraph 1, statutes of 1937, P. L. 1969, as follows:

"The furnishing of electric energy to persons in rural areas who are not receiving central station service."

In other words, the purpose is that non-profit cooperative corporations may be organized under this act for the purpose of engaging in rural electrification by any one or more of the following methods, and this particular section, paragraph 1, says, "The furnishing of electrical energy to persons in rural areas who are not receiving central station service." It was practically impossible to get it any other way. Hence the need for formation of rural electrification cooperatives, which, among other things could, under section 4, not only purchase but acquire electricity or if necessary erect and construct plants to produce the electricity.

Immediately the private utilities thought it wise to extend their lines to sell their energy to the cooperatives, at low rates and at a profit to themselves. Prior to passage of this act the utilities refused to extend their lines to help the farmers, but when they realized the possibility that the cooperatives, non-profit organizations —not profit organizations—might generate and manufacture electric energy, they came down to earth and immediately commenced negotiations with the cooperatives to sell electric energy to them—mind you, only in virgin territory, eliminating the possibility of competition. Accordingly the cooperatives purchased millions of kilowatt hours of electrcity from the private utilities.

But, let me say, the plan was not without its headaches. The private utilities at first cooperated, extended their lines and entrenched themselves, but as soon as the complexion of the Public Utility Commission changed, they threw obstacles in the way of the cooperatives, particuarly with respect to the rates.

Undaunted, and fighting against odds and especially unfriendly commissions, they continued to purchase electric energy without any thought of erecting and constructing their own generating plants. However, in many instances matters reached such a pass that it was impossible to purchase electric energy excepting at exorbitant rates, and hence the cooperatvies decided to take advantage of section 4, paragraph 4 of the act, wherein it gives them permission to generate and manufacture electricity, and, the utilities sensing this, I dare say caused the present bill before us to be introduced.

What does Senate Bill 716 do? By its purposes and provisions Senate Bill 716 represents a continuation of the campaign of Pennsylvania power companies to deprive more than 150,000 Pennsylvania families, living in the rural areas without electricity, of the opportunity to obtain electric service for themselves through their own cooperative efforts. The power companies, which are vigorously pressing for the enactment of this bill, are attempting in this session of the Legislature to do what they tried and failed to do in the sessions of 1939, 1941 and 1943—cut off further extension of electricity through the cooperative plan provided by the electric cooperative act enacted in the 1937 session.

Senate Bill 716, the very bill before us, if enacted, would amend the act to require that the articles of incorporation of electric cooperatives be passed upon by the Public Utility Commission, after a public hearing, to determine whether or not the issuance of a certificate of incorporation is necessary and proper for the service, accomodation, convenience and safety of the public and is in the public interest. The same proceedure would apply to amendments to articles of existing corporations.

Provision is also made, Mr. President, for appeals to the courts from actions of the commission. In effect, this provision, if enacted, would give the Public Utility Commission a veto power over the extension of cooperative electricity into the rural areas of this Commonwealth. The present law, Mr. President, specifically exempts electric cooperatives from Public Utility Commission jurisdiction.

Section 32 of the Act of 1937 provides that all corporations organized under this act shall be exempt in any and all respects from the jurisdiction and control of the Public Utility Commission of the Commonwealth. Enactment of this bill would substantially repeal section 32.

The farming people of Pennsylvania have not received sympathetic consideration from the present commission in their cooperative attempts to electrify their farms and homes. Past experience of the cooperatives warrants the statement that enactment of Senate Bill 716 would very definitely be to the serious disadvantage of the unelectrified farms and homes in the rural areas of this Commonwealth. The cooperatives have demonstrated their ability to serve their members—they have it since 1937—to the best interests of the Commonwealth under the existing law. It should not be changed. Further, cooperatives are not public utilities.

I say this bill, Mr. President, is against public interest. Past experience demontsrates that proceedings before the Public Utility Commission and the courts entail delay and expense and afford the power companies the opportunity, which they have not in the past overlooked, of engaging in obstructive and dilatory techniques. Enactment of Senate Bill 716 will serve only to promote the program of the selfish power companies, by not permitting further extension of electric service in rural areas by any persons or enterprises other than power companies. Senate Bill 716 is definitely against the public interest, which requires that no obstacle be placed in the path of universal electrification of Pennsylvania farms and farm houses.

Past legislative policy favoring cooperative rural electrification is most forcefully evidenced by House Resolution No. 21, adopted on February 17, 1941, by our House, by a vote of 204 to nothing, with not one dissenting vote by either Republicans or Democrats. I realize this is not a partisan measure; it is strictly non-partisan, because it helps everybody.

This particular resolution read, in part, as follows:

"Resolved, That this House of Representatives this day assembled at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, hereby renews its pledge of coperation with the farmers of the State of Pennsylvania in an effort to secure for them an extension of rural electrification; and be it further

"Resolved, That the House of Representatives hereby pledges to resist and to defeat any attempt to destroy or minimize the benefits of the Rural Electrification Act of the 1937 Session."

Mr. President, under the present bill, if enacted, what can the cooperatives expect from the present Commission? Apparently the same help that today is being given to the municipal authorities. Three applications have been filed by municipal authorities with the present Public Utility Commission. One of them was accepted after eighteen months of delay, the other two applications were refused. I need not repeat, very little can be expected by the authorities

Let us go further. This same Commission rendered a very outlandish decision in the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company matter. Is it not strange that only a few weeks ago this very same body passed two bills exempting certain companies from the provisions of the Public Utility law, namely, those engaged in the transportation of wood, charcoal and pulp wood. I wonder why on the one hand, we are relieving the Public Utility Commission from jurisdiction over these companies, and, on the other hand, asking them to take control over authorities and also cooperatives. I wonder whether these companies whose bills we favor are more important to us than the farmers. I do not think so personally, and there are many here who do not think so. Yes, the power trust is at work. It has the most powerful lobby in the United States. The group that was responsible for the defeat of Aubrey V. illiams, the well known liberal, is now working feverishly through their chiefs and presidents, and Mr. Wise and Mr. A. Miller, to bring about the pasage of this bill.

Recently an article appeared in one of our Philadelphia newspapers condemning the effort of the power trust to head off future progress of rural cooperatives. It has been argued, Mr. President, by the proponents of this bill, that the cooperatives are in competition with the utilities. Nothing is further from the truth. The cooperatives can only organize and obtain the benfits of the Act of 1937 in virgin territory and not where utility service is now being rendered. It has also been contended that the cooperatives are tax exempt. Quite correct But they are non-profit organizations, whereas the private utilities are profit organizations.

Let me go one step further on that particular point. Power companies in conducting a campaign for enactment of Senate Bill 716, are agitating tax exemption. Read Senate Bill 716 and you will find it has nothing to do with taxes; it is a lot of camouflage and excuses and simply throwing a red herring across the trail.

Mr. President, this bill marks a deliberate attempt to prevent the further growth of the coperatives and, further, to force those in existence to pay exorbitant rates. More important, it eliminates whatever means the cooperative will have to force low rates and satisfactory service through the building and constructing of generating plants.

Mr. President, I say in conclusion, the very conduct of the utilities, arrogant and dictatorial in their methods and conduct, provoked the attempt of the cooperatives to build their own generating plants. If they had been reasonable with them, sat down at the table and negotiated for fair rates and low rates, there would not be any need for this bill. However, the utilities, realizing they have a frientdly Commission, decided to charge exhorbitant rates. Hence, rather than go out of business, the cooperative decided to take advantage of the present law and build their own generating plants. I say again the utilities forced the issue.

My friends, I say both parties, both Republicans and Democrats, promised the farmers much, their platform and ours. Have we done as much as we promised? We now stand ready, through this bill, to strip them of the few benefits inuring to them as the result of the rural electrification act of 1937.

Gentlemen, let us not play fast and loose with the farmer. Let him enjoy the benefits that we gave him under the Act of 1937; let him continue with those benefits and not strip him of them.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am afraid if we do not make any more progress in the next three hours than we have made in the past three, we are going to be here a mighty long week. However, we can not let this type of legislation pass without calling attention to the dangers inherent therein.

In 1937, when the first rural electrification bill was passed by the Earle administration, out of 112,000 farms in Pennsylvania, twenty-five per cent were electrified. Today better than fifty-five per cent of the farms in Pennsylvania have electrical services. Since the passage of the first bill there have been thirteen cooperatives formed which served 57,000 Pennsylvania farm. Does anybody in this Senate believe that the high food production during this critical war period would have been possible without electrification on the farms of Pennsylvania? Any person who was born on a farm, or ever visited a farm, or was raised on a farm, knows the difference between farm life of yesterday and farm life of today. The mass milk production now possible, the egg production, the poultry production, is only made possible by the formation of the cooperatives that serve the rural areas. This bill will definitely, in my honest opinion, stop further electrification of the rural areas in Pennsylvania.

Saturday the Senate Committee on Agriculture, of the United States Senate, approved a six hundred million dollar appropriation for rural electrification. Six million dollars of that sum is earmarked for the use of Pennsylvania rural electrification cooperatives. We tonight, the members of this Senate, have within our power the pasage or the defeat of this bill. The defeat of this bill means that six million dollars will be made available for Pennsylvania dirt farmers so that they, too, can enjoy the comforts, the conveniences and the use of electrical services.

Everybody knows that during this war period 18,000 service connections have been made in rural areas; of the 18,000 service connections for electrical service, 13,000 are serviced by cooperative and 5,000 by private utilities.

Prior to 1937 the only farms serviced with electrical services were serviced by public utilities, or private utilities, but anybody knows they were only the farms adjacent to large urban districts or urban centers of population. The dirt farmer residing away from the main road still lived under the conditions that his ancesters lived under He may have had a good road, but he did not have the services so essential to good farming and good living. He still pumped his water by hand or went out to a spring. Today his water is piped into his home, and electrical services give him the conveniences that we city dwellers enjoy. He keeps his food cold in an electrical refrigerator, he uses electricity to run his combines, he uses electricity to run his farm machinery, he uses electricity in his barns to milk his cattle. I say to you that you are denying the man that produces the food that keeps this nation strong and healthy, you are denying him services that he will not get from the public utilities. I say to you that the utilities are well protected. Cooperatives can not go into a competitive area and they can not go into an area serviced in 1939, mind you, when the amendments were passed that eliminated the possibilities of a cooperative being formed wherever an existing line was put up. The many thousands of farmers in Pennsylvania were denied the services that they would have enjoyed if we had not passed the amendments in 1939, because everybodv knows that miles upon miles of spite lines were erected by private utilities to keep the coperative from being formed.

I know there are approximately a hundred thousand families affected by the passage of this bill. Any person who has ever worked on a farm, or who has ever even visited a farm, can not help but vote against this bill, because it denies the farmer the comforts, conveniences and utilities that he is justly entitled to.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I want to comment only briefly on this bill, but I would certainly be most remiss to my many constituents in rural Blair county and Huntingdon county if I were to be silent at this time.

As has been stated, the rural coperatives can not now, since 1939, go into territory which has been preempted. The cooperatives are in existence simply because of the fact that the utilities did not care to go into these rural sections of the state.

In Blair county we have hundred of farm homes, and the buildings there are now lighted and it is no longer necessary to have the oil lamp or the oil lantern. Aside from that, the farmer now can use power for turning the cream separator, the churn, grinding his feed, and in doing many things that saves the farmer labor

This is a most important bill to the farmers. It is only in effect where the utilities have elected not to go. The utilities that service Blair county and Huntingdon county, so far as I know, are not advocating enactment of this bill.

By reason of the fact that the present bill is doing so much good for my farm constituents, I propose to vote no on this bill.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I want to announce to the Senate tonight that I have been in the Senate for eleven years, and I want to say to the members of this Senate this is the most vicious and most insidious bill that has ever been offered on the floor of this Senate since I have been here in eleven years.

I know what greed is and avarice. I know what the utility power companies in Pennsylvania have done in the past. They have wrecked good men on the Public Utility Commission.

Today we have a Utility Commission that I am fearful that the power companies have got their fingers on them. How could anybody object to allowing farmers to form a cooperative and build their own lines, and, if necessary, furnish their own electricity without any competition with the power company in Easton or Philadelphia or Pittsburgh or any place else. They are not allowed to compete. They must go into virgin territory and go out to the farmer that has an oil lamp in his home. How it could hurt the utilities I do not know, except this, they are hoggish, avaricious and want to hold back, hoping that sometime, twenty-five or fifty years from now, they might build their lines in there, if they have enough people to make it pay. But why would they object to the farmers themselves building their own lines, not for profit, with the help of the federal government?

That is another reason I am proud of my government at Washington, because it is concerned about people back in the backwoods and back on the farms, which do not have these advantages that other people have. Why this Legislature or why the power companies would ever dream to interefere with that program, I can not understand

All these cooperatives bought their power from power companies that are governed by the Utility Commission. But they got greedy and they wanted to put them out of business and they kept their rates at an exorbitant price. There was one cooperative, however, that said "we will build one of our own; we will build a little generating plant down in our section of the woods and generate our own power," and then the power company cut their rate right in two. The powers that be. the utilities, said, "here, let us stop that kind of thing in Pennsylvania; let us stop forever these cooperatives from building generating plants in Pennsylvania unless they buy their power from us," and so they put this bill in here.

The sole purpose is that no cooperative can ever build a generating plant of their own in competition with the power companies, in any territory where they are, but only in their farm communities. But in their farming communities, they would have the right to build their own plant, pay for it, serve their farming districts with no profit, no money made, no taxes, and they feel they have that right, but the power companies said, "no, let us put this bill in the Pennsylvania Legislature and block, these cooperatives from building their own plants." And so, if the power companies have their fingers on the Utility Commission of Pennsylvania, or are so influential that they control it, they can drive every cooperative out of business in Pennsylvania, because they must buy their power today from the utility companies that are working under the Public Utility Commission.

What could be wrong with farmers building their own generating plant and making their own electricity, when there is no profit in it, no money to anybody? And yet greed has raised its ugly head in this situation and is trying to use this Legislature to work the Public Utility Commission to stop these poor farmers out in the back woods from getting some light and getting some power, with the help of the federal government.

Mr. President, as I said at the beginning, to me this is a vilest and most insidious bill that was ever offered on this floor. I can understand how people can be greedy. I can understand where there is competition they might come to this Legislature and ask for legislation, and I would not blame them if they were in competition, but why should the power companies of Pennsylvania try to stop these rural farmers from building their own lines, if they want to make their own electricity, and not one bit of that electricity will go to compete with any power company in Pennsylvania today.

Gentlemen, I ask you to vote this bill down because it is wrong.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (John M. Walker) in the Chair.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. President and members of the Senate, it is not often that I speak before this body because I do not like to take up its time, but for fear my vote will be misunderstood and to forestay anybody who might point the finger of scorn at me and say I am voting with the other side, I want to tell you what has happened to me.

For fifty years I have lived in my county and I believe I have the respect of my neighbors and of both parties up there. If I did not, I would not have been returned as often as I have, to the House of Representatives, beginning with 1899, and then being promoted up to this body.

Anybody who says that this is a political measure and that the New Deal are back of it and that they made it possible for the farmers to do so and so, and there have been many such claims, is in error. For the first time in all of my experience, in the years that have passed by, a committee of the most estimable gentlemen from my district, both Indiana and Jefferson counties, came clear down to visit with me personally, not to ask me to vote for the bill nor vote against the bill, but to give me information concerning the bill because I asked for it.

I have tried at this session to get both sides to listen on certain questions on which I felt I was competent to advise. I will leave it to the public, I will leave it to the press, I will leave it to the administration, I will leave it to the members on either side as to whether I have conducted myself on these questions in a fair or honorable manner. I leave it to you as to whether the finger of scorn should be pointed at me by any gentleman saying I am voting with the New Deal, when I happen to agree with some of the things they have done and some of the things they say. I believe in the past I have been competent to tell them when they were not doing the right thing and not saying the right thing. Certainly I do not approve, when they stand here and take up hour after hour upon technical questions and keep those of us who have come miles and miles to serve and never missed a session up to the present moment, until a few minutes ago, when I missed a vote because it was not quite possible for me to be in here to vote. I am not a dodger. I tell you at the caucus, I tell you on the floor of the Senate, whether you like it or not. You have made some errors, and more grave errors have been made on the Democratic side, if you please, and if you want me to tell you, I will tell you what they are. And there have been some grave errors made on the other side, and if you want me to tell you, I will tell you what they are.

Again I say to you, if you indulge in this practice you indulged in last night and Monday night, bringing us in here to serve until two o'clock in the morning, until four o'clock in the morning, just to prevent people from reading bills, then I am again going to do what I am doing now; I am going to get on my feet and talk. And it is barely possible that you will know that I have been on my feet when I get done, because I have looked you all up and it is time for me to say just these words.

I want you to understand that I am going to vote against this bill in spite of the fact that from all over the state, from Philadelphia, from Pittsburgh, from various directions, they are explaining to me why I should vote on the other side. I went home to get the information on this subject, because it is impossible here to keep track of everything that is going on. This committee of the finest gentlemen in my whole district came down to give me merely information. It is reduced to the nicest kind of writing and it is not a request to vote this way or that way—you have asked this question and we give you the information.

I deeply regret that a good bit of this information has been given by the other side. If I must say so, it has been given by a man with whom I do not always agree, but it is barely possible he got much of this information from the same source or in the same way of getting it that I got it. Maybe he asked people to find out how it is, and maybe he found out how it is, and because he happens to be a Democrat, the fact that he has the truth makes me feel on an equal with him. I really do feel equal with him upon this occasion.

I want to say to you again that no man in my entire district has asked me to vote for this bill no man has asked me to vote against this bill. The press, if you please, has been saying, when I have made certain statements on the floor of this Senate, that I am representing the coal interests of Pennsylvania when I make those statements. I want to say, for the benefit of the press, that the coal interests of this state have employed me and I have always told the people of Pennsylvania and I have always told the press the truth. The people of my district, the bituminous coal operators, hire me to tell them what to do. They do not hire me to come in here to be told by them what to do. I do hope the Philadelphia Inquirer will take that home, and have it sent from the floor of this Senate.

I do hope the people who run both parties will, in their caucuses and by their leaders, at least extend the courtesy to me, when I ask them as a personal favor, to hear the arguments on a certain side of a bill, and then I am not permitted, and that goes from the top clear down to the bottom. I want it understood that I have put up with all I want to put up with, from both sides of this Senate, and I want it understood that I have come back here year after year, not because I asked the people to vote for me, because I was nominated without opposition and I was elected in my district without asking a voter to vote for me at the general election.

What I am trying to tell you is this, that you take hours upon hours upon things that should never be here, and that you are trying to fight out a battle for United States Senator, and you have your orders to end your session at a certain time for some reason.

What I want to know is why, when you make an agreement on certain things, you do not keep it—and that applies to both sides. Think of man who endangers his life, like Senator Edmonds, coming here as he does to be a devoted citizen, and a diligent member of the Senate, to be treated in the manner in which he was treated at different times, by making it ncessary to serve here until four o'clock in the morning. Think of that. Can we not arrange these matters in some other way? And then to think of the arguments that take place. I am asking you, as a member of this Senate, do you think I am not justified in rising to my feet and telling you, just as I am telling you now? I am asking you if there is a single Senator in this Senate that has not been warned, and I am telling you what is going to happen from now on until the end of the session, and I am here to stay, I hope, until the end of the session.

What I want to say to you is that I have just taken a few of the little points that have been given to me by splendid counsel, by splendid business men, and I have a list of them if you want to know who they are. There are a few little reasons that were given to me, and I want to say to you, until I got the answers to these questions, I really was importuned and thought the bill was all right, because no man alive can analyze all of these things. I claim to know something about a few things and I claim to know something about legislative affairs.

These are the reasons I am going to vote against this bill:

Senate Bill 716 would give the Public Utility Commission the power to veto the extension of cooperative electric srevice in rural areas of the Commonwealth. I want to comment on that. If it gives them power to veto extension of cooperative electric service into the rural areas of the Commonwealth, does that not affect the people who are not already being supplied but wish to be supplied with electricity in some manner, at a reasonable rate and without unnecessary delay?

The general law has worked effectively and has brought electric service to more than thirty thousand Pennsylvania farm homes. I am asking you, on the Democratic side and on the Republican side, is that a true statement or not a true statement? Why, of course it is. The material has gone over on the other side and the material is being used on the other side. For what purpose? Political purposes. By saying, "look, you people from the districts that are rural, what we have said and what we stand for, and we want you to vote for us instead of continuing to vote as you have."

Under the present law the farmer cooperatives are not subject to Public Utility Commission control. They should not be made subject to such control, as they are not public utilities. I again say this to you: is that true? If they are not public utilities, why are public utilities, on both sides, or on the outside or on the edges or anywhere here, asking us about it and importuning us to vote for this bill, and really why was this bill put in here?

Past experience of farmer cooperatives is that Public Utility Commission proceedings cause unnecessary delay and expense to the farmer. Is that a true statement or not a true statement? I want to repeat that. The past experience of farmer cooperatives is that Public Utility Commission proceedings cause unnecessary delay and expense to the farmer. If that be true, and I am asking you to answer it before you vote, and I am not asking you to vote one way or the other; I am giving you the same privilege I demand for myself, to vote as you want to vote, and I do not care; but I am merely explaining why I am voting "no" on this bill. I believe their statements because they came to me from unimpeachable sources.

Cooperatives do not and can not, under present law, seek to serve consumers who are being served by the power companies. They do not compete. I am asking you: is that a true statement or not? If they do not compete, then why, if it be true, I ask the question, are the power companies here with this Senate Bill 716. I wonder why they are. Am I wrong in asking these questions here? If I am wrong in quoting—and I will give you the list of names but that is not necessary in quoting from the little memorandum that was handed to me by my splendid citizens from my district—I want you to tell me so on the floor of this Senate.

Senate Bill 716 would deprive thousands upon thousands of Pennsylvania rural families of the opportunity to make use of the electric cooperative act, to obtain electricity for themselves. I am asking you: is that a true statement or not a true statement? Why is it necessary to have things of this kind happen in the Legislature of Pennsylvania? I am asking you, why is it necessary for the House to differ from us in a business way on many questions? Why is it necessary for us to be here under conditions where we are in too great a hurry to be able to read the bills?

From now on, I want to serve notice on both sides, and particularly on the press, that from now to the end of this session I am apt to take up some time. You may listen or not, just as you want to, and you may misinterpret silence and you may misinterpret words, just as it suits you, but I want you to still take it that so far as my service from a citizenship point of view is concerned, I am paid to tell other people and other people do not pay me to tell me. See? Thank you.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODRING. I am sure it is not necessary to so request but I would like the roll to be called slowly and that only those answering be recorded.

(During the calling of the roll the following occurred:)

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I ask that the roll be verified.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Request has been made to have the roll verified.

The Clerk will call the names of those recorded as having voted in the affirmative.

Becker,	DiSilvestro,	Margie,	Stiefel,
Berger,	Farrell,	McCreesh,	Tallman,
Blass,	Heyburn,	Rosenfeld,	Taylor,
Bowers,	Homsher,	Ruth,	Troutman,
Carr,	James,	Scarlett,	Wade,
Chapman,	Jones,	Snowden,	Wagner,
Crowe,	Letzler,	Stevenson,	Woodward,

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none. The affirmative roll will stand as verified.

The Clerk will call the names of those recorded as having voted in the negative.

Barr,	Ealy,	Jaspan,	McGinnis,
Coleman,	Geltz,	Kephart,	Thomas,
Cox,	Gourley,	Klein,	Wilson,
Crider,	Haluska,	Leader,	Woodring,
Dent,	Holland,	Mallery,	Walker, Presiding Officer

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none. The negative roll will stand as verified.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—28

Becker,	DiSilvestro,	Margie,	Stiefel,
Berger,	Farrell,	McCreesh,	Tallman,
Blass,	Heyburn,	Rosenfeld,	Taylor,

Bowers,	Homsher,	Ruth,	Troutman,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 771, as follows:

An Act providing for and requiring in certain cases preference in appointments to public position or on public works for honorably discharged persons who served in the military or naval service during any war in which the United States engaged and in certain cases for the widows and wives of such persons

Section 1 The word "soldier" as used in this act shall be construed to mean a person who served in the armed forces of the United States or in any women's organization officially connected therewith during any war in which the United States engaged and who has an honorable discharge from such service

Section 2 When any soldier shall take any civil service appointment or promotional examination for a public position under the Commonwealth or under any political subdivision thereof he shall be given credit in the manner hereinafter provided for the discipline and experience represented by his military training and for the loyalty and public spirit demonstrated by his service for the preservation of his country

Section 3 Whenever any soldier shall successfully pass a civil service appointment or promotional examination for a public position under the Commonwealth or any political subdivision thereof and shall thus establish that he possesses the qualifications required by law for appointment to or promotion in such public position such soldier's examination shall be marked or graded an additional ten points above the mark or grade credited for the examination and the total mark or grade thus obtained shall represent the final mark or grade of such soldier and shall determine his standing on any eligible or promotional list certified or furnished to the appointing or promoting power

Section 4 Whenever any soldier possesses the requisite qualifications and is eligible to appointment to or promotion in a public position where no such civil service examination is required the appointing power in making an appointment or promotion to a public position shall give preference to such soldier

Whenever any soldier possesses the requisite qualification and his name appears on any eligible or promotional list certified or furnished as the result of any such civil service examination the appointing or promoting power in making an appointment or promotion to a public position shall give preference to such soldier notwithstanding that his name does not stand highest on the eligible or promotional list

In making an appointment or promotion to public office where such a civil service examination is required the appointing or promotional power may give preference to any soldier who has passed the required examination for appointment or promotion to such position and possesses the requisite qualifications although his name does not appear on the eligible or promotional list certified or furnished to the appointing or promoting power

Section 5 The lack of academic or scholastic training or experience age loss of limb or other physical impairment which does not in fact incapacitate any such soldier shall not be deemed to disqualify him provided he possesses the other requisite qualifications to satisfactorily perform all of the duties which the position requires

Section 6 Whenever the Commonwealth issues specifications for the construction alteration or repair of any public works such specifications shall include a provision under which the contractors and subcontractors shall agree to give a preferential rating similar to that given by this Commonwealth as herein provided to any soldier making application for employment upon such public works

Section 7 The same preferential rating given to soldiers under the provisions of this act shall be extended to include the widows and wives of disabled soldiers

Section 8 This act shall be construed as being the exclusive law applying to the Commonwealth and its political subdivisions in giving preference to soldiers in appointment or promotion to public position or on public works

Section 9 The act approved the twelfth day of April one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 27) entitled "An act to amend the title and the act approved the nineteenth day of May one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven (P. L. 132) entitled 'An act to give preference of appointment or employment to honorably discharged soldiers sailors and marines who fought for the Union cause in the late war of the rebellion' by extending the same preference to veterans and nurses of any war in which the United States has engaged" and the act approved the twenty-seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 1198) entitled "An act providing for and requiring in certain cases preference in appointments to public position for honorably discharged persons who served in the military or naval service during any war in which the United States was engaged" and the act approved the fifth day of August one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 872) entitled "An act providing for and requiring in certain cases preference in appointments to public position for honorably discharged persons who served in the military or naval service during any war in which the United States was engaged" and all other acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Sixth A valuation and appraisal in the manner hereinafter provided of the capital stock of the said corporation company joint-stock association or limited partnership at its actual value in cash as it existed at the close of the year for which the report is made

The affidavit of two of the officers of such corporation limited partnership joint-stock association or company shall be attached to said report Such affidavit shall be in the form required by the Department of Revenue but shall state in addition to any other averments required by the department that with fidelity and according to the best of their knowledge and belief the affiants have estimated valued and appraised as shown in said report the capital stock of the said corporation at its actual value in cash as it existed at the close of the year for which report is made [not less however than] taking into consideration first the average which said stock sold for during the year and second the price or value indicated or measured by net earnings or by the amount of profit made and either declared in dividends expended in betterments or carried into the surplus or sinking fund and third the actual value indicated or measured by consideration of the intrinsic value of its tangible property and assets and of the value of its good will and franchises and privileges as indicated by the material results of their exercise taking also into consideration the amount of its indebtedness

The time for filing reports may be extended taxpayers may be permitted to file their reports on a fiscal year basis the procedure in case the Department of Revenue is not satisfied with the appraisement made by the officers of the taxpayer and the penalties for failing to file reports and pay taxes shall be as prescribed by law

Section 2 Section twenty-one of said act as last amended by the act approved the twenty-seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 762) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 21 (a) That every domestic corporation other than corporations of the first class nonprofit corporation and cooperative agricultural associations not having capital stock and not conducted for profit and every joint-stock association limited partnership and company whatsoever from which a report is required under the twentieth section hereof shall be subject to and pay into the treasury of the Commonwealth annually through the Department of Revenue a tax at the rate of five mills upon each dollar of the actual value of its whole capital stock of all kinds including common special and preferred as ascertained in the manner prescribed in said twentieth section Provided That nothing herein contained shall apply to the taxation of capital stock of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for manufacturing purposes which is invested in and actually and exclusively employed in carrying on manufacturing within the State excepting companies engaged in the distilling of liquors and such as enjoy and exercise the right of eminent domain but every corporation limited partnership or joint-stock association organized for the purpose of manufacturing shall pay the State tax of five mills herein provided upon such proportion of its capital stock if any as may be invested in any property or business not strictly incident or appurtenant to the manufacturing business in addition to the local taxes assessed upon its property in the district where located it being the object of this proviso to relieve from State taxation only so much of the capital stock as is invested purely in the manufacturing plant and business

(b) Every foreign corporation joint-stock association limited partnership and company whatsoever from which a report is required under the twentieth section hereof shall be subject to and pay into the treasury of the Commonwealth annually through the Department of Revenue a franchise tax at the rate of five mills upon a taxable value to be determined in the following manner The actual value of its whole capital stock of all kinds including common special and preferred shall be ascertained in the manner prescribed in the twentieth section of this act and shall then be divided into three equal parts

(1) Of one third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the value of the taxpayer's tangible property not actually and exclusively used in manufacturing situated within the Commonwealth and whose denominator is the value of all the taxpayer's tangible property wherever situated

(2) Of another third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the expenditures of the taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to its employes not exclusively engaged in manufacturing in this Commonwealth and assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the total expenditures of the taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to all its employes

(3) Of the remaining third such portion shall be attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth as shall be found by multiplying said third by a fraction whose numerator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from business not strictly incident or appurtenant to manufacturing in this Commonwealth assignable to this Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and whose denominator is the amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from all its business

The sum of the amounts determined in accordance with the foregoing three rules shall be the taxable value In a case where only two of the foregoing three rules are applicable the remaining third equal part of the value of the entire capital stock shall be divided into two equal parts each of which shall be apportioned in accordance with one of the remaining two rules If only one of the three rules is applicable that part of the entire capital stock attributed to business carried on within the Commonwealth shall be determined solely by that rule

The amount assignable to this Commonwealth of expenditures of the taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation to its employes shall be such expenditures for the taxable year as represent the wages salaries commissions or other compensation of employes not chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business [owned or rented] maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth

The amount of the taxpayer's gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth shall be (1) the amount of its gross receipts for the taxable year [from (1) sales fees and commissions] except those negotiated or affected in behalf of the taxpayer by agents or agencies chiefly situated at connected with or sent out from premises for the transaction of business [owned or rented] maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth and except rents and royalties and interest and dividends (2) rentals or royalties from property situated or from the use of patents within this Commonwealth and (3) dividends and interest except such dividends and interest attributable to the business conducted on premises [owned or rented] maintained by the taxpayer outside the Commonwealth If a taxpayer maintains an office warehouse or other place of business in a state other than this Commonwealth for the purpose of reducing its tax under this subsection the Department of Revenue shall in determining the amount of its gross receipts from business assignable to this Commonwealth include therein the gross receipts attributed by the taxpayer to the business conducted at such place of business in another state

In the case of construction contracts negotiated or effected at an office in the state of Pennsylvania but performed outside the state the gross receipts under such contracts shall be assignable outside the state except that if the activities under any such contract to which the gross receipts are attributable shall occur partly within the state and partly outside the state such proportion of the gross receipts under said contract shall be assignable to Pennsylvania as the direct and indirect costs incurred in Pennsylvania under the contract for the taxable year bear to the total costs incurred thereunder for the taxable year In the case of construction contracts negotiated or affected at an office outside the state but performed in the state the gross receipts under such contracts shall be assignable to the state except that if the activities under any such contract to which the gross receipts are attributable shall occur partly within the state and partly outside the state such proportion of the gross receipts under said contract shall be assignable to Pennsylvania as the direct and indirect costs incurred in the state under the contract for the taxable year bear to the total costs incurred thereunder for the taxable year

A rule shall not be deemed to be inapplicable merely because all the tangible property or the expenditures of a taxpayer for wages salaries commissions or other compensation or the gross receipts of the taxpayer are found to be situated incurred or received without the Commonwealth

(c) It shall be the duty of the treasurer or other officers having charge of any such corporation joint-stock association or limited partnership upon which a tax is imposed by this section to transmit the amount of said tax to the Treasury of the Commonwealth within the time prescribed by law Provided That for the purposes of this act interest in limited partnerships or joint-stock associations shall be deemed to be capital stock and taxable accordingly Provided further That corporations limited partnerships and joint--stock associations liable to a tax under this section shall not be required to pay any further tax on the mortgages bonds and other securities owned by them and in which the whole body of stockholders or members as such have the entire equitable interest in remainder but corporations limited partnerships and jointstock associations owning or holding such securities as trustees executors administrators administrators guardians or in any other manner than for the whole body of stockholders or members thereof as sole equitable owners in remainder shall return and pay the tax imposed by this act upon all securities so owned or held by them as in the case of individuals Provided further That the tax of five mills imposed by this section on reports filed for the calendar years one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five and one thousand nine hundred and thirty--six and for each calendar year thereafter or for the fiscal years beginning in the calendar years one thousand nine hundred and thirty-five and one thousand nine hundred and thirty-six and for each fiscal year thereafter shall apply to the taxation of the capital stock of corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations organized for laundering and for the processing and curing of meats their products and by products excepting companies engaged in the distilling of liquors Provided further That in case of fire and marine insurance companies the tax imposed by this section shall be at the rate of five mills upon each dollar of the actual value of the whole capital stock Provided That nothing in this act shall be so construed as to apply to building and loan associations chartered by the State of Pennsylvania

Section 3 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment provided that nothing herein contained shall be construed to effect modify or repeal Section 2 of the said Act of the twenty-seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three Pamphlet Laws seven hundred sixty two

Section 1 Clause (a) of section five hundred three of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343) enttiled "An act relating to the finances of the State government providing for the settlement assessment collection and lien of taxes bonus and all other accounts due the Commonwealth the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties affecting every department board commission and officer of the State government every political subdivision of the State and certain officers of such subdivisions every person association and corporation required to pay assess or collect taxes or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes or to pay license fees for other moneys to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth" as last amended by the act approved the seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 229) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 503 Refunds of State Taxes License Fees Et Cetera The Board of Finance and Revenue shall have the power and its duty shall be

(a) To hear and determine any petition for the refund of taxes license fees penalties fines bonus or other moneys paid to the Commonwealth and to which the Commonwealth is not rightfully or equitably entitled and upon the allowance of any such petition to refund such taxes license fees penalties fines bonus or other moneys out of any appropriation or appropriations made for the purpose or to credit the account of the person association corporation body politic or public officer entitled to the refund The jurisdiction of the Board of Finance and Revenue to hear and determine a petition for refund as aforesaid shall not be affected or limited by the fact that proceedings under sections 1102 1103 or 1104 of this act involving the same tax or bonus and period for which a refund is sought are pending or have been closed provided such proceedings relate to other objections than those raised in the petition for refund All such petitions must be filed with the board within two years of the payment of which refund is requested or within two years of the settlement in the case of taxes or bonus whichever period last expires except

(1) Where a petition for refund filed by a domestic or foreign corporation involves the valuation of its capital stock or in case of a foreign corporation the valuation of its tangible property for bonus purposes or where a petition for refund filed by a bank title insurance or trust company involves the valuation of its shares of stock such petition must be filed with the board within one year of the payment of which refund is requested or within one year of the settlement of such taxes or bonus whichever period last expires

(2) When the estate upon which any transfer inheritance tax has been paid shall have consisted in whole or in part of a partnership or other interest of uncertain value or shall have been involved in litigation by reason whereof there shall have been an overvaluation of that portion of the estate on which the tax has been assessed and paid which overvaluation could not have been ascertained within said period of two years In such case the application for repayment shall be made to the Board of Finance and Revenue within one year from the termination of such litigation or ascertainment of such overvaluation

(3) When a court of record has adjudged a person to be legally dead and thereafter in the settlement of his or her estate a transfer inheritance tax shall have been paid on such estate and after such payment has been made such person shall reappear and the court shall rescind its order and adjudication In such case the petition to the board shall be filed within six months after the court shall have rescinded its order and adjudication

(4) When any tax or other money has been paid to the Commonwealth under a provision of an act of Assembly subsequently held by final judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction to be unconstitutional or under an interpretation of such provision subsequently held by such court to be erroneous In such case the petition to the board shall be filed within five years of the payment of which a refund is requested or within five years of the settlement of such taxes bonus or other moneys due the Commonwealth whichever period last expires But the limitation of five years herein prescribed shall not be deemed to apply in the case of applications for refunds of taxes paid on liquid fuels by political subdivisions prior to the effective date of this amendment where by court decision it has been held that the collection of such tax was erroneous and without authority of law if application for such refunds shall be made within two years after the effective date of this amendment The aforesaid limitation of five years shall likewise not be deemed to apply in the case of applications for refunds of taxes paid on certain alcohol usable for beverage purposes under the provisions of the act approved the twenty-second day of November one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 5 (1933-34) entitled "An act imposing a State floor tax on alcohol usable for beverage purposes and certain alcoholic liquors in the Commonwealth between the date this act becomes effective and the date the Twenty-first Amendment to the Constitution of the United States is ratified describing the method and manner of collection of such tax conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments and certain individuals firms and corporations and imposing penalties" where by court decision it has been held that the imposition or collection of such tax was erroneous and without authority of law if application for such refunds shall be made within two years after the effective date of this amendment

Section 2 Section seven hundred ten of the said act as amended by the act approved the second day of February one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 3) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 710 Gross Receipts Tax Returns and Payment of Tax Every corporation or association and every individual liable by law to pay to the Commonwealth a tax upon the gross receipts derived from any transportation traffic or other business done wholly within this Commonwealth shall transmit to the Department of Revenue on or before the first [days] day of February [and August] of each year a statement of the amount of such corporation's association's or individual's gross receipts from all sources and gross receipts from business done wholly within the State during the period of [six] twelve months immediately preceding the first [days] day of January [and July] of each year with such other relevant information as the Department of Revenue may require Every such corporation association and individual at the time of making every report required by this section shall compute and pay to the department the tax due the Commonwealth upon its gross receipts for the period for which such report is made

Section 3 Section eleven hundred three of the said act as last amended by the act approved the seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 229) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1103 Petition to Board of Finance and Revenue for Review Within sixty days after the date of mailing of notice by the Department of Revenue or of the Auditor General of the act taken on any petition for a resettlement filed with it the party with whom the settlement was made may by petition request the Board of Finance and Revenue to review such action

Every petition for review filed hereunder either shall state specifically therein the reasons upon which the petitioner relies or shall incorporate by reference the petition for resettlement in which such reasons shall have been stated The petition shall be supported by affidavit that it is not made for the purpose of delay and that the facts therein set forth are true If the petitioner be a corporation joint-stock association or limited partnership the affidavit must be made by one of the principal officers thereof A petition for review may be amended by the petitioner at any time prior to the hearing thereon as hereinafter provided

[The Board of Finance and Revenue shall dispose of such petitions filed with it within ninety (90) days after they have been received] The Board of Finance and Revenue shall list and hear such petitions within three months after they have been received and shall act finally in disposition of such petitions within six months after they have been received and in the event of the failure of the Board of Finance and Revenue to dispose of any such petition within [ninety (90) days] six months the action taken upon the petition for resettlement shall be deemed sustained

The Board of Finance and Revenue may sustain the action taken on the petition for resettlement or it may resettle the account upon such basis as it shall deem according to law and equity

Notice of the action of the Board of Finance and Revenue shall be given by mail or otherwise to all departments involved and to the petitioner

Section 4 Section eleven hundred four of the said act as amended by the act approved the seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 229) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1104 Appeal to Courts Any person association corporation public officer or other debtor aggrieved by the decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue or by the board's failure to act upon his or its petition for review within [ninety (90) days] six months may within sixty (60) days appeal to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County from the decision of the Board of Finance and Revenue or from the decision of the Department of Revenue or of the Department of the Auditor General as the case may be The said sixty (60) day period shall begin to run (a) From the end of the [ninety (90) day] six months period where the board fails to act or (b) from the date of mailing of notice of the refusal of the petition for review or (c) from the date of mailing by the Department of Revenue of the certification of a resettlement where the board has made a resettlement Such appeal shall be in such form as shall be prescribed by the rules of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County All such appeals shall be lodged with the prothonotary of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County and a conformed copy thereof indicating the date on which it was filed shall be forwarded immediately to the Department of Justice

Every such appeal shall be accompanied with a specification of objections to the settlement resettlement or other decision as the case may be and the party appealing shall enter sufficient security before one of the judges of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County within sixty (60) days next after the filing of the appeal with the clerk to prosecute the appeal with effect to pay all costs and charges which the court shall award and any sum of money which shall appear by the judgment of the court to be done by such party to the Commonwealth

The party appealing shall file with every such appeal and [an affidavit containing] the specification of objections an affidavit [and] stating that the appeal is not taken for delay but because appellant believes injustice has been done by the settlement or resettlement or other decision appealed from and that the facts set forth therein are true to the best of affiant's knowledge and belief If a corporation limited partnership or joint-stock association is the party appellant such affidavit shall be taken by one of its chief officers

Appeals taken hereunder shall be hearings de novo [but no facts shall be admitted in evidence and] no questions shall be raised by the appellant that were not brought to the attention of the department making the settlement or in the application for resettlement or petition for review prior to the appeal and set forth in the specification of objections contained in the affidavit accompanying the appeal unless the court shall be satisfied that the appellant was unable by the exercise of reasonable diligence to have [laid such evidence] raised such questions before the department making the settlement and the Board of Finance and Revenue and no questions shall be raised which are not included in the specification of objections filed as hereinbefore provided

The Commonwealth may raise any question on appeal although no appeal has been filed by it and may introduce any facts in support of its settlement or in correction thereof provided notice of thirty (30) days is given the appellant of the intention of raising such new questions or presenting new facts

From the judgment of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County an appeal may be taken by either party as in other cases

Section 5 Section eleven hundred five of the said act as last amended by the act approved the second day of February one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 3) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1105 Authorization of Resettlement Upon Petition of the Department which made the Settlement Within two years after the date of any settlement or resettlement made subsequent to June first one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine except such as have been appealed from [the department which made the settlement may by petition request the Board of Finance and Revenue to authorize a resettlement thereof and the Board of Finance and Revenue may grant the prayer of such petition and permit a resettlement to be made] the Department of Revenue with the approval of the Department of the Auditor General may make a resettlement

[With respect to any settlement or resettlement made prior to June first one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine the department which made it or the department which has succeeded to its functions may at any time prior to June first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-two request permission of the Board of Finance and Revenue under like circumstances to make a resettlement and the board may in its discretion grant such permission]

Whenever a resettlement shall have been [authorized] made hereunder [the department which made the settlement] the Department of Revenue shall resettle the account according to law and shall credit or charge as the case may be the amount resulting from such resettlement upon the current accounts of the party with whom or with which it is made

In the case of settlements made by the Department of Revenue the resettlement shall be subject to approval by the Department of the Auditor General as in the case of original settlements and in case of the failure of the two departments to agree the resettle shall be submitted to the Board of Finance and Revenue as in the case of original settlements

In the case of settlements made jointly by the Department of the Auditor General and by the Treasury Department either of said departments may request authority from the Board of Finance and Revenue to make a resettlement hereunder and if such authority be granted the resettlement shall be made by joint action of said departments as in the case of original settlements

If a resettlement shall not be made or authorized hereunder within the time above prescribed an account upon which a final discharge has been granted shall not be opened but shall be quieted and finally closed

Section 6 Section eleven hundred eight of the said act as last amended by the act approved the second day of February one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 3) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1108 Payment of Accounts After Settlement Without Prejudice to Right of Resettlement Review and Appeal

Any person association corporation public officer or other debtor who or which is required to make to the Department of Revenue a report upon the basis of which any bonus tax or other charge is to be settled or assessed shall have the right at any time to pay to the Department of Revenue the amount of any bonus tax or other charge due or deemed by him it or them to be due with interest if any as is then due and payable thereon without projudice to his its or their right to present and prosecute a petition for resettlement or redetermination to the Department of Revenue a petition for review to the Board of Finance and Revenue or an appeal to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County in the manner and within the times provided by law

[Provided that if such payment be made at any time after twenty-one (21) days after an appeal has been filed in the court of common pleas of Dauphin County it shall be accompanied with a commission to the Attorney General at the rate fixed by this act]

Whenever the principal amount due upon a settlement determination resettlement or redetermination or the principal amount determined to be due upon a petition to the Board of Finance and Revenue is less than the principal amount paid to the Department of Revenue and the person association corporation public officer or other debtor against whom such settlement has been made is satified therewith or whenever the principal amount due upon the final judgment entered on any appeal is less than the principal amount paid to the Department of Revenue the Department of Revenue shall enter a credit in the amount of such difference to the account of such person association corporation public officer or other debtor Such credit may be used by the person association corporation public officer or other debtor to whose account it is entered in payment of any tax bonus or other claim which may be or become due from him it or them to the Commonwealth and if all such charges have been fully paid any remaining credit may be assigned to any other person association corporation public officer or other debtor and such assignee may use it in payment of any such obligation to the Commonwealth

Section 7 Subsection (g) of section twelve hundred one of the said act as amended by the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 380) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1201 Procedure Relating to Collection of Tax on Transfers of Property of Resident Decedents

* * * * *

(g) To receive from registers of wills all duplicate receipts for taxes paid to them by executors and administrators and to charge the registers receiving the money with the amount receipted for [to seal with its official seal and countersign the original receipt and transmit it to] The original of each such receipt shall be signed and sealed by the register of wills and transmitted to the executor or administrator whereupon it shall be a proper voucher in the settlement of the estate In no event shall the executor or administrator be entitled to a credit in this account by the register unless the receipt is so signed and sealed by the register of wills [sealed and countersigned by the Department of Revenue]

Section 8 Section fourteen hundred two of the said act as amended by the act approved the second day of February one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 3) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1402 Protection of Commonwealth Liens on Judicial Sales No sheriff receiver trustee assignee master or other officer shall sell the property or franchises of any corporation limited partnership or joint-stock association without first filing with the Department of Revenue not less than ten (10) days prior to such sale a statement containing the following information

First Name or names of the plaintiff or party at whose instance or upon whose account the sale is made

Second The name of the corporation limited partnership or joint-stock association whose property or franchise is to be sold

Third The time and place of sale

Fourth The nature of the property to be sold and the location of the same

It shall be the duty of the Department of Revenue after receiving notice as aforesaid to settle according to law all tax bonus or other public accounts for which reports have been filed and to make estimated settlements of all tax bonus or other public accounts for which reports have not been filed to date of such sale whether or not reports for such tax bonus or other public accounts are due and to furnish to the sheriff receiver trustee assignee master or other officer having charge of the sale a certified statement of account showing all unpaid taxes bonus or other public accounts on file in the department as liens against such corporation limited partnership or joint-stock association and in the case of no liens a certificate showing that fact which certified statement or certificate shall be publicly read by such officer at and immediately before the sale of the property or franchise of such corporation limited partnership or jointstock association For the services performed in accordance with the provisions hereof the officer having charge of the sale shall receive the sum of three dollars ($3.00) to be taxed and paid as part of the costs of sale

Section 9 Section fourteen hundred eight of said act as last amended by the act approved the first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 318) is hereby repealed

Section 10 Section eight hundred six of the said act as last amended by the act approved the seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 229) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 806 Interest on Taxes and Bonus Due the Commonwealth All tax and bonus due the Commonwealth as provided by law shall bear interest at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date they are due and payable until paid Provided That in the case of all taxes and bonus which other provisions of this act require taxpayers to compute and pay at the time of filing the report or return if a settlement is not made within [two] one year after the date upon which the report or return was filed no interest whatsoever shall be imposed for the period between the end of such [two] one year and sixty days after the date of the approval of the settlement unless the taxpayer has filed a written waiver permitting interest to run after the end of said [two] one year The payment of interest as aforesaid shall not relieve any person association or corporation from any of the penalties or commissions prescribed by law for neglet or refusal to furnish reports to the Department of Revenue or to pay any claim due to the Commonwealth from such person association or corporation

Whenever the tax or bonus liability of a taxpayer is so affected by any settlement or resettlement as to change the interest liability which has been settled against such taxpayer such interest liability shall be adjusted by the Department of Revenue and the Department of the Auditor General so as to correspond to the tax or bonus liability as changed without the necessity for the filing of any petition or request by the taxpayer or by said departments

Section 11 The amendments hereinbefore made to sections eleven hundred eight and fourteen hundred eight of The Fiscal Code by which Attorney General's commission is repealed and to section eight hundred six by which the imposition of interest is modified shall apply only to tax or bonus due under reports filed for the calendar year one thousand nine hundred forty-four or any fiscal year beginning in one thousand nine hundred forty-four and for every calendar or fiscal year thereafter

All other provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 839, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (P. L. 519) entitled "An act concerning boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs" by further regulating the affairs of boroughs and revising amending and changing the law relating thereto

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a corrective amendment which is very necessary to the bill.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

AMENDMENT WITHDRAWN

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I ask leave to withdraw my amendment.

The PRESIDENT. Permission is granted.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 839, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

SENATE BILL No. 784 CALLED UP

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I call up for consideration at this time Senate Bill No. 784, on final passage, on page 14 of today's Calendar.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the final consideration of Senate Bill No. 784, as follows:

An Act to further amend Section 320 of an Act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 1278) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth class and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto" as last amended by Section 4 of the act approved the fifteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine (P. L. 365)

Section 1 Section 320 of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 1278) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth class and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto" as last amended by Section 4 of the act approved the fifteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine (P. L. 365) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 320 Persons Entitled to Retirement Allowances Every county employee who has reached the age of sixty years or upwards and who shall have been a county employee during a period of not less than twenty years shall upon application to the board be retired from service and shall thereafter receive during life a retirement allowance as herein provided for The time spent in the employ as a county employee need not necessarily have been continuous Provided That when any employee has had twenty or more years of service not necessarily continuous and has reached the age of fifty years and shall be or shall have been separated from the service by reason of no cause or act of his own upon application to the board shall theerafter receive during life a retirement allowance as herein provided for

A county employee who became such through the consolidation of a city institution district with a county institution district may have the period of his city employment credited as county employment for all purposes under this act provided that the said employee shall pay into the retirement fund the amount which he would have been required to pay into the said fund if he had been a county employee from the date of his original employment with the city and further provided that the city by which the said employee was formerly employed shall pay into the retirement fund an amount equal to that paid into the said fund by the said employee under the provisions of this act If such employee leaves the county employ at any time withdraws his contribution to the retirement fund as this act provides the city shall also have the right to withdraw its contribution and if such employee returns to the county employ and returns the amount withdrawn from the retirement fund plus interest as this act provides the city shall also return the amount withdrawn by it plus interest at the same rate Any city is hereby authorized and empowered to make an appropriation out of the funds of the city to the retirement fund as herein provided

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment and the rights granted hereunder shall expire unless exercised within one year after final enactment

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President and members of the Senate, effective as of January of this year, the Mayview Hospital in Pittsburgh has become a part of the county institutional district. It was formerly a city hospital. There are many people who work there who have had fifteen or sixteen years of service and now that they are being transferred to county employment, they are losing their pension rights.

This bill is one that has been worked out between the city and county governments and it is strictly something of their own concern. I do not think any member of the Senate wants to see these people, who have spent many years as employes of that institution, deprived of their pension rights, and that is simply what the bill provides.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

L. 2724) entitled "An act relating to soil conservation and soil erosion and regulating land use practices contributing to soil wastage and soil erosion providing for the organization of soil conservation districts as governmental subdivisions of the Commonwealth with powers of enacting ordinances and regulations for the prevention and control of soil erosion and the conservation of soil resources prescribing the officers and employes thereof and defining their powers and duties creating the State Soil Conservation Board in the Department of Agriculture and imposing powers and prescribing duties thereon relative to the enforcement of this act providing financial assistance to such soil conservation districts prescribing penalties and making an appropriation" as amended is hereby repealed except that districts now chartered and operating under said acts lying wholly in one county may continue to operate thereunder with the State Soil Conservation Commission replacing the State Soil Conservation Board until the Board of County Commissioners in the county in which such district is located declare the county to be a soil conservation district at which time their affairs shall be closed out and all assets and records turned over to the board of directors of the newly declared district or when a district now chartered and operating under said acts has boundaries which extend into two counties it may continue to operate thereunder with the State Soil Conservation Commission replacing the State Soil Conservation Board until the county commissioners in the county in which the major part of such district is located declare that county to be a soil conservation district at which time the affairs of such district shall be closed out and all assets and records turned over to the board of directors of the newly declared district (in the case where a soil conservation district now organized shall comprise territory outside of the county containing its principal territory the portion outside shall be administered by the board of directors of the newly formed district comprising the county where the principal territory is located until such time as the county where the outside portion is located shall constitute itself a soil conservation district under this act whereupon the said outside portion shall become a part of the county district wherein it is geographically located) and in cases where the board or boards of county commissioners fails or fail to organize under this act said district or districts may continue to function as heretofore under said acts

Section 16 Contracts to Remain in Force Whenever any lands which constitute all or a part of a soil conservation district created pursuant to the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2724) and its amendments become a part of a district created by resolution of the Board of County Commissioners all contracts theretofore entered into to which the former district or supervisors thereof were parties shall remain in force and effect for the period provided in such contracts and the directors of the newly created district shall be substituted for the supervisors of the former district as party to those contracts relating to lands lying within the district of which they are directors

The representatives directors of the district created by the Board of County Commissioners shall be entitled to all the benefits and be subject to all liabilities under such contracts and shall have the same right and liability to perform to require performance to sue and be sued thereon including the right to terminate such contracts by mutual consent or otherwise as the supervisors of the district created pursuant to the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2724) and its amendments

Section 17 Effective Date This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, this is a bill creating the State Soil Conservation Commission in the Department of Agriculture. It is not everything we desire, but we know that the present program is way behind other states. This is a step, we hope, in the right direction. We are setting up machinery whereby Pennsylvania can participate in this nationwide soil conservation program. We hope that those who will be charged with the responsibility of trying to meet the changes that will be necessary, if this bill is passed, will do their duty and see to it that Pennsylvania takes its place rightfully amongst the states that are trying to conserve their natural resources, namely, our most valuable asset, the fertile lands of Pennsylvania. I ask my colleagues to vote for this bill.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, at this time I think State College and the Grange ought to be warned that if they want soil conservation in Pennsylvania like they have in other states, they had better accept some federal aid and not ignore it and be denied the rights other states are getting.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

An Act authorizing departments boards commissions and agencies of the State government to make contracts for radio communication service and providing for the payment of service charges therefor

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not want to hold up action on this bill until tomorrow, because if we do it will be tantamount to killing the bill, but I just do not know what this bill intends by making "contracts for radio communication service and providing for the payment of service charges therefor," for a period of ten years in payment of services, so if the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger, would tell me what it is all about, I would be glad to go along with him.

Mr. BERGER. Unfortunately, Mr. President, I neglected to put the magic words "by request" on this bill. However, as I understand it, it is to permit state policemen primarily to enter into contracts for short waves transmission equipment, and that is all I know about it.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have often questioned the condition of the state police communication services, and if this bill is intended for that purpose, we can hardly afford to vote against it, because everybody knows they are years behind, but it is my understanding that they can, under present law, buy or purchase any equipment they need.

If this bill specifically said "state police" that might be all right, but I do not know just how it could be restricted to the state police.

I now have a copy of the bill in front of me and I ask the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger, whether he would be willing to go into sidebar conference with me for a moment.

(The Senate was at ease)

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am not going to raise any question concerning this bill tonight, but I do ask that the gentleman from Potter read the bill between now and tomorrow, because it does not specifically say "state police." It says:

"With the approval of the Governor any department, board, commission or agency of the state government may either separately or jointly enter into a contract or contracts for radio communication service for a period not exceeding ten years."

I think the gentleman from Potter had better look into this matter, because if it does obligate the Commonwealth to pay an unlimited amount of money for services, I do not know whether we should approve it or not.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1258, entitled:

An Act to amend section three of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 2045) entitled "An act relating to the support of indigent persons publicly cared for or assisted providing for the support of such persons by certain relatives and for the recovery of public moneys expended for care and assistance from the property and estates of such persons providing for guardians of the person and property of such persons providing for the arrest and seizure and sale of the property of deserters and providing procedure" by abolishing the liability of grandchildren and grandparents of indigent persons to care for maintain or financially assist such persons

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. GOURLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I might be out of order—I have not had a great deal of experience—but I have become somewhat the guardian angel of Senate Bill 548, which is commonly known as the chattel mortgage bill. That bill was referred to the Committee on Judiciary General in the Senate on March 19 and reported as committed March 27; it passed first reading March 27; it went over in order March 28 and March 29; it went over in order April 2, 3, 4 and 5; it was amended on April 9 and went over in order April 9; it was recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General on April 10; it was rereported from the Committee on Judiciary General, as amended, April 17; it went over in order on April 18 and 19; it was amended on April 23; it went over in order April 23 and 24 and was recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General on April 25.

It is my understanding that this bill was released from the Committee on Judiciary General today. I realize it does not appear on our Calendar. I believe every member of the Senate is acquainted with the terms and provisions of this bill. It has not been changed in any respect from what it was when it was recommitted on the last occasion.

I realize, Mr. President, that under Senate Rule 17 every bill must be read at length on three different days. I know that under Senate Rule 29, with the consent of a majority of the members of the Senate, it is possible to dispense with any rule of the Senate.

I would like this bill to be presented to the members of the Senate at the earliest possible date for consideration and vote, whether the vote would be in the affirmative or in the negative.

MOTION THAT READING OF SENATE BILL No. 548 BE DISPENSED WITH

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President, I therefore move, in accordance with rule 29 of the Senate, that the rule be dispensed with, that the bill should be on our Calendar, and I ask that the bill be read for the second time for the consideration of the Senate.

The PRESIDENT. In order to accomplish the desire of the gentleman from Washington, Senator Gourley, the Chair suggests that the gentleman ask unanimous consent to have the bill read at length because the Constitution, which can not be waived, requires that every bill be read at length on three different days.

Therefore, if there is no objection, the gentleman from Washington could, change his motion and move that the bill be read at length, even though it is not printed and on the desks of the Senators. We can not waive the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

MOTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President, I withdraw my previous motion.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill 548 be read for the second time and that unanimous consent of the Senate be given for that purpose.

Mr. COLEMAN. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr President, I have looked for House Bill 936 and, not finding it on my desk, I ask that it not be read for the first time.

The PRESIDENT. A bill has to be printed for the use of the members of the Senate; if Senate Bill 936 is not available, the Chair will sustain the objection of the gentleman from Westmoreland.

Is it on the desks of the Senators?

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have now read the bill and it confirms my suspicion; it is a very nasty piece of legislation and I can not do any thing about it.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 936, entitled:

An Act to amend section two of the act approved the twelfth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 295) entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An act for the government of cities of the second class' approved the seventh day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one providing for the levy collection and disbursement of taxes and water-rents or rates and conferring certain powers and duties in reference thereto upon the city treasurer the board of water assessors and the collector of delinquent taxes and repealing certain acts relating to matters herein provided for" by fixing a limit for taxes to be levied on real estate.

REQUEST THAT HOUSE BILL No. 936 GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BARR Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill 936, on first reading, go over in its order

Mr. GELTZ. I object, Mr. President. The bill has been read for the first time. The objection is too late.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, it is not my idea to be nasty about this thing, but as the Chair knows, we are discussing House Bill 936, which we had one minute to read, and yet apparently the bill has passed first reading already.

The PRESIDENT. House Bill 936 was read for the first time.

Mr. DENT. We bow to the inevitable.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, on the next bill, House Bill 1190, I would like to be heard instead of being railroaded. I do not find House Bill 1190 on my desk.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny is never railroaded.

Mr. BARR. I am sure the bill is not on my desk. I am very sincere, and it is not on my desk. I have no idea what Frankenstein amendments were put in the bill. It was bad enough when it came over from the House but I think now it is about four times worse.

The PRESIDENT. If there is objection, and copies of the bill are not on the desks of the Senators, the objection is sustained.

(The Senate was at ease.)

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, is it necessary that copies of the bill be on the desk in order that it have first reading.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair rules that under the Constitution it is necessary. The Constitution requires that every bill must be reported from committee and must be printed for the use of the members of the Senate. The Chair rules that means copies of the bill must be on the desks, and readily available; otherwise the bill would not be ready for use of the members of the Senate.

Mr. GELTZ. May I call the Chair's attention to Rule 17 of the Senate, which provides:

"Every bill shall be read at length on three different days in open Senate. All amendments thereto shall be printed and laid on the desks of the Senators before the final vote is taken on the bill."

The PRESIDENT. Apparently the gentleman from Allegheny has not recently read the Constitution which, of course, has priority over Senate rules.

Mr. GELTZ. The ruling of the Chair is final, that copies of the bill must be on the desks in order for it to have first reading?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

The CHAIR calls to the attention of the gentleman from Allegheny article 3 section 2 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, which the Chair will read for the information of the Senate:

"No bill shall be considered, unless referred to a committee, returned therefrom and printed for the use of the members."

Th words "printed for the use of the members" means that copies of the bill must be on the desks for the use of members; otherwise, in the opinion of the Chair, it would be meaningless.

Mr. GELTZ. If the Chair will read article 3, section 4, of the Constitution he will find it contains the same provision as the Senate rule.

The PRESIDENT. If the gentleman from Allegheny will wait just a minute the Chair will read that section of the Constitution.

(The Senate was at ease.)

The PRESIDENT. The Chair sustains the objection of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 1190, on first reading, entitled:

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I rise in the hope that the Members of the House will indulge me for a few moments. The session of the Legislature is about to close, and at the request of the Members from Philadelphia on the Republican side I have been asked to say to the membership of this House, both Democrat and Republican, that we appreciate the cooperation that we have received in the passing of many pieces of legislation which will no doubt in the future be of great value to the City of Philadelphia. We appreciate the cooperation of our friends from the counties who stood loyally by us and helped us through with our legislation. We also appreciate the real cooperation which we received from our Democratic friends from Philadelphia. I pay special—I don't know what to say, but special attention to Mr. Tate of the Democratic organization in Philadelphia who cooperated with our Philadelphia delegation in many of these bills. You know we in Philadelphia, regardless of the fact as to whether we are Republicans or Democrats, we love our city, and when the time comes when there is legislation or any effort made to benefit the City of Philadelphia, we work, we cooperate.

That applies generally and in this House during this administration or this session I want to say that I think the cooperation was one hundred per cent perfect.

We differ on things of course for solely political reasons. That of course we expect. We expect Democrats to follow their program and we expect the Republicans to follow their program. That statement applies to all the Members of this House, particularly on the Democratic side.

Unfortunately I have to make reference to something that happened on the Democratic side of the Senate. We have one member over there who when various pieces of legislation that this House passed by the cooperation of Democrats and Republicans, took it upon himself to get up on the floor of the Senate and for a considerable length of time malign our good city. It was maligning in language that could only come from a graduate of what is known as the school of Billingsgate. In order that all the Members may know what this school is, Billingsgate is a fishmarket in London known to have among its inhabitants the most foul-mouthed and slimy people in the world. They have gotten that reputation for a century throughout the world. Their language is so foul that even the fish can't stand for it and when they are through with their day's work the fish bow their heads in shame, and the slime that comes from the fish is in the mouths of the denizens of Billingsgate, and this particular Senator must certainly have been a graduate of that institution.

I have made it my lifetime effort not to malign any person individually. For that reason I do not propose to use the Senator's name. I thing he will know and I think everybody else in the Legislature will know whom I mean, but the outside public does not, and I hope they will not.

Now, for the benefit of the Members from the country and also for some of our Philadelphians, I want to just tell the Members of this House who the men are that are controlling the interests of Philadelphia, particularly in the County of Philadelphia.

We start out with the Mayor, Bernard Samuel. Let me tell you who he is. Bernard Samuel is the Manager and has been for many years, while in the position of Mayor of the City of Philadelphia, of the firm of Biddle, Whelen and Company, one of the largest brokerage houses in Philadelphia. Mayor Samuel was Chairman of the Finance Committee and President of our City Council for many years. He today is the Mayor of our city, and notwithstanding that he is a Republican, meets with the general approbation of the Democrats.

The President of Council is Hon. Frederick Garman, for many years a well known public accountant. We formerly had Edwin R. Cox, Chairman of the City Council, who is now Director of Wharves and Docks. Edwin R. Cox went with the Atlantic Refining Company when he was a boy and was with them for fifty-two years and rose to first vice-president of the Atlantic Refining Company. When he was placed on pension under their rules and regulations, he became the Director of Wharves and Docks of the City of Philadelphia.

Among other councilmen is Judge Mahwinney, who quite recently was elected to one of our Common Pleas Courts.

Another Councilman is Charles Pommer, who is now Recorder of Deeds in Philadelphia.

We have in our City Council today six men who were former Members of the Legislature. We have elected to our City Council at the present time George Maxman, who is now in the armed forces in Africa. We have John J. McDevitt who is also in the armed forces, I believe in England. The rest of the Councilmen—I hate to take up your time, but I want the people in the country to know that we in Philadelphia are under the control of men standing high in the community, men who are there because of their integrity and honesty. We have Joseph F. Milligan, who is a funeral director, we have Louis Menna, a former Member of the Legislature who, besides being a councilman is an automobile salesman. We have also Harry J. Trainer, who was formerly in the brewery business and now is a member of Council. Then we have Phineas Green, an ex-Member of the Legislature and James H. Irvin, funeral director; L. Wallace Egan, lawyer; we have George Maxman who is a lawyer; we have Louis Schwartz, who is a real estate dealer and an ex-Member of the Legislature; we have William A. Kelley, who is a lumber merchant; we have Robert S. Hamilton who is in the stationery business and an ex-Member of the Legislature; we have John J. McDevitt, a lawyer and ex-Member of the Legislature, and now in the armed forces. We have Eugene J. Hagerty, who is a Democrat and in the insurance business and an ex-Member of the Legislature. We have Clarence K. Crossan, who is an engineer and a prominent builder in Philadelphia and the owner of Young's Pier in Atlantic City. We have George D. Mansfield, who is a director of the Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Company. We have Cornelius S. Deegan, Jr., who is in the real estate business.

This is the membership of our council; it is a membership that we are proud of, it is a membership that represents the fidelity, intelligence and the efforts of the Republican party in Philadelphia. These men have been elected many, many times. They have the confidence of the people in Philadelphia. They are twenty Republicans to one Democrat.

I am delivering this mesage mostly and solely for the purpose of letting our Members, particularly from the counties on this side know that when they were voting and when they did vote to give Philadelphia council a right to run their own business in their own way they were voting for men of the highest integrity and the highest intelligence that any city or county could be proud of.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker——

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman rise? We are on the calendar.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, before you started on the calendar I tried to get your attention.

The SPEAKER. We had started the calendar before the gentleman from Philadelphia rose. For what purpose does the gentleman now rise?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. CHUDOFF. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Is there anything in the Rules of the House to prevent maligning of the Members of the Senate on the House floor?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has a right to object.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I, therefore, move that the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, maligning a Democratic Member of the Senate on the floor of the House be expunged from the record.

The SPEAKER. That motion cannot be entertained at this time because it is not a privileged motion.

The Chair will continue with the calendar, bills on first reading.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, by agreement with the Majority Leader motions to discharge committees will be entertained by the Chair at six o'clock. I would ask the Members who have the motions to discharge committees to remember the hour, six o'clock. I would also ask the Members who have motions to discharge committees to come to the desk and inform me as to the bill they intend to try to discharge the Committee so that I can arrange the order of recognition with the Chair.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SALUS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

At six o'clock we have an appointment for our Philadelphia delegation to go over to Hershey to entertain ourselves, and the arrangements have already been made. I am hoping that Mr. Andrews can take another hour.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I can only select an hour agreed upon with the majority leader. I will be very pleased if the Majority Leader, instead of six o'clock would select the hour of five in order that the gentlemen from Philadelphia might properly regale themselves. If the gentleman from Philadelphia considers a trip to Hershey more important than the business of this House he is entitled to his own ideas.

The gentleman from Philadelphia will have to fast since the hour of six for motions to discharge committees remains the time agreed upon.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair will declare a recess for thirty minutes. Is there objection? The Chair hears none and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 641 entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the seventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 447), entitled "An act relating to the administration and distribution of the estates of decedents and of minors, and of trust estates; including the appointment, bonds, rights, powers, duties, liabilities, accounts, discharge and removal of executors, administrators, guardians, and trustees, herein designated as fiduciaries; the administration and distribution of the estates of presumed decedents; widow's and children's exemptions; debts of decedents; rents of real estate as assets for payment thereof, the lien thereof, sales and mortgages of real estate for the payment thereof, judgments and executions therefor, and the discharge of real estate from the lien thereof; contracts of decedents for the sale or purchase of real estate; legacies, including legacies charged on land; the discharge of residuary estates and of real estate from the lien of legacies and other charges; the appraisement of real estate devised at a valuation; the ascertainment of the curtilage of dwelling houses or other buildings devised; the abatement and survival of actions, and the substitution of executors and administrators therein, and suits against fiduciaries; investments by fiduciaries; the organization of corporations to carry on the business of decedents; the audit and review of accounts of fiduciaries; refunding bonds; transcripts to the court of common pleas of balances due by fiduciaries; the rights, powers, and liabilities of nonresident and foreign fiduciaries; the appointment, bonds, rights, powers, duties, and liabilities of trustees durante absentia; the recording and registration of decrees, reports and other proceedings and the fees therefor; appeals in certain cases; and, also, generally dealing with the jurisdiction, powers, and procedure of the orphans' court in all matters relating to fiduciaries concerned with the estates of decedents," as amended by further modifying the terms, qualifications, and other conditions under which the investment of trust funds may be made by fiduciaries

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader or the Majority Whip, or any one who can inform us as to the contents of the bill. I will take the liberty of doing it on second reading in order to save time.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I yield to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I will endeavor to answer the questions of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown. He said he wanted to know what the general purpose of the bill is. As I understand it, the purpose is to broaden the investments which may be made with trust funds.

Mr. BROWN. Am I correct in assuming, Mr. Speaker, that on page 7, fiduciaries as provided for in paragraph 3 may invest trust funds in any corporation that shall have total assets of fifty million dollars.

Mr. TURNER. That is correct, and if I may anticipate, the purpose of that as I understand was the belief of the people who prepared this bill, and those who were the sponsors of it you might say, felt that unless it was large corporations whose stock would be active, where you can get a ready market, where mostly they are listed on the stock exchange where you can tell something about the values, that it should be limited to that kind of corporations.

Mr. BROWN. I assume from paragraph 3 again that the total amount of assets would have nothing to do with the total amount of liabilities?

Mr. TURNER. That is correct, and the question is not a question of security being any better in a fifty million dollar corporation than it might be in a five million dollar corporation, but merely that there might be some yard stick to provide for corporations of size and thus relieve the opportunity of entering into investments in all manner of small corporations where it is difficult to follow matters of management that are involved in the financial affairs of the corporation.

Mr. BROWN. Therefore from a strict reading of the section, am I right in assuming that a corporation having assets of fifty million dollars with liabilities of sixty million dollars would be an insolvent corporation.

Mr. TURNER. That is right.

Mr. BROWN. And the fiduciary would be also entitled to invest in that insolvent corporation under this bill.

Mr. TURNER. That pre-supposes other questions involved.

Mr. BROWN. That could happen.

Mr. TURNER. It could happen but the fiduciary would be in the same position as any other investor.

Mr. BROWN. May I call attention also on page 5 to subsection 18.1 and also may I call the gentleman's attention to page 5 section 2 subsection 18.1 where the fiduciaries might invest in obligations of Municipal Authorities and so forth. Is that right?

Mr. TURNER. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. As I understand it a good many of the Municipal Authorities are not obligations of the municipality?

Mr. TURNER. That is correct. Under the law they cannot be direct obligations.

Mr. BROWN. Therefore the faith and credit of the Municipal Authority would be no better than the Authority itself.

Mr. TURNER. That is correct in one sense.

Mr. BROWN. May I ask in what sense am I incorrect.

Mr. TURNER. It is correct that the assets, or the value of the bond is no greater than that of the Authority itself, except this, that in the Municipal Authority the bonds must rest alone upon the revenues, and in Municipal Authorities the kind of Authority generally has to be in its very nature something like a water company or a sewer system, or it would have to rest upon a lease between the municipality and the Authority. The property leased being such property that would return a revenue, otherwise under one of the early cases, Gemel versus Calder, it would be unconstitutional.

Mr. BROWN. I thank the gentleman from Delaware.

Mr. Speaker, I would ask that this bill go over. I think it is a dangerous bill, and it should have some study. I have not had the opportunity to study the bill and I would ask that it go over. It is a dangerous bill. It may be that we can amend it to meet what the sponsors desire to do. I wonder if the gentlemtn from Delaware would have any objection?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I do object. On the question of amending this bill, as I see it, either we feel that the investments which trust funds may enter into should be broadened, that is, the base should be broadened from mortgages and things of that character to stocks and bonds as set forth in the bill, or we do not. I do not see how it would be possible to make an amendment that would carry out that idea. This bill has been in the Senate for some time, the bill I know has been the work of a great many different men interested in trust investments, and therefore I feel that at this late hour we should not pass over the bill at this time.

I have no authority on this side of the House to say that on behalf of the Republican majority, but I do believe that the bill should not be passed over. It was passed over yesterday, and I don't believe it should be passed over again. I realize there is a difference of opinion among some parties as to the advisability of legislation of this kind, but aside from that I do not see that there is any angle that could be settled by amendments.

Mr. BROWN. I thank the gentleman. May I interrogate the Majority Whip?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. May I ask the Majority Whip if he would agree to pass this bill over in its order for a time to give us opportunity for a conference between the Majority Whip and such Members as might be interested in the bill?

Mr. SORG. I would like to inquire of the gentleman whether he has in mind passing the bill over for the legislative day, or whether it could not be passed over temporarily so that the conference might be held sometime before this particular session adjourns?

Mr. BROWN. Just as soon as I can proceed to the Senate to see the sponsor of the bill. The bill was not in print yesterday—at least it was not on my desk. I only got the bill this morning from the Senate which I understand did not convene until three o'clock. I am sure that the gentleman from Delaware and the gentleman from Elk as lawyers would not go along with a proposition to allow trust funds to be invested in corporations simply because they have fifty million dollars of assets. We have met that situation in Pennsylvania. I am sure they realize that my suggestion is made in good faith and not for the purpose of delaying the bill at all, but to see if there are not some amendments that could be made that would bring the bill in line so that we can protect trust fund investments.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I agree under the circumstances that the bill be passed over temporarily.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

was passed over temporarily at the request of the SPEAKER.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 656 entitled:

"Pollution" shall be construed to mean noxious and deleterious substances rendering unclean the waters of the Commonwealth to the extent of being harmful or inimical to the public health or to animal or aquatic life or to the use of such waters for domestic water supply or industrial purposes or for recreation The Sanitary Water Board shall determine when the discharge of any industrial waste or the effluent therefrom after treatment or sedimentation constitutes pollution as herein defined and shall establish standards whereby and wherefrom so far as reasonably practicable and possible it can be ascertained and determined whether any such discharge does or does not constitute pollution as herein defined

"Sewage" shall be construed to include any substance that contains any of the waste products or excrementitious or other discharge from the bodies of human beings or animals

"Waters of the Commonwealth" shall be construed to include any and all rivers streams creeks rivulets lakes dammed water ponds springs and all other bodies of surface and underground water or parts thereof whether natural or artificial within or on the boundaries of this Commonwealth

Section 3 Section three hundred two of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 302 Existing Industrial Waste Discharges All persons who at the time of the passage of this act are discharging industrial waste into any of the waters of the Commonwealth shall discontinue the discharge of such industrial waste into said waters [or into any municipal sewer system] on notice from the board when after due investigation the board shall declare the discharge of such industrial waste is or may become inimical or injurious to the public health or to animal or aquatic life or prevent the use of waters for domestic industrial or recreational purposes Provided That any discharge that is inimical and injurious to the public health or to animal or aquatic life or to the use of the water for domestic or industrial consumption or recreational purposes shall nevertheless be deemed unlawful and a nuisance whether the board shall so declare or not

Whenever the Sanitary Water Board shall determine upon cause shown that certain existing industrial waste discharges cannot be eliminated due to inability to procure necessary labor materials or equipment arising out of exigencies created by the present war in which the United States is engaged such industrial waste discharges shall not become unlawful until such time as the Sanitary Water Board shall set after the Board determines that such labor materials or equipment are available but the time so set shall in no event be more than one year after the board determines such labor materials or equipment are available

Section 4 Section three hundred seven of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 307 Regulation of Establishments Erected or Opened or Reopened in the Future No person shall hereafter erect construct or open or reopen or operate any establishment which in its operation results in the discharge of industrial wastes which would flow or be discharged into any of the waters of the Commonwealth and thereby cause a pollution of the same unless such person shall first provide proper and adequate treatment works for the treatment of such industrial wastes approved by the board so that if and when flowing or discharged into the waters of the Commonwealth the effluent thereof shall not be inimical or injurious to the public health or to animal or aquatic life or prevent the use of water for domestic industrial or recreational purposes except when in the opinion of the board such industrial waste is not inimical or injurious to the public health or to animal or aquatic life or to the use of the water for domestic industrial or recreational purposes and shall grant a permit for the discharge of such industrial waste into the waters of the Commonwealth But no permit shall ever be issued by the board authorizing the discharge of untreated industrial waste into the clean waters of the State as above defined Public notice of every application for a permit under this section shall be given by notice published in a newspaper of general circulation published in the county where the permit is applied for once a week for four weeks But any such permit shall be revocable or subject to modification and change by the board at any time thereafter upon reasonable notice served personally or by registered mail addressed to the last known post-office address of the holder of the permit and the owner or operator of such establishment may be required to install treatment works approved by the board for the treatment of such industrial waste or for the deposition of solids in such industrial waste in the manner and to the extent as the board may require The discharge of industrial waste into any of the waters of the Commonwealth from any such establishment contrary to the provisions of this section or without a permit or after the time fixed in the notice of the board when a permit is revoked or in violation of any modification thereof is hereby declared to be a nuisance and to be punishable and abatable as herein provided [The provisions of this section shall not apply to establishments existing at the date of the approval of this act which may hereafter be temporarily closed for a period not exceeding six months]

Section 5 Section three hundred nine of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 309 Penalties [Any person who shall discharge any industrial wastes into the waters of the Commonwealth after the board shall have given notice to discontinue the same as provided in section three hundred two shall upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars and a further fine of ten dollars per day for each day the offense is continued and in default of the payment of such fine and costs the person or if such person be an association or copartnership then the members thereof or if such person be a corporation then the officers thereof may be imprisoned in the county jail for a period not exceeding sixty days]

Any person who shall [continue to] discharge any industrial waste or acid mine drainage into any of the waters of the Commonwealth contrary to the provisions of this act [after conviction in a summary proceeding as above provided] shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof in the court of quarter sessions of any county in which industrial wastes were discharged or introduced into the waters of the Commonwealth or in which such industrial wastes continue to pollute such waters shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than [five] one hundred dollars nor more than [one] five thousand dollars and the person or if such person be an association or copartnership then the members thereof or if such person be a corporation then the officers agents servants and employes thereof may be imprisoned in the county jail for a period of not more than one year All prosecutions under the penal provisions herein set forth shall be instituted and prosecuted by the Attorney General or by and with his written consent

Section 6 Section three hundred ten of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 310 Acid Mine Drainage [and Silt The] Except as hereinafter provided the provisions of this article shall not apply to acid mine drainage [and silt] from coal mines until such time as in the opinion of the Sanitary Water Board practical means for the removal of the polluting properties of such drainage shall become known

It shall be unlawful and a nuisance to discharge or to permit the discharge of acid mine drainage (1) into "clean waters" of the Commonwealth which are being devoted or put to public use at the time of such discharge or (2) into "clean waters" of the Commonwealth unless the Commonwealth after the Sanitary Water Board has approved plans of drainage pursuant to section three hundred thirteen hereof and has set a reasonable time not to exceed one year within which such pipes conduits drains tunnels or pumps as may be necessary to receive such acid mine drainage at the point or points where such acid mine drainage is delivered as provided in this section shall be constructed and put into operation by the Commonwealth has failed to construct and put into operation the same within such time Provided That nothing in this amendatory act shall be construed to limit or affect the provisions of section seven hundred one of the act to which it is an amendment

Whenever the Commonwealth shall provide pipes conduits drains tunnels or pumps to transport and divert acid mine drainage such acid mine drainage shall be delivered to such pipes conduits drains tunnels or pumps at the place or location designated by the Sanitary Water Board after consultation with the Department of Mines and the person or persons operating the mine

Section 7 Said act is hereby amended by adding after section three hundred ten thereof three new sections to be known as sections three hundred eleven three hundred twelve and three hundred thirteen to read as follows

Section 311 Authorizing the Sanitary Water Board to Acquire Easements and Right of Ways by Purchase or Condemnation or otherwise Whenever in the opinion of the Sanitary Water Board the pollution by acid mine drainage of waters which were "clean waters" on or subsequent to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred forty-four can be prevented by diverting the discharge of acid mine drainage into polluted or unclean waters the Sanitary Water Board with the approval of the Governor and the Attorney General is hereby authorized and empowered in the public interest to acquire by purchase or eminent domain or otherwise easements or right of ways over under or through lands to be used for the transportation and diversion of the discharge of acid mine drainage into such polluted or unclean waters In such cases the Commonwealth shall pay the cost of the acquisition of such easements and right of ways and of such pipes conduits drains or tunnels and such pumps and pumping equipment as may be necessary or proper to transport and divert such acid mine drainage after it has been delivered to the pipes conduits drains or tunnels aforesaid and of the operation and maintenance thereof including such pumping of the drainage as may be necessary

Section 312 Condemnation Proceedings The Sanitary Water Board is hereby empowered to acquire by purchase or condemnation easements and right of ways for the purposes hereinbefore set forth

Whenever a reasonable price cannot be agreed upon or whenever the owner is legally incapacitated or is absent or is unable to convey valid title or is unknown the Sanitary Water Board in accordance with the provisions of this act is hereby authorized and empowered to acquire by condemnation easements and right of ways deemed necessary or convenient to dispose of acid mine drainage so as to prevent the same from entering any clean waters of the Commonwealth in the manner hereinafter provided In such event application shall be made by the Sanitary Water Board acting through the Department of Justice or by the owner or owners to the court of common pleas of the county in which the property is located or in the case of property on the boundary line between two or more counties then in any such counties for the appointment of viewers Whereupon said court or any law judge thereof shall appoint three disinterested freeholders to view such property and estimate the value thereof None of the freeholders shall be a resident of the county wherein such application shall be made The court shall fix a time not less than twenty nor more than thirty days thereafter when the viewers shall meet upon the property and view the same The viewers shall cause at least ten days' personal notice of the time and place of such meeting to be given to the Attorney General or to the owner or owners if resident within said county If the owner is a corporation such notice shall be given to the president secretary or treasurer thereof if such officer resides within said county If neither owner nor any of such officers reside within the county or cannot be found therein or is unknown notice of such first meeting shall be given as the court may direct The viewers having been duly sworn or affirmed faithfully and impartially to perform the duties required of them under the provisions of this act shall at the time fixed for the first meeting proceed to ascertain as accurately as may be the value of such easements or right of ways and to that end may require the attendance of any person whose testimony may be pertinent thereto and production of any such books or papers as the viewers may deem necessary If any person shall refuse to appear and testify before such viewers or refuse to produce such books and papers when they are required then the court or any judge thereof shall on application of the viewers or a quorum thereof make such order therein as may be necessary Whenever the viewers shall have ascertained the value of the easements or right of ways they shall prepare a full report of their labors Upon the completion of the report the viewers shall fix a time when they shall meet and exhibit same Ten days' written notice of the time and place of such meeting together with a copy of said report shall be given to the chairman of the board to the Attorney General and to the owner or owners of the property condemned At the time and place mentioned in such notice the viewers shall meet and publicly exhibit the report and hear all exceptions thereto After making any changes in such report as they may deem necessary the same shall be filed in the court Within thirty days after the filing of the report in the court the board acting through the Department of Justice or any person interested may file exceptions thereto Whereupon the court may confirm the report absolutely or modify it or refer it back to the same or to any viewers with like powers and duties of the former viewers Within thirty days after final action on the report by the court the board acting through the Department of Justice or any person interested may demand a trial by jury From the action of the court on exceptions or from any judgment after a jury trial an appeal may be taken by any party to the Supreme or Superior Court Each of the viewers shall receive a sum not exceeding ten dollars ($10.00) for each day actually and necessarily employed in the performance of the duties herein prescribed and all necessary expenses actually incurred in the performance of his duties Title to any property condemned by the board shall be taken in the name of the Commonwealth

In addition to the foregoing powers the board and its authorized agents and employes may enter upon any lands waters and premises in the State for the purpose of making surveys soundings drillings and examinations as it may deem necessary or convenient for the purpose of this act and such entry shall not be deemed a trespass

Whenever the board decides to acquire any such easements or right of ways by condemnation as hereinbefore provided the board shall have the right to immediate possession of the property which is the subject matter of the condemnation proceedings and may enter thereon If the owner lessee or occupier of any of said premises shall refuse to remove his personal property therefrom or give up possession thereof the board may proceed to obtain possession in the manner now provided by law

Section 313 Approval of Plans of Drainage Before any existing or new coal mine may be opened or reopened and before any existing coal mine may be continued in operation a plan of the proposed drainage and disposal of industrial wastes and acid mine drainage of such mine shall be submitted to the Sanitary Water Board and it shall be unlawful to open or reopen any such mine or to continue the operation of any mine or to change or alter any already approved plan of drainage and disposal of industrial wastes and acid mine drainage from such mine unless and until the Board after consultation with the Department of Mines has approved such plan or change of plan provided however that this section shall not apply to the continuation of the operation of an existing mine until sixty (60) days after the effective date of this act

Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars and the person or if such person be an association or copartnership then the members thereof or if such person be a corporation then the officers agents servants and employes thereof may be imprisoned in the county jail for a period of not more than one year

Section 8 This act shall take effect immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, before the House takes up the active consideration of House Bill 1 Conference Report, which has been signed by the six conferees on behalf of the House and Senate, I would like to take this opportunity to thank the House conferees, the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg, and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, for their very helpful and intelligent cooperation in the deliberations on this measure in the Conference Committee.

It was agreed that at the time the report was considered by this House that for future aid it would be most helpful to read into the record what the conferees believe is an expression of legislative intent, and accordingly I would like to make the following statement.

The objects of the amendments contained in House Bill 1, which are amendments to the so-called Pure Streams Law of June 22, 1937, P. L. 1987, are to accomplish, and I am sure they do accomplish, the following purposes:

First, the dumping of silt into the streams of the Commonwealth is definitely and permanently outlawed. Although by administrative action the Sanitary Water Board, backed by an opinion by the Department of Justice, had already decided that practical means existed for the elimination of silt by satisfactory methods, legislative sanction of the Sanitary Water Board's decision was considered both desirable and necessary. As a result, by eliminating silt as an exception to those things contained within the definition of "industrial wastes," silt now becomes a prohibited industrial waste just as are any other things contained in the definition.

Second, the civil remedies available under the 1937 Act have not been touched. The penal provisions of the act relating to industrial wastes have been changed so that the fines for violations are increased and the violations are made misdemeanors, rather than summary offenses. To achieve uniformity and consistency in the administration of the act, in so far as industrial wastes are concerned, the Attorney General is required to institute prosecutions, or to approve the institution of prosecutions by others. Furthermore, jurisdiction is specifically granted to the court of quarter sessions of any county where industrial wastes are discharged into waters of the Commonwealth to entertain criminal prosecutions, and also to the court of quarter sessions of any county in which such pollution continues.

Third, as is known, the Act of 1937 excepted from the definition of "industrial wastes," not only silt, but also acid mine drainage, until such time as practical means were known to exist to remove the polluting properties of such drainage. So far as is known at the present time, no practical or feasible means do exist. Therefore, in order to save the few remaining unpolluted streams in Pennsylvania, it was felt that the State should cooperate with industry, and to that end the amendments provide that where a clean stream can be saved by diverting acid mine drainage into an already polluted stream, the Commonwealth may construct and operate a drainage system to receive acid mine drainage and by-pass a clean stream.

Fourth, another thing which is accomplished by the amendments is to remove all doubt that the principles laid down by the Supreme Court in Pennsylvania Railroad, et al. v. Sagamore Coal Co., et al., 281 Pa. 233, in 1924, are preserved intact. The court in that case held that clean waters of the Commonwealth being put to public use could not be polluted by acid mine drainage. In Section 701 of the 1937 Act language was inserted to preserve, among other things, the doctrine of the Sagamore Case. The amendments not only preserve the same doctrine but also reaffirm the language of Section 701 of the 1937 Act.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I feel that I should make this statement in regard to this report. In western Pennsylvania our waters will be just as dirty as they always were, and I hope that this is a step in the right direction and that someday we may clean up the waters of western Pennsylvania.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the report we have before us now, the much remodelled Brunner Bill, is, we believe, a legislative turning point coupled with an official turning point in Pennsylvania's attitude towards clean water. I have in mind, Mr. Speaker, that when the first anti-pollution legislation was passed in Pennsylvania in 1905 the enemies of clean streams at that time were the industrial wasters, who apparently were powerful enough at that session to get a very restricted definition of pollution written into the bill which defined pollution to be excretional refuse of humans and animals, and just to be sure that that restriction would not hurt them, they also had specific exemptions in respect to coal mine operations and tanneries. That was how Pennsylvania's anti-pollution legislation got its first start.

In 1923 there was additional legislation with respect to sewerage in the City of Philadelphia. The City of Philadelphia entered into an agreement with the state of Pennsylvania for future expenditures over a period of time to clean up its sewerage in Philadelphia and to assure that city of a better water supply. The result of that agreement and that legislation was that Philadelphia in two years fell down, stopped paying its share of the money, and of course today we have the answer of that failure to enforce or to live up to the agreement. It has meant that Philadelphia's water supply is probably as bad as any to be found in any part of the world.

There was no effort made by any administration until 1937 to put some real anti-pollution legislation on the books, and in 1937 the LaRue Act was passed which gave us the first real anti-pollution legislation we ever had. Prosecutions were initiated and some result was obtained, but with the passing of that administration our government of Pennsylvania again refused to enforce the law. That policy of non-enforcement has remained until now, and we have the Brunner Bill which because perhaps of our legislative default in past years—and when I use the term legislative default I am speaking about this institution of the House and Senate of Pennsylvania which has resulted in a very bad situation in Pennsylvania, where we have streams which are now so polluted that there is no possibility of ever getting them cleaned up again. In a very short time the state is going to pay the bill for bad legislation, pay the bill for non-enforcement which permitted getting this acid mine drainage into the already polluted streams and the Commonwealth will have to spend as high as eight million dollars in the next two years, but I say that to save the streams of Pennsylvania that investment now is cheap.

All this might not have been necessary if the House and Senate in years gone by had done something about it, and if the State Government in years gone by had met the problem and done something about it at that time. So we are making concessions to the worst pollutors who did pollute, but we are telling those people that the time is passed for that sort of thing, that the game is up and that enforcement is on.

In order to insure that this pollution will stop we have taken the unusual means of concentrating the power of enforcement in the office of the Attorney General, which will mean that the Attorney General's responsibility directly under the Governor shall be that streams will no longer be polluted. In time we hope that the streams that can be saved will be saved and not only get a clean water supply for Philadelphia, but that it will be of some use for recreational purposes and for sportsmen and that throughout the Commonwealth communities will profit and gain benefit from the enforcement of the act.

I want to make one further statement and one further admonition, and that admonition is to the public generally which over the past forty years has done very little in the way of protesting, until in the past few years when their protests have finally reached the fever pitch which is necessary to get government to act. The public has finally gotten to the point where they say they will no longer stand for the pollution of our streams, and the admonition to the public is to maintain its vigilence and to continue its fight to keep our streams clean and to keep this law enforced in the years to come. If that is done legislators in future years will have to do what must be their duty and will have to do as we have done in this session, take a real forward step in attempting to clean up streams rather than alibi and compromise with the pollutors. I hope that the public will not find it necessary to condemn us in the future, but if the act is not enforced in the future, if our streams are not cleaned up and our people do not see to it that the streams are cleaned up, then my advice to this Legislature of Pennsylvania and to the public of Pennsylvania is to turn out of office the administration which does not enforce, which fails to enforce and refuses to enforce and put into office an administration who will at least attempt to raise the health level of our population by giving us clean water and by helping to further the recreational facilities in the State.

Mr. TURNER. I quite agree, Mr. Speaker, with the gentleman from Philadelphia that this is a great day in the history of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and in the history of this Legislature, and if you will bear with me I would just like to put upon the record for a few moments some remarks on this subject.

I think this is a clear demonstration that you cannot accomplish great reforms overnight; that it generally takes an aroused public sentiment and public interest before you can attain great objectives of reform in the State.

I think we would be remiss today if we failed to go back and pay tribute to the pioneers in anti-stream pollution, who for a great number of years have battled both in the Legislature and outside, not only to arouse public sentiment but to get legislation through here in order that laws might be placed upon the statute books that would in the end free our streams from pollution, that thereby we might make a great contribution to not only the cultural and the healthful side of the lives of our people, but also fundamentally to the broad economic good that will come from such legislation.

Perhaps the greatest pioneers were among those men who belonged to the organization known as the Izaak Walton League, and among the sportsmen of Pennsylvania who year in and year out met in the groups from time to time and urged that something be done in this respect. The early creators of the Department of Health and the Sanitary Water Board likewise have contributed their part. In the last ten to fifteen years Judge Ladner has battled valiently—I possibly am wrong in estimating ten to fifteen years, it might be thirty years—the Schuylkill Valley Restoration Society, the Women's Clubs of Pennsylvania, the women who belong to the garden clubs of Pennsylvania, conservation groups in Pennsylvania, all have in the past contributed their part in arousing public sentiment.

In 1935 we created in Philadelphia as a branch of the Commission on interstate Cooperation the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin, and the Commission was created primarily, and its basic program was to clear the Delaware River of its pollution. During the intervening ten years the Commission has labored valiantly and hard to bring about conditions that we hope someday will arrive. And when this whole effort had, like the plowing of the field and the planting of the flowers and the cultivation of them, come to the point where it needed a hand to lift them above the surface and to enable them to grow into beauty, we had the good fortune to have a Governor of Pennsylvania who appreciated the value of conservation and the need for a program in Pennsylvania. We were also fortunate that the Governor of Pennsylvania had appointed an Attorney General who had the great vision and who had the courage to stand up and fight when the pressure was terrifically hard, as it has been on this legislation.

I also want to pay tribute to my colleague and friend Charlie Brunner, who introduced the bill in 1943. He took an awful beating then, but he went to work right after the Session of 1943, and I have known him to travel a good many miles to conference groups where this question was discussed. He came back this Session and introduced his bill and it must be a tremendous satisfaction to him, as it is a satisfaction to me to know that almost ten years of work has at last been crowned with the victory which has been achieved in the passage of this legislation, and, I am sure, the adoption of this Conference Committee Report.

The newspapers of Pennsylvania too have borne a fine part. I know from time to time we have called upon the newspapers in the Philadelphia area to help us in our program. We have never known the time when they have not turned loose the best writing talent they could give us or by editorials they have supported our program. So, Mr. Speaker, I would like to leave upon this record today something of the record that has been made in the last thirty years of the movement which has culminated in so fine a victory. If I have omitted any of those who contributed I am sorry, but I think I have covered pretty well the field.

Mr. ELISH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill, the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Brunner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Brunner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ELISH. I would like to know whether this bill applies to drainage from open surface mines, the so-called strip mine drainage, mine drainage, that comes from that sort of mines.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman's question I would say that this bill applies to any acid mine drainage, but it is particularly designed to apply to those bituminous mines in the western part of Pennsylvania where the State can extend the drainage facilities or can create drainage facilities to take it away from streams which would be polluted by that acid mine drainage, the drainage that comes from those mines, and divert it to a polluted area.

Mr. ELISH. What about alkaline drainage?

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. The bill does not apply to alkaline drainage; it only applies to acid mine drainage.

Mr. ELISH. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I don't see what good anti-pollution laws are going to be if you have no water to pollute. A few years ago our streams were full of water. We didn't recognize the evils of pollution, but after the water got low pollution became a stench right under your very nose. When the water was high it floated away and we paid no attention to pollution. Now our water level is getting lower every year, and if we do not give attention to the conservation of water and the erosion of the soil we will not have any water to save from pollution. The watersheds of this state are not protected; many of them are being cut away by people who want to take out wood products, and the rest of it is composed of those watersheds that are being stripped so that the water runs away and gets lower every season, and consequently there is pollution right under your very nose. The trouble with our pollution question is that the water is getting too low. Many of these water sheds could be protected through purchase by the State and by conservation of the timber so that it will conserve the water. I know of many water sheds that could have been bought for two dollars an acre that have been turned down by some of these people who have been shouting for conservation, and now you couldn't buy those same water sheds for fifty dollars an acre because they are being despoiled by woodsmen through taking out the wood products. If you want to conserve the waters of the State you will have to go up into the water sheds and fill the dams and save the timber and keep it from being cut down for such purposes, for rabbit pasture and shelter for birds. We have got to pay more attention to the conservation of the timber on these water sheds in order to protect our water, and I am calling this to the attention of these conservationists who have done a splendid job as far as they have gone, but now they must turn around and finish their job by saving the water sheds through the cultivation of timber.

Mr. GRANT. Mr. Speaker, I listened with great interest to the remarks and to the credit that was given to certain individuals by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, and the thought occurred to me that it was just so much more of same material that has been fed to the citizens of the State of Pennsylvania for some time by the present administration and former administrations.

I can remember very vividly when we at the last session voted and defeated the Brunner Bill. I can remember the newspapers shortly after that time coming out and saying that the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania had made a sudden turn in that he had decided that he was going to do something about cleaning up the streams, but I just want to say at this time that I have seen nothing in the newspapers that has informed the people that presently silt has a commercial value. The thought occurred to me also that probably the reason we have the one provision that means anything in this pollution bill that we are going to pass on, is due to the fact that that silt presently has a commercial value.

When one takes into consideration the action that was taken by the other side of the House during the last session, an dthe outcome of this bill in its final form that we are to act upon you can only come to one logical conclusion, and that is that now that this silt has a commercial value his Excellency the Governor, who as we say is one of the finest politicians that this State has ever known, has seen an excellent opportunity to capitalize on that, to get some credit for the other side of the House, whereas in reality it is offering little or nothing to this aroused public opinion.

I say that Mr. Turner's and the other remarks that I have seen in the papers of the State of Pennsylvania remind me of a saying by Shakespeare: "In law that plead so tainted and corrupt, spoken with a gracious voice obscures the show of evil".

I say that this bill is nothing other than a grandstand play to the citizenry of the state of Pennsylvania, and had it not been for the fact that silt presently has a commercial value, would not have been passed today, because the selfish interests who control the present administration would not allow the bill to pass.

Mr. ANDRERWS. Mr. Speaker, we started on our journey with this bill animated by hope. We emerged sustained only by faith. This conference report concerning which there has been so much rejoicing, and incidentally I wonder whether we have not rejoiced about the cleansing of the streams before they have been cleansed and whether we shouldn't wait for our celebration until something happens. At any rate I say we started out with hope that we would implement a bill which would stand on its own feet in the face of all men, a bill which contained within its provisions powers sufficient for its own enforcement, powers resident in the body of the people. And what do we have? We have a bill which stands or falls upon the integrity of one man, and not any one particular man; just a man who happens to be Attorney General. There is nothing in this bill that means anything except as the Attorney General desires it to mean. This bill has no soul, this bill has no conscience, this bill contains within it no provision for enforcement. The conscience of this bill is the Attorney General, the soul of this bill is the Attorney General. Full powers of enforcement are resident in the hands of the Attorney General, and under this bill the people of this Commonwealth are powerless to cleanse any stream from silt if you happen to have an Attorney General who does not agree with it.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I watched the progress of this bill I have noted the high standard of the sponsor of this bill when he introduced House Bill 1, and I have witnessed the campaign of attrition that has produced the conference report. Members of the House, the conference report is all we have before us; all we can vote on is whether we are going to have somebody as Attorney General who is always going to be interested in preserving the purity of our streams, and that is all we have. And since that is all we have, that is all we can vote on.

I am in the absurd and ludicrous position of a legislator having to vote, but I hope the Attorney General continues to be firm in the faith and that the next Attorney General is equally firm in the faith. It is with reluctance, it is with regret that I face the present legislative situation. I cannot rejoice with the gentleman from Delaware, and I cannot rejoicee with the gentleman from Montgomery in the achievement of a triumph. They have given birth to a hope and have placed that little hope in the lap of an Attorney General.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I would like to call the attention of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, to one fact, that when this bill passed the House some months ago the very same provision which he now attacks, namely the placing of this power to prosecute in the hands of the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was at that time a provision of the bill, and I believe at that time he supported it.

This is a State-wide program, it is a measure designed to clean up the streams of Pennsylvania. The Sanitary Water Board is given certain powers under this bill, and the Attorney General has personally requested, and I think with just cause, the right to put across this state-wide program. To my knowledge no one in Pennsylvania has raised its voice in challenge of the sincerity of the present Attorney General of Pennsylvania, James Duff. The conference considered this question, and I do not think I breach any confidence when I say that we are fully aware that it does give the Attorney General of Pennsylvania unqualified powers to prosecute, but I bespeak on their behalf an unqualified belief that in the next two years under this measure the program will be begun throughout the State of Pennsylvania and that it is the best way to institute it.

May I say further that if it is the will of the 1947 Legislature to take away from the then Attorney General the power to prosecute and to allow the District Attorneys of the several counties to do so, it would probably be a good measure at that time, but experience has shown that the District Attorneys of the counties of Pennsylvania have for some reason or other neglected to institute prosecutions under the 1937 Pure Streams Law, and there is no reason to have any assurance that they will do so from now on. So long as we have a man in the office of Attorney General of this state who is an admittedly ardent and sincere conservationist I say to the Members of the Legislature and to the people of Pennsylvania, get behind him and give him an opportunity to perform, and I feel certain that he will.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I did not apprehend that the gentleman from Montgomery was going to throw in my teeth the fact that I voted for the bill, but if the gentleman from Montgomery will consult his memory he may recall that on various occasions we told him as he retreated from position to position that if he stood pat on his original position he could have from ninety to ninety-five votes on this side of the House to put over House Bill 1 in proper form. It was not my fault that counsel led him to retreat step by step. We were willing to follow him, I was willing to follow him. The compromises the gentleman has made in this session are compromises which we have accepted because of his leadership and because he has the majority end of this House.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of Conference?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 875, as follows:

An Act to further amend sections nine and seventeen of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 280) entitled "An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands and prescribing interest charges on nonpayment thereof requiring the receivers and collectors of county city borough town township school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissions of such unpaid taxes and providing for the lien thereof authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes and to sell seated lands at public sale for taxes heretofore or hereafter returned as unpaid and authorizing the county commissioners to purchase such lands and resell the same under certain circumstances" further clarifying the provisions thereof as to the discharge of liens against property by a tax sale and providing for the discharge of all tax liens and tax claims by the resale of lands purchased at such sales by the county commissioners

Section 1 Section nine of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 280) entitled "An act relating to delinquent taxes on seated lands and prescribing interest charges on nonpayment thereof requiring the receivers and collectors of county city borough town township school district and poor district taxes to make a return to the county commissions of such unpaid taxes and providing for the lien thereof authorizing the county treasurers to collect such taxes and to sell seated lands at public sale for taxes heretofore or hereafter returned as unpaid and authorizing the county commissioners to purchase such lands and resell the same under certain circumstances" as last amended by the act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 498) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 9 No sale shall be valid where the taxes and interest have been paid prior to said advertisement or where the taxes interest and costs have been paid after advertisement and before sale or when such taxes are not legally due and collectible Every such sale shall discharge the lien of every obligation claim lien or estate with which said property may have or shall become charged or for which it may become liable except no such sale shall discharge the lien of any ground rent municipal claim or tax remaining unpaid other than the taxes for which the property was sold or mortgage which shall have been recorded before such taxes became liens by return and docketing as herein provided and which is or shall be prior to all other liens except other mortgages ground rents municipal claims and/or other taxes Any real estate sold under this act may be redeemed by the owner his heirs or legal representatives or by any lien creditor or his heirs assigns or legal representatives or by anyone interested in said real estate for the benefit of the owner thereof at any time within two years after such sale by the payment to the county treasurers of the full amount which this purchaser paid to said treasurer for taxes interest and costs and fifteen per centum of the amount of tax in addition thereto In case the purchaser has paid any taxes of any kind whatsoever assessed and levied against said property the same shall be reimbursed to said purchaser before any redemption shall take effect No sale of seated lands for taxes under the provisions of this act shall be prejudiced or defeated by proof that there was personal property to be found on the premises sufficient to pay the taxes assessed thereon nor shall such sale be prejudiced by reason of the fact that such lands so assessed as seated lands were at the time unseated

When any real estate is so sold no lien whatsoever against such real estate shall be deemed to be discharged during the period for redemption but if such real estate is not redeemed then all liens against the same except such liens as are hereinbefore specifically saved shall be deemed to be discharged from the date that the right of redemption expired

When any real estate is so redeemed by a lien creditor or his heirs assigns or legal representatives or by any person interested for the benefit of the owner the county treasurer shall issue to the person redeeming such real estate a certificate stating the fact of such redemption a brief description of the real estate redeemed and the amount of the redemption money paid which certificate may be entered in the office of the prothonotary of the county as a judgment against the owner of the real estate for the amount stated therein The lien of any such judgment shall have priority over all other liens against such real estate except such liens as would not have been discharged had no redemption been made

Section 2 Section seventeen of said act as last amended by the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 364) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 17 If the owner of any real property his heirs or legal representatives or lien creditor his heirs assigns or legal representatives or other person interested in property so purchased by the county commissioners shall not redeem the same within such period of redemption the county commissioners may after the expiration of such period sell such lands at public sale or private sale in the manner provided by law for the best price or prices obtainable but they shall not be obliged to sell same Any such lands now owned by the county for which the redemption period has expired including property heretofore exposed to sale by the county commissioners and for which no bids have been received may be sold as herein provided at any time after the effective date of this act but shall not be required to be sold After any such sale or in the case of any redemption the property shall be charged by the assessor in the name of the last purchaser or redeemer and such lands shall again be liable for taxes as other lands

The county commissioners before making sale of real property purchased by them at tax sales shall give at least thirty days' notice once a week for three consecutive weeks of such sales particularly designating the tracts that are to be sold This notice shall be inserted in at least two newspapers published in the county if so many are published in said county if there be only one then in such newspaper published in the county

Such advertisement shall set forth

(a) The purpose of such sale
(b) The time of such sale
(c) The place of such sale
(d) The terms of such sale
(e) A list of seated lands affected and their location and the owner or reputed owner of each

Where any such public sale has been advertised under the provisions of this section prior to this amendment and such sale not having been held the readvertisement of such sale need not be advertised three consecutive weeks nor include a list and description of the lands to be sold but need only be advertised by one insertion in one or two newspapers as aforesaid at least thirty days prior to the sale and include the purpose the time the place and the terms of such sale with a reference to the prior advertisement

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, we have now arrived at the special order of motions discharging committees. I would like to say to the Members on my side of the House that they will not get any more votes by making long speeches, so I will ask them to be brief.

I might also suggest that if all of the Members in the House would answer distinctly to their names and the men at the desk would record only those who vote, it really should not in my opinion be necessary to verify the rolls, although that is a matter that those interested in the motions must decide for themselves. I would suggest, however, that the speeches be short and that the Members answer distinctly to their names in the hope that we can avoid a verification of the rolls.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. BONEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair cannot accept this resolution because it is not properly sponsored.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ANDREWS. What is the fault in the resolution, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. The resolution is improperly sponsored. The gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Boney, does not appear as the sponsor of the resolution.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the resolution can be withdrawn and sponsored by Mr. Boney.

The SPEAKER. If the resolution is offered at a later time properly sponsored the Chair will accept it.

RESOLUTION

TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE ON STATE GOVERNMENT

Mr. SCANLON offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 2, 1945.

Resolved, That the Committee on State Government be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 362, entitled: "An Act making an appropriation to the Department of the Auditor General for the payment of certain moral claims; providing for the payment of certain moral claims; providing for the hearing, adjustment and payment of moral claims to persons formerly employed by mercantile appraisers and whose salaries have not been paid." Said bill having been referred to the Committee on State Government on January 31, 1945.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I ask that this resolution be voted down.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Scanlon and Mr. Chudoff and were as follows:

Mr. ANDREWS. Will the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Boney, yield?

Mr. BONEY. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, if the sponsors of these resolutions do not object, the majority leader agrees that we will take a vote on this resolution, verify the vote and then accept that vote for the vote on the other resolutions, the rolls to be noted in the record as verified rolls.

RESOLUTION

TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE ON MINES AND MINING

Mr. BONEY offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 2, 1945.

Resolved, That the Committee on Mines and Mining be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 406, entitled "An act regulating the mining of anthracite coal for the protection of public highways, streets, roads and bridges from caving-in, collapsing or subsiding; conferring powers and imposing duties on the Secretary of Mines, the Secretary of Highways, and certain municipal officers; and prescribing penalties," said bill having been in the hands of said committee for a period of ten days and more, having been referred on February 5th.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. BONEY. Mr. Speaker, by introducing and supporting this bill, House Bill 406, we are endeavoring to alleviate a condition that is quite general and has been in existence over a period of years. I will follow the suggestion of the Minority Leader and be very brief. However, I would like to call your attention to this particular incident. Just about a year ago at this time in one of our counties the cave situation became quite dangerous, so dangerous that the grand jury was instructed to make an investigation. They made an investigation and made a report. The report caused some anxiety in that community, and the people in their anxiety contacted the Governor or got in touch with him. At this time I would like to read the reply or acknowledgement of the Governor.

This is the reply or acknowledgement by the Governor:

"It is noted that the grand jury described briefly what it believes to be the remedy for the cave evil and urges the Governor to take steps to have the State carry out such a project" said Governor Martin in acknowledging receipt of District Attorney Brady's communication.

"It is recognized that when destructive forces are released and they threaten the safety of the people, there is general agreement that legislative and executive authority must be extended to meet the imperative demands for action," the executive continued.

"I am in full sympathy with the people of your community whose property has been damaged by mine caves. However, in the case before us, because of the complexities of mining, I feel the public interest could be best protected through legislation drawn by those persons of the anthracite region who are familiar with the mine cave evil and with the most effective remedy to safeguard the public."

I mention this, Mr. Speaker, just to keep the record clear and in proper shape to show that we endeavored to alleviate that condition by introducing these bills.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Boney and Mr. White.

Messrs. Lovett, Coleman and O'Brien asked for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the resolution was not adopted.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the Majority Whip has decided that he does not desire that this roll call shall stand as the verified roll call for the remaining resolutions to discharge. Therefore I just want to let the men and women on this side of the House know that they will have to be present in the House in order to be recorded, and that if they so desire it is their privilgee to ask for a vertified roll call.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I am not sure that the gentleman fully understands my suggestion or that I had made myself entirely clear. I wonder if we might suspend for a moment while I confer with the gentleman to make it clear.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I understand that we are to confer across the floor of the House.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I am advised that there are two men on this side of the House who voted in the affirmative on this resolution who desire to be recorded in the negative on all other roll calls, and that is the only discrepancy that there would be.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I apprehended as much when I offered to save the time of the House by accepting this roll call as the verified roll call. There are other motions to discharge where we might lose or gain on the roll call, but I believe now there is no course to take but to proceed and let each roll call stand on its own feet.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, out of deference to the gentlemen who do not desire to be recorded in the affirmative on the other roll calls I see no alternative other than by specific request on the other roll calls as to how they desire to be recorded.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, as usual I am reversed by my caucus. With the exception of the resolution to discharge the committee on a Senate bill I understand that we are willing to accept the verified roll call on the resolution of Mr. Cullen for the other resolution to discharge, that is, with the exception of the one to discharge the committee on a Senate Bill.

RESOLUTION

TO DISCHARGE COMMITTETE ON ELECTIONS

Messrs. CULLEN and CHUDOFF offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 2, 1945.

Resolved, That the Committee on Elections be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 461 entitled: "An Act to further amend the act, approved the third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1333), entitled "Pennsylvania Election Code," by further regulating elections, the appointment of overseers and watchers, the duties and compensation of election officers, the receiving of assistance, and the qualifications for, and time and manner of voting," said bill having been referred to the Committee on Elections, February 6, 1945.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Cullen and Mr. Lovett.

Messrs. Lovett, Finnerty and Grant asked for a verification of the roll.

RESOLUTION

TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE ON RAILROADS AND RAILWAYS

Mr. MATTHEWS offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 2, 1945.

Whereas, House Bill No. 424 entitled "An act requiring railroad companies to provide a flagman on all engines running without cars; providing for the enforcement of the act by the Public Utility Commission; fixing penalties, and providing for the collection thereof by the Attorney General," was referred to the Committee on Railroads and Railways in the House of Representatives on February 6, 1945 and has not been acted upon by said Committee, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Railroads and Railways is hereby discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 424 entitled "An act requiring railroad companies to provide a flagman on all engines running without cars; providing for the enforcement of the act by the Public Utility Commission; fixing penalties, and providing for the collection thereof by the Attorney General."

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, as a member of the Committee on Railroads and Railways I am in accord with the resolution.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Matthews and Mr. Chudoff:

Messrs. Lovett, Finnerty and Grant asked for a verification of the roll.

RESOLUTION

TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE ON LIQUOR CONTROL

Mr. McNALLY offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 2, 1945.

Resolved, That the Committee on Liquor Control be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 941 entitled:

"An Act to further amend clauses (VII) and (VIII) of section twenty-three of the act, approved the third day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 252), entitled as amended 'Beverage License Laws,' by changing the provisions of said act which relate to advertisements allowed on and about licensed premises," said bill having been referred to the Committee on Liquor Control on March 6, 1945.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. McNally and Mr. McNair.

TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE ON LABOR

Mr. LOVETT offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 2, 1945.

Resolved, That the Committee on Labor be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 1083, entitled "An act to prevent the payment of unreasonably low wages; creating the Wage and Hour division in the Department of Labor and Industry, conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Wage and Hour Division, providing minimum wages and maximum hours for employment within this Commonwealth; authorizing the Wage and Hour Division to conduct inspections, investigations and hearings; providing certain exemptions from the operation of this act; conferring jurisdiction on the common pleas courts in matters arising under this act, and providing a procedure for such cases; and prescribing penalties," said bill having been in the hands of said Committee for a period of ten days and more, having been referred on March 13, 1945.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. MORAN. Being a member of the Committee on Labor, Mr. Speaker, I desire to notify the House that I am in accord with the resolution.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Lovett and Mr. Moran.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I call up at this time Senate Bill No. 641, on page 5 of today's calendar, which was passed over earlier today.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 641, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 447) entitled "An act relating to the administration and distribution of the estates of decedents and of minors and of trust estates including the appointment bonds rights powers duties liabilities accounts discharge and removal of executors administrators guardians and trustees herein designated as fiduciaries the administration and distribution of the estates of presumed decedents widow's and children's exemptions debts of decedents rents of real estate as assets for payment thereof the lien thereof sales and mortgages of real estate for the payment thereof judgments and executions therefor and the discharge of real estate from the lien thereof contracts of decedents for the sale or purchase of real estate legacies including legacies charged on land the discharge of residuary estates and of real estate from the lien of legacies and other charges the appraisement of real estate devised at a valuation the ascertainment of the curtilage of dwelling houses or other buildings devised the abatement and survival of actions and the substitution of executors and administrators therein and suits against fiduciaries investments by fiduciaries the organization of corporations to carry on the business of decedents the audit and review of accounts of fiduciaries refunding bonds transcripts to the court of common pleas of balances due by fiduciaries the rights powers and liabilities of nonresident and foreign fiduciaries the appointment bonds rights powers duties and liabilities of trustees durante absentia the recording and registration of decrees reports and other proceedings and the fees therefor appeals in certain cases and also generally dealing with the jurisdiction powers and procedure of the orphans' court in all matters relating to fiduciaries concerned with the estates of decedents" as amended by further modifying the terms qualifications and other conditions under which the investment of trust funds may be made by fiduciaries

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BROWN. I was in the conference room in a Committee meeting, and I understand you are calling up Senate Bill No. 641.

The SPEAKER. Senate Bill 641, Printer's No. 483, on page 5 of today's calendar, that is correct.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I asked the Majority Whip to have this bill passed over, and we were to report on it. We have been working on this bill but we have been in committee meetings most of the time and have not had an opportunity. I don't know who called the bill up, but the courtesy would have been to ask whether we had ended our conference. May I inquire who called the bill up.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner. The Chair was also under the impression that it would be called up before the end of the session today.

Mr. BROWN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker, but I think that would imply that we have an opportunity to try to agree on it.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the bill will be passed over temporarily.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I understand that the gentleman from Allegheny and the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, have been in conference. I saw them and talked to them going back and forth. We are on the calendar. If we are going to wind up this session shortly it seems to me that we ought to consider this bill instead of passing it over. I would ask if the gentlemen want to offer amendments that we allow the bill to pass second reading, and with the consent of the Majority and Minority Floor Leaders we will say that no objections will be offered to the offering of amendments on third reading tomorrow. We may oppose the amendments but we will not object to the offering of amendments. In other words I think the time now is here that we ought not to delay the bill another day.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, if it is with the consent of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, and the House that we may offer these amendments on third reading, we shall not oppose passing the bill on second reading.

May I say to the gentelman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, we are not employing delaying tactics. This is an important bill dealing with a very important subject, and we do not believe that we ought to be forced, because of time, to do a disservice to the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I quite agree with the gentleman from Allegheny. I would not ask them to be forced to do something in a hury. On the other hand, I think we ought to pass this bill on second reading and go ahead with the calendar, and then if they offer amendments tomorrow, if they are successful they will go into the bill; if not, the bill will go on to final passage.

The second and third sections and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 483, entitled:

An Act to add clause fifty-five to section two thousand four hundred three of the act, approved the twenty-third day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P L. 932), entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class; and amending, revising, and consolidating the law relating thereto," authorizing the acquisition and maintenance of parking lots and the exercise of the power of eminent domain therefor.

On the question,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative, and the amendment was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

HOUSE BILL No. 423

An Act to amend section two thousand three hundred eleven of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (Pamphlet Laws 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" providing for payment of State appropriations where schools are closed on account of impassable roads

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Title, page 1, line 1, by striking out after the word "To" the word "amend" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "add"; also in same line by inserting after the word "eleven" the words "point one"; also by inserting after the last word in the title "roads" the following: "heavy snow or floods or inability to secure fuel for heating".

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 1, by striking out after the figure "1" the following: "Section two thousand three hundred eleven of the" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "the"; also in line 11, by inserting after the word "amended" the following: "by adding after section two thousand three hundred eleven a new section"; also by striking out beginning with line 23 the following:

"Section 2311 When any board of school directors is compelled to close any school or schools on account of any contagious disease impassable roads heavy snow floods the destruction or damage of a school building by fire or otherwise and therefore is unable to keep such school or schools open for the minimum term required by this act the Superintendent of Public Instruction may pay to such school district any or all of its share of the annual State appropriation as he deems proper", and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 2311.1 When any board of school directors is compelled to close any schools on account of impassable roads heavy snows or floods or inability to secure fuel for heating and therefore is unable to keep such school open for the minimum term required by this act the Superintendent of Public Instruction may pay to such school district any or all of its share of the annual State appropriation as he deems proper".

Amend Section 2, page 2, line 22, by inserting after the word "enactment" the following: "and shall continue in effect for a period of two years thereafter".

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. ANDREWS. I have looked through my files on my desk, Mr. Speaker, and I am unable to find House Bill 423, Printer's No. 715. It is not in print or it was not at least on file on my desk, and I could not find it. I made a memorandum to that effect.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For the information of the gentleman from Cambria the Chair is informed that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, checked on the bill and said it was on file.

Mr. ANDREWS. In that event will someone explain what the amendments in this case are.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Heatherington.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, the amendments to House Bill 423 make the bill a law for a two year period only.

SAN FRANCISCO CONFERENCE

Messrs. MADDEN and WEISS offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent that it be read for the information of the House.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 1, 1945.

The eyes of the world are upon the city of San Francisco, where is convened the Conference of the United Nations, whose task it is to work out the solution of the tremendous problem of freeing the world from future scourges of war and its attendant inhumanity, privation and pestilence.

A task of this magnitude must have the unqualified support of all the people of each of the Nations represented at the momentous conference. Its success depends in large measure upon the confidence which the rank and file of the various peoples place in the efforts of their representatives who speak for them and who are formulating the plan which alone can guarantee the future security of the world; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, at this its regular session of 1945, hereby express to the delegates of the United States, and of the civilized Nations of the world cooperating with her, at the San Francisco Conference, its full confidence and support in the work which lies before them, and its unqualified faith in the success of their vast undertaking, whereby the tragedy of the past six years shall never again recur, and that all wars that may be attempted by agressor Nations in years to come will at once be subdued before they can spread to other countries or envelop the entire world; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, certified by the Chief Clerk of this House, be transmitted to the Honorable Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., Secretary of State of the United States, and Chairman of the American Delegation at the San Francisco Conference.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The resolution lies over for printing under the Rules.

THE SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) IN THE CHAIR

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 717, entitled:

An Act further amending and supplementing the act approved the fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 364), entitled "An act relating to business corporations; defining and providing for the organization, merger, consolidation, reorganization, winding up and dissolution of such corporations; conferring certain rights, powers, duties and immunities upon them and their officers and shareholders; prescribing the conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers; providing for the inclusion of certain existing corporations of the second class within the provisions of this act; prescribing the terms and conditions upon which foreign business croporations may be admitted, or may continue, to do business within the Commonwealth; conferring powers and imposing duties on the courts of common pleas, and certain State departments, commission, and officers; authorizing certain State departments, boards, commissions, or officers to collect fees for services required to be rendered by this act; imposing penalties; and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to corporations," by adding to Article III, Section three hundred two thereof a new subsection to be designated as (sixteen), empowering every business corporation to make contributions, out of its income in any taxable year for public and charitable purposes to the extent authorized approved or ratified by the by-laws of such corporation or by resolution of its shareholders and ratifying certain contributions

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I just want to say for the information of the House that this is a bill which was discussed several weeks ago and some objectional features found. With the very able advice of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, we have been able to arrive at satisfactory amendments, which I understand remove the objections of the other side to this bill.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, how much taxable property will this bill remove from the income tax?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I didn't understand the gentleman's question.

Mr. HUNTLEY. How much taxable property will this bill, if it passes, remove on which income tax is now paid?

Mr. SORG. Only the amount permitted under the Revenue Act, Mr. Speaker, five percent.

Mr. HUNTLEY. How much is the gross income of the corporations of this state?

Mr. SORG. Does the gentleman mean how much are they permitted to make?

Mr. HUNTLEY. How much is the gross income of the corporations of this state, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. SORG. I do not know that.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Well, if it amounted to——

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, it will not in any way change the revenue of the state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. HUNTLEY. If it amounted to six billion dollars it would remove from this state at least eight hundred million dollars on which we now collect taxes, and I claim that you are just draining off the corporate income that would now pay taxes, it will have to be paid some other way, and it will probably be switched to the individual income tax. I claim the corporations ought to pay the income tax because they are the ones that earn it, and it ought to be paid where it is earned and not switched off to the individuals. This bill, I think, is a bill that is going to reduce the revenues of our state, and it will do no good as far as I can see, only help a few corporations that probably have overstepped the mark and want to get a clean bill of health.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, my principal objection to this bill at the present time is that I have not been able to read the amendments. It is not in my file, I believe, and it is not in Mr. Cohen's file of bills.

Mr. Cohen has been very much interested in these amendments. I asked him to get them and let us see what these amendments do. He does not have a bill, and the Members here do not have a copy of the bill. We are accepting these amendments on report. They are too darn private. I would like to know what they are.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, the amendments were inserted at the suggestion of the gentleman from Philadelphia, and before the amendments were offered copies were supplied. It is my understanding that they were satisfied that they met the objection made previously.

Mr. ANDREWS. That is my objection to voting on the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair concurs with the gentleman if the bill is not on file.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, that is my objection to voting on the bill at the present time.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

House Bill No. 717, Printer's No. 720,

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to announce that Mrs. Josephine Coyle's son, Private First Class Joseph L. Coyle, was wounded in action in Italy. She just received word he was sent home to a hospital in South Carolina.

Legislative Journal.

Session 1945. 136th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 29. HARRISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, MAY 3, 1945. No. 56.

SENATE

THURSDAY, May 3, 1945.

The Senate met at 1:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

To the eternal and unchanging God whose nature is love we pray, and our prayer is that in this respect we may be like thee. We confess to many failures in acts that are contrary to thy nature. Our human nature too often surrenders to selfishness, passion and hasty judgment. We pray for that character, rooted in love, that will keep us from exhibiting these unlovely traits. In all our relations as citizens of a great nation and great state, as members of a community and family may we learn by practice that "Love is the fulfilling of the law." There is no substitute for this.

May this divine quality be adopted in all the deliberations and acts of the World Conference now in session. Convince the members of that Conference that narrow nationalism and selfish imperialism will breed dissension whose legitimate offspring is war. Our generation has experienced the death and destruction that war produces. May our plans to prevent a repetition of such a tragedy meet with God's approval.

May our national and state legislatures assist in every possible way that righteousness, with justice for all, dominate in all our civil and political life.

We pray for President Truman. Endow him with all the qualities necessary to the conduct of his high office.

We pray for our Governor and Lieutenant-Governor. To them grant thy Spirit of wisdom and of love.

In the name of the Great Lover. Amen.

CALL OF THE SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, to determine whether or not a quorum is present and the session may continue, I request that the roll be called to see whether we have a quorum present.

(The Senate was at ease)

CALL OF THE SENATE WITHDRAWN

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I now withdraw my request that the roll be called because, according to my count, we now have a quorum and I will save the Senate that time.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HEYBURN and Mr. TALLMAN, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

Section 8 This act shall take effect immediately upon final enactment

MOTION THAT SENATE ADOPT REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the Conference Committee Report on House Bill No. 1 is printed and on the desks of the Senators.

I move that the Senate do now adopt the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 1.

Mr. SCARLETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion.

Mr. JONES. I call to the attention of the President and the members of the Senate that rule of the Senate which provides, on the question of concurrence in amendments by the House, that the bill together with the amendments shall be in the files of the Senators and particularly referred to on their calendars. There is no calendar which refers to this House bill and therefore I ask that it go over in order.

The PRESIDENT. To what rule does the gentleman from Luzerne refer?

Mr. JONES. Rule No. 21.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Delaware will state his point of order.

Mr. HEYBURN. My point, Mr. President, is that this is not a bill on concurrence in House amendments. This is a report of a committee of conference and therefore is not covered by the rule cited by the gentleman from Luzerne.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair sustains the objection of the gentleman from Luzerne, Senator Jones, and calls attention of the members of the Senate to Senate Rule 21, which clearly, expressly and specifically covers this subject. Senate Rule 21 reads as follows:

"21. That the vote on concurring in bills amended by the House or on adopting reports of committees of conference, shall not be taken until said bills and reports have been placed on the files of Senators, and particularly referred to on their calendars."

The report of the committee on conference on House Bill No. 1 will be noted on tomorrow's calendar.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. STEVENSON, from the Committee on Municipal Government, reported as committed, House Bill No. 755, entitled:

An Act to add section eight hundred eighteen to the act approved the fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (P. L. 519) entitled "An act concerning boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs" further providing for the election of councilmen when the terms of all encumbrants expire in the same year.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HEYBURN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the calendar is not yet up from the printer, so we can not consider it. I was wondering whether there were some speeches.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, my speech is not ready yet but I hope the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Heyburn, will have no objection if I will deliver my speech later in the afternoon. I am now working on it and I am sure he will enjoy the result of it.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, there seems to be a rumor around the Senate that Senator Haluska wants to make a speech and I am wondering if he would care to make his speech now.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. HEYBURN. I will.

Mr. HALUSKA. I would like to ask the gentleman on what subject?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the rumor seems to be that Senator Haluska is going to speak on Dr. Chapman's hospital appropriations.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I have been intending to speak on the hospital appropriation bill and if the Senate will now listen to me I shall make my speech now.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria will proceed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I would like to have the attention of the Senate because what I am going to speak on I am vitally interested in.

Mr. President, House Bill No. 1278, dealing directly with hospital appropriations, has been brought to my attention and I have been advised that the Miners' Hospital of Northern Cambria has been awarded an appropriation of $45,000.

Mr. President, this hospital serves the northern part of Cambria county, the southern part of Clearfield county, and the eastern part of Indiana county. This hospital is about to close its doors because of lack of funds.

A year and half ago the doctors of that hospital and the people of the community called upon me to take it over, to act in the capacity of superintendent, to try to save the institution. I found out at that time that lack of money, of course, was the answer, and I immediately set out on a program to raise much needed funds. I went to all the school teachers of my county and asked them to put on a "dime day", which they did, and each and every kiddy in the northern part of Cambria county came to the hospital with a dime; businessmen, coal operators, and people on the streets gave cheerfully to tide us over, up until the time we came back to this session, at which time I had promised I would put forth their cause before the General Assembly.

Early in January I spoke to my good friend from Warren, Dr. Chapman, and informed him of our plight. I asked him to give me permission to plead my cause when his Committee on Appropriations would have a meeting. I had assurance I would be given that privilege. In the meantime the good Doctor asked me to contact his Secretary, Mr. Stoner, and place my case before him, which I did. Mr. Stoner, without much figuring, said "you are getting $45,000 and that is the answer."

I went back and contacted Mr. Wood, a member of the House and Chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations. I came back and again contacted the good Doctor, and I kept doing that every week, knowing full well that the day would come when we would pass upon these hospital appropriations.

A few months ago Dr. Chapman introduced in this body a concurrent resolution, which was passed by both branches of this General Assembly, raising the per diem basis from $3.50 to $4, stating very specifically that many hospitals in the Commonwealth could not earn their appropriations and for that reason the per diem rate must be raised. That statement was correct. We all voted for that resolution.

Being superintendent of a hospital, I have some knowledge of what it takes to house a patient in my hospital. It costs us $4.65 per day. Other hospitals cost accordingly.

However, Mr. President, regardless of the appropriation that might be given to any hospital, that hospital must earn its appropriation, so giving an appropriation is one thing but earning that appropriation is another thing.

I say, and I charge on this floor, Mr. President, that the Miners' Hospital of Northern Cambria has received less per patient than any hospital in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. While you are trying to raise the per diem rate from $3.50 to $4, I have figures that show my hospital was awarded $1.79½ per patient a day.

I am certain that every member of this Senate wants to be fair. I am appealing my case to this membership on the basis that I will get fair play. We can not hope to continue; we have scratched bottom; the people have given cheerfully, but there must be an end to giving.

I do not know how they arrive at how much money a hospital might get, but I have been told that they take the list—and it is authentic; it is checked by the Auditor General and by the Department of Welfare—and upon their free patient days they shall now be awarded $4 per day.

If that be true, and if that is the intention of Dr. Chapman's committee, my hospital has 25,845 free patient days and we are entitled to an appropriation of $103,380.

Dr. Chapman has also told me there must be some sense of responsibility back home and it may be wise that we do not appropriate the full $4 per day—let us make the people back home conscious that they must give too. So, while you are making appropriations to some hospitals on the $4 basis, bring our hospital down to $3.50 per day and we are still entitled to $90,000; bring it down to $3 per day and we are entitled to $80,000. But the appropriation, gentlemen, which has been awarded to the Miners' Hospital brings it down to $1.79½ a day.

I am certain that no man sitting in this chamber will agree that our hospital is getting fair treatment. I am not charging that is Dr. Chapman's fault. He placed it in the hands of his secretary and for some unknown reason that secretary said "we shall give you 78 per cent of your free patient days." I undestood him to say that all hospitals will be given 78 per cent and the balance of it must be made up by the community.

Mr. President, were we to get 78 per cent we should have at least $78,000 but, low and behold, after making that statement, he tells me we will get $45,000.

Mr. President and members of the Senate, I know you have no desire to amend your appropriation bill, but I have an amendment prepared. I am only asking this body for fair play. Give our hospital the sum of $65,000 and I will take it upon myself to carry on, throughout the biennium. That would be giving us less than $3 per day, about $2.65 per day. Are we entitled to that? If not, we definitely must close our doors. We can not hope to serve our three county area by getting $1.79½ per day per patient. This is impossible, Mr. President, and every man here knows it; Dr. Chapman knows it and his secretary knows it, and I am sure the Governor knows that is true.

How can you sit here, gentlemen, and let us go back and close the doors of this institution? When I left home Sunday morning we had four boys from the Pacific brought in, men who fought for our country. We are trying to do our job. We are trying to take care of the sick; we are trying to take care of the wounded; we have a job to do, we want to do it, but we can not do it out of our own pockets. We want no profits. All we are trying to do is to serve our community.

So, Mr. President, I am going to offer an amendment and when the bill comes up for action I hope the Majority Party will realize the importance of my appeal. This is an appeal which does not mean a thing to me personally, except that I happen to live in that community and it is my duty to bring their case before the General Assembly. I am sure, if you consider this case, I will have a sympathetic hearing. That is all I want. I want this hospital to operate, the same as you do. We can not afford to close its doors. The nearest hospital is at Johnstown, forty some miles away. We serve the borough of Spangler, a community of about 3,500, and also adjacent communities; the population we serve is about 35,000 and we are the only hospital in that section.

The aisles of our hospital are crowded, there is no place to put the sick, so we can not afford to close the doors of our hospital. We must have help. We must have your help, gentlemen, and I trust that each and every one of you will pay some attention to what I have said and consider an amendment giving our hospital twenty thousand additional dollars, which still will be less than $3 per day, while you are giving other hospitals $4 per day.

When the bill comes up for action this afternoon, Mr. President, I shall offer my amendment and I trust that the Majority Party will give me an opportunity to amend that bill. We can still pass that bill, today, tomorrow and Saturday.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I want to raise a point of information with the Chair, if I may.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cambria will proceed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, in connection with House Bill 1278, the bill under discussion, which is not on the calendar, I understand that—my point is: can the Governor deduct, add or balance that appropriation bill, in case he so desired, to take care of the Miners' Hospital.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, if the question was as I understood it—could the Governor add or deduct

Mr. HALUSKA. Or balance.

Mr. HEYBURN. I understand the Governor can not add anything to an appropriation bill; he can cut it down.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, may I further interrogate the gentleman from Delaware? This is a matter of information.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I understand that under the Constitution the Governor can not add an amount to a bill as a whole, but, after we give him a certain figure on these several hospitals, could the Governor, by keeping within the total amount, balance by cutting down one hospital and raising another hospital? Could he do that?

Mr. HEYBURN. I do not think so, Mr. President. However, for the information of the gentleman from Cambria, Dr. Chapman is probably one of the best legislators in the Senate on appropriations. I am not quite sure.

Mr. HALUSKA. I will ask that question of Dr. Chapman. May I interrogate the gentleman from Warren?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Warren permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHAPMAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Can the gentleman from Warren tell us whether or not the Governor could equalize an appropriation bill regarding hospitals.

Mr. CHAPMAN. No, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. By making some adjustments?

Mr. CHAPMAN. The Governor can reduce an appropriation but he can not increase it.

Mr. HALUSKA. I understand he can not increase the main amount, but could he make adjustments.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, we are now $5,000 over the allocation on the hospital bill. I do not know how the Governor could make any adjustment.

Mr. HALUSKA. After all, every member of this body certainly wants to be fair and if we can find some way in our mechanics to adjust this situation, I think every Senator here would be willing to make an adjustment.

I noticed that one of the hospitals received an increase of $35,000—that is quite an increase, $35,000—but here we have an institution that is ready to fold its doors and all they want is actually what you say we shall give them. The proof is that we agreed to give the hospitals $4. we will settle for $2.50. But how could you give one hospital $4. and another hospital $1.79 for the same service?

Certainly there must be some fairness here. I can not believe my colleagues will sit by idly and let me talk, when this is a cry from the wilderness. We are asking for your help, we must have your help, gentleman, on a fair basis, so between now and the time this bill comes up for action I hope some of my friends on the other side will sit down and go into this matter and determine for themselves whether I have a just cause or not. I have all the figures here to show, gentlemen, that we must have your help and now, when we are about to take a recess, would be a fine time to sit down and talk this matter over.

Mr. WOODWARD. Instead of interrogation may I ask a simple question of the Senator?

Do I understand, Senator, that you are being discriminated against in your hospital? I thought there was a well established formula of the Department of Welfare that settled these questions as to how much appropriations shall be.

Mr. HALUSKA. Dr. Woodward, I do not think it was outright discrimination. I think it is just a case of misunderstanding. I do not think any man would discriminate to the extent of the difference between $4 and $1.79, but I think there was a misunderstanding some place and I am asking my colleagues to look into the matter.

Mr. WOODWARD. I listened attentively to the basso profundo remarks of the gentleman from Cambria—I mean some of his remarks; I was not here when he began—and I just want to know whether he is accusing the Committee on Appropriations of discriminating against his hospital.

Mr. HALUSKA. I shall try to be more explicit. I have asked the Committee on Appropriations to permit me to attend a meeting of their committee and give them figures I have available; I was promised an opportunity to do that, but I never received a call.

Mr. WOODWARD. What I do not understand is—if the others accept the formula, why the Senator is not also willing to accept it.

Mr. HALUSKA. That is what I am asking for, that same formula. On the basis of free patient days I am told, Mr. President, that they allow hospitals in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia 78 per cent, and I ask whether they will give us 65 per cent; I will go one better.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, may I interrogate the gentleman from Cambria.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HALUSKA. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, did the gentleman from Cambria in his statement say he was not allowed to come to a meeting of the Committee on Appropriations and submit his question.

Mr. HALUSKA. No, I did not say I was not allowed to come in, Dr. Chapman. I said I have asked you on a number of occasions to give me an opportunity to come in when your committee met upon this bill, and you informed me you would, but I am still waiting for that call.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Did you then file an additional questionnaire to the first one sworn to by the hospital.

Mr. HALUSKA. That is right. I filed a corrected questionnaire with your secretary.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, I might say my own hospital's appropriation was reduced $2,000 and I said nothing about it. I thought it was justified. No hospital receives the full amount of the cost of free patients. The average free patient cost in the state is about $5.50 or $5.60 per patient, but the committee feels that we should not give the whole amount of the appropriation for the free patients because by so doing we would lose community interest, and community interest is a more important asset to Senator Haluska's hospital, and to every other hospital, than all the money we could appropriate to that hospital.

I might say that in the past the Miners' Hospital had received $42,000 and that was increased to $45,000, an increase of $3,000 over last biennium, which I think was the greatest increase given to any hospital, excepting Jefferson Hospital in the city of Philadelphia.

I may further say that we are now $5,000 over the amount allocated to this particular fund with respect to state aided hospitals.

Mr. HALUSKA. I realize others might give the same answer Dr. Chapman did, about other hospitals being cut one or two thousand dollars, but that is certainly an unfair remark to make regarding this bill. They were cut because they failed to earn their appropriation. This money must be returned unless it is earned. I am certain the hospitals Dr. Chapman speaks of were cut because they failed to earn their appropriations, but I say to him that the appropriation he is getting is nearly one hundred per cent of earned service, and the Doctor knows that, while I am getting about 38 per cent of earned service. All we want is that our hospital be placed on the same basis as the one Dr. Chapman speaks of, on the basis of money actually earned. We want nothing free but we ask that you give us the same percentage basis.

The people back in our communities of Clearfield, Cambria and Indiana counties, whom we serve, are just as human as the people in Warren county. They must be served. How can you make fish of one and fowl of the other? How could you appropriate $4 per diem to one part of the state and $1.79½ to another part of the state? All I want is fairness, gentlemen. This is more than a speech. This is my appeal for help. I hope you do not walk out of here and force us to close the doors of that hospital, but that is what will happen.

If you are $5,000 over the appropriation, I can not help that. I found one of your hospitals getting an increase of $35,000. How were they gauged? On what basis? It might have been fair to put me on the same basis. Give me 78 per cent of the earned service, if that goes for Warren county, if that goes for other hospitals. If that figure is too high, what is your figure? All I want is to be put on the same basis, gentlemen, and we will struggle through, but when you set a flat figure of 78 per cent for the entire Commonwealth, and then come down and set a figure of 38 per cent for Cambria county, gentlemen, there is something wrong, so I say there must be a misunderstanding.

I know the honesty and sincerity of Dr. Chapman and if he will sit down and take these figures I have in my hand—they are sworn to, checked by the Department of Welfare and the Auditor General, every three months—I am sure he will change his viewpoint about our hospital.

Mr. WOODWARD. Another point in this discussion on this subject is the fact that there are ten hospitals in the Commonwealth that do not submit to the formula of the Department of Welfare. They are favorities, I suppose, because they do not submit to the formula; when they spend too much money, they simply come down here and get deficiency appropriations.

I do not want to prolong this discussion but I simply want to register my objection to that kind of business, and I will become a little personal. There is a city hospital in Scranton and there also is a city hospital in Wilkes-Barre, only about twenty miles apart, and they are in the same category. The Scranton hospital does not have to submit to any formula, they come in here and have their bills paid, and yet the Wilkes-Barre hospital has to submit to the formula. That I think is an unfair situation and I simply want to register my protest against playing favorites with ten hospitals.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, going back to the remark made by Dr. Chapman, that appropriations to these hospitals are $5,000 over the proposed budget, that certainly is a meager figure, $5,000, dealing directly with life itself.

My colleague from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, yesterday said the coffers of the treasury are bulging out with money, and yet the communities back home are down on their knees begging for money.

How can you bring forth the argument that you can not do a thing for the Miners' Hospital because you already have gone $5,000 beyond the allocation, when here a few days ago you passed upon a bill spending $3,400,000 to give one man the right to live in politics, if you please, and here I am asking for a meager pittance to save lives and prolong the lives of those who are fighting for us, whom we are treating, and now you say you are $5,000 over your budget. Take off $5,000 from the hospital where you granted $35,000 additional and give us that $5,000 and you will probably save a few lives.

Gentlemen, again I say I trust that you will, during the recess which I understand is about to begin, consider my appeal and do something this afternoon to save this hospital from closing its doors. We have begged from the school kids, we have begged from the miner, from the farmer and the coal operator, and we can not beg for two more years. We must have your help. What are you going to do about it?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to adress the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. Will the gentleman from Delaware advise me if the calendars are ready as yet.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I understand the calendars are ready and that the bills are being placed on our desks.

Mr. HOLLAND. I do not understand why we would have to go to a lobbyist to get a calendar. It seems strange in this Senate that the Senators do not get calendars before the lobbyists do. I have a calendar in my hand which I just received from a lobbyist; it is dated Thursday, May 3. I picked it up, to be very frank—I do not know if he knows I have it or not. It seems a terrible crime that the lobbyists in this Senate can get calendars and are acquainted with what action is going to be taken before the Senators get them.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I rise on a matter of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, my remarks this afternoon could be entitled either as "The Romance of Pennsylvania's Collegees" or by a paradox-title—"The Greatness of Smallness."

I have in my hands a very interesting college bulletin bearing the title "A Christian College Comes of Age 1849-1949, Series No. 1"—The Product of a Christian College published by Waynesburg College, Green County, Pennsylvania.

At this juncture may I allay the fears of my colleagues, lest they get disturbed that a city dweller invades one of the jewels of rural Pennsylvania—namely Greene County, Pennsylvania.

I have both the permission and blessing of the Senator from Washington and Greene counties, the Honorable Wallace S. Gourley, to undertake this cultural excursus into the sun-kissed hillocks of Waynesburg and I am indeed thankful to Senator Gourley for his gracious hospitality.

An old adage maintains that: "To read is nothing, to read and think is something, to read and feel is everything." I have read the aforesaid Waynesburg College Bulletin and have been spiritually enriched by the feelings it engendered in me.

As you all know, I represent the Fifth Senatorial District of Pennsylvania, which is the backyard of Temple University and lies in the very shadows of its towering buildings. The famed "Acres of Diamonds," claiming the world, begin in my Senatorial District and it may, therefore, be significant that I am the one to voice on the floor of this resplendent Chamber our heartfelt felicitations to this pearl set in emerald-acres of rural Pennsylvania—Waynesburg College.

May I urge my esteemed colleagues to be sure to acquire the Waynesburg College Bulletin and place it on their "must" list of reading.

On page 3 of the Bulletin we find a passage which undoubtedly expresses the feeling of millions of Pennsylvanians. It reads as follows:

"Is it not high time that we put aside all semblence of apology and triumph in our smallness, our sympathetic contact, and our prayerful guidance?" I stress and underscore the expression: "Triumph in our smallness" because herein lies the secret of Pennsylvania's greatness. Not only in the four collossi:—University of Pennsylvania, Temple University, University of Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania State College, but also in the numerous smaller colleges of Pennsylvania, there are being forged the creative forces of our citizenry.

The so-called Prentice and Kunkel Survey of Waynesburg College illustrates the contribution of the smaller colleges of Pennsylvania to the greatness of our Commonwealth. The percentage of Waynesburg College alumni who attain distinction as measured in "Who's Who" exceeds by more than five times the average percentage of all the state universities in the United States. And by the way, one of the most interesting points of the Prentice and Kunkel Survey was that the leading college of America was a tiny Presbyterian institution in Virginia, Hampden-Sydney, whose attendance for most of its history rarely passed three hundred. And by the way, one of the alumni of Waynesburg College is our own Governor, His Excellency Edward Martin, whose synopsis-biography graces page 9 of the Waynesburg College Bulletin.

Our felicitations to Waynesburg College and fervent wishes that it may for many centuries continue its creative work.

May I embrace this opportunity and urge the members of the Senate to support House Bill No. 25 which strives to assist young men and women of the Commonwealth to obtain a higher education by means of scholarships based upon competitive examinations. This important measure will be of great aid to the smaller colleges of Pennsylvania in the post-war era and will definitely open a new inspiring page in the cultural history of Pennsylvania.

There is an economic aspect to this undertaking which is indicative of the desirability of the proposed measure.

Back in 1937 Senator John Dent initiated a study of migrations of industry in Pennsylvania. As a member of the Dent Industrial Tax Study Commission, I have been working for the last eight years on the compilation and analysis of statistics gathered by the U. S. Department of Commerce during its Bicentennial Censuses of Manufacturers. I am, therefore, in position to make certain authoritative statements which I expect to publish in the near future in a book that will deal with movements of industry in Pennsylvania. The U. S. Department of Commerce publishes very instructive statistics covering industrial movements in 33 industrial areas of the United States. Several of these areas, such as Philadelphia-Camden, Pittsburgh, Bethlehem-Allentown and Wilkes-Barre-Scranton areas abound in discernible trends showing the coming suburbanization and rurbanization of industry. (Rurbanization is a synthetic word covering a combination of rural and urban patterns.) Thus by dividing each industrial area into a urban core and suburban or rural periphery we find a gradual exodus of industry from the core of the industrial area and localization thereof in the periphery of the area.

Since many of Pennsylvania's smaller colleges are located in the rural perpheries of Pennsylvania industrial centers, it is evident that great days of creative expansion are in store for the aforesaid smaller colleges.

The smaller colleges of Pennsylvania may also become in the future a great unifying force in the life of Pennsylvania. It is a known fact that Pennsylvania's political life consists of three different spheres: Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and the "in-between" Pennsylvania. There is a decided cleavage between the rural and urban components of Pennsylvania's citizenry, a deplorable condition which had been in existence for generations.

Now with the enactment of House Bill No. 25 into law many young Pennsylvanians from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh will no doubt avail themselves of the scholarships provided in House Bill No. 25 and will pursue their college studies in the rural colleges of our Commonwealth.

At the close of the Civil War, President Lincoln pointed out to his generals that the railroad map of the United States clearly indicated the sources of the internal strife—all railroads at that time ran from the East to the West but not from the North to the South. Isolation is the source of suspicion and cleavage! The smaller colleges of Pennsylvania are destined to eliminate intrastate isolation by bringing the salubrious interplay of city and farm in the post-war era.

A visitor to Washington, Pennsylvania, is always impressed by the lights on the towers of "Old Main" Building of Washington and Jefferson College. These lights are symbolic of the present movement to provide aid to the smaller colleges of Pennsylvania—they are a challenge to darkness, to internal strife, to isolation, to the evil forces of suspicion! They call for vision, they command a forward march!

My worthy colleagues! Carpe Diem! Do not miss the opportunity—Pass House Bill No. 25.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I rise on a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Philadelphia may proceed.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I always listen with attention to the remarks from the Democratic side of this Chamber, because I like to see how often they are wrong, but as a friend of theirs I wish some of the Democratic members would take some elocution lessons so that I could understand every word they say. Without any discourtesy to my colleague from Philadelphia, for whom I have great respect, whether it is his fault or the fault of the two shorthand reporters that interrupt the waves of sound, I did not understand everything he said. But I take it that the general purpose was something about House Bill 568 and therefore I am going to make a very few remarks concerning House Bill 568. I will try to keep it within the permissive three minutes on personal privilege.

As we all know, the fundamental difficulty in the financing of th eschools is that they have not enough money. I learned long ago that there are 6,057 one-teacher school houses that are shut. In 1919 there were over ten thousand of those one-teacher schools, but in 1944 there were only six thousand. My point, however, is that while there are six thousand one-teacher schools that are shut, those teachers get 75 per cent of their salaries—as far as I know they are getting them. Therefore I think it is important, if there are six thousand one-teacher schools that are shut and the school board has to maintain 75 per cent of the salaries of teachers who are not there, it is important that both sides of this Senate should know that.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HOLLAND asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I have been objecting to confirmation of the Pennsylvania Post War Planning Commission. In my objecting I do not have any general objection to the men and women who will serve on it, as I feel that all those who are named are people who are interested in post war planning.

However, I want to draw to the attention of the Senate that we have a responsibility for post war planning and I do not think that up to date the studying done for post war planning has been sufficient to do a good job when the war is ended.

I also want to point out that cutbacks have already started; in western Pennsylvania they have started full force. Just this week a shipyard corporation in Pittsburgh cut its payroll from 14,000 to 4,000, and other industries have been steadily cutting back, until we in western Pennsylvania are going to find we have a large number of unemployed on our hands.

In the manpower district which consists of Beaver, Pittsburgh and New Kensington, there is a potential of 600,000 employables, according to a meeting that was held yesterday by the Manpower Commission.

As soon as V-E Day comes—and I want to impress this upon the Senate—the Army, which is now ready to cancel its orders, immediately upon their cancellation there will be a hundred thousand unemployed in this district. The only reason the Army has not cut back as yet is that the Navy still needs some goods and there has been a general agreement between the Army and Navy to continue production for the Army, which is a surplus, and which I believe is very bad business.

On the Post War Planning Commission, which has been put before the Senate for confirmation, we find that no one representing either the A.F. of L. or the C.I.O. or the Brotherhoods is on the Commission. Mr. Kennedy, a very able man, representing the miners, is on the commission. However, I want to point out to you that in the building industry neither management nor labor is represented on that commission, and you and I know that the building industry is going to play a very important part after this war. The steel industry is not represented on the commission. Some of our largest industries in the western part of the state I know would be eager to help, and they have been making their post war plans, and I know their knowledge and experience would help a great deal.

It is a case where both the A.F. of L. and the C.I.O., which have spent thousands of dollars on post war planning, are completely ignored. I do not think that is a good start for the time when the war is over, because I believe the whole future of America rests on how close labor and management can work together in the years ahead. They have proved in war that labor and management can work together; there is no reason why labor and management can not work together after the war is over.

Mr. President, I am not going to take the time of the Senate to read to you the post war plan of the C.I.O., but I am going further and ask that there be included in the Legislative Journal the "C.I.O. Re-employment Plan." This plan has cost thousands and thousands of dollars. It has been brought together by men high up in the different industries, men who have had experience in the economies of labor and management, and I believe it is a valuable contribution to post war planning.

Furthermore, Mr. President, I think that the resolution which I introduced in this body should have been reported to the Senatee. That resolution asked the Post War Planning Commission to tell us what they had ready for bids, what they had on their drawing boards, how many people would be employed, and what were their other plans not yet on the drawing boards.

We are going very shortly into a transition between war production and peace production. We do not know what is being done. We are the ones who are going to be responsible We are the ones who are going to be lobbied and heckled if we do not do something about it.

If we do not do something about it, we are going to be besieged to pay more taxes, in order to give money to people who are unemployed. I know we do not want to go back to the old system and I know the boys who will come back from the war do not want a dole. They want jobs. We are neglecting our duty as Senators. Post war planning is our job and we should see about it; it has got to be done and we are not doing it. We are just passing the buck.

Our post war planning I am sure up to date has not reached the go-ahead stage, and we will be the ones that will have to accept the blame. It is our job. If we create an ideal, then we should make sure that ideal does the work it is intended to do.

Therefore, Mr. President, I believe that men of labor and men of industry should be added to this Post War Planning Commission, especially representatives of the steel industry, which is going to be affected, and also the building trades industry, which is going to be affected. When men who labor have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars on post war plans, certainly those plans should be considered by the Governor of the state of Pennsylvania. I realize the Republican Party is sort of tired of labor and they do not seem to want to bring labor into the picture, but labor has something to contribute here. Management has also. If we have both management and labor contributing, sitting across the table, as they have during this war, we can solve the unemployment problem of Pennsylvania and Pennsylvania will be benefited.

I ask unanimous consent to have incorporated in the Legislative Journal the "C.I.O. Re-employment Plan," by Philip Murray.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none. Permission is granted.

C.I.O. RE-EMPLOYMENT PLAN

by Philip Murray

The 1944 Murray Re-employment Plan Defines the Deflationary Gap, Examines the Dangers Therein to the Nation's Security and to Democracy, and Sets Forth Seven Points Enuiciating How the Deflationary Gap can be Filled and Its Dangers Obviated.

The Deflationary Gap Yawns as a Postwar Economic Chasm

We have all been working to produce weapons to win the war. With the winning of the war our task is to reemploy all to produce the products of peace.

There is no doubt that with our people at work after the war we could produce goods and service worth 200 billion dollars in a year. Everybody would be working, including the men and women now in uniform.

Why should America go back to less than the largest possible output of things the people need? We shouldn't!

An army of people not working and without income, plus the working force with greatly reduced income, means depression. When the working people do not have wages to spend, there is tremendous additional loss to the butcher, the baker, the real estate rent maker, and the farmer, who consequently have their purchasing power reduced.

Thus all over again could start the well-known vicious downward spiral. Everybody will be sucked into a new, bigger depression.

To prevent widespread hunger, there must be added the enormous cost of even subsistence relief. This would mean an expenditure of many more billions.

The value of the nation's production for 1944 will exceed 200 billion dollars. This total has been sustained by 95 bililons of government war expenditures.

Cancellation during 1945 of this volume of war orders will not only reduce the nation's production by nearly one-half; the stream of economic activity fed by this sum will be substantially lowered.

Unless peace-time production expands to replace war production, it can very well be that the value of the nation's output would fall to 75 billion dollars. The 125 billion dollar difference is the deflationary gap.

The existence of such a deflationary gap would hazard the nation's security. These dangers would follow:

Poverty would exist among half or more of the population.

Immediately there would be civil disorders, crime, sickness and disease, mass migration of homeless people, family breakups and child delinquency—all these things on an unprecedented scale.

Competition for existing scarce jobs would bring new tensions.

Race riots would follow.

Veterans would not only compete with non-veterans for employment; the veterans of 1944 and '45 would fight veterans of 1917 and '18 for preferment. Unemployment marches and bonus marches would be the order all over again, on a much larger scale than before.

Scapegoats would be sought, demogogues would harrangue the people and mislead and confuse them, civil and individual liberities would disappear in one surge after another of violence and counter-violence.

A crisis as great as war would convulse the nation, which would be a potent threat to both private ownership of industry and to democratic political institutions.

The second World War would be lost to the military victors, as the first one was lost. And the seeds of World War III would be planted and cultivated for another bloody harvest when the infants of 1944 reached manhood!

The C.I.O. Re-employment Plan is simply a proposal for a series of things the American people can now do to fill in the deflationary gap and prevent the grave dangers to the whole country which would otherwise quickly follow.

The Deflationary Gap Must Be Filled in to Prevent a Disastrous Cave-in!

The C.I.O. Re-employment Plan is mainly a program for industrial production and employment.

It is concerned first of all with the buying power of the workers in the basic industries, because the lack of that buying power is the main seat of our economic ills.

This is the field in which organized labor has a peculiar responsibility and a special obligation to speak out. And not only for the C.I.O. members! Throughout the program the C.I.O. calls insistently for the protection and welfare of all the people.

The C.I.O. is deeply interested in the security and prosperity of every section of the nation. We want real prosperity for the farmers. We are concerned with the problems of independent business men and professional people. We are vitally interested in the welfare of returning veterans. We champion the cause of all racial and national minorities.

Every veteran of both this and the earlier war must have his job opportunity in a national program of full production and full employment.

The same is true of the enlarged group of women who from necessity or choice will be in the labor market when the war is won. Women must not only have democratic employment opportunities; they must receive equal pay for equal work.

The Negro worker has given his efforts to production for victory; his employment also must be without discrimination in an expanding economy to which all can contribute their best efforts and from which all can obtain an adequate living.

The prosperity of the industrial worker is found only in the prosperity of all Americans. Each of us is secure only as all of us are secure.

The C.I.O. has outlined its views and policies on all these questions in programs which it has issued from time to time. It offers its friendship and cooperation to every group among the American people.

The greatest solvent for most of our common problems, however, is full industrial production and employment. Farmers, indipendent business men, and professional people prosper as the total take-home pay of industrial workers rises. There need be no conflict between races and national groups, or between veterans and workers, if we make sure there are jobs for all.

Toward the solution of this central problem of productivity and employment in our great basic industries, the critical problem of our times, the C.I.O. offers the following seven-point program:

Unionism and High Wages

The labor unions of America are the main foundation-stone of national prosperity. The recognition they have won from business and government in the last decade must be protected and extended. The right of working people to unite in organizations of their own choosing, free from interference by their employers, must not be impaired.

If good times are to follow this war and endure into the peace, the people of the country must have the purchasing power to buy the goods our industries turn out. High wages mean big sales, full production and in turn, full employment.

The nation must begin to act now on this question of wages, along these lines:

(a) There must be immediate revision of the "Little Steel" formula to compensate labor for the loss incurred due to the rise in the cost of living. In due time, labor must, in addition, share more fully in the earnings of industry through further wage increases.

(b) There must be prompt and generous increases in wage rates to protect workers against reconversion unemployment.

(c) There must be no reduction in take-home pay as overtime is eliminated in war plants.

(d) Annual wage guarantees must be included hereafter in all labor contracts.

(e) Dismissal pay, sick leave pay, paid vacations and holidays, paid insurance, veterans funds, and the elimination of geographical differentials, must be elements of collective bargaining contracts in the future.

(f) There must be an unqualified acceptance of the principles of collective bargaining.

Besides the primary economic need for these adjustments to expand purchasing power to maintain full employment, working people must share, fully and promptly, in the greatly increased productivity which has come during the war production effort and which will be accelerated after reconversion. The reffected benefits to merchants and professional people of increased purchasing power for industrial workers is the only way the whole population can share in technological production improvements.

There must be no blitzkreig against organized labor in America after this war. The resources and energies of the nation must be devoted to the winning of good times, and must not be squandered in industrial strife. The principles of union recognition, collective bargaining, and prosperity wages must remain basic propositions in our economic life.

Democratic Teamwork for Full Production and Employment

The C.I.O. made the first proposals for the conversion of America's vast industrial facilities to war production. Among these proposals were the Industry Council Plan and the programs of several C.I.O. unions for converting the steel, automobile, aluminum and other industries.

These programs were based on one fundamental proposition:

There must be teamwork on the part of labor, industry and government in organizing production around an overall national plan and component industry plans.

This principle was to be applied by establishing a National Production Board and Industry Councils, composed of representatives of management and labor with government chairmen.

As the war went on, the importance of planning and labor participation was more and more fully recognized and the results became manifest in amazing production records.

The same fundamental proposition must be applied in the transition to peace-time production and the maintenance of capacity output and employment thereafter.

Labor, management, and government got together successfully to produce the weapons of victory. They should stick together to build an enduring prosperity. These steps should be taken:

(a) A National Production Council should be set up, properly linked with the War Production Board and other war agencies, which will be responsible for taking the country through reconversion and keeping it prosperous. It should be composed of representatives of labor, industry, agriculture and government.

(b) Industry Councils should be established in the great basic and mass production industries, composed of representatives of labor, management and government.

(c) The National Council and the Industry Councils should work out an overall national program and component industry programs for changing over to peace-time production and operating at capacity thereafter.

Many of our great corporations are preparing plans now for their operations after the war. They are planning their investments in new equipment and machinery. They are counting on running certain plants and shutting down others. They are estimating their expected sales and fixing their sights for production and employment accordingly.

The people of this country have a vital interest in these activities.

The plans which management is making for capital investment in new plants, machinery and equipment must be big enough to add up, along with public investment and foreign investment, to whatever is necessary to keep our capital goods industries going.

The levels of production and employment which our big corporations are scheduling must be high enough, together with the employment provided by small business and government, to provide a job for every person in the country who wishes to work.

The people in every community in the land have a right to know whether the companies intend to operate the plants in that community and what they intend to produce.

High wage rates are an imperative of the transition and the peace. It is likewise an imperative that our plants and factories be kept open and operating. The jobs must be there before men can earn money. A 25 per cent cut in employment can be just as disastrous as a 25 per cent cut in wages, and can be imposed overnight. We want none of that in the postwar years.

All these matters are proper and necessary subjects for consultation and cooperation.

These problems should be dealt with by the National Production Council and the Industry Councils.

If the corporations continue to do the planning job alone without relation to the programs of other companies and of the national, state and local governments, they will inevitably shoot too low.

We must get all our programs out on the table where we can look them over and see whether they measure up to the total national production, employment, and investment levels which are possible and necessary if the deflationary gap is to be closed.

We must establish annual minimum production goals for all the basic industries, which will add up—along with the production of small business, farmers, and public enterprise—to a national production goal equal to the production capacity of the nation. Initiative and enterprise would still be free to top these minimum goals.

And we must see to it that the sum total of all these programs keeps on rising from year to year, not just standing still.

Management owes these things to the people of the country.

Labor is ready and willing to cooperate and to contribute its own working knowledge of production and its familiarity with the needs of the people.

There must be no conspiracies in restraint of trade in the operation of the Industry Council Plan. The anti-trust laws must be enforced, not relaxed. Restricted production and monopoly prices can not be countenanced.

Purchasing power of people is as much a result of low prices as high wages. High production schedules mean low unit costs so that fair prices will be possible.

Small business must be helped and protected. Planned cooperation must be based on industrial expansion, not contraction.

The most pressing need of the peace, after a sound wage and labor policy, is for this working partnership of labor, management, agriculture and government in the preparation and execution of programs of full production, full employment and a high rate of capital investment, fitted into a total national peacetime production plan.

A Modern Transportation System

Airways

The aircraft industry must be kept alive and must be developed. It can be a great key to prosperity in the next decade, as the automobile industry was during the twenties.

Mass production of automobiles was made possible by highway construction. We must do the same thing with airplanes. We must build a vast network of airports and airlanes all over the country which will make for a rapid growth in individual flying.

The federal government should consult immediately with state, county, and municipal governments and work out plans to construct not less than 6,000 airports with interconnecting airlanes suitable for use by personally owned planes.

These airports should be built and operated by the local governments in line with the national plan. The federal government should give such assistance by loans, grants and guarantees as may be necessary for planning, land acquisition and construction.

This work should start at once. Preparations will take considerable time. The job should be pushed ahead rapidly. Most of it should be done during reconversion unemployment. Then the aircraft industry can resume with a good prospect of continued expansion.

The industrialist, Henry J. Kaiser, has worked out excellent plans in detail, along these lines, which he made public last May at the convention of the United Steelworkers of America. They are well worthy of prompt application.

We must also build up our commercial airlines, transporting passengers, freight and mail. These lines were the nucleus of our war-time air expansion. They will provide a growing and reliable market for the aircraft industry.

These policies will save the jobs of hundred of thousands of workers in aircraft, in steel, in aluminum, and keep them earning and spending at prosperity levels.

Railways

The war has placed incredible burdens on our railway system. The railways were in run-down condition before the war. Further injury has now been done to the roadbeds. Rolling stock which was obsolescent has become a danger to life and limb.

There must be a thorough modernization of our railway system as soon as the resources are available. The railways have been making money. They should invest this money promptly in reconstruction. If they need additional financial help the government should provide it by direct loan or credit guarantees.

Part of the program should be the complete elimination of all grade crossings. Proper legislation should be enacted immediately by the states and the federal government. This is a matter of plain humanity, quite aside from economic consideration. We have no business permitting any longer the annual toll of death and injury caused by wrecks at obsolete crossings which still survive in far too many places.

Such a reconditioning program for our railway system will be a great help in stabilizing the steel industry and the railway equipment industries at high production levels.

Highways

We must resume our policies of federal assistance to states and localities for highway construction. We must enlarge these programs substantially.

Private automobile travel and the transportation of passengers and freight by bus and truck must be expanded after the war. Millions of people want new private cars. The bus lines and the trucking companies will buy much new equipment.

Highway transport has rendered invaluable services to the nation during this war in supplementing railway transport. It has helped to prevent the breakdown of the railways which occurred near the end of the last war. It must be protected and expanded for the future. Abundant, good highways are the best assistance the government can give.

Something like the Maverick Plan for the construction of a network of superhighways east and west and north and south should be put into effect. The program of U. S. Senator Hayden is a beginning but is not enough.

In addition to cross-country trunk highways, we must open new thoroughfares from the centers of our big cities to the outskirts, and eliminate traffic bottlenecks.

The construction of new bridges and the elimination of grade crossings by over-passes and under-passes should be an important part of the highway program.

In rural areas we must build more and better hard surface roads to get the farmers out of the mud.

Where localities lack resources the federal government should drop the requirement that its money be matched.

It is not difficult to visualize the possibilities in such a plan for the steel, cement and machinery industries, and for the further expansion of automobile travel.

Housing and City Reconstruction

Our inability to provide ourselves with decent shelter has been a major failure of our civilization. The slums, the run-down areas and congestion of our cities are a menace and a disgrace.

We must go in for the complete reconstruction and decentralization of our great metropolitan areas and for a program which will give good shelter to every family, urban and rural, regardless of income, throughout the land.

The slum clearance program must be resumed at once on an ample scale. Our slums should be eliminated, substandard housing supplanted and blighted areas reconstructed within ten years after the war.

We must have teamwork between private and public initiative in the housing field. Both have their responsibilities. Private builders should forget their senseless and expensive war on public housing. There is more than enough for all to do.

There must also be government help for cooperative housing.

We should lay plans now to build not less than 1,500,000 new homes every year for at least the next ten years. Planning and land purchase must get under way at once with whatever federal assistance may be necessary.

Our city planning must become more imaginative and bold. It must take in whole metropolitan areas. It must include industrial and commercial facilities as well as hospitals, schools, recreation and shelter.

We should tear down industrial plants which are badly located with respect to the life of the community and build new ones in the right places. We should tear up transportation facilities which destroy the recreational possibilities of our waterfronts and lay new tracks at the right places. We should reconstruct most of our docks and harbors. We should clear out whole neighborhoods in downtown areas and build airports or plant parks.

Our cities should be rebuilt completely. They should be broadly decentralized. New towns should be founded on the outskirts. Open country should be brought downtown.

City tax structures must and can be reorganized on a metropolitan hasis to facilitate these changes. Only planned decentralization, indeed, can save our big city finances, which are imperiled by inevitable and planless dispersion and blight.

There is work here for millions of men for a generation. The demand for building materials and for new industrial plants, equipment, and machinery will be immense.

Regional Development

We have had valuable experience in the planned development of great river valleys and immense regions in our country. This experience has been highly successful.

The control of floods, extensive rural electrification, conservation of soil and forest resources, development of new industries, and elevation of the general standard of living, which have marked developments like that in the Tennessee Valley are known to all Americans and have their enthusiastic approval.

There are many other regions in the country which should get similar help. The vast Missouri Valley is one of them. Here we have all the problems of water scarcity in the uplands and floods in the lowlands, of reforestation and erosion control, and a pressing need for better roads and cheaper electricity among the farmers.

We should construct an integrated system of dams and hydro-electric power plants along the entire length of the Missouri River and its tributaries. We should plant forests and grass on the uplands and the sub-marginal agricultural areas. These measures will bring under control the disastrous floods which annually destroy millions of dollars of property in Kansas and Missouri.

We should build a network of electric power transmission lines from the power plants and provide every farmer in the entire region, who is not properly served by privately owned utilities, with cheap electric power. We should build a comprehensive system of back-country, hard-surface highways connected with national trunk highways.

Other regions which should be developed along similar lines include the Arkansas and Red River Valleys, the Connecticut River Valley, the basins of the Santee and Broad Rivers in the Carolinas and of the Tombigbee and Alabama Rivers north of Mobile, the Central Valley in California, and the great Columbia River Valley in Washington and Oregon. In one place the great natural resource may be forests, in another agriculture and grazing crops. Everywhere in these areas there are enormous human resources to be conserved.

Such programs mean work for hundreds of thousands of men in field and forest. This work should be offered on a year-round steady basis so that the workers can settle down with their families. They should be given all the rights of self organization and collective bargaining which are enjoyed by the workers in the great basic industries.

The communications companies should be required to expand their facilities in country districts as well as in the cities. They have been making money and can afford it. Every American, rural and urban alike, is entitled to good telephone and telegraph service at reasonable rates.

Comprehensive plans should be prepared for the improvement of conditions in neglected areas of the country, like the South. The war plants which have been built in these regions should be used, and more peace-time industries should be brought in. The South, the Midwest, and the Mountain States should cease to be mere economic colonies of the Northeast.

Such operations will mean an immense demand for cement, steel, hydroelectric equipment and machinery, copper and other materials used in transmission lines, agricultural machinery and the like.

They will help the agricultural output of the country to keep pace with an elevated standard of living among farmers and city people alike.

Foreiegn Trade

The continued prosperity of Americans is directly tied to the prosperity of people of all other nations. In addition to a domestic program for full production in the United States there must be a vigorous, long-term program of international commerce.

We must develop the new foreign markets which will appear after the war for our capital goods and our durable consumers goods, for steel, railway and public utility equipment, machines, automobiles, household equipment.

The war has wrought havoc in the factories and railways of Europe. Millions of homes have been destroyed by bombing. And there are vast areas in Asia and Latin America which have long been in need of industrialization.

We should use our immense productive capacity in heavy goods to help rebuild war-torn Europe and Russia, and to industrialize China, India and Latin America. There is a large enough market here to help to stabilize big industry in the United States for decades.

One problem is the financial one. Industry may properly fear the risk of loss in such foreign investment. The federal government must help. The best way to do this is by extending credit guarantees to the exporters of heavy goods. The amount which we may lose on such guarantees will not begin to equal what we will have to pay out for relief if we fail to keep production going.

Another problem in foreign trade is imports. Trade is a two-way proposition. In the last analysis we can not be paid for exports except by imports. Credits and payments in gold simply postpone the day of reckoning. At present we could not possibly accept enough imports to balance the great quantity of exports we ought to be sending abroad to keep our heavy industry going. These imports would compete with other goods produced in America.

But we can readjust our economy over a longer period of years so that imports will balance exports. We should arrange it so that we produce the things we make best in this country, and other countries produce the things they make there better or more easily. We should begin now to work out a long-range program for this readjustment over a period of years. Credits to other countries under federal guarantee will take us through the difficult transition period.

Our purpose is to raise standards of living both at home and abroad, so that our great industries may continue to operate and the welfare of the common people everywhere in the world may be increased. We must avoid doing harm to our light consumers goods industries and their workers, and to agriculture in this country.

At the same time we must find outlets for our capital goods and our durable consumers goods. This will increase the productivity of other nations and will raise the consuming power of their people for the products of their own industries and of ours. All this calls for long-range planning, but if we tackle the job intelligently we can do it without harm to anyone and with immense benefit to the common man everywhere.

It is this idea of the benefit to all peoples that motivates labor organizations in the development of a greater international commerce. Such a program must not degrade the living standards or working conditions of American workers. On the contrary, the program enunciated here is designed to improve the living conditions and social standards of workers in all countries, particularly in the United States.

Inter-continental commerce adds business and employment opportunities for shipping which is an important part of foreign trade. A greatly increased passenger traffic also would follow.

Both freight and passenger traffic means employment not only for the workers on board ships, but also in the related packaging, warehouseing, loading and unloading mail, insurance and other related businesses.

Men of the sea have made a great contrubution to victory, in the face of tremendous danger and obstacles. Not considered as military veterans, they are in fact in that classification, and for those who choose to remain in the various maritime callings there must be full employment.

We must attach proper conditions to our export guarantees. Our foreign investments should be in harmony with the plans and programs worked out by the agencies of international cooperation which will be set up as the war comes to an end. Investments made in accordance with international economic plans will be more secure and there will be less danger that the federal government will have to make good on the guarantees.

America's national interest lies in the preservation and extension of real democracy everywhere in the world. Our economic strength must be exerted through the policies we follow in matters like export guarantees, to support democracy, the right of self organization, a stable prosperity, social security and international peace everywhere in the world.

Health, Education and Security

Health

Our nation is woefully underequipped to provide adequate medical care to all the people. We should go in for a great expansion of hospital and clinical facilities. Every neighborhood in our big cities, and every cross-roads hamlet and farm in America should be within safe and easy reach of a good hospital.

The federal government should begin immediately to stimulate the states and local governments to prepare plans for the construction of such facilities. It should help financially by procedures similar to those used in housing. The demands which such a program will make on the industries producing building materials and clinical equipment will have a vital stimulating effect on our economy.

Even more important than building new hospitals is the training of more doctors, dentists, psychiatrists and nurses. The war has given many Americans decent medical care for the first time in their lives. We have learned that in spite of underemployment among doctors, we did not have enough of them to go around if everyone in the country got proper treatment. We need to draw hundreds of thousands of additional men and women into services before we will have enough. This will mean new jobs, more purchasing power and a broader basis for prosperity.

We need a new and modern program of industrial safety. Avoidable accident continues to take an inexcusable toll of injury on the job in our mines, mills and factories. We ought to have a complete overhauling of our state industrial safety codes and a thorough examination of the possibilities of federal stimulation and assistance for wise preventive measures. Our workmen's compensation laws are feeble and outmoded in most states and should be revised. Better clinics and other facilities should be installed by industry for the treatment of accidents and illness on the job. The states and federal government should enact whatever legislation may be necessary to bring this about.

Such a medical and safety program means a healthier people. Illness and accidents cost so much that we can better afford to keep everyone safe and well. The health of the individual is more than his own business; it is the concern of the community. Prevention is better than cure.

Education

In the field of education, again we are sadly underequipped. We have never had enough colleges and universities, enough high schools, not to speak of enough grade schools, to give all our young people the education they deserve and which they would demand if they had the money to pay for it.

War-time experience has brought forward the value of nursery and play schools, kindergartens, and such pre-primary school services. Not a substitute for care of children in the home, they are a valuable supplement thereto, and are an essential part of the educational system. They must be encouraged and multiplied.

We should embark at once on a program of federal aid to cities and counties for the construction of new primary and secondary schools. The national government should help the states to develop the facilities of state-aided colleges and universities.

Methods should be worked out for the training of hundreds of thousands of new teachers for our schools and colleges. The work load of individual teachers and the size of classes should be reduced.

Every young person in the country should be enabled to go as far as his talents will take him in schooling. Systems of scholarships or free higher education must be worked out to accomplish this purpose.

Such an expansion of educational facilities, such an enlargement of our teaching staff, and such assistance to students during the period of their education will help materially in providing the jobs and the buying power which are needed to keep our economy going.

Security

We must also perfect our social security system. Our society can afford to offer every citizen complete protection against all the major hazards of life. It can not afford to do otherwise.

Every man, woman and child should have this protection. It should cover not only the industrial workers but professional people, independent business men and farmers. It should deal with unemployment, accident, illness, old age and the dependence that comes with maternity, the loss of breadwinners and the like. The Wagner-Murray-Dingell Social Security Bill should be perfected and passed, not in some distant tomorrow, but now.

These things are needed not only because they are right in themselves, but because they will help to equalize the bow of purchasing power in periods of relative prosperity and recession.

Organized labor fought a hard fight for the enactment of the Murray-Kilgore Bill which would have meant real protection for veterans and war workers in the reconversion period. Labor lost that fight. It was opposed by a blind and venomous coalition of reactionaries in Congress. The American people were united in favor of the measure. The C. I. O. intends to keep on fighting to get real reconversion unemployment compensation promptly and to get complete social security coverage for everyone.

Health, education and economic security are vital matters for democracy. People can not exercise personal or political freedom if they do not have jobs, if they can not get real medical care when they need it, if they have no opportunity to train themselves for the occupations to which they are suited, or if they live in constant apprehension of unemployment, accident or poverty-stricken old age.

Freedom and democracy flourish best in environments of abundance and security. A sound program for a democratic nation must look toward the protection of all the people against all the disastrous common risks of life.

"We Must Hang Together, or We'll Hang Separately"

The years which lie ahead call for action and cooperation.

The war goods cutback and cancellations are now beginning to strike the first notes of warning. The guaranteed market for the products of our industries which has been provided by government purchases during the war will soon dwindle and then vanish.

From now on we face a problem which will become more and more acute with every passing month, the problem of stabilizing a huge industrial economy on a foundation of peacetime production.

We tackled this job in the thirties, but we did not finish it. The needs of the defense program and eventually the war, postponed the need for basis solutions. The further deferment of these matters now becomes impossible. Resolute and prompt action is imperative.

We must act now, vigorously and without hesitation, if we are to stave off dire misery for millions in the transition years and later. If we fail to move with energy and decision, economic chaos will engulf us, and demagogues will take advantage of the fear and distress of multitudes to attack and perhaps destroy our political democracy and our hopes of a better economic order.

Action in a democracy must be cooperative action. No one group in our society can pretend to handle this situation alone. The industrial workers are strong. They are the strongest organized group in the country. Yet, labor understands that it must seek the cooperation of the people on the farms, the doctors, lawyers and teachers, and the managers of business, big and little, if it is to win through to a better world.

The C. I. O. is fully convinced that other great segments of the American nation also understand the need for unified democratic action. It presents its program of industrial stabilization and expansion as a basis for consultation and cooperation with all segments of the American people.

The C. I. O. has offered in the past and will continue to present plans for closer collaboration on matters of direct interest to other labor organizations, veterans, agriculture, the professions and independent business. It declares its deep-seated confidence in the ability of all the American people to unite and work speedily toward sound and democratic solutions for the dangers which threaten the American way of life.

NOMINATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations.

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE, BOROUGH OF SCALP LEVEL, CAMBRIA COUNTY

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor' Office, Harrisburg May 3, 1945.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Andrew W. King, 637 Main Street, Scalp Level, Cambria County for appointment as Justice of the Peace in and for the Borough of Scalp Level, Cambria County, until the first Monday in January, 1946, vice Jacob D. Heider, deceased.

Rice, 950 Century Building, Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, for appointment as a Member of the State Registration Board for Professional Engineers, for the term of six years, and until his successor is appointed and qualified, vice George S. Richardson, Pittsburgh, resigned.

EDWARD MARTIN.

MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THADDEUS STEVENS INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor' Office, Harrisburg May 3, 1945.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate the following persons for appointment as Members of the Board of Trustees of Thaddeus Stevens Industrial School:

Theodore Schwalm, Lancaster, Lancaster County, to serve until the third Tuesday of January, 1949, and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified. (Reappointment).

Louis B. Bond, Christiana, Lancaster County, to serve until the third Tuesday of January, 1947, and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified. (Reappointment).

Claude W. Breneman, Elizabethtown, Lancaster County, to serve until the third Tuesday of January 1951, and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified. (Reappointment).

Calvin M. Kendig, Mountville, Lancaster County, to serve until the third Tuesday of January, 1951, and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified. (Reappointment).

Mrs. Elizabeth D. Stine, 580 School Lane, Lancaster, Lancaster County, to serve until the third Tuesday of January, 1949, and until her successor shall have been appointed and qualified. (Reappointment).

Chester M. Woolworth, 1 Jackson Drive, Lancaster, Lancaster County, to serve until the third Tuesday of January, 1951, and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified. (Reappointment).

D. W. Luttenberger, 123 Race Avenue, Lancaster, Lancaster County, to serve until the third Tuesday of January, 1947, and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified, vice Oliver Schaeffer, Lancaster, whose term expired.

S. E. Dyke, Millersville Pike, Lancaster, Lancaster County, to serve until the third Tuesday of January, 1949, and until his successor shall have been appointed and qualified, vice Clifford C. Aument, Quarryville, whose term expired.

EDWARD MARTIN.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. TYLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. TYLER, from the Committee on Public Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions, reported as amended, House Bill No. 127, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two of the act approved the thirteenth day of June one thousand eight hundred eighty--three (P. L. 119), entitled "An act for the promotion of medical science by the distribution and use of unclaimed human bodies for scientific purposes through a board created for that purpose and to prevent unauthorized uses and traffic in human bodies" by changing and clarifying the provisions of said act relating to the burial of unclaimed bodies unfit for anatomical purposes and further regulating the burial costs.

RECESS

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 4:30 o'clock p. m., Eastern War Time.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

BILLS SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) announced that the Acting Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

Senate Bill No. 248, entitled:

An Act to authorize certain persons to take affidavits and acknowledgments in connection with the administration of the affairs of veterans and their dependents; making certain offenses punishable as perjury and imposing penalties.

Senate Bill No. 374, entitled:

An Act to fix the standard weights of containers for wheat and corn flours, corn meals, hominy, and hominy grits; and to provide penalties for the violation of this act.

Senate Bill No. 537, entitled:

An Act to amend section twenty-eight and to repeal section twenty-nine of the act, approved the twenty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 414), entitled "An act relating to vital statistics and to make uniform the law with reference thereto," providing for payment of the compensation of local registrars by the Commonwealth, and relieving counties from such payments.

Senate Bill No. 590, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 685) entitled "An act designating certain life insurance companies as limited life insurance companies and further describing the powers thereof" by further describing the powers of limited life insurance companies under certain conditions

Senate Bill No. 607, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May, one thousand nine hundred forty-three (P. L. 637), entitled "An act providing that the terms of constables hereafter elected in cities of the second, second class A and third classes, boroughs and townships, shall be for six years," by extending the terms of constables hereafter elected in incorporated towns to six years.

Senate Bill No. 721, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two hundred twenty-six of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," further regulating when a director may be elected solicitor to the board.

House Bill No. 992, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Pennsylvania Historical Commission for the further restoration preservation and improvement of Drake Well Memorial Park, birthplace of the petroleum industry.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor, John C. Bell, Jr.) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

HOUSE MESSAGES

HOUSE BILL FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced presented for concurrence bill of the House, as follows:

House Bill No. 717, entitled:

An Act further amending and supplementing the act approved the fifth day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 364), entitled "Business Corporation Law," by adding to Article III, Section three hundred two thereof a new subsection to be designated as (sixteen) empowering every business corporation to make contributions, out of its income in any taxable year, for public and charitable purposes, to an amount which does not exceed fifteen per centum (15%) of the net income of such business corporation for such taxable year, as returned by it to the Federal Government for income tax purposes.

Which was committed to the Committee on Corporations.

RESOLUTION RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR HOUSE BILL No. 289.

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows, considered and agreed to:

In the House of Representatives, May 2, 1945.

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That House Bill No. 289, Printer's No. 198, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four of the act, approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred thirteen (P. L. 138), entitled "Vocational Education Law," by adding clause (d) providing for future veterans and rehabilitation programs in public schools.

be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

NOMINATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations.

REGISTER OF WILLS AND EX-OFFICIO CLERK OF THE ORPHANS' COURT FAYETTE COUNTY

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, May 3, 1945.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Joseph G. Berry, 301 Catherine Avenue, Brownsville, Fayette County, for appointment as Register of Wills and ex-officio Clerk of the Orphans' Court in and for the County of Fayette, to serve until the first Monday of January, 1946, vice Bruce F. Sterling, deceased.

EDWARD MARTIN.

MEMBER OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF WERNERSVILLE STATE HOSPITAL

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I urge the passage of this bill. This is fine legislation because it makes working conditions for employes in this Commonwealth more livable.

However, Mr. President, I can not forget that in the Senate Committee on Education there is a bill which tried to do a similar thing for the school teachers of Pennsylvania. Unfortunately that bill is dead for this session, but I hope when the Senate convenes two years from now they will remember passage of this bill and do the same thing for their civil employes who man our public schools.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

Shall the bill pass finally?

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Mercer, Senator Thomas.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Mercer permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. THOMAS. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. Has the gentleman from Mercer read the amendments to this bill?

Mr. THOMAS. The amendments on page 6?

Mr. HOLLAND. Yes.

Mr. THOMAS. Yes, I have.

Mr. HOLLAND. What does the amendment do?

Mr. THOMAS. Ten year's experience; that is the gist of it.

Mr. HOLLAND. Is not the bill now so amended that engineers in private employment are exempt from this act?

Mr. THOMAS. I think that is right, yes sir.

Mr. HOLLAND. It will apply only to people in public office, is that right?

Mr. THOMAS. Mr. President, there are two bills that are supposed to help the engineering profession and this is one. There is another one which was introduced by the gentleman from Lebanon, Senator Becker. Mr. Becker's bill passed yesterday. This bill was introduced as a result of recommendations of the State Board of Professional Engineers.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I now desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOMSHER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HOLLAND. Is this the bill which was amended so that private employment was exempted from coming under the restrictions of the bill.

Mr. HOMSHER. To what page does the gentleman from Allegheny refer?

Mr. HOLLAND. There were amendments to either this bill or the bill introduced by the gentleman from Lebanon, Senator Becker, which would exempt private employment.

Mr. HOMSHER. This bill was amended. I will have to look at the amendments.

Mr. HOLLAND. Amendments which would take private employment out of the provisions of the bill; were those amendments put into this bill?

Mr. HOMSHER. Yes, that is in the bill.

Mr. HOLLAND. It is in this bill?

Mr. HOMSHER. Yes. I will tell you why if you care to know.

Mr. HOLLAND. I am going to vote for this bill, Mr. President, but I do not think it is fair to exempt private employment from the provisions of the bill. After all, the greater part of these engineers are working in private employment. I understand that the Manufacturers Association insisted that these amendments be put in the bill. However, I think it is a step in the right direction. I am going to vote for this bill, but I do object to the Manufcaturers Association dictating how legislation shall be passed.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I would like to explain why that provision has been put in this bill. Some of our industrial plants require a very special kind of engineering. Under the provisions of this bill, when it becomes effective, engineers from other states would not be able to come into Pennsylvania and work for more than a period of thirty days at a time, unless they have Pennsylvania licenses, even if they do have professional engineering licenses from some other state. A number of industrial plants claim that they must get men with this special training from wherever they can get them, for periods longer than thirty days, and thus enable these plants to employ special engineers for so long as they may need them, from wherever they can get them.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 665, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend paragraphs (a) and (d) of section five hundred five of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 343) entitled "An act relating to the finances of the State government providing for the settlement assessment collection and lien of taxes bonus and all other accounts due the Commonwealth the collection and recovery of fees and other money or property due or belonging to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof including escheated property and the proceeds of its sale the custody and disbursement or other disposition of funds and securities belonging to or in the possession of the Commonwealth and the settlement of claims against the Commonwealth the resettlement of accounts and appeals to the courts refunds of moneys erroneously paid to the Commonwealth auditing the accounts of the Commonwealth and all agencies thereof of all public officers collecting moneys payable to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof and all receipts of appropriations from the Commonwealth and imposing penalties affecting every department board commission and officers of the State government every political subdivision of the State and certain officers of such subdivisions every person association and corporation required to pay assess or collect taxes or to make returns or reports under the laws imposing taxes for State purposes or to pay license fees or other moneys to the Commonwealth or any agency thereof every State depository and every debtor or creditor of the Commonwealth" by further regulating the designation of State depositories and limiting the deposit of State moneys therein be recommitted to the Committee on Banking, for the purpose of further study.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if I were sure this bill were being recommitted for the purpose of further study I would have to agree. I might say to the members of the Senate that this bill was introduced in order to try to solve the matter of depositories for state moneys, as there is an enormous amount of money in the state treasury and no depositories to take it; that is the only reason the bill was introduced, at the suggestion of the state treasurer.

However, Mr. President, if the caucus has decided the bill shall be buried, I suggest that it go to the same committee as Senate Bill 650, so they can peacefully rest side by side.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I might say to the sponsor of the bill—he will be surprised—but the attitude of the Republican Caucus is that we believe in a sharing of wealth.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 696, on third reading, entitled:

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WAGNER offered the following amendments which were read for the information of the Senate:

Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 8, lines 13 and 14, by striking out the words "one hundred twenty dollars ($120), minimum number of increments ten (10)", and inserting in lieu thereof: one hundred dollars ($100), minimum number of increments thirteen (13); Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 9, line 8, by striking out the word and figure "eight (8)", and inserting in lieu thereof: nine (9); Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 9, lines 11 and 12, by striking out the word and figure "eight (8)", and inserting in lieu thereof: nine (9); Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 9, line 25, by striking out the word and figure "six (6)", and inserting in lieu thereof: seven (7); Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 10, line 8, by inserting after the figure "(4)": principals having twenty-five (25) or more teachers under their supervision and who devote one-half or more of their time to supervision and administration, minimum annual salary two thousand four hundred dollars ($2,400), minimum annual increment one hundred dollars ($100), minimum number of increments four (4); Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 10, line 9, by striking out the word "twenty-fixe", and inserting in lieu thereof: twenty-five; Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 10, line 25, by inserting after the word "employes": and temporary professional employes; Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 11, line 5, by striking out the word "increment", and inserting in lieu thereof: increments; Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 11, line 26, by inserting after the word "schools": and evening vocational classes; Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 12, by inserting between lines 2 and 3: 9. The PRESIDENT. The amendments offered by the gentleman from Schuylkill have been read. What is the pleasure of the Senate?

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I do not suppose, after hearing these amendments read, that anybody would ask that they be explained, but I am wondering whether it might be desired by the Senate that I summarize just what is accomplished by this bill as it is now amended.

Do I have permission to do that, Mr. President?

Mr. COX. Do I understand, Mr. President, after the gentleman from Schuylkill has summarized these amendments, that we may debate the amendments?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. WAGNER. I will say to begin with, Mr. President, that this bill has been delayed for quite awhile largely because of the fact that everybody was so terribly concerned about doing the best possible job for our boys and girls of Pennsylvania, without imposing any additional taxes in order to accomplish that purpose.

I might further say that the first occasion for delay was due to the fact that House Bill 568 called for a five mill local tax on true valuation, something that would have disturbed and annoyed and upset the tax structure and taxing procedure in a vast majority of the school districts in the Commonwealth.

The sponsors of this bill, who are probably as diligent in their interest in the public schools as any men who ever sat in the House of Representatives, sat down with some of us members of the Senate committee, and with representatives of the Department of Public Instruction, and tried to adjust the bill so that assessed valuation could be substituted for true valuation. I doubt whether there is a gentleman in this Senate who will not find himself immeasurably relieved in his position back home by virtue of that change being made.

When we had made that change we found it would have cost a great deal more money to carry out the provisions of House Bill 568, if it were on assessed valuation, and so we proceeded to change other things in the bill to bring the cost within our limitations, without more taxes.

Since then there have been continued efforts, in consultation with everybody concerned, to find a solution, and through those means it was possible to get the bill in the shape it is in today. I am rather proud to say that as of today there is great satisfaction with this bill in its present state, on the part of the Governor of the Commonwealth, on the part of superintendents of public instruction, on the part of Mr. Sollenberger, Chairman of the Committee on Education in the House, Mr. Hare, Vice-Chairman of the House Committee on Education, and Mr. Lee, of Philadelphia, who are co-sponsors of the bill.

Let me first talk about something—I am completely amazed at how little attention has been paid to it. Our mail has constantly called attention to what salaries the teachers would like to have; our newspapers have been continuually urging passage of a teachers' salary bill, and I say to you gentlemen, while all of us have been concerned for a number of years about remuneration of teachers, this might more properly be called a children's rather than a teachers' bill, because its first and primary concern is to provide something better in educational facilities for your children and my children, and the additional increase in teachers' salaries, over and above the temproary cost of living increase of two years ago, which is now made permanent, is an incidental and pleasing part of the bill, rather than its main purpose.

In this bill we have placed all classes of school districts on an equal footing as regards determination of state school subsidies.

Every school district in the Commonwealth is enabled to furnish at least $1,800 worth of education per teaching unit, expressed in terms of average daily membership, at a local tax rate not exceeding five mills.

Beginning in 1947, every school district in this Commonwealth will be enabled to furnish at least $2,000 worth of education at a local tax rate not exceeding five mills.

All state reimbursements are computed on the basis of assessed valuations of taxable property as determined for county purposes. I might elaborate on that, just in case somebody may have overlooked it, as thousands of correspondents have in their mail to me about this bill.

When we talk about assessed valuation and true valuation, if we put true valuation in here we could only go by the figures of the State Council of Education, which is authorized to accept or reject local school district figures concerning their true value property assessment.

I am thinking of two communities in my school district, one beginning where the other one ends. The first district is certified here in Harrisburg as a 75 per cent district—I do not know who would stand responsible for its being correct—but it is certified as being 75 per cent. The contiguous district is certified—and the Council of Education for some reason or other has accepted their figures—as being a hundred per cent district, and there is practically no difference in relation of assessed valuation to true valuation in either instance.

If this bill would have been passed as the House passed it—and the sponsors now appreciate that just as thoroughly as I do—condition number one would have been to immediately up their tax assessment 25 per cent before they take their five mill tax back home, whereas their district, in the records of the Council of Education, would only have paid five mills on the current assessment.

Under the terms of House Bill No. 568, the Commonwealth makes the same percentage contribution toward the payment of:

(1) Current expenses per teaching unit;
(2) Reimbursable pupil transportation;
(3) High school tuition;
(4) Extension education;
(5) Education of home bound children;
(6) Hundred per cent of cost of vocational evening classes.

In addition the bill provides for a supplemental Commonwealth payment to the school district of $35 for vocational agricultural and industrial education.

What is the effect upon the state appropriation? The state appropriation provided to finance the bill, for the biennium in which it is first operative, is somewhere between $31,000,000 and $32,000,000 in excess of the comparable appropriation, including the temporary cost of living increase, for the biennium 1943-1945.

We are proposing to make the $27,000,000 cost of living payment to the teachers that is currently in effect, and which will be in this school year a permanent part of their reimbursement, and we are adding an additional $31,000,000 to $32,000,000, not to mention some $4,800,000 which is called for in the health program which you gentlemen passed recently, and which is a very commendable way to insure the health of our school children of Pennsylvania.

I reserve the right to be off a matter of a few thousand dollars, because some of us have been working on this since ten o'clock this morning, and you well know this Legislature could not have gotten it much before five o'clock yesterday, and we are just about fagged out.

It will cost $127,000,000 for school subsidies in the next biennium; it will cost just a little short of $10,000,000 in the case of transportation; there will be a matter of approximately $5,000,000 for health reimbursements, on account of health examinations; and whatever we appropriate, which is usually $2,000,000, for distressed school districts.

For the biennium 1947-1949, the financing of the bill will call for a net addition of another and additional $16,000,000 by the terms of this bill.

We talk about salaries, because that is a part of this bill. The bill increases the mandated minimum salaries of fourth class district elementary teachers $700 above the currently mandated salaries, plus the temporary cost of living increase. Your mandated salaries at present have a top of $1,400, for fourth class districts, and this will bring the top mandate up to $2,100 in fourth class elementary schools.

In the case of fourth class district high school teachers the increase is $600 per year. Third class district elementary teachers receive an increase of $500. Third class district high school teachers receive an increase of $300.

As regards teachers in first and second class districts, the new salary schedule makes permanent the temporary cost of living increase granted at the session of 1943. $100 increment is provided additional for elementary teachers and high school teachers of the second class, and an additional increment over and above all currently in effect for elementary teachers of first class districts.

The above increases—and I wish this could be put in italics—for the first time in the history of Pennsylvania establish a single salary schedule for the 43,000 teachers employed by third and fourth class districts.

Inasmuch as all state reimbursements are based upon assessed valuations of taxable real estate as determined for county tax purposes, the gross manipulation of assessed market value ratios, which in the past has produced inequalities in the distribution of state subsidies, will be removed. You gentlemen, some on this side and some on the other side of the Senate, who have sat for more than a year in meetings of the State School Commission, know I am speaking truthfully when I say that the gross misrepresentation of assessed valuations is a disturbing and threatening thing to the democratic school system of the state of Pennsylvania.

This bill eliminates the financial penalties which present statutes impose upon the consolidation of school districts and the establishment of joint high schools. Hence, it is probable that larger attendance areas, which are typically productive of more diversified educational programs at lower per pupil cost, will certainly be established.

House Bill 568 tends to strengthen the financial position of the school districts and will go a very long way toward the elimination of so-called distressed school districts, which have received special aid heretofore, continually, in good times as well as bad, from the emergency fund.

No provision has been included in these amendments whereby any school district will suffer in reimbursements. People have come in from all parts of the state claiming that in their particular districts, with their particular valuations, under these Senate amendments they would get less than they would get under the old system, and to protect them and insure them we have made provision that they shall not get less than is now being provided. We go further than that. We make provision that teachers in third and fourth class districts shall not get less than they are receiving in the current subsidy, plus $100 special appropriation per teacher that they will get in the first year after the enactment of this bill. No district gets less, and no teacher may get less reimbursement than has been provided by the Edmonds scale and the cost of living increase.

I believe that gives an honest presentation of our approach to a problem which, regardless of politics and regardless of what else we might disagree upon, we are all vitally concerned about and vitally concerned in.

I do not think any man in this Senate would hesitate a minute to give just as much money as he properly could to provide for his children, and other people's children, for those who much carry on in future years; the next generation for which we are preparing. We know we all are interested in creating that good result from enactment of this legislation.

No politics have been involved in it. Some ideas which have been developed came from the school commission, which was non-partisan and made up of Democratic and Republican Senators and Representatives and appointees of the Governor.

This is not a personal issue with me. I say to you frankly, if I could have ever imagined the number of headaches and the obstacles and the problems that had to be faced by the limited number of us who threw ourselves into this effort, I would have preferred to sit back and let somebody else worry about it, if I had felt disposed to pass the buck, but it is here, we think it is a good job, and we invite everybody here to endorse it.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, the first speech I ever made on the floor of this Senate was in defense of the public school system of Pennsylvania, in an attempt to raise salaries of teachers of this Commonwealth. This may be the last time that I ever will have the opportunity to speak on the floor of this Senate, and I again raise my voice in behalf of the public school system in Pennsylvania.

I agree with the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Wagner, in this respect, that we all want for all the boys and girls in Pennsylvania the best education we can possibly get, whether that boy comes from a cabin in the mountains or the wealthiest residential district in the Commonwealth.

When I leave this Senate there will be many things that I can remember, some pleasant, some unpleasant. There are many characteristics of the members of this Senate that I will recall. When I recall the name of Charles Mallery, I am always going to associate with him the best speech he ever made on the floor of this Senate. That speech was made this week. When he felt that a constructive piece of legislation, which did not deal with material things but dealt with the protection of underprivileged children, might be defeated on the floor of this Senate, he turned to those beautiful murals on the walls of this Senate and he pointed out the figures of those two children and called our attention to the purity of their countenances. I will never forget that speech made by Charley Mallery. Gentlemen, important as was the bill on which he was talking, this bill transcends in importance any other legislation that ever hit the floor of this Legislature. The thing we do tonight, whether it is good or bad, is going to determine what happens in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania many years in the future.

The war in Europe is fast coming to a conclusion. That war never could have happened if people had been properly educated, if people had had the proper philosophy of life, if people accepted the idea that we ought to provide for all the people the greatest amount of happiness that we can give them.

When we build a great educational system in Pennsylvania, a great public school system, we do more to protect our democratic form of government from the invasion of ideologies, Fascism, Bolshevism, or any other "ism," than we could do with all the armies we could ever arm. That is why tonight, gentlemen, this bill is of such vital importance to this Commonwealth. The boys and girls we educate in the public schools of Pennsylvania are the boys and girls who are going to build the airplanes, the great buildings, the bridges, the structures which engineering creates, and the quality of the things they build is going to be determined by the quality of the education they get in the public school system of Pennsylvania, and the quality of the labor supply for our industries is determined by the quality of our public school system.

Gentlemen, when I see a piece of legislation it is not a thing about which we fight or quarrel today, a thing about which we make a political issue, but I see into the future and what it can be.

Last year a crisis faced this Commonwealth. The Governor of this Commonwealth did an unprecedented thing. He called to Harrisburg the leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties. Although I am not a leader of the Democratic Party in this Commonwealth, I had the honor and the good fortune to sit in those conferences, and we sat around a table and we threw on the table our collective ideas, and there was never a question of political gain in any meeting we ever had, and as a result of that democratic cooperation, Pennsylvania passed the finest soldier voting bills we have ever had in America; this Legislature came here and in a special session of five days, the very minimum, passed the legislation and went home and every bill passed without a dissenting vote.

In 1943 I introduced a bill to set up an educational commission, or rather in 1941 and 1943 a commission was set up, not because of my bill—because I was a member of the Minority Party—but because of a bill which came over from the House, and I was very pleased that the Senate of Pennsylvania realized that the time had come in its history to reform the public school system of Pennsylvania, because reformation was badly needed. As a result of that commission study there were pointed out to us serious defects in our public school system. Up until this last week I had hoped that we could set up in Pennsylvania, as we can set up, the finest system of public school education in this country.

We live in a democracy. In Pennsylvania we have two great parties, the Republican Party and the Democratic Party. When this problem of public school education was so important, why could not the Republican administration, in this session of the Legislature, have invited the Democratic leaders to Harrisburg to sit around a round table, together with Republican leaders, and by interchange of collective thinking give Pennsylvania a great public school system?

Gentlemen, the opposite thing happened: The Governor of this Commonwealth in the very beginning said, "I am going to give you a certain amount of money; that is your cloth; you make your coat to fit the cloth. It does not make any difference whether you feel there is enough cloth to make a coat for the size boy you have to clothe; this is the cloth you take." That is why tonight, in the dying hours of this session, we are confronted by the problem of voting on nine pages of amendments, involving the most important thing we have ever faced in this Legislature, and we do not know what they are.

The Senator from Schuylkill presented his case in a fine manner. I listened attentively and learned much from what he said. There is no question there are in this bill many amendments we need in our public school system, but there are other things that perhaps should be there that are not there, because we have not had an opportunity to sit down and study the system and put them there.

This bill involves two fundamental things. The first is the manner of distributing state subsidies to the local districts. According to the remarks of the gentleman from Schuylkill, Utopia has at last arrived in Pennsylvania, and yet, in the fifteen or twenty minutes which I have had had to try to understand something about this bill, there was handed to me from an authoritative source—by a representative of the public school system of Pittsburgh—this statement, "The school board needs $915,000 to cover costs of the present set-up under Senate Bill 568 as reported to the floor, plus additional increases guaranteed by new amendments; this bill would give approximately $600,000; shortage is therefore $315,000.

I ask the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Wagner, is he proud that he has solved the financial program of the school system of Pennsylvania, when tonight you are going to pass a bill which leaves them with a deficiency of $315,000?

There is one thing you gentlemen should be conversant with, and that is this: The people of Pennsylvania today want a good school system. You know that from the tone of the letters you have received. I have here just a few letters, selected to try to get a cross-sampling of what the people of Pennsylvania have to say.

Here is a letter from a housewife, not a school teacher who has a financial interest:

"As a housewife with two children in school I am most concerned about the predicament of the teachers of our state. At a mother's meeting the other day I found the condition to be much worse that I had thought. Many of us mothers were told that people believed the average teaching salary to be between $3,000 and $5,000. We know now that they do not earn half this much, on average."

Here is a short letter from the Sharpsburg Chamber of Commerce, reading as follows: "Members of the Sharpsburg Chamber of Commerce urge your support of House Bill 568 in its original form."

Here is a letter from the Lions Club of Mount Lebanon, urging that this Legislature pass House Bill 568 in its original form.

Here is another letter from the Chairman of the Americanization Committee of the American Auxiliary of Montour Valley.

Here is a letter from the school district of Clairton, located in Allegheny county.

This letter, when I received it, gripped me because this is a letter from a girl I taught in school:

"I am in favor of House Bill 568. In my opinion nursery school or kindergarten is a progressive step. It is a forward step, so why go into reverse in education of young children of a very impressionable age. I feel that it is a child's first step into wider horizons where they receive guidance in their thoughts and in group activities. This guidance forms a sound foundation for later school years. Personally, I found kindergarten a wonderful step in the case of my own twins, who, although backward and shy, blossomed forth into 'one of the gang'."

For thirteen years I was a school teacher, the greatest thirteen years of my life, because I dealt with people who were plastic, who were idealistic, who had energy, who wanted to go out and make the world a better world, a cleaner world, and it is grand to have a letter from a girl I taught. I did not read to you the entire letter, because she said some personal things, which of course, I appreciate very much.

Here is a letter from the Parent-Teacher Association from Brentwood, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen, those are just a few of the expressions that are voiced by the people of Pennsylvania. I am satisfied, after what has happened in this session of the Legislature, that this well articulated voice is going to be more compelling, it is going to be louder, and when you gentlemen come back in 1947 you are going to be in a position where you are going to do something more about the public school system than you are doing tonight.

Another element in this bill which is extremely important is the question of teachers' salaries. I have here a press release by the Governor of Pennsylvania in which he deals with these astronomical amounts—astronomical to me because I can not count in millions of dollars—and he brags about the tremendous increase in money Pennsylvania today is pouring into public school education, as compared with what it was, for instance, during the Earle administration. The Governor of Pennsylvania compares Pennsylvania today economically with Pennsylvania during the Earle Administration. Why, the whole situation is ridiculous and ludicrous. Think of the problem the Earle administration faced, the problem of unemployment to break its darkest depression, when this Legislature was called into special session after special session to try to keep the people alive. How can anybody take credit tonight and brag because they are giving the Commonwealth and teachers far more for education than was given to them during the Earle administration.

If we had a week I would like to take the Earle administration and compare it with the administration of Governor Martin, as has been indicated by his entire legislative program. I could talk about the destruction of rural electrification, and many of these things that are so important to the common people of Pennsylvania.

When the gentlemen from Schuylkill talked about salaries he mentioned the amount of increase. Gentlemen, these figures, I hope, are authentic, and if they are not, Senator Wagner, please correct me, as I had to catch them out of the air.

In a fourth class district the maximum mandated salary by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for high school teachers is $2,100 a year. That means, gentleman, that if a teacher teaches for thirty years, under your mandated salary schedule he is still going to make $2,100 a year.

A school teacher is not a laborer; a school teacher is a person that, under the requirements of our Department of Public Instruction, has considerable education; he has at least an eighth grade education, plus a high school education, plus four years in college, and we are saying to him, "the best we can pay in Pennsylvania to keep you in our school system is $2,100 a year." I look at that $2,100 in these times, for that man's family, his wife, his one, two or three children, and then I say to myself, "What can I buy for $2,100, and if I have the qualifications to come into the public school system and teach, how long am I going to be able to keep them?"

You are getting the answer to that today. Your failure to approach this problem realistically in the last session of the Legislature has resulted in the absolute necessity of thousands of these people having to get out of the profession they love and for which they are greatly qualified.

Yesterday I heard of one little county very close to Harrisburg. They have nineteen teachers. Next year they will have to replace sixteen teachers—sixteen teachers out of nineteen. That ratio, of course, is very high, perhaps much higher than is happening in other districts throughout the state, but you can not find one school district in Pennsylvania today, whether it is a first-class district, which pays the highest, down to the fourth-class district which pays the lowest, that is not going to have the problem of getting competent teachers. Understand this, gentlemen, it takes a long time to make a good teacher. We can train them in college and in our normal schools and bring them into our elementary schools and high schools, but it takes experience, and that experience is worth gold to us.

One of the things we set out to do, as recommended by the commission, was the equalization of salaries. It is true that under this bill there is an attempt at equalization. The maximum salary for elementary teachers for third and fourth class districts, and also for high school teachers in third and fourth class districts, is $2,100. That is equalization of salaries for elementary and high school teachers in third and fourth class districts? I would like to compare some of these figures, and I will ask you if that is equalization.

An elementary teacher in a first class district makes $2,700. An elementary teacher in a third or fourth class district makes $2,100; a differential of $600; I ask you if that is equalization. A high school teacher in a first class district makes $3,400, and a high school teacher in a third or fourth class district makes $2,100, a differential of $1,300; I ask you again, is that equalization?

So many of these things we could have done we have not done. I could talk all night on the subject, but I am not going to, because I know that tonight there is nothing that you gentlemen can do about it. It is your bill, they are your amendments; you are stuck with them. You do not know what is in them, outside of having been convinced by the ideas of the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Wagner. You have got them because your Governor said to you to play safe. I have heard it said he has told you "this is the most you can get for the public school system of Pennsylvania and you have got to cut your coat from the cloth." Now you have made the coat, gentlemen, and I am telling you once again that the boy has already outgrown the coat.

I am just about through. In this bill there are some good amendments. I had to pull them out of the air, too. Several days ago I took to the Chairman of the Committee on Education of the Senate amendments which had been given to me by the Pennsylvania State Education Association, and told him we proposed to submit these amendments. I did that because I wanted to be fair; I wanted to keep this whole matter out of politics. I felt that we could sit down, using our common ideas and our intelligence, and work something out. I have always had before me, in my entire fight for education, the goal I told you about when I started. And yet there was handed to me tonight, not by a member of the Republican Party, not by Senator Homsher, not by Senator Heyburn, but by a member of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, these amendments, and as far as I know, there is not any other member on this side of the Senate who has ever seen the amendments; outside of myself no one has.

So, gentlemen, we do not understand your amendments, other than that, i nthe little time we have had, we have been able to work out a salary schedule, and we say to you that you can not buy the kind of teachers you need to teach in your public schools for the picayune money you are willing to pay them. I have heard men on the floor of this Senate say that a teacher does not teach entirely for money; if a teacher does, he is not a good teacher. I agree with that proposition partially. I admit there is a satisfaction and a pleasure that you can get from teaching school that you can never get from any other business or profession in the world. I have a tremendous admiration for the school teachers of Pennsylvania. They have gone along year after year, self-sacrificing, but I will say this to them, in the future they have got to be more articulate if they want to get anything out of the Legislature of Pennsylvania. You can not be mouse-like if you want to get anything here.

Yesterday, School Teachers of Pennsylvania, there was passed a sick-leave bill giving sick-leave to employes of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and yet, School Teachers of Pennsylvania, your sick-leave bill died in committee.

I hope that the school teachers who are here will go home and tell the other school teachers that John Cox said one thing, if you want something, you have got to educate the members o fthe Legislature as to the necessity of what you want, you have got to persuade them that this business of education is extremely important; that it is more important than all the time they might spend on big truck legislation and legislation of that type; and I know that the members of this Legislature are going to respond.

This to me is a tragic circumstance. I had hoped, when I made my last speech on the floor of this Senate, that my heart would be filled with happiness, that I could feel perhaps my presence in this Senate for five or ten years—whatever it might be I was here—might in some way have given something substantial to Pennsylvania. When I came here I was as naive politically as anyone who ever came here. I came here with great enthusiasm and the feeling we would take some of these problems which to me must be solved, sit down, because of our common interests and common desire to solve them, and we could do something about them. But I will tell you that in the five sessions I have sat through I have become bitterly disillusioned, because I have found so many times that the material things which are on the Calendar in this Legislature, particularly this Senate, are far more important than the idealistic things. That is why, as I told you in the beginning, when I think of Charles Mallery I am going to think of that mural; the innocent faces of those children, to which he pointed, will be engraved in my heart as long as I live.

Mr. JONES. Mr. President, I have listened to the amendments as prepared and explained by the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Wagner. I think these amendments write a new bill. This new bill in many respects is a liberal bill. It is a bill that cannot be criticized particularly because it accomplishes things for the school teachers.

However, I liked the provisions of House Bill 568 as it came from the House. I think that bill was an ideal bill. In fact, that bill is a dream bill. It sets up machinery to work out the appropriations for the teachers and for the interests of the taxpayers of the school districts in a logical manner and the factors used, when equalized, are all appropriate factors for determining the amount and character of the appropriation by the state to the various school districts.

I believe that the Governor of Pennsylvania was interested in this bill as it came from the House. I believe that because the men who sponsord the bill in the House are all Republicans; they are administration Republicans. The bill was drawn by the best educational thinkers, the best thinkers in education, and I do not think it should have been changed in a single paragraph. I believe it should have been accepted by the Senate and adopted and worked out in a reasonable and proper manner, to provide for the salaries of the school teachers of Pennsylvania.

When the Governor talked about the teachers' bill he issued a newspaper release dated April 30 and in that release he said "I have always advocated that our teachers should be paid a single minimum standard so that the children in the rural districts and small towns might have the benefit of instruction from teachers as well qualified as those of our large cities."

Because they are not paid a single minimum standard in the rural districts and small towns, they can not, as a result of these changes, through amendments, obtain teachers as well qualified as those in the large cities, because their teachers can not be paid as well, and for that reason I would have preferred to vote for the House bill rather than the Senate amendments.

I mean to say that this bill in the House was devoted to two principal ideas. One was to increase salaries of the teachers and the other was to reduce the burden on real estate in the various school districts.

Salaries of teachers were increased by increasing the minimum and the maximum contribution, and taxes in the school districts were to be reduced, because the school districts were only asked to levy a millage of five mills. Under the House bill the amount above that almost entirely would come from state appropriations and thereby the school districts, through their taxing powers, could reduce the tax rate and the millage within the respective districts and give that relief to the taxpayers which is so important and so necessary.

I have heard Senator Cox speak of teachers as welfare workers. They have developed a skill in their profession, after long years of study and much experience and training. First they have gone through high school, then into preparatory college, and they have prepared themselves in their profession, an important profession, a very important profession.

Senator Cox referred to that picture and he pointed out how our teachers give our children that sense of protection and well being that is so important to children, particularly in the elementary grades. So it is with teachers, particularly in those groups that function in the place of a mother, they care for those children just as a mother, they watch them while at play at recess time, and they are interested in their welfare. They have a very important job to perform with our children, Mr. President, because they train the minds of those children and they mold those minds and they make of those boys and girls our future citizens, the men and women who will function in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the future.

I say there is no one who works upon a subject matter as important and as delicate as the mind of a child, and so it is that this important profession ought to receive greater emoluments for the services they render. This House bill provided a considerable advance in their present salary and would improve their living conditions, and their welfare would be upon a more substantial basis and they could function, as a result of the receipt of the money provided in the House bill, in accordance with their training and their profession. Today many of these school teachers are receiving less for their valuable services than defense workers in the plants of our country, and so I say, by that comparison, they should receive the best the state of Pennsylvania can give them.

There is another matter which this House bill vitally affects and that is the taxes upon the taxpayer, because if those taxes can be reduced the taxpayer is relieved and the distress now occasioned by the high school tax, which is greater than the combined taxes of all others in many municipalities in the state of Pennsylvania, would be to a great extent relieved. That is an accomplishment much to be desired and was well on its way in this House bill.

I say to you I believe the House bill works out an equal and an equitable appropriation to third and fourth class districts. In third and fourth class districts there is what we call the teacher's pupil unit. Each teacher pupil unit shall contain thirty pupils to each teacher, whereas in the secondary schools each teacher shall be given twenty-five pupils, and of course that works an inequality. There is no justification for the application of a different measure to secondary school teachers than to those in the elementary grades. I say it should be uniform, twenty-five per teacher, in determining the amount of the appropriation to first class districts, to second class districts, to third and fourth class districts, and the elementary and high school divisions of the schools of government. That would work out more equitably and that would provide for third and fourth class district teachers an increase in salary.

The bill by a rider does provide that they shall not receive less than $100 per annum. It was found necessary to put in that provision as a rider because in many districts in Pennsylvania they would not receive it under the Senate amendments.

And so I say to you when that House bill was changed it did two things. It cut out, particularly in the elementary schools, the additional increase in teacher salaries that they would have otherwise received, and it eliminated relief to the taxpayer which would have reduced the burden to the taxpayer.

In Luzerne county, from whence I come, through tax sales every year thousands of properties are being sold because the taxpayer can not meet this burden of the school tax and their properties are sold for taxes. That burden could be much relieved.

The argument has been advanced, as to why this reduction should be made, that the appropriation would be too high, but in my honest judgment, Mr. President, I do not believe the appropriation was too high or that it could not be met by this government.

The difference between the House bill and the Senate bill is approximately $10,000,000, and yet there will be spent this biennium $660,000,000 or better, and there was spent during the last biennium $460,000,000. We are spending, under a House bill that we adopted this very night, without a peep from anybody as to cost, but as a bill of the government to pay, House Bill 67, Printers No. 631, appearing on page 10 of tonight's calendar. I have that bill in my hand, and it provides for an appropriation of $12,000,000 for the purpose of dredging the Schuylkill River. They will dredge only a portion of that river this year and next year another large appropriation shall be made. Just yesterday we voted for the taking over of toll bridges, in which we appropriated some $7,000,000. If either of those appropriations were applied to this school teacher arrangement we could tonight vote for the House bill and give the school teachers of Pennsylvania their dream bill, but unfortunately it was felt that to dredge the silt from the Schuylkill River, at a cost of $12,000,000, was more important than to sustain that House bill.

I can not agree with that philosophy of government and so I am here tonight stating my reasons why I can not support the Republican Senate in their composite judgment, and why I think the school teachers of Pennsylvania are entitled to the relief which they ask by the House bill.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I think this Senate owes a debt of gratitude to Senators Wagner and Homsher for their splendid work and the diligence with which they did their work. I think all of the Senators should vote for the amendments which they have offered.

One of the unfortunate things we find is that sometimes people are inclined to stir up trouble and dissension and dissatisfaction, instead of trying to smooth things over.

I found, upon coming into the Senate Chamber tonight, that the provisions of the amendments as finally drawn by Senators Homsher and Wagner, with the assistance of members from the House, met with general approval of the representatives of the teachers who were in this Senate. As a matter of fact, I think I can honestly say that those amendments, at least from the reaction which I received, met with the almost unanimous approval of those representatives.

I think the teachers realize that these amendments are not what they would have liked and hoped for, and I think I can say that goes for practically every Senator in this chamber tonight. I think every one of us would like to improve educational facilities and educational conditions in Pennsylvania. However, we must face the facts. We have been having cited to us the fact that Pennsylvania stands fifteenth or sixteenth in the list of states, but when we consider that, we must also consider the fact that in almost every state which stands ahead of Pennsylvania, that state has either a sales tax or a state income tax, and many of the states have both. Pennsylvania has neither.

If some of those Senators who are so interested—and I think sincerely interested in bettering our educational system, would give some thought to the proposition as to from where we can receive the money, and would introduce a bill to provide that revenue, I feel certain that a program much better than the one which is being passed here could be passed in both Houses of the Legislature.

One thing we have got to think about, if we are going to improve any further, is the type of tax we are going to impose for educational purposes. A study of the statistics will show that we can not put any greater load on business in this state, because statistics show that Pennsylvania industry now pays 29 point odd per cent of the total revenue in the state and the nearest state in the country, which is Massachusetts, pays 25 and some fraction. New York pays 20.

Of course, if we sell Pennsylvania products only within the boundaries of Pennsylvania, that need be no concern of ours, but, in order to have for Pennsylvania's industries a fair supply of employment, we must be able to sell our products not only throughout the country but throughout the world, and that means in a competitive sphere. We all appreciate, too, that after this war competition is going to be keen, so keen, as a matter of fact, that the differential which now exists in the tax situation, in so far as Pennsylvania industry is concerned, might be such as to put Pennsylvania industries at such a disadvantage that they will not be able to prosper.

It is easy to stand here and suggest to the teachers that they become a louder speaking group; that they become, in plain words, a greater pressure group. No, the teachers do not want to become that, and I do not know why it is suggested by any one that they become that. That is not the right way to solve this problem. Intelligent study is the right way to solve it, not only from the standpoint of the classifications in the bill, but also from the standpoint of from where to get the revenue. I happen to be one of those persons who has never been able to see the justification for any differential in so far as first, second, third or fourth class districts are concerned.

However, I had some amendments prepared to offer to House Bill 568, as amended. One set of amendments would have put this bill in the form in which it came from the House; the other set of amendments would have made a change in the classification in districts. I was amazed and astounded, when I got the figures, as to what a change in classification would do; it was absolutely just impossible under present circumstances.

Instead of saying to these teachers' representatives who are here tonight: "Be dissatisfied, go back to your districts and start talking and spread dissatisfaction," I would like to say to them "I admire you for your good sportsmanship; I admire you for your reaction when you were faced with these amendments which are now being offered to the bill; we all want to help you, we need your help; we ask your help, too; we ask your assistance in solving this problem, both from the salary classification and also the revenue classification, and if we work together, instead of against each other, this problem will be solved and Pennsylvania will take its proper place."

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I absolutely marvel at the attention and the interest that is manifested by this body at this hour of the morning. I am not going to make another speech but I merely want to say that nobody has controverted anything that we have presented. I am not going to start a debate because I do not believe I will be able to get on my feet once more tonight.

However, I would like to say to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, who has declared his intention of carrying the ball for the teachers, that is okay with me, the schools of Pennsylvania need every friend they can get, Senator Cox, and more power to you. He proclaims himself as a champion of the teachers, and I accept that.

I do want to say I have worked like a horse, with some of these other fellows, to get through for the school teachers an increase of $27,000,000 in two years. We worked that out with Senator Homsher, who is pretty nearly worn out at this moment from this job.

I also want to say that in my opinion the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, made a magnificent summation of the situation, for which I think everybody who has an interest in the schools should be thankful.

In conclusion I suggest that we do not prolong this thing any further and get down to a vote on the matter.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I do not intend to continue this controversy. I have prepared several amendments, which, if I have the opportunity, I will present on behalf of the eighteen members of the Demrocratic Party who are members of the Senate.

I want to say one thing, however. Some weeks ago Senator Rosenfeld in a very poignant speech analyzed the financial status of this Commonwealth and the revenue to be received during this biennium; if those figures are correct—and I believe them to be true—we will have for use in this biennium $56,000,000 more than has been estimated by the Governor.

The position of our party on these amendments will be this: we are not satisfied with the mandated salary schedule which these amendments contain. We do not think it is enough. We felt that when the House, doing the courageous thing that it did, sent over to us a bill which they had agreed on unanimously, that that probably would be the most that this session of Legislature could give to the school teachers of Pennsylvania.

We are proud of what happened in the House, proud of what those people did and we certainly stand back of them. We also believe that there is no proper equalization of the revenues which are to be distributed to the various districts. We feel that the base of $600 is not sufficient.

For those two reasons I urge the members on the Democratic side of this Senate to vote against these amendments. I might say that there are many of the amendments which are probably good, but we have not had an opportunity to study them.

In order not to delay the business of the Senate, we do not insist that each amendment I propose to submit be read and then voted on, but we will permit you to read them in their entirety. Because of the reasons I have pointed out I request the members of the Senate on the Democratic side to vote against the acceptance of these amendments offered by Senator Wagner.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WAGNER offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 8, lines 13 and 14, by striking out the words "one hundred twenty dollars ($120), minimum number of increments ten (10)", and inserting in lieu thereof: one hundred dollars ($100), minimum number of increments thirteen (13); Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 9, line 8, by striking out the word and figure "eight (8)", and inserting in lieu thereof: nine (9); Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 9, lines 11 and 12, by striking out the word and figure "eight (8)", and inserting in lieu thereof: nine (9); Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 9, line 25, by striking out the word and figure "six (6)", and inserting in lieu thereof: seven (7); Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 10, line 8, by inserting after the figure "(4)": principals having twenty-five (25) or more teachers under their supervision and who devote one-half or more of their time to supervision and administration, minimum annual salary two thousand four hundred dollars ($2,400), minimum annual increment one hundred dollars ($100), minimum number of increments four (4); Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 10, line 9, by striking out the word "twenty-fixe", and inserting in lieu thereof: twenty five; Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 10, line 25, by inserting after the word "employes": and temporary professional employes; Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 11, line 5, by striking out the word "increment", and inserting in lieu thereof: increments; Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 11, line 26, by inserting after the word "schools": and evening vocational classes; Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 12, by inserting between lines 2 and 3: 9. Teachers who are required, because of additional work, to devote more than the usual number of periods per day to their duties shall be entitled to a fair increase in compensation, to be determined by the board of public education or the board of school directors. Teachers who may be employed in giving instruction for only part of a day shall render such other service, for such period of time per day, as the board of public education or the board of school directors may direct, but if such service cannot be assigned to such teacher by the board of public education or the board of school directors, the salary paid to such teacher shall be proportioned to the number of hours of service rendered; Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 12, line 3, by striking out the figure "9", and inserting in lieu thereof: 10; Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 12, line 14, by striking out the figure "10", and inserting in lieu thereof: 11; Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 12, line 17, by striking out the figure "11", and inserting in lieu thereof 12; Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 12, line 21, by striking out the figure "12", and inserting in lieu thereof: 13; Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1209.1), page 12, line 28, by striking out the figure "13", and inserting in lieu thereof: 14; Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1209.1), page 13, line 14, by striking out the figure "14", and inserting in lieu thereof: 15.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. COX and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—30

Becker,	Ealy,	Mallery,	Troutman,
Berger,	Farrell,	Scarlett,	Tyler,
Blass,	Geltz,	Snowden,	Wade,
Bowers,	Heyburn,	Stevenson,	Wagner,
Carr,	Homsher,	Tallman,	Walker,
Chapman,	James,	Taylor,	Wilson,
Crider,	Kephart,	Thomas,	Woodward,
Crowe,	Letzler,

NAYS—19

Barr,	Gourley,	Klein,	Rosenfeld,
Coleman,	Haluska,	Leader,	Ruth,
Cox,	Holland,	Margie,	Stiefel,
Dent,	Jaspan,	McCreesh,	Woodring,
DiSilvestro,	Jones,	McGinnis,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WAGNER offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1241), page 18, line 24, by striking out the word and figure "twenty-five (25)", and inserting in lieu thereorf: twenty-two (22); Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1241), page 19, line 23, by inserting after the figures "1945-1946": and the school year 1946-1947; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1241), page 19, line 28, by striking out the figures "1946-1947", and inserting in lieu thereof: 1947-1948; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1241), page 20, line 19, by inserting after the figures "1945-1946": and the school year 1946-1947; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1241), page 20, lines 22 and 23, by striking out the words "the maximum mileage permitted by law for tax levies by the vocational school district", and inserting in lieu thereof: three-one thousandths (.003); Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1241), page 20, line 28 to page 21, line 2, inclusive, by striking out the words "the maximum millage permitted by law for tax levies by the vocational school district", and inserting in lieu thereof: three-one thousandths (.003); Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1241, page 21, line 7, by striking out the word and figure "twenty-five (25)", and inserting in lieu thereof: twenty-two (22); Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1241), page 21, lines 14 and 15, by striking out the words "number of teaching units", and inserting in lieu thereof: sum obtained unler (1) and (2) above; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1242), page 22, line 6, by striking out the word "enrolled", and inserting in lieu thereof: in average daily membership; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1242), page 22, line 9, by striking out the word "enrolled", and inserting in lieu thereof: in average daily membership;; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1242), page 22, line 16, by striking out the word "enrolled", and inserting in lieu thereof: in average daily membership Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1242), page 22, line 19, by striking out the word "enrolled", and inserting in lieu thereof: in average daily membership; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1244), page 23, line 20, by inserting after the word "the", sum of "overhead cost per high school pupil" and; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1244), page 24, line 4, by inserting after the word "school": multiplied by the number of pupils; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1245), page 24, lines 8 and 9, by striking out the words and figures "thirty dollars ($30) per district", and inserting in lieu thereof: thirty-five dollars ($35) in vocational agriculture and vocational industrial education, twenty dollars Every school district and every vocational school district, regardless of classification shall be paid by the Commonwealth for the school term 1945-1946 and for every school term thereafter on account of approved traveling expenses in the discharge of teaching and supervisory responsibilities of teachers, coordinators, supervisors and directors in vocational education, eighty per centum (80%) of the sum expended by the school district for such approved travel; Section 1247. Every school district and every vocational school district regardless of classification shall be paid by the Commonwealth for the school term 1945-1946 and for every school term thereafter on account of approved vocational extension classes at the rate of two dollars ($2) per hour of instruction approved by the Superintendent of Public Instruction; Section 1248. In the event that the Congress of the United States provides additional funds for vocational education, the State Board of Vocational Education shall have authority to establish rules and regulations governing the administration and distribution of such funds; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1246), page 24, line 12, by striking out the figure "1246)", and inserting in lieu thereof: 1249; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1246), page 24, line 15, by striking out the word "district"; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1246), page 24, lines 16 and 17, by striking out the words "physically or"; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1246), page 24, line 17, by inserting after the word "children": and the sum of thirty dollars ($30) per pupil in average daily membership in a course or courses for physically handicapped children; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1247), page 24, line 19, by striking out the figure "1247", and inserting in lieu thereof: 1250; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1248), page 24, line 27, by striking out the figure "1248", and inserting in lieu thereof: 1251; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1249), page 25, line 13, by striking out the figure "1249", and inserting in lieu thereof: 1252; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1249), page 25, line 19, by striking out the words "the total number of district", and inserting in lieu thereof: attendance data for all; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1250), page 25, line 26, by striking out the figure "1250", and inserting in lieu thereof: 1253; Amend Sec. 2, page 26, by inserting between lines 22 and 23: Section 1254. On or before the first day of July, one thousand nine hundred forty-five, and on or before the first day of July of every year thereafter, the board of revision of taxes of counties of the first class, the board of property assessment, appeals and review of counties of the second class, the board for the assessment and revision of taxes of counties of the third class, and the county commissioners of all other counties, shall file a certificate with the Superintendent of Public Instruction, in such form as he may prescribe, and on blanks to be furnished by him, showing the assessed valuation of all real property in each school district in the county, on which the taxes for the then current year are levied; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1251), page 26, line 23, by striking out the figure "1251", and inserting in lieu thereof: 1255; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1252), page 27, line 14, by striking out the figure "1252", and inserting in lieu thereof: 1256; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1253), page 27, line 24, by striking out the figure "1253", and inserting in lieu thereof 1257; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1254), page 28, line 8, by striking out the figure "1254", and inserting in lieu thereof 1258; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1255), page 28, line 21, by striking out the figure "1255", and inserting in lieu thereof: 1259; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1256), page 29, line 7, by striking out the figure "1256", and inserting in lieu thereof: 1260; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1257), page 31, line 4, by striking out the figure "1257", and inserting in lieu thereof: 1261; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1257), page 31, line 11, by striking out the word "reimbursable"; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1258), page 31, line 15, by striking out the figure "1258", and inserting in lieu thereof: 1262; Amend Sec. 2, (Sec. 1259), page 32, line 1, by striking out the figure "1259", and inserting in lieu thereof: 1263.

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh sections were read and agreed to.

The eighth section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WAGNER offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 8, page 42, line 29, by inserting after the word "State": section four of the act approved the eighteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred nineteen, (P. L. 498), entitled "An act defining consolidation of schools; providing for the establishment and regulation of consolidated schools; and providing for State aid for the transportation of pupils to and from consolidated schools,".

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The ninth section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. WAGNER offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 9, page 44, by inserting between lines 9 and 10: The amount of the payment to be made by the Commonwealth to any school district during the school year 1946-1947 on account of the instruction of pupils under the provisions of section one thousand two hundred forty-two as added to the act amended hereby shall not be less than the amount paid to the district during the school year 1945-1946 on account of the salaries of full time members of the teaching and supervisory staff of the district.

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The tenth and eleventh sections were read and agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Mr. WAGNER offered the following amendment:

Amend the title, page 2, third from last line of title, by inserting after the word "districts": imposing duties on certain county officers.

It was agreed to.

The title was agreed to as amended.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, may I make an explanation before I offer amendments?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. COX. The amendments I am about to submit for consideration of the Senate propose to raise the base from $600 to $800; we raise the salary schedule back to where it was in the bill as it came from the House; we have a common unit of twenty-five pupils per teacher; we established a common pupil teacher ratio for both high schools and elementary schools; we also include an amendment which fixes the valuation at the present assessed valuation.

Practically all the other amendments which were in the bill as amended by the Senate are included here.

We would have liked to introduce an amendment which would have put the bill back in the shape it was when it came from the House, but we felt that some of the Senate amendments were valuable and should be continued, and if our amendments were accepted and the bill got into a conference committee in the House, perhaps they would have to accept them, and for that reason we did not rip those amendments out in our amendments.

Mr. President, I offer the following amendments, and in order to save time, if it is the intention of the Majority Party to vote them down, it will not be necessary for them to be read.

These amendments are offered in behalf of my colleagues, Senators Woodring, Gourley and myself, and at the request of the eighteen Democratic members of the Senate.

Mr. COX on behalf of the Democratic Members of the Senate offered the following amendments:

Amend Section 1 (Section 1209.1) page 2, line 14, by striking out the bracket before the word "The"; Amend Section 1 (Section 1209.1) page 2, line 18, by striking out the bracket after the word "persons"; Amend Section 1 (Section 1209.1) page 3, line 1, by striking out the bracket before the word "are"; Amend Section 1 (Section 1209.1) page 3, line 29, by striking out the bracket after the word "dollars"; Amend Section 1 (Section 1209.1) page 4, line 1, by striking out the bracket before "($2,600)"; Amend Section 1 (Section 1209.1) page 4, line 29, by striking out the bracket after the word "than"; Amend Section 1 (Section 1209.1) page 5, line 1, by striking out the bracket before the word "thirteen"; Amend Section 1 (Section 1209.1) page 5, line 29, by striking out the bracket after "(50)"; Amend Section 1 (Section 1209.1) page 6, line 1, by striking out the bracket before the word "teachers"; Amend Section 1 (Section 1209.1) page 6, line 29, by striking out the bracket after the word "this"; Amend Section 1, (Section 1209.1) page 7, line 1, by striking out the bracket before the word "act"; Amend Section 1 (Section 1209.1) page 7, line 9, by striking out the following: whether or not such additional salary is temporary; Amend Section 1 (Section 1209.1) page 7, line 18, by inserting the figure "6" before the word "The"; Amend Section 1 (Section 1209.1) page 7, line 29, by striking out the bracket after the word "education"; Amend Section 1 (Section 1209.1) page 8, line 1, by striking out the bracket before the word "in"; Amend Section 1 (Section 1209.1) page 8, line 5, by striking out the bracket after the word "Degree"; Amend Section 1 (Section 1209.1) page 8, line 5, by striking out the words "The minimum salaries of all" and by striking out all of the words in lines 6 to 28 inclusive; Amend Section 1 (Section 1209.1) page 9, by striking out all of the words on said page; Amend Section 1 (Section 1209.1) page 10, by striking out all of the words on said page; Amend Section 1 (Section 1209.1) page 11, lines 1 to 20, by striking out all of the words in said lines; Amend Section 2 (Subsection (2) of Section 1241) page 18, line 23, by striking out the following: as follows (1) divide; and substituting in lieu thereof: by dividing; Amend Section 2, (Subsection (2) of Section 1241) page 18, line 25, by striking out the following: in a public high school (2) divide by; Amend Section 2 (Subsection (2) of Section 1241) page 18, lines 26, 27, and 28, by striking out all of the words in said lines and substituting in lieu thereof the following: Provided, however, that no district shall be considered as having more district teaching units than the number of teachers, supervisors, principals, and all other full time members of the teaching and supervisory staff in said district, except as herein otherwise provided; Amend Section 2 (Subsection (4) of Section 1241) page 19, line 9, by striking out the following: six hundred dollars ($600); and inserting in lieu thereof the following: eight hundred dollars ($800); Amend Section 2 (Subsection (6) of Section 1241) page 21, line 6, by striking out the word "as"; Amend Section 2 (Subsection (6) of Section 1241) page 21, line 7, by striking out the following: follows (1) divide; and inserting in lieu thereof the following: by dividing; Amend Section 2 (Subsection (6) of Section 1241) page 21, line 8, by striking out the following: in a public high; Amend Section 2 (Subsection (6) of Section 1241) page 21, line 9, by striking out the word "school" at the beginning of the line and by striking out the following: (2) divided by; Amend Section 2 (Subsection (6) of Section 1241) page 21, by striking out all of the words in lines 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, and 16, and by striking out in line 17 the words "pupil-teacher ratio of the district"; Amend Section 2 (Section 1242) page 22, line 24, by striking out the words "six hundred dollars ($600)" and by inserting in lieu thereof the words "eight hundred dollars ($800)"; Amend Section 8, page 42, line 15, by striking out the word "eleven"; Amend Section 9, page 44, line 3, after the word "district" by striking out the words "of the"; Amend Section 9, page 44, line 4, by striking out the words "third and fourth class".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. CARR. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I did not expect to say a word on the floor here tonight, but I think that probably due to my efforts this evening some of the differences of opinion were resolved. I went to the representatives of the school teachers and explained to them the situation that existed with regard to the amendments proposed by Senators Wagner and Homsher, explaining to them that the Governor of this state felt that the funds were not available, if the bill were passed in the form as it came from the House, and that he would of necessity feel he would have to veto that bill.

I asked those representatives of the teachers, under those circumstances, whether they would care to take a chance of losing it all or whether they would not rather accept the bill as amended by Senators Wagner and Homsher, to which these gentlemen agreed, feeling that while they were not getting everything for which they had been fighting—I must congratulate them upon the magnificent fight they put up in behalf of those in whom they are interested. There were men on our side who felt just as the men on the other side do, that they would like to see this bill enacted as it came from the House. Under those circumstances they felt that they were obliged to give to the school teachers of the state of Pennsylvania and to the school districts of Pennsylvania and to the school children of Pennsylvania, the best that possibly could be given to them under the circumstances. Therefore several men on this side of the aisle changed their votes. We are now in a position where we say to the school teachers of Pennsylvania, to the school districts of Pennsylvania, to the taxpayers of Pennsylvania, and to the children of Pennsylvania, we believe that we have done the best we could for you under the circumstances. We particularly point out to the taxpayers of the state of Pennsylvania that we believe it would have been essential to have raised some additional taxes, and in the raising of those taxes we do not believe the opposition would have acquiesced at all, and therefore a great deal of what has been said here tonight is just bombast and nothing else. We are talking on realities, we are not talking on dreams; we are talking about things that have to be because the circumstances are as they are, Mr. President, and for that reason I believe the members of the Senate, on this side of the aisle, and those of our members who happen to be seated on the other side, will be unanimous in voting down these additional amendments.

Mr. HOLLAND. If the Majority Leader had realized in the first few months of the session that we had a job to do, and had gotten down to the job, he would not have had to say tonight he is tired and does not want to hear any more talk.

Mr. President, I have listened with great interest to the arguments tonight. I was very much impressed with the arguments of both Senator Cox and Senator Jones. I was glad to have brought out into the open, by one of the majority members of the Senate, the fact that when this proposition of settlement was taken before the teachers who are here tonight, they were told "if you do not get this bill as it is now amended, you will not get anything." That is like going to a starving child and saying to him "here is a dirty old crust, you will have to eat it; if you do not eat it you will starve." It makes you think of going to a prize fight and seeing a man knocked out of the ring and picking up the man and saying "you put up a great fight but you got knocked out."

Much has been said about taxes. I want to point out to the teachers tonight—some of whom might have been present the other day when we tried to correct the evil in one of the statements made by the Governor, when the Governor said he would go along with the bill but it was going to mean imposing increased appropriations by future legislation and unless the members of the Legislature passed a tax bill he would not go along—I think it was Tuesday that we tried to discharge a committee from further consideration of a bill to permit the people of Pennsylvania to vote on whether or not they would adopt a graduated income tax to pay the cost of the schools and to relieve the real estate owner. The vote was 18 to 32 against that motion. We have the money; the money is here. You who have been getting calendars each day have had notice of the many appropriations we have made for historical spots in Pennsylvania, by the thousands and hundreds of thousands of dollars, and to conserve things that we like to worship of the past. I am one who likes to think of the future of Pennsylvania, of today in Pennsylvania, and I say to you it is a disgrace in Pennsylvania to say to people who have spent years and years in college getting degrees—and I might also add that all of those things are requirements that a teacher must have to teach—we in this Senate passed those requirements, we compel them to get master's degrees, as we compel them to get more education and more education, and still, when it comes to paying them for the added expense we made them spend, you teachers of Pennsylvania, spend for your education, we do not face the realities of life and give you fair value for what you have spent.

The money is here. An appropriation of around $4,000,000 was passed the other day to keep a man in a job in Pennsylvania, the Secretary of Health—exactly $3,400,000. You heard what Senator Jones has said of the moneys he pointed out were being spent. Those are the moneys that the teachers of Pennsylvania should get. When you speak of the teachers you speak of the pupils. When you see teachers leaving the schools during the last few years and going into shipbuilding yards and getting more money—think of it—getting more money as a welder than they could get by teaching school.

I want also to point out that one of the great problems the world is trying to solve is that of education. I happen to have been a member of the Allied Military Government for a year and a half in Europe. All the great educators of all the countries gathered around the table, every day in London, trying to find a way of bringing education into Germany. Examine the books that were used in Germany, Mr. President. When you consider all the organizations in America that are spending money on propaganda against foreign ideologies, all the money spent along those lines is wasted, because where the foreign ideologies are kept out of America is in the public schools of America. If the public schools of America are strong so is America strong, and you can not keep America strong when you say to a teacher she must work for $2,100 a year. A girl in an office gets more money than that, with less than a high school education.

When they say to you they do not want you to become a pressure group, I would like to point out to the teachers here the representatives of the real pressure groups of Pennsylvania—and I do not want to embarrass these men—but you will find right here in the halls of this Senate the representatives of the utilities, and, mark you, teachers, mark you, their bills are passed. You will see the representatives of the railroads and you will see here the personal representative of Joseph Pew and his oil interests, his bills are passed, and you will see the personal representative of Joe Grundy, and his bills are passed.

Mr. JAMES. Are you referring to me?

Mr. HOLLAND. Yes. If the cap fits put it on.

Mr. JAMES. I do not waste the time of the Senate like you do.

Mr. HOLLAND. This is a debatable question, whether I am wasting the time of the Senate in fighting for the schools of Pennsylvania. I say to you, Mr. James, I am not wasting the time of the Senate because I am fighting for the people of Pennsylvania, for the kids that you are going to expect to win wars to save the system that you and I have enjoyed, if it ever happens again, and how they have fought in this war. They are products of our school system and they are the ones who are winning this war. I say to you, Mr. James, you are insulting the people of Pennsylvania when you say any man is wasting the time of the people of Pennsylvania in fighting for the school children of Pennsylvania.

Yes, you have all you want out of this treasury, all the banking bills, all the insurance bills and the manufacturer's bills and the utility bills, but there has not been one bill yet passed for the people of Pennsylvania, and it is about them I am speaking, because I am not on anybody else's payroll. I am sick and tired of having sneers made by people who represent big interests. Let me tell you, the common people of Pennsylvania are just as good as the Manufacturers Association, because they are the people of Pennsylvania, they are the people who have brought riches to Pennsylvania. And those boys and girls who have been taught in our schools are the ones who have made the wealth of Pennsylvania, because with their hands and ability they have contributed to the great success of industry in Pennsylvania.

Mr. JAMES. Mussolini has come back to us.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I always consider the source of the wise-crackers; I always consider their source. I was with the Allied Military Government. It was in the years before the coming of Hitler. In the audience there was always a heckler, put there by Hitler, and I might also add, as a matter of record, that it was a meeting of the industrialists of Germany that made Hitler, so I consider where the heckling comes from.

We have the money and we owe it to the people of Pennsylvania to give them back their money to educate our people properly. When any member of this Senate says we do not have the money; I say we do have the money. If this session of the Legislature had passed the bill providing for a graduated income tax, and the next session would pass it, then the people of Pennsylvania would vote on it and this money question would be solved.

I say to you, you teachers of Pennsylvania who are here tonight, all their beautiful words about what they would like to give you will not buy you a cup of coffee.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I just want to say to these men who are members of the Senate of Pennsylvania, my colleagues, and to these fine guests we are privileged to have with us tonight, that some of the statements that have been made on the floor of this Senate have a very hollow sound.

We who are privileged to be members of this Senate, and we who are charged with the responsibility of arranging the finances of Pennsylvania, must deal in realities and not in dreams.

I say to my colleagues that Senator Cox, who talked first, and particularly Senator Holland, who has just completed his very eloquent talk, they are members of a party which has steadfastly refused—and the record will show my statement is correct—to vote for one revenue raising measure, on the other side of the Senate, and I challenge them to take the microphone and tell me and my colleagues one revenue measure they have voted for, as a group or individually, and when they take the floor of this Senate and say these things to our fine guests, whose contributions to the building and re-building of Pennsylvania can not be measured in dollars, I say they are speaking through a hollow tube.

I also want to say, Mr. President, I should like to commend by colleague from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, who, I know, has had a very strenuous battle with this matter, because he was fighting for his convictions, and because he was fighting for his constituency back home, and because he was fighting for the things they want. His position in this Senate of Pennsylvania, I might say to our guests, is that of Chairman of the Senate Committee on Finance. He has had prepared, as he said, amendments that proposed to return House Bill 568 to the state in which it came to the Senate and he intended, if any way was found, as he so eloquently said a few minutes ago, to offer those amendments, if some method could be found to finance the problem in that manner, Mr. President, but as he also said, he had consulted with some of his constituents who are here and they had agreed with the knowledge that he had, that this was the finest bill and the finest contribution we could make to this great group to which we are so indebted.

I should like, however, instead of dwelling on things like that, to avoid any further conversation, except to remind my colleague on the other side that when he talks about bridges and when he talks about things that are not related, which are in a different fund entirely than that which he talked about, that he should become better acquainted with the facts, because they are actually different problems.

I should like to again say—and perhaps I should not—to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, for whom I must say I have a great deal of admiration, that when he talks about these great industries of Pennsylvania, and particularly mentions the insurance business, and says about those persons that we have legislated for them, let me remind him that we levied taxes of some $16,586,000 against them and that we returned to the Insurance Department, for the administration of that business as far as the state is concerned, $560,000 a biennium.

Just let me in conclusion, Mr. President, and my colleagues, give you some figures on the cost of education in Pennsylvania. We have heard the statement made on the floor of the Senate about Pennsylvania standing fifteenth, sixteenth or seventeenth, or whatever it may be, amongst the states but, Mr. President, no standard or meausre has been given to you, no standard as to what the sixteenth or seventeenth stands for, first, the number of school pupils, or the amount of money spent for education, or the amount of money the state of Pennyslvania contributes.

Just let me give you these figures. If we enact House Bill 568, as it is now amended, it will require appropriations of $137,000,000 a biennium.

Recommended for the 1945-47 bienium we find appropriations listed to the fine universities of Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania State College, the University of Pennsylvania, the University of Pittsburgh, Lincoln University, Temple University, and others, approxixmately $12,000,000; to state teachers' colleges, the Soldiers' Orphans School, Thaddeus Stevens Industrial School and others, approximately $5,000,000 for the biennium; and to other educational institutions such as the National Farm School, the Franklin Institute, the Downingtown Industrial and Agricultural School, the sum of $440,000 is appropriated for the biennium; for special education for the deaf and blind the sum of $1,400,000 is appropriated; for administration of the Department of Public Instruction the sum of $2,000,000 is appropriated; and for the retirement of teachers we say to them that we will match their savings and that we will provide a method so that in their declining years they will be independent, for which the sum of $5,000,000 is provided for the biennium.

Those appropriations total, ladies and gentlemen some $166,000,000.

In addition there appears on page 4 of today's calendar House Bill No. 171, a bill which provides for complete medical and dental examination of our children and teachers of Pennsylvania, which requires an additional appropriation of $4,700,000. The total without that, however, is approximately $166,000,000.

The total general funds available for this biennium, according to the summary of the budget as presented to us by the Governor of Pennsylvania, will amount to $366,000,000. Therefore, I submit to you, 45 cents out of every dollar coming into the general fund of Pennsylvania will go for this very worthy purpose, the education and support of our school system.

Mr. President, we have heard remarks made concerning the cost of education in other states. Some one cited the state of Mississippi, which has a population of approximately 2,200,000 people. The cost of running their school system is about $16,000,000 a biennium. Pennsylvania has four and a half times that many people; Pennsylvania returns to its school system ten times as much money.

I could go on further, Mr. President and my colleagues, and tell you that during the administrations of Governor Earle, in both the first biennium and second biennium of his terms of office, the amount of money returned then for the purposes of education was just about one-half of our current appropriation for that purpose.

I am sure our visitors who are present want to see this picture exactly as it is and I say to them, and to all my colleagues on both sides of the Senate, and I say it in the most friendly spirit, that we have labored long and hard, and we have endeavored to put you in a position to furnish the finest kind of training to these boys and girls who will build and rebuild the Pennsylvania and the America of tomorrow.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am not going to try to engage in these deliberations other than to correct the statement made by the gentleman on the other side. when he said this side of the Senate has refused to vote for the revenue bills that would be necessary to increase salaries of school teachers, plus increased school costs; if he will go back a little he will find that to every revenue bill that was presented to this Senate we offered amendments, to try to attach to those bills a specific clause that would apply returns from the taxes for school purposes.

The revenue bills now upon the statute books were originally sponsored and passed by the Democratic administration for emergency purposes. That emergency has long since passed; it is no longer with us. The tax bills that have been passed in this session of the Legislature allow us to create a greater surplus than we need in the Commonwealth. We tried to earmark the funds from these taxes for school purposes. If we would have succeeded in our efforts you would have no trouble whatsoever in passing the original House Bill 568 or the Hare-Lee bill, even in its original form as introduced in the House.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I remind my colleagues, and those who are our guests this evening that my colleague on the other side, Senator Dent, for whom I have the greatest admiration, steadfastly refuses to state that he voted for one single revenue raising measure. He did say, however, that they attempted to introduce amendments, but it is very easy, I remind those present, to try to emasculate a bill, try to change a bill, use it is an excuse, but the fact remains, Mr. President, he did not vote for one single revenue raising measure, and I challenge him to name the number of a revenue raising bill that he voted for.

Mr. DENT. I accept that challenge, Mr. President, because we still reiterate the position we then took upon the floor of the Senate, that there is no need for the passage of any of the revenue bills, if you are not going to earmark them for specific purposes, you are merely increasing the surplus fund you now have in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. You can meet every requirement of ordinary government through measures already upon the statue books. We need no new revenues today to do anything in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, unless you are going to provide increased school benefits.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President and members of the Senate, ordinarily I am much too smart a fellow, at this stage of the game, to try to convince anybody with a speech, however logical, because of the fact that most of us are wearied, a bit befuddled, perhaps, because of our assiduous application to the important problems that are facing the people in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, but I would be false to my real emotions if I did not express my thanks and appreciation of the very able presentation of the Minority Party's position on House Bill No. 568, so brilliantly handled by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox. For brilliancy of language, profundity of thought, sincerity of purpose, his speech in my judgment has no parallel in the ten year history of the General Assembly since I have been a member.

It has always been my good fortune, in the ten years that I have served in the House and the Senate, to have been a member of the Committee on Education, and I have followed very closely the problems of education as they were presented to us in the various sessions of the General Assembly.

The Democratic Party felt, while equalization of educational opportunity in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania pre-supposes employment of teachers with comparable qualifications, that there was a wide gap in the salary of an elementary teacher in a fourth-class district as compared with a first-class district, and in order to adjust that inequality we proposed in the 1937 session of the General Assembly a graduated income tax and the revenue derived therefrom was to be earmarked to increase the salaries of teachers in fourth-class school districts.

I have heard much about the budget and the amount of money spent. In the ten years I have been studying government in the greatest school of government in America, the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, it has been my observation that men charged with the responsibility of estimating the tax yield underestimated, on the theory, I assume, that it is better to wind up with a surplus than with a deficit. That may or may not be good business sense, but we on the minority side have noted serious inaccuracies. I can recall the Governor's estimate of the corporate net income tax where, according to him and his budget advisors, it would net in the biennium $58,000,000, and then later on he made a better estimate and stepped it up to $63,000,000, when in reality the tax yielded $123,000,000.

I heard in the beginning of the session some reference to the fact that this tremendous surplus that is available, and which came as a result of an increase in taxes, was largely due to the economical administration of the government of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I served as a member of a commission with Senator Ruth, Senator Wagner, Senator Becker, and other members of the General Assembly, studying the problem of the school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I remember being in the office of the Governor, as a member of that commission, and saying to the Governor "I imagine every one of your department heads has asked you to increase his budgetary allowance and I assume all of them have given arguments that have been logical and convincing, but what more convincing argument could you have than an investment in the youth of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in the young men and in the young women of today, who are the builders of the world and the insurers of civilization tomorrow." And I remember the Governor saying to me, like Congressman Rich's stock query in the National Congress, "Well, Senator, where is the money coming from?"

I mentioned that the cigarette tax would yield some $23,000,000 or $24,000,000, the liquor tax and other taxes would yield another $25,000,000 or $26,000,000—I may be somewhat off in my figures—but the Governor said "We have other plans."

And now in the dying hours of the session we find, as Senator Jones so ably said, that $10,000,000 of this money will be used to de-silt the Schuylkill River; for the past two weeks every day we have been passing appropriation bills, $2,000,000 for the Pennsylvania Maritime Academy, and many other things, including lump sums to various departments. I remember in our bi-partisan conferences the Minority Floor Leader saying to the Governor, on the question of education, "Governor, we can give to the people in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania an education system only on the basis of the money you are willing to spend."

Repeatedly the assertion has been made by legislative and administrative leaders that the money was not available. We find, notwithstanding this assertion by responsible spokesmen for the administration, that they found some $24,000,000 above and beyond the cost of living bonus for the school teachers; we find, notwithstanding the fact a week ago the Governor said "If the bill is increased, you have got to raise the revenue," and yet we find that the amendments inserted by the Majority Party in the Senate tonight add some $6,000,000, and so I say to you this budget has been pretty flexible.

Our party has always felt the school teachers in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania have been grossly underpaid. They certainly are not paid commensurate with the services they render to this particular state. I could not sit idly by and listen to the gentleman from Cumberland trying to convince the members of the Senate, as well as the people who are assembled here, and who have a personal and a particular interest in this bill, that the Minority Party in this Senate lacked sincerity.

There has not been any question of doubt about our position on this particular bill and I believe, I know, that what was inserted in the bill tonight by the majority leadership came as a result, if you will, of the militant minority in this particular branch of the General Assembly.

Mr. WOODWARD. There was a time, when I listened to the Senator from Lackawanna, Mr. Coleman, that I regretted deeply that he had not been elected Mayor of Scranton, but now recently, as I have listened to the eulogies pronounced by the Senator from Lackawanna on his fellow Senators, I would like to state I hope to be re-elected until I die, but I would like to engage the Senator from Lackawanna to pronounce my eulogy at my memorial meeting.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. COX, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—20

Barr,	Gourley,	Klein,	Rosenfeld,
Coleman,	Haluska,	Leader,	Ruth,
Cox,	Holland,	Margie,	Stiefel,
Dent,	Jaspan,	McCreesh,	Troutman,
DiSilvestro,	Jones,	McGinnis,	Woodring,

NAYS—29

Becker,	Ealy,	Letzler,	Thomas,
Berger,	Farrell,	Mallery,	Tyler,
Blass,	Geltz,	Scarlett,	Wade,
Bowers,	Heyburn,	Snowden,	Wagner,
Carr,	Homsher,	Stevenson,	Walker,
Chapman,	James,	Tallman,	Wilson,
Crider,	Kephart,	Taylor,	Woodward,
Crowe,

So the question was determined in the negative.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended by Mr. Wagner?

Mr. ROSENFELD. I would like to make just one observation at this time. I have refrained from entering the debate on this bill, which was very enlightening, but I would like the record to show that 219 members of the General Assembly, in both the House and the Senate, were ready and willing to vote for House Bill 568, in effect as it passed the House, as against 29 who did not.

We have heard in the last thirteen years about the executive down in Washington trying to dictate to Congress, and I think this is a clear indication of the executive in this Commonwealth tryng to dictate to the General Assembly.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended by Mr. Wagner?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (John M. Walker) in the Chair.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. TALLMAN offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 1), page 2, line 11, by inserting after the word "solids" and frozen fluid products.

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh sections and title were read and agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 1189, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There is objection.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading.

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President and members of the Senate, this bill provides that "no retailer shall be prosecuted for having in his possession or offering for sale any article of merchandise which he has puhchased in good faith for resale and which is packed in sealed, unbroken and undamaged original packages or containers because of a shortage in weight as marked thereon."

The bill also has a provision in it which sets forth what the requirements are for the various items of merchandise which it is intended that this bill shall control. It also has a provision that any person who is found to violate this act is guilty of a summary offense and on conviction for the first offense will be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $50 and in default of payment of the fine and costs shall undergo imprisonment for ten days.

Under the provisions of this bill, if any retailer would purchase merchandise from a wholesaler or any other person outside of the county from where the retailer conducts his business, and the sealer of weights and measures in any county of this state would find that the receptacle or the container did not correspond with the weight that appeared on the receptacle or container, there would be no one to prosecute.

In other words, retail merchants such as the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company purchase their merchandise by bulk from wholesalers or persons outside of the respective towns or counties where they do business, and if the people of Pennsylvania go into that store and purchase merchandise and the receptacle or container is found to not correspond with the weight or the ounces which might be printed on the receptacle or container, there is no one to prosecute, and the purposes of the bill would fail. There is no use having a penal provision in this bill if it is not possible to prosecute an individual who violates the law.

I therefore have prepared amendments which would provide that the retailer is freed or relieved of prosecution where the retailer purchases his merchandise from a wholesaler or person doing business in the county where the retailer has his place of business.

In other words, if I buy my merchandise as a retail merchant from a wholesaler or person in Dauphin county and it is found that the merchandise which I purchase does not correspond with the weight on the receptacle or the container, then the retailer is freed from prosecution, but if I buy my merchandise from a wholesaler in Allegheny county and it is found that the receptacle or container is not as marked, then I believe, with the utmost sincerity, gentlemen, that provision should exist in law to prosecute that retailer.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading as amended?

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 10 (Sec. 9) page 12, line 20 by inserting after the word "purchased" the following: from any wholesaler or person having a place of business in the county where the merchandise has been purchased.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. GOURLEY. We know from our experience as lawyers, if an offense is committed in Dauphin county by a retailer, and he purchases his merchandise from a wholesaler in Allegheny county, we know that the courts of Dauphin county have no jurisdiction to issue a warrant for the arrest of the wholesaler in Allegheny county who sends into this county merchandise that does not correspond with the provisions of this law.

I realize the hour is late and time flies but, gentlemen, this is important. There is no reason for having penal provisions in this bill, in which you subject a man to prosecution and penalty of a fine, when you have no one to prosecute.

The reason I asked that this bill go over in its order was so that I could talk with Senator Becker, who has a very able rating as a lawyer, Senator Geltz, Senator Kephart and Senator Tallman, the lawyers on the Republican side, because I wanted to try to reason this out with them, as the bill is no good as it is now drawn.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote down the amendments offered by the gentleman from Washington. I merely want to say this about it, that the whole purpose of this bill would be destroyed if these amendments were adopted. The purpose to be served is to protect the retailer who is receiving goods from a manufacturer in a package over which he has no control.

For that reason I request that my colleagues vote the amendments down.

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TALLMAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President, if you are conducting a grocery store in Dauphin county and you purchase your merchandise from a wholesaler in Allegheny county and on your shelves there will be found receptacles or containers that do not correspond with the weight that appears on the receptacle or container, who will be prosecuted.

Mr. TALLMAN. As I understand, under the circumstances set forth by the gentleman from Washington, a retailer in that situation would be excused and the manufacturer would be liable for having violated the provisions of this law.

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President, may I further interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be further interrogated.

Mr. TALLMAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. GOURLEY. Mr. President, how could information be lodged against a wholesaler in Allegheny County, when he has no place of business in Dauphin County, or how could the court gain jurisdiction.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I am perfectly willing to be interrogated about this bill. I think the fun has now reached the stage where it is not funny, but I would like to suggest to the gentleman from Washington that it is my opinion in a case, such as he cites, that the violation was one by the manufacturer and if his place of business is located in the county suggested, which is Allegheny County, it is my opinion that he would be liable to prosecution there, and that the prosecution could be brought in that county because the violation occurred there.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended by Mr. Tallman?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

The House met at 11 a. m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

Rabbi David Wachtfogel, of Congregation B'Nai Israel, Shamokin, a guest of the Chaplain, offered the following prayer:

Our Father Who art in Heaven, we stand before Thee at this moment confessing Thy sovereignty, and reaffirming our belief that Thou art the Father of all men, the ruler of lands. We thank Thee, Almighty God, that Thou hast in Thy wisdom granted us the faculty of appreciating the values of representative government.

We invoke Thy blessing, our Father in Heaven, upon the chosen representatives of our State. Sustain them in health, grant them fortitude and vigor and glorify their endeavors with noble accomplishments. Inspire them to devote themselves unselfishly to the welfare of their constituents. Endow them with the spirit of wisdom that they make their watchword, the watchword of the State: righteousness, justice and a happy, intelligent, healthy social order.

Bless also, O Heavenly Father, the President of these United States, the Governor of our State, its people and all those who exercise rightful authority.

We beseech Thee, O God, to shield and protect our armed forces engaged in battle, in the Air, on the Oceans and on Land. May it please Thee, our Father in Heaven, to remove speedily the reign of tyranny and cruelty and to establish the Kingdom of Righteousness and Peace upon earth. Cause liberty and freedom to be proclaimed unto all the peoples of the earth.

May this be Thy will from now and for evermore. Amen.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 717, as follows:

An Act further amending and supplementing the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 364) entitled "An act relating to business corporations defining and providing for the organization merger consolidation reorganization winding up and dissolution of such corporations conferring certain rights powers duties and immunities upon them and their officers and shareholders prescribing the conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers providing for the inclusion of certain existing corporations of the second class within the provisions of this act prescribing the terms and conditions upon which foreign business corporations may be admitted or may continue to do business within the Commonwealth conferring powers and imposing duties on the courts of common pleas and certain State departments commissions and officers authorizing certain State departments boards commissions or officers to collect fees for services required to be rendered by this act imposing penalties and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to corporations" by adding to Article III Section three hundred two thereof a new subsection to be designated as (sixteen) empowering every business corporation to make contributions out of its income in any taxable year for public and charitable purposes to the extent authorized approved or ratified by the by-laws of such corporation or by resolution of its shareholders and ratifying certain contributions

Section 1 Section three hundred two of Article III of the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-three (P. L. 364) entitled "An act relating to business corporations defining and providing for the organization merger consolidation reorganization winding up and dissolution of such corporations conferring certain rights powers duties and immunities upon them and their officers and shareholders prescribing the conditions on which such corporations may exercise their powers providing for the inclusion of certain existing corporations of the second class within the provisions of this act prescribing the terms and conditions upon which foreign business corporations may be admitted or may continue to do business within the Commonwealth conferring powers and imposing duties on the courts of common pleas and certain State departments commissions and officers authorizing certain State departments boards commissions or officers to collect fees for services required to be rendered by this act imposing penalties and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to corporations" therein designated as the "Business Corporation Law" is hereby amended and supplemented by adding a new subsection to be designated as (sixteen) to follow immediately subsection (fifteen) and to read as follows

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the House, House Bill 717 is the measure that was under consideration yesterday afternoon, a measure that has been on the calendar for a very considerable time, adopted in Caucus, and no action on the bill as far the Democratic Caucus is concerned.

It has been amended in various ways. The gentlemen who amended it have neglected to state on the floor the nature of their amendments. This morning I have a copy of the bill in print, the first opportunity I have had to see the amendments. Personally I consider the bill has been very much improved and I shall vote for it. Any Member on this side of course will choose his own course as to how he votes.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, this bill proposes to take the property of the stockholders away from the stockholders. The assets of a corporation belong to the stockholders. The board of directors are not only the creature of the stockholders but they are their servants. They function by means of by-laws. Now, what does this bill propose to do? It proposes to change the by-laws of every private corporation in Pennsylvania. There are thirty-five thousand corporations in Pennsylvania. If these people want the privilege of giving away the stockholders' money, why don't they get that privilege from the stockholders and not come to the Legislature?

I also pointed out yesterday what it meant to the taxation of the state. It is estimated that the taxable property that will be drained away by this fifteen percent will amount to something like eight hundred million to a billion dollars. You can see what that would mean; that money will have to be made up some other way. The probabilities are that it will be added to the individual income tax. The corporations are the ones that should pay the income tax and not the poor stockholder, if the poor stockholder is lucky enough to get paid a little dividend.

Another thing about this bill, it throws the corporation open to all kinds of robbery by the directors. I cannot see any good in this bill. I do not see why it is necessary. If I want anything of my corporations, any privileges to handle the stockholders' money, I call the stockholders together and get that privilege from those who own the stock of the corporation and the assets of the corporation. Why should this state undertake to regulate the corporations in this manner? Why should they change their by-laws? That is what it means. Let the stockholders of the corporation make their own by-laws for guidance of the directors. The directors do not own it, the stockholders own it. When you take this bill and see how far reaching it is, there is something queer about it. I have asked the question whether this legislation might be in the interests of the public. "Well," they say "it's going to help the corporations to give away some of their money to the Red Cross." I am sure that any private corporation, should they want to give money to the Red Cross could easily hold a meeting of the stockholders and give that authority to the directors. I think it is a vicious piece of legislation, and there is no necessity for this bill.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Whip.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if this bill gives the corporation the right to give money to any charitable institution?

Mr. SORG. I think the gentleman's question would be answered with the statement, that it will permit contributions to any charitable organization which is permitted under the Federal Income Tax Laws. The same provisions were written into this bill as were written into the Internal Revenue Laws of the United States in the definition of charity.

Mr. LOVETT. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I have always felt that public charities to my mind have not been successful. The average spent out of a dollar on the particular case does not warrant money being handled by public charity. As I understand this bill from the statement of Mr. Huntley, this will reduce the amount of tax taken in by the state or Federal Government which it could use for charitable purposes. I feel that we should not give the money to public charities and take it away from the political subdivision which to my mind spend their money much better for public charities. For that reason I am going to vote against the bill.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, since this has to do with the amendments to the bill, it having been quite an ob jectionable bill to me when it originally came to the floor, I feel that I should state my position. Very frankly, many corporations in Pennsylvania have been making contributions to various charities. They have been doing it for many years, and my opinion is that they have been doing it without any right under the law or under their charters or their by-laws. We attempted in this bill to make certain that if these contributions were to be made in the future that the stockholders whose money was going to be spent should have some right to determine how their money is spent for charity.

The amendments which have been inserted will provide that before any corporation may hereafter make any charitable contribution of any kind or any size, they are authorized under this bill to adopt by-laws to authorize the directors to make such contributions, but that before such by-laws were adopted the stockholders must have the right to vote as to whether their corporations should make these contributions. I felt that the stockholders whose money eventually was used should have the right to know where their money was going and whether by-laws should be adopted permitting giving it to charities.

Aside from that technical explanation I want to state my personal reaction. I know in Philadelphia we have many fund-raising campaigns for charities each year, and I put in a little bit and my friends and neighbors put in a little bit and we all go together for community purposes to help those less fortunate than ourselves. We also put in out bit for the Red Cross. The Salvation Army and other organizations that are doing a good job in this crisis. I feel when the campaign gets going and we have just a week to go, along comes XYZ or ABC corporation with the big corporations to wind it up, which as far as I am concerned, is entirely proper. I have worked in many of these campaigns and they are always waiting to put in these big contributions to put the campaign over the top. As I said before while the bill originally was objectionable because it provided no notice to the stockholders, since that is now in the act, I feel that we have accomplished the purpose, and for that reason I am prepared to support the bill now just as vehemently as I was opposed to it originally.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COHEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HUNTLEY. I understood the gentleman to say that this was to legalize some illegal acts that have already been done by the corporations.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the bill as it is now written will ratify certain ultra vires acts that have been committed by Pennsylvania corporations in the past, that is true.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Then why didn't they go to the stockholders and have their by-laws amended and get the privilege instead of coming here?

Mr. COHEN. What we are doing here, Mr. Speaker, is to provide that corporations may adopt such by-laws, because the gentleman knowns as well as I know that the only rights a corporation has in Pennsylvania is the right given to them and the only powers they have are the powers given to them. What we are doing is to give the corporations the right to adopt such by-laws, and any corporation may if it so desires adopt such by-laws. We do not insist that you do adopt them, but you may if the stockholders ratify the by-laws.

Mr. HUNTLEY. What is to hinder the stockholders giving money now?

Mr. COHEN. The reason the stockholders cannot give money now, or rather the directors acting for the stockholders, is because there is no authorization by law to spend money for charitable purposes, because money spent for charitable purposes does not directly inure to the benefit of the corporation and has nothing to do with the purposes for which the corporation is formed such as the ABC steel company, for instance, which manufactures by-products of steel and so forth. We are giving them certain corporate rights which all go to further the purposes of the corporation itself, but by no stretch of the imagination can those purposes be determined to permit them to give charitable contributions or to make contributions for political purposes or for any purposes not directly connected with the purposes of the corporation itself.

Mr. HUNTLEY. The corporations have been contributing to these various organizations by authority from the stockholders, isn't that true?

Mr. COHEN. There is no question about it, but under this bill we permit them to do so.

Mr. HUNTLEY. So there is no necessity for this bill.

Mr. COHEN. There is necessity for this bill.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Suppose you have a corporation in Philadelphia that has made one hundred thousand dollars. There is fifteen percent or fifteen thousand dollars that you can give away and deduct from your profit.

Mr. COHEN. That is right, from net profits.

Mr. HUNTLEY. How many people will be after you to get you to give a certain percentage of that money to them?

Mr. COHEN. Everybody has solicitations more or less, and they donate the money for charity, but I think this will not increase the donations that they are given now.

Mr. HUNTLEY. You take in a little town like I am in, there will be organizations wanting their portion and they will be coming down wanting their one tenth. If you don't give it to them it will be too bad because you are preventing some taxes which will have to be made up some other way.

Mr. COHEN. This bill will not permit anyone to blackmail anybody into giving contributions. They may give this money but the law does not say they must give it.

Mr. HUNTLEY. I am suspicious that somebody has got in a hole and you are trying to help them out.

Mr. COHEN. I might say in my estimation there are many corporations, from the largest to the smallest in Pennsylvania who are in a hole and have been in the hole in the past, and if there are any lawyers in the House who see fit to do so they can start stockholders' suits to recover this money illegally paid out to charity. If anyone wants to go after them they may do so. I would not do it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Messrs. Lovett, Weiss and Haberlen asked for a verification of the roll.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 209, as follows:

An Act to further amend section one of the act approved the thirteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred seven (P. L. 640) entitled "An act to provide revenue by levying a tax upon the shares of stock of companies incorporated under the provision of section twenty-nine of an act entitled 'An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations' approved April twenty-ninth one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four and the supplements thereto for the insurance of owners of real estate mortgages and others interested in real estate from loss by reason of defective titles liens and encumbrances and of companies entitled to the benefits of and of companies having any of the powers of companies entitled to the benefits of an act entitled 'An act conferring upon certain fidelity insurance safety deposit trust and savings companies the powers and privileges of companies incorporated under the provisions of section twenty-nine of an act entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations" approved April twenty-ninth Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four and of the supplements thereto' approved June twenty-seventh one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five commonly known as title insurance or trust companies" by reducing the rate of said tax and modifying the procedure for the collection and payment of said tax

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the thirteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred seven (P. L. 640) entitled "An act to provide revenue by levying a tax upon the shares of stock of companies incorporated under the provisions of section twenty-nine of an act entitled 'An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations' approved April twenty-ninth one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four and the supplements thereto for the insurance of owners of real estate mortgages and others interested in real estate from loss by reason of defective titles liens and encumbrances and of companies entitled to the benefits of and of companies having any of the powers of companies entitled to the benefits of an act entitled 'An act conferring upon certain fidelity insurance safety deposit trust and savings companies the powers and privileges of companies incorporated under the provisions of section twenty-nine of an act entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations" approved April twenty-ninth Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four and of the supplements thereto' approved June twenty-seventh one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five commonly known as title insurance or trust companies" as last amended by the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 75) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted &c That from and after the passage of this act every company incorporated under the provisions of section twenty-nine of an act entitled "An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations" approved April twenty-ninth one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four and its supplements or any other act of Assembly heretofore or hereafter approved for the insurance of owners of real estate mortgages and others interested in real estate from loss by reason of defective titles liens and encumbrances and every company entitled to benefits of and every company having any of the powers of companies entitled to the benefits of an act entitled "An act conferring upon certain fidelity insurance safety deposit trust and savings companies the powers and privileges of companies incorporated under the provisions of section twenty-nine of an act entitled 'An act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of certain corporations' approved April twenty-ninth Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four and of the supplements thereto" approved June twenty-seventh one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five commonly known as title insurance or trust companies and every company organized as a bank and trust company or as a trust company under any act of Assembly heretofore or hereafter approved except any such companies all of the shares of capital stock of which (other than shares necessary to qualify directors) are owned by a company which is liable to pay to the Commonwealth a tax on shares shall on or before the fifteenth day of February in each and every year make to the Department of Revenue a report in writing setting forth the full number of shares of the capital stock subscribed for or issued by such company and the actual value thereof as of December thirty-first preceding which shall be ascertained as hereinafter provided and thereupon it shall be the duty of the Department of Revenue for the calendar years ending December thirty-first one thousand nine hundred thirty-six December thirty-first one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven December thirty-first one thousand nine hundred thirty-eight December thirty-first one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine December thirty-first one thousand nine hundred forty December thirty-first one thousand nine hundred forty-one and December thirty-first one thousand nine hundred forty-two to assess such shares for taxation at the rate of eight mills upon each dollar of the actual value thereof and for the calendar year ending December thirty-first one thousand nine hundred forty-three at the rate of five mills upon each dollar of the actual value thereof and thereafter at the rate of [five] four mills upon each dollar of the actual value thereof the actual value of each share of stock to be ascertained and fixed by adding together the amount of capital stock paid in the surplus and undivided profits and dividing this amount by the number of shares

It shall be the duty of every such company within a period of sixty days after the date of such settlement by the Department of Revenue at its option to pay the amount of said tax to the State Treasurer through the Department of Revenue from its general fund or to collect the amount of said tax from its shareholders and pay the same to the State Treasurer through the Department of Revenue Provided That upon the payment of the tax fixed by this act into the State Treasury through the Department of Revenue the shares and so much of the capital stock surplus profits and deposits of such company as shall not be invested in real estate shall be exempt from all other taxation under the laws of this Commonwealth The procedure in case the Department of Revenue be not satisfied with the report made by any title insurance or trust company and the penalties for failing to make such report and pay the tax shall be as provided by law

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment and shall apply for the calendar year ending December thirty-first one thousand nine hundred forty-four and thereafter

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Fox.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House of Representatives has passed the same without amendment.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, with respect to Senate Bill 656, Printer's No. 516, Senate Bill 657 on the same page, Senate Bill 658 on the next page and Senate Bill 718 on the following page, they are all compensation bills. We were ready on this side to offer amendments, rather technical amendments. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Herman, who had prepared the present amendments, the most favorable amendments to these bills, called me a little while ago from the hotel. He is sick in bed, and I am trying to get a substitute to start to work on the amendments so that we might present our position. I ask, Mr. Speaker, whether the Majority Leader will go along and give us another hour and a half or two hours at best so that we might intelligently present our position here.

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

Senate Bill No. 656, Printer's No. 516,

was passed over at the request of Mr. ANDREWS.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 718, entitled:

An Act to add section three hundred six and one-tenth to the act approved the twenty-first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 520) entitled "An and to further reenact and amend the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 736) entitled as amended 'An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder and prescribing penalties' changing maximum and minimum rates periods total amounts and aggregate of compensation changing the system of computation of wages for compensation purposes changing practice and rules of evidence defining earning power after accident authorizing the board to terminate compensation in certain cases changing the classes of dependents entitled to compensation in case of death increasing powers and duties of the board and imposing additional penalties authorizing the department the board and the referees to approve compromise agreements in certain cases and generally amending clarifying and changing the provisions of said act" providing for payment in second injury cases and making an appropriation

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, page 1, first line of title, by striking out the word "section" and inserting in lieu thereof "sections."

Amend title, page 1, first line of title, by inserting after the word "one-tenth" "and three hundred twenty-one."

Amend title, page 2, second from last line of title, by inserting after the word "cases" "requiring certain payments by employer or insurance carriers in cases of death where there are no dependents."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 306.1), page 4, line 15, by inserting after the word "board" "Such payments shall be made out of moneys credited to the second injury reserve account in the State Workmen's Insurance Fund hereinafter provided for."

Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 306.1), page 4, lines 19 to 24, both inclusive, by striking out the words "out of the General Fund in the State" in line 19, all of lines 20, 22, 23 and 24.

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 306.1), page 4, line 26, by striking out the words "of said appropriation" and inserting in lieu thereof "credited to said account."

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 306.1), page 5, line 7, by striking out the words "State appropriation" and inserting in lieu thereof "second injury reserve account."

Amend bill, page 5, by inserting between lines 15 and 16 the following:

"Section 2. Said act is further amended by adding at the end of article three thereof a new section to read as follows:

"Section 321. For every injury resulting in death compensable under this act, where there are no dependents, the employer or his insurance carrier, as the case may be, shall pay into the State Workmen's Insurance Fund the sum of five hundred dollars ($500.00) which shall be credited to a ledger account to be known as the second injury reserve account. In order to enforce payment of such sum, the department shall have power to file with the board a claim for the same in like manner as any claim for compensation may be filed under this act. All amounts credited to the second injury reserve account are hereby appropriated to the department for the payment of the compensation provided for by section three hundred six point one of this act.

"Section 3. The sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000), or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated to the State Workmen's Insurance Board, to be credited to the second injury reserve account in order to make it possible to pay compensation for second injuries, immediately after the effective date of this act. The amount so appropriated shall be repaid out of moneys credited to the second injury reserve account not later than the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred forty-seven.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, if I may in a few minutes try to tell you what the amendments do so that we can vote intelligently on them, I will be glad to do so.

I first want to state that we are not opposed to the idea of this bill in setting up second injuries, but I have a bill in the Legislature myself and sponsored by one of my colleagues on the other side of the House which sets the financing of this particular legislation up in the state funds, and the money is paid in by the self-insurer or the insurance carrier. We make a small appropriation under these amendments to carry the expense of the enactment of this law up until such time as there is sufficient money accumulated in the state fund, and then that appropriation of money by the state will be paid back to the state out of that fund. In other words, I feel and I think the Members of this House should feel that rather than the state being responsible for the moneys which are to finance this second injury clause, that the self-insurer or the insurance carrier should be responsible.

I have continually insisted in this House that there should be a monopoly as far as workmen's compensation is concerned. To my mind it is a social question; no one should make profit from injured workmen. I have insisted that the state fund be the sole insurer and that we eliminate the self insurer, and by doing that we would then know the amount of money we need to liberalize workmen's compensation, which I agree and most of you men will agree should be liberalized.

That is what these amendments do, and I would certainly ask the Members of this House on both sides to vote for these amendments.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LOVETT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. I desire to inquire of the gentleman whether my interpretation of his amendment is the elimination of an appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars to take care of second injuries?

Mr. LOVETT. The amendments eliminate to some extent the appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars and insert an appropriation to carry the workings of this act until such time as there is sufficient money in the Workmen's Fund to then carry on the work of this act.

Mr. SORG. Will the gentleman state the amount of the appropriation to take care of it? What is the amount of the appropriation provided to take care of certain injuries?

Mr. LOVETT. The amount set aside is five hundred dollars to be paid into the State Fund by the insurance carrier or the independent insurer, if that is the question the gentlemen asked.

Mr. SORG. Is it my understanding, Mr. Speaker, that the amendments provide for the building up of a reserve account of ten thousand dollars?

Mr. LOVETT. That is correct. Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. Until such time as the amounts of five hundred dollars will provide sufficient to overcome that, and then the appropriation would be repaid?

Mr. LOVETT. That is correct.

Mr. SORG. Is it my understanding, Mr. Speaker, that the payments of five hundred dollars are to be made by the insurance carriers when there shall have been a death of an employe, a compensable death where there are no dependents to receive that amount?

Mr. LOVETT. Is that question directed to me, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. SORG. Yes, it is, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. My understanding would be that what we intend is to have insurance carriers and self insurers pay that money into the State Fund if they hire men coming under this particular act.

Mr. SORG. Will the gentleman indicate to me in the amendment where that provision is inserted?

Mr. LOVETT. I might say in answer to the gentleman's question, it is pretty hard sometimes to follow the amendments as they come into these bills in the dying hours of the session, as we have here today. We don't find time to do those things until we get it in front of us and then we know what we are talking about. I am sorry I cannot answer the gentleman's question just at this time.

Mr. SORG. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, it occurs to me that the gentleman does not have a full and complete understanding of the amendments actually as they were read by the Clerk for the information of the House. It is my understanding that the gentleman intends by these amendments to require insurance carriers or employers who are self insurers to pay five hundred dollars into a fund at the death of an employe in a compensible amount. Ten thousand dollars is appropriated for a period of two years to provide for second injuries. These various deaths by employes without dependents must first make up this ten thousand dollar appropriation, and the amendment specifically provides that it must be paid back January 1, 1947. It is my thought, and it is my understanding, Mr. Speaker, that the amendments considerably weaken the intent and the purpose of this bill. This is a workmen's bill. The gentleman goes only to the matter of compensation. I want to say for the information of the gentleman that in my opinion ten thousand and five hundred dollars every time an employe dies without dependents will not be sufficient to take care of this particular measure.

I want to suggest further, Mr. Speaker, for the information of the gentleman and of the House, that in my opinion this is an innovation in workmen's compensation. It goes deeper than the mere compensating for injuries. The real effect of this bill is to give the handicapped worker greater opportunity and it is to provide less risk for employers and because it is an innovation and because it is a strange thing in workmen's compensation provisions it is the thought of the framers of this bill that it is—strangely it is in the agreement with the principles enunciated by the gentleman from Westmoreland, a matter for the State. The bill in its original form provides a fund of one hundred thousand dollars to take care of second injuries. The gentleman would eliminate the appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars by his amendment. The gentleman would say that we get ten thousand dollars and that periodic payments should be made later—at what period we do not know, and that there should be payments to the amount of ten thousand dollars by reason of the deaths of employes without dependents and that then at the end of two years there would be just enough to pay back the ten thousand dollars without paying any compensation whatever to the man who otherwise would be eligible.

I ask the Members of the House for the sake of the workmen who are intended to be covered, to vote down the amendment and let the bill remain in its original form so that there will be something with which to pay the bill.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, we have begun consideration of a series of bills with the consideration of this particular bill, that are probably of greater importance to more people in the state of Pennsylvania than any other bills that we have had before us in this session. We are considering these bills under a very great handicap. The bills as printed and ready for consideration by the House were received to the best of my knowledge and belief on Monday night. To thoroughly read and understand the provisions of these four bills would be no mean task if two weeks were devoted to it. There are a number of the Members in this House who are willing and ready to give full consideration to any amendments that are offered that would in our opinion liberalize benefits to workmen under these four bills. I for my part, and I hope the other Members of the House will listen very, very carefully to everything that is offered, will demand and expect to receive a thorough explanation from the sponsors of amendments of just exactly what the amendments propose to do, and we shall want enough time to study and consider it here on the floor.

I want to say with respect to the amendments offered to Senate Bill 718 I have tried my level best to find in these amendments something that might be of benefit to the workman. That is all we are interested in in the consideration of these four bills. I do not find anything that in my opinion would benefit the workman or would be to the advantage of Senate Bill 718 when enacted into law, and therefore in agreement with the Majority Whip I think this amendment should be voted down.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Sorg.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall.

Mr. ANDREWS. Is the total amount of the appropriation for second injuries during the next biennium to be one hundred thousand dollars.

Mr. SORG. That is the provision of the bill, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. And who pays the one hundred thousand dollars?

Mr. SORG. The General Fund of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. ANDREWS. Does the gentleman have any statistics as to the probable drain upon the second injury fund that leads him to believe that one hundred thousand dollars would be adequate?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, that information is not available. We have no present law at this time, and as I said, this is really an innovation, and under the compensation law of Pennsylvania there is no experience that would give us the basis for any certain figures.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, under this act must the first injury have necessarily been incurred in industry?

Mr. SORG. No, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Under this act if a returned veteran who had lost an arm is employed and loses the other arm, would he receive second injury benefits?

Mr. SORG. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Does the gentleman from Elk seriously contend that if injured veterans are employed or they are accepted by employers that one hundred thousand dollars will cover them even in the beginning of the second injury?

Mr. SORG. I believe it will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. That is all, I thank the gentleman.

The gentleman from Elk and the gentleman from Delaware have well said that the second injury fund proposal is something new in Pennsylvania, although it is not something new in other states. We have had, I believe, and the gentleman from Elk can correct me if I am wrong—there was a previous attempt to establish a second injury fund based upon assessments made upon employers, and it is my recollection that the courts held that you could not hold one employer responsible for the injuries received by the workman of another employer and that therefore the second injury fund attempt ran afoul of the courts and never became law.

I am saying to you gentlemen that one million five hundred thousand dollars would be more adequate for a second injury fund if we are serious about the proposition that the men returning from the armed services are to be given employment and that employers are to be protected who employ them. This one hundred thousand dollars is an empty gesture; it is a mockery. It does not even mark the beginning of a decent second injury system. It might be worthwhile—I believe they have a second injury fund in New York State, do they not? I am asking the gentleman from Elk.

Mr. SORG. I am not aware of that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Might I suggest to the gentleman from Elk, who says that there is no experience upon which to base a second injury fund, that it is peculiar that the experience of other states was not drawn upon. I say to this House that the second injury fund proposal is so important, so essential to industry, to the returning veteran that it would be worthwhile for this General Assembly to remain in session another week if for no other purpose than passing legislation which would protect employers who want to hire men who are engaged in industry, would protect employers who want to hire injured veterans and which would protect the injured man.

I suggest to the gentleman on the other side that they do not abandon the most significant move in connection with compensation legislation that has been made in the State of Pennsylvania since the compensation act was conceived, that they do not abandon their attempt with what will prove to be an empty gesture, but that they take steps to continue this session of this General Assembly until they can come in with statistics and figures to show what would be an adequate second injury fund.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Majority Whip again, please.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I understood the gentleman to say that the five hundred dollars would not be paid into the fund until there was the second injury?

Mr. SORG. I did not intend to make that statement, Mr. Speaker, if I did.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman if he feels that it would be unconstitutional for the corporations of this state to pay in five hundred dollars into the state fund to be used for all employes in the state of Pennsylvania, voluntarily—if the corporations voluntarily made such contributions to the state fund?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I not only think that that is perfectly constitutional but I would have no difficulty in agreeing to having a bill passed that would permit that.

Mr. LOVETT. That is all.

Mr. Speaker, these great corporations of Pennsylvania who are so patriotic, I do not feel that there would be any question about those corporations paying into a fund to protect the injured veteran. I say to you that if it is unconstitutional for a corporation to pay into a fund to pay men who are injured in other industries why then is it not unconstitutional for working men in industry to pay into funds for sick relief, when the money of those men is used for men who become sick in those industries and they do not receive the benefits?

I say to you, as Mr. Andrews has said, this is a huge question and I realize that the Committee on Workmen's Compensation never met during this session until a week ago, and we then received these bills.

I will admit that with my knowledge I cannot intelligently answer for the amendments that I offered to this bill. I find no fault with the second injury fund—I am for it, but I do not think that the corporations of the state of Pennsylvania should saddle onto the taxpayers of Pennsylvania the entire cost of second injuries. That is why I have consistently said to you here in this House that the State Fund should be set up as a monopoly. You agree and I agree that the State Fund today has enormous profits. Can you imagine how enormous those profits would be if they had the entire business of the State of Pennsylvania? Do you realize in this State that the independent insurer can refuse to take compensation on certain risks while the State Fund must take that compensation? My friends, I want to say to you here today that I for one feel that we should stay in session until we can solve this problem and for industry to take its proper place in Pennsylvania.

Mr. GRANT. Mr. Speaker, I find myself in a very peculiar position. I see before this House a bill that will go a long way towards assisting every employment representative on every draft board in the State of Pennsylvania. The employment members of draft boards of the State of Pennsylvania presently are only confronted with one problem. When the boys come back from overseas and are discharged they have the right within a certain number of days under the Selective Service System to go back to their former jobs. Now, presently they do not desire to go back to those jobs; they can easily get a job through the employment set-up of the Federal Government, but there is one thing that the members are constantly being confronted with, and that one thing is that lots of worthy employers would like to take men back and give them employment in the same industry that they were employed in previously, but they cannot take them back because these unemployment insurance carriers will not insure them, and because of that condition they unwillingly are placed in a position that they cannot re-employ that boy. I feel if we would pass legislation such as is before us that would honestly take care of those boys that this legislature would have been a success if nothing else had passed. But unfortunately due to the way things have been railroaded through this session, here we have a compensation bill during the waning days of this session, and the powers that be have determined that we shall adjourn in a very short time, I feel that this Legislature has let down the soldiers who are returning on disability because of the fact that this Legislature did not take such a bill as is before us and give it the consideration that is due it.

I for one when I am campaigning with those boys who come back am going to say that this Legislature and the powers that be, that are controlling this Legislature, have let them down. I will also have to say that one of the Members from our side of the House presented an amendment, an amendment that I know nothing about, and I have not had it explained to me. I will say that probably if he had time to explain it to me, I would have given it every consideration, but I find out that even he could not explain it to me.

I only want to leave one thought with this Legislature at this time. Here is a bill, the nature of which would be the finest gesture that the State of Pennsylvania could make to the boys who were over fighting so gloriously for us, but unfortunately the powers that be have seen fit not to give this Legislature proper opportunity to sit down and work out a bill that would mean so much to them, that in some small way would have shown some appreciation to those boys.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman be willing to accept an amendment which would materially increase the appropriation carried in this bill?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker——

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield for interrogation?

Mr. SORG. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Cambria.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman be willing to accept an amendment which would materially increase the appropriation carried in this bill?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I would not be in position to do that.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman delay consideration of the bill until he can report to the House whether or not he would be willing, or whether the majority side would be willing to accept an amendment materially increasing this appropriation?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, reluctant as I am to refuse to extend any courtesy to the gentleman, I believe for reasons that I can give later, it would not be necessary in order to increase the effectiveness of this bill to increase the amount of the appropriation.

Mr. ANDREWS. We have the answer, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, there is evidently an attempt to put a lot of magic or mystery into this bill. There is no magic, no mystery, it is not that complicated. It provides that the Commonwealth will supply the difference between the amount payable for total disability and that payable under circumstances which have been explained so well by the gentleman on the other side.

I might say on experience, the figures that we may be able to arrive at from the experience of other states that have such measures, that the amendments would not serve the purpose; they would be entirely inadequate because there is so much difference between the manufacture of neckties and hairpins and the manufacture of coal and steel.

To confine ourselves to the particular amendments offered, I want to say that the paradox of the whole question here is the fact that this is an attempt to cut down the appropriation from one hundred thousand dollars to ten thousand dollars, which ten thousand dollars must be paid back from funds we know not when nor from where they must come.

On the specific question, Mr. Speaker, I ask the Members of this House to vote down the amendments that actually decrease the appropriation.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I do not offer these amendments to confuse or destroy the intent of the second injury fund. The gentleman stated that we wanted to decrease the appropriation. My amendments do not decrease the appropriation, to my understanding. My amendments set up a form in which the corporations and the insurance carriers will eventually pay for this act. I find myself in a position now on these amendments that I offered, that I have admitted I do not know too well how they fit into this bill, where I would withdraw my amendments to this bill if I could be assured that this bill would be recommitted to the committee so that we could sit down and study out and work out some way in which we could make a decent bill under which the insurance carriers and self-insurers would pay their share at least of the expense of this act.

Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the Majority Whip once more?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SORG. I shall.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, if I should withdraw my amendments would the gentleman be in a position to tell me that this bill could be recommitted for further consideration?

Mr. SORG. I would not, Mr. Speaker, and I would oppose a motion to recommit the bill. I think it is fully adequate in itself and it takes care of the situation.

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN

Mr. LOVETT. That is all. Mr. Speaker, I feel that somehow my amendments do confuse the House, and if you insist that you want to pass this kind of legislation with as little study as you have given it, I now withdraw those amendments.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, withdraws the amendments.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make one further appeal to the majority side, and by way of a preliminary ask another question if the gentleman from Elk will indulge me.

Mr. Speaker, if we put more than one hundred thousand dollars into this fund and it was not spent that money would remain in the fund, would it not? It would not be wasted?

Mr. SORG. It would not be; it would remain.

Mr. ANDREWS. And if the one hundred thousand dollars is inadequate then I would ask if some injured person does not suffer—if we exhaust the fund before the end of the biennium what happens?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, it is my opinion that regardless of the appropriation on this measure the liability of the Commonwealth to pay for total disability as the result of second injury is not affected in any way whatsoever.

Mr. ANDREWS. Does the gentleman so assert as a matter of record that the appropriation is immaterial and that the obligation of the Commonwealth is continuing?

Mr. SORG. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. From what fund, might I ask, would any second injury be paid after this appropriation was exhausted?

Mr. SORG. From the general fund, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Is it in the bill?

Mr. SORG. It is not, Mr. Speaker. The bill simply provides that the Commonwealth shall be liable.

Mr. ANDREWS. Would the gentleman be willing to insert, which could be done in fifteen minutes, a clause that this shall be a continuing obligation and that when the one hundred thousand dollars is exhausted that the second injuries will be compensated from the general fund?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I see no need for such an amendment.

Mr. ANDREWS. Wouldn't the gentleman be willing to substract five hundred thousand dollars from the Capitol Extension Fund and put it into this fund? Apparently not.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Section 5 Section three hundred and one of said act as last amended by the act approved the twenty-sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred and forty-three (P. L. 639) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 301 Contributions by Employers Experience Rating

(a) Each employer shall pay contributions equal to the following percentages of wages paid or payable by him or it with respect to employment occurring prior to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and forty-two

(1) Nine-tenths per centum with respect to employment occurring during the calendar year 1936

(2) One and eight-tenths per centum with respect to employment occurring during the calendar year 1937

(3) Two and seven-tenths per centum with respect to employment occurring during the calendar years 1938 1939 1940 and 1941 [1942 and 1943]

[(4) A basic rate of two and seven-tenths per centum with respect to employment occurring during the calendar year 1944 and for each calendar year thereafter but the rate of contribution of each employer who has paid contributions under this act for at least four full calendar years whether prior or subsequent to the adoption of this amendment shall be subject to adjustment for each such calendar year beginning with employment occurring during the calendar year 1944 between a minimum rate of one per centum and a maximum rate of two and seven-tenths per centum in accordance with clause (c) hereof and for each calendar quarter in accordance with clause (f) hereof]

[(b) For the purposes of this section

(1) "Compensated Employe" means an employe to whom compensation was paid in a benefit year

(2) "Wages of a compensated employe" means wages which were paid to a compensated employe in the base year immediately preceding the employe's benefit year which wages shall be treated as though they had been paid in the calendar year in which the first compensation of the employe's benefit year was paid

(3) "Credit for reemployment" means for each employer the total of the amounts allowed as herein set forth for any former employes reemployed by him or employes resuming work commencing with the benefit years which begin in the calendar year nineteen hundred forty-one An employer who desires such a "credit for reemployment" shall notify the department in writing within thirty days after the end of the employe's benefit year that he reemployed within such benefit year a compensated employe For benefit years which began in one thousand nine hundred and forty-one or one thousand nine hundred and forty-two such notice may be given within thirty days after the end of the employe's benefit year or within sixty days after the effective date of this act whichever date is later If the department finds that any such employe did not receive benefits within such benefit year in excess of seventy-five per centum of the maximum benefits payable to him in the benefit year then for the determination of the "employer's experience" the total wages paid to such compensated employes shall be reduced by an amount equal to the percentage indicated in the following table

Maximum benefits received by an employe during a benefit year	Credit against wages paid to a compensated employe
Not more than 25%	75%
More than 25% and not more than 50%	50%
More than 50% and not more than 75%	25%

Such credits for benefit years which began in the calendar year nineteen hundred forty-one shall be applicable to nineteen hundred forty-two and credits for benefit years which began in nineteen hundred forty-two or thereafter shall be made for the calendar year in which the finding is made by the department and no attempt shall be made to relate such credits to the period in which the reemployment occurred

(4) "Employer's Experience" means a percentage obtained by dividing the total wages paid by an employer to his compensated employes less any credit for reemployment during the last three completed calendar years by the total wages paid by said employer to all his employes during such three calendar years

(5) "State Experience" means a percentage obtained by dividing the total amount of compensation paid from the Unemployment Compensation Fund during the last three completed calendar years by the total wages of all compensated employes for such three years such percentage to be adjusted to the nearest multiple of one per centum]

Each employer shall pay contributions equal to two and seven-tenths per centum of wages paid by him or it with respect to employment occurring subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-one Provided That notwithstanding the provisions of this section prior to the effective date of this amendment with respect to wages paid during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred and forty-four for employment occurring subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-one and with respect to wages paid during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred and forty-five for employment occurring subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-one such percentage may be adjusted according to the provisions of this act prior to the effective date of this amendment and provided further that with respect to wages paid during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred and forty-six for employment occurring subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-one and with respect to wages paid during each calendar year thereafter for employment occurring subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-one such percentage may be adjusted between a minimum rate of one per centum and a maximum rate of two and seven-tenths per centum in accordance with the following provisions of this section if the employer has paid contributions under this act for one or more quarters in each of the five calendar years immediately preceding the year for which the rate is applicable Notwithstanding the provisions of section three hundred eleven any employer who prior to the enactment of this amendment may have paid contributions on wages paid during the calendar year one thousand nine hundred forty-four or one thousand nine hundred forty-five for employment occurring prior to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred forty-four at a rate of two and seven-tenths per centum such employer shall not be entitled to a refund of any portion of such contributions paid on the basis that this amendment reduces the amount of contributions required to be paid with respect to such wages but such employer may make application for adjustment in connection with subsequent contribution payments as provided in section three hundred eleven of any amount which he has paid with respect to such wages which is in excess of the amount of contributions required to be paid with respect to such wages under the provisions of this act as amended

(c) The rate of contribution payable by an employer entitled to an adjustment between the minimum rate of one per centum and the maximum rate of two and seven-tenths per centum for each calendar year commencing with the year one thousand nine hundred and forty-four shall be determined prior to the due date of his first contribution for the year in accordance with the following table

(g) Successor-in-interest (1) Pursuant to rules adopted by the department an employer who prior to the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and forty-six acquires an organization trade or business in whole or in part from another employer shall immediately notify the department and for the purpose of ascertaining the rate of contribution of the succeeding employer his "Employer's Experience" shall include that of the prior employer as related to the whole or part of the organization trade or business acquired Such a succeeding employer shall receive full credit for the years during which the former employer made contributions as to the organization trade or business acquired

(2) An employer who subsequent to the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and forty-five transfers his or its organization trade or business in whole or in part to a successor-in-interest may jointly make application with such successor-in-interest for transfer of the "Employer Experience" of the preceding employer to the successor-in-interest including credit for the years during which contributions were paid by the preceding employer The department may allow such transfer of "Employer Experience" pursuant to rules and regulations adopted by the department only if it finds that the "Employer Experience" of the preceding employer with respect to the organization trade or business or part thereof as the case may be which has been transferred may be considered indicative of the future

"Employer Experience" of the successor-in-interest In the event of a part transfer of an employer's organization trade or business only that portion of the "Employer's Experience" relating to the portion of the organization trade or business transferred shall be transferred and credit shall be given to the successor-in-interest only for the years during which contributions were paid by the preceding employer with respect to that part of the organization trade or business transferred A transfer of "Employer Experience" in whole or in part having been applied for and approved by the department the preceding employer thereafter shall not be entitled to consideration for an adjusted rate based upon his experience or part thereof as the case may be which has been thus transferred

(h) The department shall promptly notify each employer of his rate of contributions for the calendar year determined as provided in this section and for each calendar quarter when modifications in rates are made in accordance with paragraph (f) The department shall [promptly upon written request from him] furnish each employer with a statement showing the base year wages from such employer of each of his compensated employes [the amount of benefits paid each of such employes and the period of unemployment for which they were paid] and the benefit year to which such wages relate The determination of the department shall become conclusive and binding upon the employer unless within thirty days after the mailing of notice thereof to the employer's last known post office address the employer files an application for review and redetermination setting forth his reasons therefor The department may if it deems the reasons set forth by the employer insufficient to change the rate of contribution deny the application otherwise it shall grant the employer a fair hearing The employer shall be promptly notified of the denial of his application or of the department's redetermination both of which shall become final and conclusive within thirty days after the mailing of notice thereof to the employer's last known post office address unless the employer shall appeal by petition from the action of the department to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County within such time

(i) The petition filed in the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County shall set forth the reasons why the employer deems the rate of contribution determined by the department is incorrect No question shall be raised in any such petition except such as were set forth in the application for review and redetermination by the department A copy of the petition shall be served on the secretary or his deputy The court shall fix a time for hearing the petition and after hearing shall enter such order affirming or changing the rate of contribution determined by the department as to it appears just and proper From the decision of the court an appeal may be taken by the department or the employer to the Supreme or Superior Court as in other cases

(j) Pending the determination of the correct rate of contribution payable by an employer where an appeal to court has been taken the employer shall be liable to the payment of contributions at the rate as determined by the department But if the rate of contribution is changed by order of court then the department shall without application by the employer make an adjustment thereof in connection with subsequent contribution payments as provided in section three hundred eleven of this act or the employer may apply for a refund in accordance with said section

(k) [The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment and shall remain in effect for the duration of the present war and thereafter until the end of the calendar year in which occurs the beginning of the first regular session of the legislature which meets after the President of the United States declares that the present state of war no longer exists]

Each employer shall be given notice of the filing of applications for benefits by his former employes as provided in section five hundred one Notice having been properly given as provided in such section no employer shall have standing in any proceeding involving his rate of contributions to contest the chargeability to his account of any wages of a compensated employe on the grounds that he was not given sufficient or adequate notice or opportunity to be heard

(1) The provisions of this section shall be effective only for the duration of the present war and thereafter until the end of the calendar year in which occurs the beginning of the first regular session of the Legislature which meets after the President of the United States declares that the present state of war no longer exists

Section 6 Section three hundred and three of said act as last amended by the act approved the twenty-third day of April one thousand nine hundred and forty-two (P. L. 60) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 303 [Period and Termination of Contributions (a) Any employer who or which becomes subject to this act during any calendar year shall be subject to and shall pay the contributions required by this act during the whole of such calendar year

(b) Any employer subject to this act shall cease to be so subject only upon written application to the department and finding by the department that neither (1) during the previous calendar year nor (2) during that part of the current calendar year which precedes the date on which such application was filed has he employed any employe (whether or not the same employe) in employment subject to this act for some portion of each of some twenty days each day being in a different week whether or not such weeks are consecutive] Wages Paid for Employment under Shipping Articles Except as specifically provided under section four hundred and four wages paid with respect to employment performed under Shipping Articles shall for the purposes of this act be considered as having been paid as of a date determined under rules and regulations of the department irrespective of when actual payment was made to the employe

Section 407 [Status Preserved During and After Military or Naval Service The secretary is hereby empowered and directed to promulgate such rules and regulations as may be necessary to preserve the compensation rights of any employe who enters the armed forces of the United States subsequent to the thirty-first day of March one thousand nine hundred forty and who is honorably discharged therefrom Such rules and regulations shall provide that the compensation rights of any such employe shall be preserved notwithstanding his entrance into the armed forces of the United States and such compensation rights shall not be adversely affected or prejudiced notwithstanding any inconsistent provisions of this act Provided however That no employe may be granted any right under the provisions of this section unless he shall have filed a claim for compensation within a period of one year from the date of such discharge And provided further That if under an Act of Congress payments with respect to unemployment of individuals who have completed a period of military service are payable by the United States such individuals shall be disqualified under this act for benefits until they have exhausted all their rights to such payments by the United States]

Compensation to Members of the Armed Forces An individual who shall have served in the active military or naval service of the United States at any time after the sixteenth day of September one thousand nine hundred and forty and prior to the termination of the present war and who shall have been discharged or released from active service under conditions other than dishonorable after active service of ninety days or more or by reason of an injury or disability incurred in service in line of duty shall be entitled to payment of compensation as provided in section four hundred and four (c) (d) and (e) with respect to an employe who has been paid wages during his base year of one thousand three hundred and sixty-six dollars ($1366) or more and whose highest quarterly wages during such base year have been four hundred and eighty-eight dollars ($488) or more Provided That (a) Such individual

(i) was employed in employment as defined in section 4 (1) at some time during the one-year period immediately preceding the date on which he entered active military or naval service and (ii) makes application for benefits under the provisions of this section in the proper manner and on the form prescribed by the department (iii) makes claim for compensation in the proper manner and on the form prescribed by the department with respect to employes making claim for compensation under the provisions of other sections of this act (iv) is qualified under the provisions of section four hundred and one (b) (d) and (e) (v) is not ineligible under the provisions of section four hundred and two and (vi) has exhausted all rights to which he may be entitled under Title V of the Act of Congress known as the "Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944"

(b) All claims for compensation filed pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be with respect to weeks ending within the two year period immediately following the date of such individual's discharge or release from active military or naval service

(c) The maximum amount of compensation payable to an individual under the provisions of this section as amended shall be reduced by the amount of compensation if any which has been paid or is payable to such individual under the provisions of this section prior to the effective date of this amendment

(d) No individual who is entitled to compensation under the provisions of this section shall be entitled to compensation under any other provisions of this act with respect to wages paid prior to the date he entered active military or naval service and

(e) No compensation shall be paid under the provisions of this section with respect to weeks ending on a day more than five years subsequent to the termination of the present war

Section 11 Section five hundred and one of said act as amended by the act approved the twenty-third day of April one thousand nine hundred and forty-two (P. L. 60) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 501 [Initial Determination of Compensation Appeals The department shall promptly examine any application for benefits or claim filed and on the basis of the facts found by it shall determine whether or not the application for benefits or claim is valid The determination of any application for benefits shall include the determination of the first day of the benefit year the weekly benefit rate and the number of benefit weeks payable The claimant and other affected parties shall be promptly notified of the decision and the reason therefor in writing except that no notification shall be necessary when the department shall approve a claim for a week of total unemployment Unless the claimant or other affected parties files an appeal from such decision with the board within ten calendar days after such notification was delivered to him personally or was mailed to his last known post office address and applies for a hearing such decision of the department shall be final and compensation shall be paid or denied in accordance therewith In the event that an appeal is filed with the board the payment of any contested amount of compensation shall be withheld pending determination of the claim but any uncontested amount of compensation allowed in any decision shall be paid notwithstanding any appeal which may thereafter be taken Provided That when a referee or the board affirms a decision of the department allowing compensation such compensation shall be paid notwithstanding any further appeal]

Determination of Compensation Appeals

(a) The department shall promptly examine each application for benefits and on the basis of the facts found by it shall determine whether or not the application is valid Notice shall be given by the department in writing to the claimant and each base year employer of the claimant stating whether or not the claimant is eligible under section four hundred and one (a) and if declared eligible thereunder the weekly benefit rate and the maximum amount of compensation payable Provided That where the "Employer Experience" of a base year employer has been transferred to a successor-in-interest such notice shall be given to the successor-in-interest and not to the original base year employer and Provided further That no notice need be given to a base year employer who has been released by the department from filing contribution reports

(b) Notice shall be given in writing to the last employer of the claimant stating that an application has been filed by the designated employe

(c) The department shall promptly examine each claim for waiting week credit and each claim for compensation and on the basis of the facts found by it shall determine whether or not the claim is valid

Notice of such determination need not be given to the claimant if the claim is determined valid but if the claim is determined invalid notice shall be given by the department in writing to the claimant stating that the claim is invalid and the reason therefor

Notice of such determination need not be given to any base year employer or last employer of the claimant unless such base year employer or last employer has filed with the department information in writing which might raise a question as to the eligibility of the claimant for any reason other than his failure to comply with the provisions of section four hundred one (a) in which event notice shall be given as provided herein

If an employer files with the department such information within ten days after notice required under section five hundred one (a) or (b) was delivered to him personally or was mailed to his last known post office address the department shall issue to such employer (i) a notice in writing of its determination with respect to each claim which is filed by the claimant for a week the first day of which is on or before the date on which such information is filed and (ii) a notice in writing of its determination with respect to the first valid claim which is filed by the claimant during the claimant's benefit year for a week the last day of which is subsequent to the date on which such information is filed

If an employer files with the department such information more than ten days after notice required under section five hundred one (a) or (b) was delivered to him personally or was mailed to his last known post office address the department shall only issue to such employer (i) a notice in writing of its determination with respect to each claim which is filed by the claimant for a week the first day of which is within the thirty-day period which immediately precedes the date on which such information is filed and (ii) a notice in writing of its determination with respect to the first valid claim which is filed by the claimant during the claimant's benefit year for a week the last day of which is subsequent to the date on which such information is filed

(d) The department shall notify any employer or claimant who has been notified as required under subsections (a) and (c) of this section of any revision made in the determination as contained in the original notice given to such employer or claimant

(e) Unless the claimant or last employer or base year employer of the claimant files an appeal with the board from the determination contained in any notice required to be furnished by the department under section five hundred and one (a) (c) and (d) within ten (10) calendar days after such notice was delivered to him personally or was mailed to his last known post office address and applies for a hearing such determination of the department with respect to the particular facts set forth in such notice shall be final and compensation shall be paid or denied in accordance therewith In the event that an appeal is filed with the board the payment of any contested amount of compensation shall be withheld pending determination of the claim but any uncontested amount of compensation allowed in any decision shall be paid notwithstanding any appeal which may thereafter be taken Provided That when a referee or the board affirms a decision of the department allowing compensation such compensation shall be paid notwithstanding any further appeal

Section 12 Section six hundred and one of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 601 Unemployment Compensation Fund There is hereby created a special fund separate and apart from all public moneys or funds of this Commonwealth to be known as the Unemployment Compensation Fund All contributions together with penalties and interest thereon received or collected by the department from employers under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the Unemployment Compensation Fund and shall be credited by the department to a ledger account to be known as the Employer's Contribution Account All moneys from time to time received and credited to the Employers' Contribution Account (exclusive of refunds made under section three hundred eleven) shall be paid promptly by the department into the Unemployment Trust Fund except as otherwise provided in [section] sections six hundred and one point one and six hundred five of this act

As often as may be necessary the department shall requisition from the Unemployment Trust Fund such amounts as shall be necessary to provide adequate funds for the payment of compensation as provided in this act Upon receipt of such requisitioned funds the department shall deposit them into the Unemployment Compensation Fund to the credit of a ledger account to be known as the Compensation Account and shall expend such moneys solely for the payment of compensation as provided by this act All moneys to the credit of the Compensation Account shall be mingled and undivided The department shall pay all compensation authorized by this act out of moneys standing to the credit of the Compensation Account

Section 13. Said act is hereby amended by adding after section six hundred and one a new section to read as follows

Section 601.1 Special Administration Fund There is hereby created a special fund separate and apart from all public moneys or funds of this Commonwealth to be known as the Special Administration Fund An amount equal to all moneys which have been collected as interest and penalties and which are hereafter credited to the Employer's Contribution Account together with all interest and penalties which are hereafter credited to individual employer accounts as interest or penalties on the basis of credits allowed by the department under the provisions of section three hundred eleven less an amount equal to all refunds hereafter made and credits hereafter allowed of interest and penalties under section three hundred eleven shall be transferred from time to time from the Unemployment Compensation Fund (Employer's Contribution Account) to the Special Administration Fund The moneys in this fund shall be used for the payment of costs of administration which are found not to have been properly and validly chargeable against federal grants or other funds received for or in the Administrative Fund Said moneys shall not be expended or available for expenditure in any manner which would permit their substitution for or a corresponding reduction in federal funds which would in the absence of said moneys be available to finance expenditures for the administration of this act But nothing in this section shall prevent said moneys from being used as a revolving fund to cover expenditures necessary and proper under the law for which federal funds have been duly requested but not yet received subject to the charging of such expenditures against such funds when received The State Treasurer shall make payment of obligations from the Special Administration Fund as herein provided upon requisition of the Secretary and certification by him that no other funds are available or can properly be used to finance such expenditures The moneys in this fund are hereby specifically made available to replace any moneys received pursuant to section three hundred and two of the Federal Social Security Act as amended which because of any action or contingency have been lost or have been expended for purposes other than or in amounts in excess of those necessary for the proper administration of this act and are available for such replacement whether or not such moneys were expended or the obligations covering such expenditures were incurred prior or subsequent to the enactment of this amendment The moneys in this fund shall be continuously available for expenditure in accordance with the provisions of this section and shall not lapse at any time or be transferred to any other fund except as herein provided

Section 14 Section six hundred and two point one of said act as added by the act approved the fifth day of August one thousand nine hundred and forty-one (P. L. 845) is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 602.1 Reimbursement of Funds The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby recognizes its obligation to replace and hereby pledges the faith of the Commonwealth that funds will be provided in the future and applied to the replacement of any moneys received after July one one thousand nine hundred forty-one from the Social Security Board under Title III of the Social Security Act any unencumbered balances in the Administration Fund as of that date any moneys thereafter granted to the Commonwealth to the provisions of the Wagner-Peyser Act and any moneys made available by the Commonwealth or its political subdivision and matched by such moneys granted to the Commonwealth pursuant to the provisions of the Wagner-Peyser Act which the Social Security Board finds have because of any action or contingency been lost or have been expended for purposes other than or in amounts in excess of those found necessary by the Social Security Board for the proper administration of this act Such moneys shall be promptly replaced by moneys [appropriated for such purpose from the general funds of the Commonwealth to the Administration Fund for expenditure as provided in section six hundred two of this act The secretary shall promptly report to the Governor and the Governor to the legislature the amount required for such replacement] transferred from the Special Administration Fund or by moneys appropriated for such purpose from the general funds of the Commonwealth to the Administration Fund for expenditure as provided in section six hundred and two of this act This section shall not be construed to relieve the Commonwealth of its obligation with respect to funds received prior to July one one thousand nine hundred forty-one pursuant to the provisions of Title III of the Social Security Act

Section 15 Section six hundred and three of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 603 State Treasurer as Custodian The State Treasurer shall be the custodian of the Unemployment Compensation Fund [and] the Administration Fund and the Special Administration Fund He shall give a bond or bonds with corporate sureties conditioned upon the faithful performance of his duties as custodian of such funds in such amount or amounts as shall be determined and fixed by the Executive Board of this Commonwealth Premiums for such bond or bonds shall be paid by the department out of the moneys in the Administration Fund All moneys belonging to such funds (exclusive of moneys on deposit in the Unemployment Trust Fund as provided in section six hundred one) shall be deposited by the State Treasurer in any banks or public depositories in which general funds of the Commonwealth may be deposited but no public deposit insurance charge or premium shall be paid out of moneys in the Unemployment Compensation Fund Any law to the contrary notwitstanding all payments from such funds shall be made under such systems of requisitioning and accounting as the Governor the State Treasurer and Secretary shall determine

Section 16 Said act is hereby amended by adding after section six hundred and six a new section to read as follows

Section 607 Moneys Advanced Under Title XII of the Social Security Act The Secretary is authorized and directed to apply for an advance of moneys and to accept the responsibility for the repayment of such advance in accordance with the conditions specified in Title XII of the Social Security Act as amended in order to secure to this Commonwealth the advantages available under the provisions of such title Notwithstanding the provisions of Section six hundred and two point two all moneys received under Title XII of the Social Security Act as amended shall be credited to the account of the Commonwealth in the Unemployment Trust Fund and shall be mingled and undivided with other moneys in such fund Such moneys thus advanced and placed to the credit of the Commonwealth in the Unemployment Trust Fund shall be subject to requisition for the payment of compensation as provided in Section six hundred and one with respect to all other moneys to the credit of the Commonwealth in such fund

Section 17 Except as otherwise provided herein the provisions of this act shall become effective the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and forty-five except that the provisions of section 6 and of subsection (j) (1) (z.1) and (z.2) of section one (section four) shall become effective the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and forty-five and the provisions of section five and of subsections (e) (k) (s) and (y) of section one (section four) shall become effective the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and forty-six

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1 (Sec. 4) page 6, line 16, by inserting lightface brackets before and after the word and figure "twenty (20)" and inserting immediately thereafter the following: "one or more".

Amend Section 1 (Sec. 4) page 11, by inserting between lines 22 and 23 the following:

(6) [Service performed in the employ of a state a political subdivision thereof or an instrumentality of one or more states or political subdivisions.] Service performed in the employ of any other state or any political subdivision thereof or any instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing which is wholly owned by one or more states or political subdivisions and any service performed in the employ of any instrumentality of one or more other states or their political subdivisions to the extent that the instrumentality is with respect to such service exempt under the Constitution of the United States from the tax imposed by section 1600 of the Federal Internal Revenue Code.

* * * * *

Amend Section 1 (Sec. 4) page 12 by inserting between lines 27 and 28, the following:

(17) Service performed by an individual for an employer as [an insurance agent or] a real estate salesman or [as an insurance solicitor or] as a real estate broker if all such service performed by such individual for such employer is performed for remuneration solely by way of commission or services performed by an individual as an unsalaried correspondent for a newspaper who receives no compensation or compensation only for copy accepted for publication.

Amend Section 1 (Sec. 4) page 12 by inserting between lines 20 and 21 the following:

(20) Notwithstanding any of the other provisions of this subsection services shall be deemed to be in employment if with respect to such services a tax is required to be paid under any Federal law imposing a tax against which credit may be taken for contributions required to be paid into a State Unemployment Compensation Fund.

Amend Section 1 (Sec. 4) page 15, lines 16 to 29 inclusive by striking out all of said lines.

Amend Section 1 (Sec. 4) page 16, lines 1 to 4 inclusive by striking out all of said lines and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

[(s)] (u) "Total Unemployment", [An individual shall be deemed totally unemployed with respect (1) to any week during which he performs no services for which remuneration is paid or payable to him or (2) to any week less than fulltime work if the remuneration paid or payable to him does not exceed three dollars ($3.00).] means the total lack of any employment or wages payable on any day including employment not subject to this act.

* * * * *

Amend Section 1 (Sec. 4) page 18, lines 28 and 29 by striking out all of said lines.

Amend Section 1 (Sec. 4) page 19, lines 1 and 2 by striking out all of said lines and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

[(v)] (z) "Week" means any calendar week ending at midnight Saturday or [the equivalent thereof as determined in accordance with general rules adopted by the department] any seven consecutive calendar days or each accumulation of four effective days which need not be consecutive.

* * * * *

[(w)] (z.a) "Effective day" means a full day of total unemployment provided such day falls within a week in which an employe had four or more days of total unemployment and provided further that only those days of total unemployment in excess of three days within such week shall be deemed "effective days" An employe who is employed on a shift continuing through midnight shall be deemed to have been employed only on the day beginning before midnight with respect to such shift.

Amend Section 8 (Sec. 401) page 41, lines 23 to 26 inclusive by striking out all of said lines and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

(a) [Has within his base year been paid wages of fifty dollars in each of two separate calendar quarters during his base year.] Has during his base period been paid wages equal to not less than the amount appearing in column "C" of the table in section four hundred four of the line on which in column "B" of that table appears his weekly benefit rate. Provided, however; That an unemployed individual who has paid wages for more than one calendar quarter of his base period but who has not been paid wages in an amount equal to the amount appearing in column "C" of the table in section four hundred four thereof on the line in which in column "B" there appears his weekly benefit rate but has been paid an amount of wages equal to or greater than the amount appearing in column "C" of the table on the line immediately above the line on which appears his weekly benefit rate shall be deemed to have qualified for the weekly benefit rate and the maximum total benfits in the benefit year appearing on the line in the table immediately above the line in which falls the wages paid in the highest quarter of his base period.

Amend Section 8, (Sec. 401), page 42, line 17, by inserting after the word "and" the following:

Provided, however, That subject to such limitations and conditions as the department may prescribe an unemployed individual shall not be ineligible by reason of unavailability for work during a period of vocational training in a vocational training program maintained by a Federal, State or other public agency when his unavailability is due solely to requirements with respect to attendance at and completion of such training and Amend Section 9 (Sec. 402), page 43, line 15, by inserting after the word "week" the following: or accumulation of four effective days or waiting period credit for any week.

Amend Section 9 (Sec. 402), page 45, line 4, by striking out the word "fourth" and inserting in lieu thereof: third.

Amend Section 9 (Sec. 402) page 45, lines 22, 23 and 24, by striking out all of said lines.

Amend Section 10 (Sec. 404) page 46, lines 6 to 28 inclusive by striking out the words "Rate and Amount of Compensation. Com-" in line 6, all of lines 7 to 28 inclusive.

Amend Section 10 (Sec. 404) page 47, lines 1 to 29 inclusive by striking out all of said lines.

Amend Section 10 (Sec. 404) page 48, lines 1 to 29 inclusive by striking out all of said lines.

Amend Section 10 (Sec. 404) page 49, lines 1 to 13 inclusive by striking out all of said lines and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

Rate and Amount of Compensation.—Compensation shall be paid with respect to each eligible employe whose benefit year began prior to June first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-three, in accordance with the provisions of this act prior to that date, and with respect to each eligible employe whose benefit year begins subsequent to May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and forty-three, and who is totally unemployed and is not disqualified under any provisions of this act, at a weekly rate and for a number of weeks to be determined in accordance with the following provisions by reference to Table I, if the balance in the Unemployment Compensation Fund is in excess of one and one-half times the highest amount paid out for compensation during any twelve consecutive months, or to Table II, if the balance in said fund is equal to or less than one and one-half times the highest amount paid out for compensation during any twelve consecutive months as set forth in the tables in this section.

(a) The employe's weekly benefit rate shall be that rate which appears in "PART B" and which is on the same horizontal line in "PART A" as the interval which includes his "highest quarterly wage."

(d) The "highest wages" of an employe shall be the total wages (computed to the nearest dollar) which were paid to such employe in that calendar quarter in which such total wages were highest during the base year.

(e) The maximum number of weeks for which an employe may receive compensation for total unemployment during a benefit year shall be the number of weeks which appears at the top of a column under "PART C", to be ascertained by locating on the same horizontal line on which his weekly benefit rate appears the interval which includes the total wages paid to him during his base year.

Amend Section 10 (Sec. 404) page 54, lines 1 to 20 inclusive by striking out all of said lines.

Amend Section 10 (Sec. 404) page 55, lines 1 to 20 inclusive by striking out all of said lines, and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

Rate and Amount of Compensation. Compensation shall be paid with respect to each eligible employee whose benefit year began prior to June first one thousand nine hundred forty-five in accordance with the provisions of this act prior to that date and with respect to each employee whose benefit year begins subsequent to May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred forty-five in accordance with the following provisions of this subsection.

(a) The employee's weekly benefit rate shall be the amount appearing in Column "B" in the table in this subsection on the line on which in Column "A" of such table there appears the total wages paid to such individual in that quarter of his base period in which such total wages were highest.

(b) Weekly Benefit for Unemployment—Each eligible individual who is totally unemployed with respect to any week shall be paid with respect to such week a benefit in an amount equal to his weekly benefit rate.

(c) Duration of Benefits—Any otherwise eligible individual shall be entitled during any benefit year to the amount appearing in Column "D" of the table in this section on the line on which in Column "B" of that table appears his weekly benefit rate.

Amend the bill, page 69, by inserting between lines 9 and 10 the following:

Section 17. Sections five hundred one, five hundred four and five hundred five of said act as last amended by the act approved the twenty-third day of April, one thousand nine hundred forty-two, (Pamphlet Laws 60) are hereby further amended to read as follows:

Section 501. Initial Determination of Compensation Appeals. The Department shall promptly examine any application for benefits or claim filed and on the basis of the facts found by it shall determine whether or not the application for benefits or claim is valid. The determination of any application for benefits shall include the determination of the first day of the benefit year the [weekly] benefit rate and the number of benefit weeks or accumulations of four effective days payable. The claimant and other affected parties shall be promptly notified of the decision and the reasons therefor in writing except that no notification shall be necessary when the department shall approve a claim for a week of total unemployment. Unless the claimant or other affected parties files an appeal from such decision with the board within ten calendar days after such notification was delivered to him personally or was mailed to his last known post office address and applies for a hearing such decision of the department shall be final and compensation shall be paid or denied in accordance therewith. In the event that an appeal is filed with the board the payment of any contested amount of compensation shall be withheld pending determination of the claim, but any uncontested amount of compensation allowed in any decision shall be paid notwithstanding any appeal which may thereafter be taken. Provided, That when a referee or the board affirms a decision of the department allowing compensation such compensation shall be paid notwithstanding any further appeal.

Section 504. Powers of Board Over Claims.—The board shall have power on its own motion or on appeal to remove transfer or review any claim pending before or decided by a referee and in any such case and in cases where a further appeal is allowed by the board from the decision of a referee may affirm, modify or revise the determination or revised determination as the case may be of the department or referee on the basis of the evidence previously submitted in the case or direct the taking of additional evidence. When any claim pending before a referee is removed or transferred to the board, the board shall afford the claimant person designated by him and all other affected parties, reasonable opportunity for a fair hearing. The parties shall be duly notified of the board's final decision and the reasons therefor. A complete record shall be kept of each case heard before the board. All testimony at any hearing before the board, whether on appeal or otherwise, shall be taken by a reporter, but need not be transcribed unless the disputed claim is further appealed.

Section 505. Rules of Procedure.—The manner in which appeals shall be taken, the reports thereon required from the department, the claimant and employers and the conduct of hearings and appeals shall be in accordance with rules of procedure prescribed by the board, whether or not such rules conform to common law or statutory rules of evidence and other technical rules of procedure.

When the same or substantially similar evidence is relevant and material to the matter in issue in applications and claims filed by more than one individual or in multiple applications and claims filed by a single individual, the same time and place for considering each such application and claim may be fixed, hearing thereon jointly conducted, a single record of the proceedings made and evidence introduced with respect to any application or claim considered as introduced with respect to all of such applications or claims. Provided, That in the judgment of the board or referee having jurisdiction of the proceeding such consideration will not be prejudical to any party, and Provided further; That the board shall afford the claimant person designated by him and all other affected parties, a reasonable opportunity for a fair hearing which shall be public, and wherein all evidence shall be taken under oath or affirmation.

Amend Sec. 17, page 69, line 10, by striking out the figure "17" and inserting in lieu thereof: 18.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I will attempt to be very brief in my first statement and will then subject myself to examination and cross examination on this bill.

May I say, Mr. Speaker, initially that I was rather interested in what the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James, had to say about consideration of compensation bills generally. Very frankly, I think it is an imposition on the part of anybody offering amendments at this time to a bill as technical as this bill is, covering eighty pages. Frankly I think that I could defy almost anybody in the House to go through the bill in a month's time and really get what is being done in the amendments put in by the Senate, and then take an additional month to try to find out what I am trying to do, so I think I will have to ask you to indulge me, Mr. Speaker, and to have faith and trust me.

Whoever discusses the bill is going to give you his honest opinion of what his amendment or amendments are going to do. One of the things I want to say, one of the things I have been battling for on the floor of this House since 1939, is to put into effect in Pennsylvania compensation for partial unemployment. The history and the reasons for the payments for partial unemployment have been recited on the floor of this House so many times that I shall not review historically the reasons for it. The historical reasons I am leaving to the recollection of the Members who have been here and listened to the debates in other sessions. Pennsylvania at last has come into line, practically at the end of the line of those states which have adopted a plan in the matter of partial unemployment payments.

The bill as it came over from the Senate provided for the payment for the loss of wages due to partial unemployment. This system, which is in effect in almost every state in the union, and in my opinion a rather loose system because I think it leaves the way open to fraud—I mean that the computation of partial unemployment benefits based on loss of wages leaves the way open to fraud, there is an incentive to commit fraud, because the plan proposed and the bill originally provides for loss of wages compensation plus an additional three dollars, and somewhere along the line there is going to be an incentive for somebody to be just a little loose and a little bit careless with the Commonwealth's money to get that additional three dollars. Some, mostly very few employers, are going to use it as a device for getting additional compensation for their workers by giving the three dollars out of the State Fund. But that is not so terribly objectionable if we have to have it, but the amendments which I propose establish a system for paying unemployment benefits based upon loss of time. It is loss of days of employment for which we seek to compensate. It is the plan which is in effect in the state of New York and has been for a few years, and from the best information I can gather is working out very well administratively and can be worked much better in my opinion administratively in Pennsylvania. It will compensate a man not for loss of wages within the benefit limits plus three dollars, with an incentive for grasping for money which does not belong to him, but will give him compensation for the actual time which he loses. The theory is that if a man loses time from unemployment under the act he gets paid for the time that he has lost, without any additional compensation. He gets paid for his time within the minimum and maximum limits under the schedule of the law.

Now, the next thing I want to do is to increase the minimum benefits from eight dollars to ten dollars. You know when we first passed this Act back in December of 1936, we had a minimum of seven dollars and fifty cents and a maximum of fifteen dollars, and I well remember a former Governor who thought it important enough to include in a call for the special session in 1942 the question of unemployment compensation with the demand that we liberalize the law with respect to benefit payments and at that time we were given a very liberal increase of the minimum from seven dollars and fifty cents to eight dollars. We fought for ten dollars then and got licked and we are fighting for ten dollars again, because the fellow that works in the lower bracket ought to get his liberalization as well as the fellow in the top bracket.

Then we are asking that the present maximum of eighteen dollars be increased not only to twenty but to twenty-two dollars, which I feel is very modest. My personal feeling is that it should be infinitely more, but I realize that we can't get too much; I am only asking a maximum of twenty-two dollars, which I consider only a fair amount of increase.

Then I go one step further. I am not satisfied with the duration of the benefits of twenty weeks. I want the benefits to be for the duration of twenty-six weeks, which is in accord with the recommendation of the Council of State Governments which recommends an average of twenty-six weeks and not twenty. New York State, I think, is paying about twenty-four or twenty-five weeks, I am not certain. Many other states are much more liberal than we are. We have not heard from anywhere in the nation that extending the duration limits beyond twenty weeks has wrecked any fund or may wreck any fund in the future.

And then, Mr. Speaker, we have certain other minor but important amendments. We are cutting down on the question of coverage for employers or rather an employer to come under the act if he has employed a person twenty days in twenty weeks, that is at least one day in one week of twenty weeks a year. We want to get the fellow in who has been discharging part time employes, that is, the seasonal employer who perhaps works in any one year nineteen weeks, and who may carry over for the next year for nineteen weeks. He may have a payroll over a thirty week period in two years—and this has happened, a payroll running into millions of dollars, but because in each of two years he has not been in business twenty weeks he has contributed nothing into the fund, and dumped back on the labor market thousands of employes who receive no compensation whatsoever. So we are cutting that down to provide to cover any employee who works at least one day in one week. Let us get all employes covered, extend the coverage to all employes.

Another thing we want to do is to take care of employes who may be the subject of or become a part of the vocational program in industry. We are told by the War Manpower Commission that there are thirty-two thousand industries today in America that have inaugurated a vocational training program, and perhaps thousands upon thousands of men returning at the end of the war will go into this vocational program, and we think they ought to be covered. We are striking out of the bill what I consider a rather vicious proposal, the eligibility distinction with respect to a worker.

There is an attempt to take out from under the act a man who is discharged for willful misconduct in connection with his work. I have turned that term over in my mind now for the past several months. We discussed this particular phrase and that particular phrase of the amendments when the Joint State Government Commission went over its findings, and I still can not get my legal mind set with respect to what might be willful misconduct with respect to a man's work. Could it be willful misconduct under the version of an antagonistic foreman or could it be the boss who thinks it is willful misconduct to over ride his foremen, or could it be willful misconduct by some magic formula that I cannot find? I am thinking of many industries which have unions and which work together beautifully, where they set up machinery for disputes. Is it going to be the grievance committee that will determine the matter of penalizing a man? Shall we accept the findings of a grievance committee to settle disputes without someone having a club over the grievance committee or the employer or the worker? I think that the term "willful misconduct of an employee on the job" is too much of an opportunity and gives too wide a range for all sorts of differences of opinion in all sorts of industries in Pennsylvania to give us a good working rule, and I am very much afraid, Mr. Speaker, that we might break down in Pennsylvania the fine machinery for the settlement of disputes between employer and employee. So I think we ought to take out that disturbing amendment, and in my amendments I strike out that provision.

That generally, Mr. Speaker, represents the amendments which I propose to offer. We are not asking too much of a minimum, we are not asking too much of a maximum, and as I said, if I had it my way it would be a lot more. The fund now is well over six million dollars and getting bigger. We ought to keep this fund big enough to take up the slack and take up unemployment if and when it hits us. We have got to bear in mind that industry is making a contribution, not paying a tax. They are making a contribution to the workers of Pennsylvania, they are making a contribution and they are paying in addition to wages money for something which Pennsylvania gives its industries, and I defy any other state to say that they can do as well, a labor pool of skilled workers that takes its place second to none. Industry in Pennsylvania profits from the skilled labor pool that we have in Pennsylvania, and pays a very little bit for these men when unemployment comes. I say, Mr. Speaker, that industry on the other hand might be hit a very terriffic wallop if we do not have adequate moneys for unemployment insurance should great unemployment occur and the fund is not adequate, if the amounts of money are not adequate, because if we ever hit the bottom of the barrel again we will have to come back here in session and set up emergency taxes. We still have emergency taxes and we may have to put emergency taxes on top of emergency taxes, and if we ever get to that time, Mr. Speaker, the worker is not going to have money to pay the taxes; it is going to be industry that will have to stand the brunt, and I am thinking it is now that industry ought to be contributing the money when it has the money, when they are making the money and provide for the man out of a job and keeping him from want and keeping him from need so that we will not have to pay relief in Pennsylvania. If we get as liberal as we intended to be all these years, as liberal as I hoped Arthur James would have been, only he ran out on us, and as liberal as Edward Martin said he wanted to be, I think we can go along in this small measure in not only being liberal, but to quote again the gentleman from Westmoreland, let's be fair.

Mr. McDOWELL. Mr. Speaker, as I rise this afternoon to discuss and debate this bill with you, I am mindful of the importance of this legislation as it exists in the United States and particularly in Pennsylvania. It covers a situation that is common, and perhaps too common, of what happens when an unemployed individual presents himself at an employment office and says, "I want a job." They have no job available for him and say to him, "Until such time as we can furnish a job we shall pay you benefits under unemployment compensation at the rates set forth in your particular class."

It is important that we raise our sights now while we are enjoying war-time prosperity, because there are dark clouds on the horizon. Not more than several weeks ago the newspaper "Labor" which is delivered to all of us in the House carried the remarks of Senator O'Mahoney who predicted that unless a proper program was carried out there would be unemployment to the extent of nineteen million jobs. Labor leaders have likewise shown great concern about what is before us in the next two or three years. Some of their estimates do not however approach nineteen million jobless in the United States. The Klippinger letter, and other clip sheets out of Washington, advising industry and keeping it posted so that it may make plans for the future, are indications of the issues that place before industry and labor the question, "What shall we do about this situation?" We are hearing about full employment bills and other measures designed by Congress to alleviate the situation and take away from the nation the curse of unemployment.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, as we consider this measure this afternoon let us not forget that unemployment compensation is a part of the broad general social program adopted in the middle '30's and it is but one of those sections of the Social Security Act which makes provision for the States to set up their own individual unemployment compensation acts, which we did in the special session of 1936. We began collecting contributions in 1937 and started paying benefits January 1, 1938 and have paid them since that time.

In order that we may appreciate the magnitude of the problem confronting us this morning as we discuss House Bill 658, let me say this to you and remind you that in the Unemployment Trust Fund in the Federal Treasury in Washington there are some seven billion dollars earmarked for the benefit of fifty-one subdivisions of the United States that are included in the Act. Pennsylvania's share of the seven billion dollar fund is now five hundred seventy-six million dollars as of April 1, the last figures available from the Department of Labor and Industry in this Commonwealth.

When you talk about that fund you must realize, as the gentleman from Philadelphia has said, it is not money that belongs to ten million people in Pennsylvania; it is a fund contributed by industry under the provisions of the Federal Act, administered by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and covers over three million six hundred thousand workers, in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Of that fund, we are trustees, and it is not for us this morning to take any other position than to be trustees of that fund.

After the adoption of the Federal provision, Pennsylvania put into effect an Act which was comparable to that of any of the states of the United States. Since that time we have with one exception at each session of the Legislature made improvements in the Act until at the present time House Bill 658 provides certain additional benefits, and additional steps were taken to take care of the problem that presents itself in the light of future events.

It reduces the waiting period from two weeks to one week. We have covered and included in the bill for the first time maritime workers; we have placed in the bill a system of partial payments based upon the theory of loss of earnings which is the underlying theory of our Act and has been since its enactment. And I might add that that particular provision is in effect in all the states of the United States but New York.

The bill also provides a new schedule of benefits raising the present maximum from eighteen dollars to twenty dollars and the period of duration from sixteen weeks to twenty weeks. In addition to the benefits which inure directly to labor and to the unemployed, those that are covered by the Act, we have expanded the coverage. The bill provides that any employer of one or more in any day is covered by the Act, thereby eliminating the evasions and avoidances that we have experienced in the past.

We have also eliminated the provision in regard to financial eligibility. Heretofore the eligibility provision in regard to previous earnings was based, in the old Act, upon the sum of fifty dollars in two quarters of the base year. Feeling that that was in some cases not beneficial to a number of people who could possibly come in under the fund, we have eliminated that and put it upon the figure of two hundred twelve dollars in any base period—two hundred forty dollars as opposed to the three hundred dollar provisions in the amendments offered by the other side.

In addition the bill provides for a freezing of Veterans' benefits. Without any regard for the basis of earnings of any member of the armed forces who returns and is eligible when he comes back we automatically say to that veteran that he is frozen and he is entitled to twenty dollars for twenty weeks regardless of the base earnings.

With that background history of this type of legislation and what we have done to the Act in Pennsylvania, I think we are in position to discuss the amendments that have been offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, and I would like to categorically and without too much time discuss the twenty-one amendments which I appreciate are not in the form in which we usually find these things. I believe, however, it will be beneficial to every one of us to appreciate just what those amendments intend to do and we will thereby be enabled to point out the points of difference.

Amendment 1 provides that we strike out the provisions existing at the present time, and which have existed since the enactment of the Act in 1936, for coverage in the guise of employment of an employe of one day out of twenty separate weeks. As I previously mentioned, we have eliminated that provision from the present bill, and the coverage now in Bill 658 extends to any employer employing anyone for one day.

It is the intention of the gentleman from Philadelphia to go back retroactively in an attempt to secure contributions from those who were within the provisions of the Act to the one to twenty day provisions. I believe there would be serious doubt as to the constitutionality, and it would be impracticable from an administrative viewpoint to go back and make the collections necessary under the retroactive amendment.

To Amendment 2 the same remarks apply; it covers the same situation.

Amendment 3 covers and redefines exemptions that extend to municipal and state employes. An exemption of state and municipal employes is presently in the bill, and I am informed that the Department has had no problem that has arisen under this provision. Therefore I see no necessity for a rewriting or possible clarification as long as the exemption which they seek already exists.

Amendment 4 is an attempt to exclude from the provision, or to remove from the exemptions contained in the bill, all insurance agents and insurance solicitors. This type of employe is presently exempt under the Federal law, and our bill in conformity exempts them. If in the interim, or before the next session of the Legislature, the Federal government decides that they shall not be exempt, the catch-all clause which I will speak about later will catch them and cover them without loss to our own fund.

Amendment 5 in regard to coverage of all those not specifically enumerated in our bill, but which are found to be covered under any of the Federal laws, will be brought in under the catch-all provision and be included in our computations. That is already in our bill in almost the same language and the same phraseology in another section.

Amendments 6 and 7 provide for the day base plan or the effective day plan about which the gentleman from Philadelphia spoke in his opening remarks. I have already indicated to this House that New York is the only state that has the effective day plan, but the gentleman from Philadelphia neglected to explain to the House, or perhaps it was an oversight in discussing the success of the New York plan, that whereas the New York plan is based upon a loss of time basis, and in the estimation of the gentleman from Philadelphia is a fairer provision than the one we propose, nevertheless the State of New York at the instance of Governor Lehman insisted that a maximum of a twenty-four dollar top be included in order to take care of any possible abuses of the day base plan, so that they combined indirectly in the New York plan some of the features of the loss of earnings plan which we are asking this House to adopt today because of its uniformity with the laws of the other states.

The plan which is being proposed in Senate Bill 658 is based completely upon the weekly benefit rate which the employe would receive if he were totally unemployed. In other words, if his basic rate were fifteen dollars, he would not be entitled to partial benefits unless the earnings during the week of partial employment were less than the weekly benefit rate of fifteen dollars.

Under the New York plan it is possible for a man who earns the first two days of the week less than the amount of twenty-four dollars, at the same time for the remaining four successive days he will receive the full amount of the benefit that he would have received if he had been totally unemployed.

A committee of our own state government, in making a survey of the plans adopted in our neighboring sister state, was unanimously, with but one exception, of the opinion that the loss of earnings plan for partial payment was more fair and equitable than the one that was adopted in the State of New York. For that reason it was included in Senate Bill 658.

Amendment 8 eliminates the provision of Senate Bill 658 in that it would charge the employers' account for the first three weeks of compensation pay. Senate Bill 658 provides that no charge shall be made to the employers' account until three weeks have been fully paid, the charge being made on the fourth week.

It is impossible to appreciate the extent of this amendment unless we also realize that Senate Bill 658 changes the method of charging on employers' experience rating by adopting the figure of one thousand three hundred sixty-six dollars, and the elimination of the reemployment credits that have heretofore existed in the bill. I am informed by statisticians of the Department that the change affects no saving to the employers and that as a matter of administration the charge beginning on the fourth week instead of the first week, the benefits to the employer, because of the change, have been eliminated by the elimination of the reemployment credit.

Amendment 9 again concerns the effective day plan and the loss of earnings provisions that have already been discussed.

Amendment 10 provides for benefits, ten dollars and twenty-two dollars for uniform duration. The gentleman from Philadelphia explained that our present fund was in excess of five hundred million dollars and increasing monthly. The fund in 1938 paid out more than it took in. Since that time we are all familiar with the trend nationally. Payrolls increased, payments to the funds increased until they reached the sum of one hundred forty-two million dollars. For this last quarter we have eighty-five million dollars collected. We have a prospect of further reduced contributions for the second quarter, which may not exceed sixty million dollars. We have only to point out to the House that with three million six hundred thousand employes covered under the bill, if and when unemployment in Pennsylvania reaches the staggering figures of the early '30's it is conceivable that we would have an unemployed body of men covered by our system consisting of one million six hundred thousand persons.

Under the provisions of Senate Bill 658, twenty dollars for twenty weeks, which would be four hundred dollars of benefits, multiplied by one million employes who would be entitled to compensation under this Act, makes a total amount of four hundred million dollars by which this fund could be reduced. A reduction of that amount, or any approximation of that amount, would immediately cause this fund to fall below the safety factor provided for in the experience rating provision and the provisions in the Federal fund.

It is very difficult in the face of a balance in bank of five hundred seventy-six million dollars not to ask whether it is possible to increase the benefits and the duration of benefits, but not withstanding that I say to you that with the uncertainty that exists—and it is solely for that reason because you have to balance the interests of the employer and the employe because of their inherent interest in this fund, that we in this Legislature should treat this fund as a trust fund, and preserve that fund in order that we can accomplish the very things that the gentleman from Philadelphia says we should accomplish, namely, that industry by voluntary contributions will have allowed a fund to accumulate in line with the experiences we have had. Ten years or less than ten years is not sufficient experience for us at this time to speculate as to what might happen, particularly when we know we are entering an era of cut-backs and uncertainty. If we were sure and if it were possible for us to gaze into a crystal ball and know what the exact unemployment figures would be, it would be very easy for us to compute the total unemployment in any given year, and multiplying by the total benefits that we would like to pay for unemployment we would be able to arrive at a mathematical computation with certainty; but we cannot do that.

Now, there is another point in regard to this matter. This act freezes the benefits to the returning veterans by giving the returning veterans a maximum of twenty dollars for twenty weeks without regard to the earnings of his previous pay period. In other words, if he had not gone into the service, and had he been entitled to a weekly rate of twelve dollars a week for fifteen weeks, we would say "We will ignore those provisions and we will give twenty dollars for twenty weeks." That twenty dollar provision is in line with the Federal Government's provision, which works hand in hand with the one we are now seeking to adopt.

I might also point out with regard to the benefits, because most of the discussion and debate will center on how much and how long, a comparison of the present situation in other States might be of interest to the Members of the House in order that we may know just where Pennsylvania stands in regard to its Unemployment Compensation Act, and in order that we may tell the people of Pennsylvania just where we do stand and what kind of a bill we do have.

A chart has been prepared as of last month covering all the States and territories included in unemployment compensation legislation, and it indicates as far as maximum weekly benefits are concerned, that there are three out of fifty-one states and territories that provide for more than twenty dollars maximum. Two others have proposed an increase over the twenty dollar limit, but as yet those provisions have not been enacted. Under twenty dollars, there are twenty-five that run anywhere from fifteen dollars to eighteen dollars.

If Senate Bill 658 is enacted Pennsylvania will be one of twenty which pay twenty dollars maximum.

On maximum duration of benefits, because these are brothers and sisters, there are seven states that provide for maximum durational benefits in excess of twenty weeks. There are four states that have proposed maximum durational benefits in excess of twenty weeks, a total of eleven states which either have enacted or propose a maximum durational benefit in excess of the provisions of Senate Bill 658.

Pennsylvania will, if we enact this proposed legislation, be one of nineteen states providing for a maximum duration of twenty weeks. The balance of the states will be governed by provisions providing for less than a maximum duration of twenty weeks. So as far as conformity is concerned, and so far as being in line is concerned, if statistics of that kind are important to show our relative position, I think it is very obvious that we can feel that this session of the Pennsylvania Legislature has moved up to where it can be considered consistent with good careful management of the fund that has been entrusted to us.

Amendment 11 provides for payment of benefits in case of vocational education. It is not my purpose to oppose an amendment such as this, because we all know it is very meritorious. Nevertheless, ladies and gentlemen of the House, the recommendation of the Federal Social Security Board which is very zealous with regard to changes that are made by the various States in the operation of this act, do not look with favor upon the engrafting of these things upon a system that is designed solely to take care of and to cushion the shock of unemployment. They think, and I believe correctly, that measures of this kind should be the subject of separate acts, if the program is to be adopted. For that reason that provision has not been included in Senate Bill 658.

Amendment 12 likewise takes care of the effective days which subject has already been discussed.

Amendment 13 cuts benefits from four weeks to three weeks. Senate Bill 658 provides that an employe shall be disqualified from receiving benefits if he has participated in an industrial dispute for a period of four weeks. The amendment seeks to cut the four weeks period to a three weeks period. On its face it would look as though there were an attempt being made to add an additional week of disqualification. However, this is not so in view of the fact that the waiting period under the bill has been cut from two weeks to one week, and we therefore have not changed the provisions that have existed heretofore in regard to that temporary disqualification in regard to unemployment resulting from industrial strife.

Amendment 14 is a proviso for disqualification if there has been willful misconduct. Most of the court decisions in the United States have held that social misconduct of an employe is ground for disqualification—I should say misconduct is held to be ground for disqualification. In view of these decisions and in view of the findings of the board, we felt that the insertion of the word "wilfull" would be to the benefit of the employe seeking compensation rather than to have the very general term "misconduct" used.

Pennsylvania is the only State that will have the words "willful misconduct" so as to more clearly define what is meant by misconduct. I appreciate the difficulties that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, had when he wrestled with the word "willful" because as a lawyer he knows, especially under criminal law and other branches of our law where the word is used, it is something that can be kicked around, but nevertheless he knows where it is written into law it is a word of limitation and not a word of generality. Rather than use the word "misconduct" we felt, as I said before, that it was to the benefit of the employee that we change the word "misconduct" to "willful misconduct."

Amendments 15, 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20 are merely amendments that concern the maximum rates of benefits and maximum duration of benefits.

Amendment 21, the last amendment, is an amendment covering three different points, one of which is in regard to the effective day, and if you decide you do not want the effective day plan as proposed by the gentleman from Philadelphia, then this amendment would not be necessary, because the effective day plan is not to be inserted in the Act.

The other amendments provide for appearance at public hearings in case of appeal. This is deemed to be unnecessary by our own Department because we have had no particular compaints, none that I know of, in regard to the conduct of the hearings. If someone desires to be present it is certainly possible for them to be present.

Ladies and gentlemen of the House, it might appear in this, the closing week of the session, if it is the closing week of the session, that a good many things are coming at us too thick and too fast, but I think you can understand and appreciate, because of the extent of the amendments offered by the other side, and because of the changes which I have detailed to you that are incorporated in this new Act that we are urging you to adopt, that it represents an honest, fair attempt on the part of the officials of this Commonwealth, the Governor, the Senate of Pennsylvania that has already passed the bill, and I hope it will pass here in the House, to progress with our legislation on unemployment compensation, balancing the equities between the employee and the employer so that we may have this fund with us to do the very thing that it aims to do, namely, cushion the shock against the economic ills of unemployment.

I think I should make this one statement in regard to the statement of the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent. In the debate in the Senate, and during the discussion on the bill after it had been passed by the Senate he remarked, "I am for the bill but it doesn't go far enough." The Philadelphia Record in an editorial discussing the Dumbarton Oaks Conference pointed out the fact that the criticism of that Conference did not go far enough or went too far, and went on to say that the same criticism might be made of any progressive measure because someone will say that it does not go far enough or it goes too far.

There has been presented here, and I am sure those of us who have made a study of it will silently, if not publicly, agree on both sides of the House, if we enact Senate Bill 658 that we can go back to our local constituents realizing that we have done a good job.

MR. LLOYD H. WOOD IN THE CHAIR

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I am personally indebted, and I trust the Members of the House feel indebted to the gentleman who just discussed the bill, for a very fair discussion of it. He has contributed a great deal to our general knowledge of a tough technical subject, and I trust that we may have more attention and less noise in the House as the debate goes on. It is awfully tough to listen to anybody talking and discussing technical matters.

Mr. Speaker, I will very briefly cover some of the major points and issues. The day base plan which my amendments seek to put into effect in Pennsylvania is not just a plan that is in effect in one state, New York. They have had it since 1932 and it has worked very well. Let us take the loss of earnings plan, which has been in effect in the other forty-nine governmental units under the Federal plan, that has not been in effect too many years in this state too many years in those states to give us a real understanding of how it operates and whether it is good or bad. It may be good, but I am thinking, Mr. Speaker, of the railroads who have had that plan in effect many, many years and have used the effective day base plan proposed by these amendments, and I have yet to hear any criticisms leveled at the plan operated by the railroads.

The gentleman used some figures. They are not perfect figures, but they are figures that we will take as accepted figures. One million Pennsylvanians go on unemployment compensation, and twenty dollars for twenty weeks is four hundred dollars a year, and you have four hundred million dollars of our seven hundred million dollars used up in a year's time, and the fund is going to lose fast.

This is how it is going to work. Under my proposed amendment, twenty-six weeks at twenty-two dollars is five hundred seventy-two million dollars, so that the fund gets used up in one year with our benefits, and it gets used up in one year and three and a half months under this bill, so it does not make much difference whether that situation should arise under either bill we are going to have to do something in a hurry about the situation. But do not forget that the fund will not run out that easily because as soon as we start paying benefits, the employers begin paying the greater contributions, and you get back to the 2.7.

That is one of the troubles with the experience rating, you cannot tell in advance, you cannot put your money away to use it for a rainy day, but we have experience with the situation for the duration at least, and perhaps by that time we will know better where we are going in the future.

We are talking about maximum benefits for the period. From October to December 1944 the national average was $16.54, and the Pennsylvania average—and we hate to be behind all the time—is $15.42. If we start comparing benefits given by some of the various states, do not forget that some of those states are southern or midwestern states and are not industrial states. I would rather compare Pennsylvania with states like Ohio, New York State, and California, industrial states, whose conditions are more nearly like ours, rather than try to compare our states with agricultural states whose standards of living are backward and do not in any way approach ours. I would like to get them away from their standards and get them up to standards that we would like to have in Pennsylvania.

There is one other thing, and that is the reduction or the attempt to reduce that four weeks period during which a striker receives no compensation. Under the present law there is a two week's waiting period under which he receives no compensation. If he is in a plant engaged in a strike he must wait an additional three weeks, so that the man on strike waits five weeks, which is the time we are going to penalize the striker. We are going to penalize a group of men who are demanding their rights by strike. We are going to say to them "Don't forget, if you go on strike you are going to wait another week, because if we are going to give you the benefit of the one week reduction period we are giving it to everybody."

You are taking it away from a group of workers who have justifiably gone on strike and for a real grievance. I hate strikes, I wish there would be no strikes, but until the millenium comes I am afraid we are taking away benefits from an organized group of workers, and we are adding an additional penalty to their right to express themselves. As the Supreme Court says, "The right of free speech is contained in the right to strike. The one is contained in the other," and so we are adding another penalty by making it four weeks instead of three.

Mr. Speaker, with those observations and again with my deep thanks to Mr. McDowell I want to suggest to you that Pennsylvania is not being liberal enough. I think we can move along carefully, as we are doing, under my amendments to a point where eventually we may have an honest-to-God system of compensation for the workers of Pennsylvania, that will be a very small part of a real plan that possibly this country may eventually come to.

It is the product of America, it is the goods that the workers produced for industry and take away from industry to consume. It is a general all-around plan for the benefit of everybody, for the benefit of the consumer, for the manufacturer, for the business man, for the farmer who has products to sell, to try to keep the level of money rolling in, either in wages, or if necessary in unemployment benefits, to keep enough money rolling into our economic life blood to make less difficult the problems of industry and therefore of commerce generally. We ought to go higher if we can. Twenty-two dollars a few years ago may have been high, but it is not high today. Twenty-two dollars today represents a compromise, but I think as we look at the problem, as the gentleman has brought out, and as I hope I have, and I hope other speakers will look at it in the same way,—it is not a political matter. The minute it gets to be a political matter I wash my hands of it. We ought to approach it and go a little bit further. Let us try a little bit more because I think perhaps you will find over the years that we haven't gone far enough.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say at the outset that I believe this House owes a debt of gratitude to both the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, and the gentleman from McKean, Mr. McDowell, for the very able manner in which they have made an exposition of two separate viewpoints with respect to this bill.

I feel very certain that any of the Members of this House who have not even partly understood, and could not be expected to partly understand the provisions of this bill have now at least something to go on when they make their decision as to how to vote on the amendments.

I have fortunately, or unfortunately as the case may be, been under the necessity in the past of giving up a great deal of time to the study of unemployment compensation. I do not intend, however, to enlarge upon my knowledge of the matter or to discuss at any very great length the separate proposals in the amendments and the corresponding provisions in the bill which have been defended by Mr. McDowell.

I did stay up until three o'clock this morning with this bill, which I found was not enough time to give to it by many, many hours. When I came into the House this morning there was a great deal of doubt in my own mind as to what particular sections of this bill might be subject to amendment and what the amendments might provide for.

I have listened very, very carefully, I believe more carefully than I have ever listened to any other debate in my life, and I must now conclude that there is only one portion of the amendments which have been offered in which I can find justifiable reason for voting.

The question of the merit of loss of time or loss of earnings in the partial payment provisions is one which cannot be concluded without definite examples. After all it is true that the unemployment setup is designed to protect against loss of earnings and not against loss through idleness. There is only one amendment that has been offered as far as I can understand from what I have heard on which neither the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, or the gentleman from McKean, Mr. McDowell, was able to provide examples, and that is the amendment concerning willful misconduct. It might help both those gentlemen and the other Members of the House that will vote on this measure if I say that willful misconduct arises almost always because of infraction of established rules. The most notable example of willful misconduct is smoking in parts of a plant where it is forbidden, doing it habitually and willfully, and when there are occasions to charge employes with willful misconduct the charges are almost always supported by the established rules of the building in which that employee works.

Now, I cannot find in all the amendments offered a single thing that I would want to vote for except some liberalization of the actual benefits to employes under this act. I think too often when we discuss unemployment compensation, and particularly when we refer to labor, we have a deep impression that labor is only that segment of the industrial world that is organized and able to make its wishes and wants known. We forget that the unemployment compensation act also protects countless thousands of employes in other categories; we forget too often the clerks and stenographers and bookkeepers and elevator operators, porters and others who are the great white collar class who are also very much interested in the provisions of the unemployment compensation act as well as those who have rightly organized themselves into collective units.

I do not know exactly, because I do not have the benefit of having a copy of the amendments before me, in what particular section these actual benefits are changed by the amendments offered, but I do believe that the compensation fund or the credit of Pennsylvania—and this is an argument for merit rating being the means whereby we can look ahead and plan ahead—I believe that those funds are now ample to provide for looking ahead a very considerable distance on what might be the requirements of Pennsylvania unemployment upon that fund.

It is a little unair to take the total of one million persons who might be unemployed and multiply that by twenty dollars for twenty weeks, because that in the ordinary course of human events could scarcely happen. It is very unlikely that the very maximum of unemployment would be reached and at the same time extend the highest benefits provided in the act or the longest number of weeks provided for in the act. I feel no qualms at all about the security of the Pennsylvania Unemployment Fund even under the operation of the merit rating system. I should like to be able to vote for the provisions that extend the benefits to twenty-two dollars per week with a minimum of ten dollars a week, and I should like to be able to vote for an extension of the benefit time to twenty-two weeks. We do not have an amendment before us for that purpose, but if we can be notified when such amendments will come up for vote which will extend the benefit time from ten dollars to twenty-two I shall most certainly vote for that part of the amendments offered.

Mr. McDOWELL. Mr. Speaker, I feel that the discussion and the debate in regard to the partial plan has been somewhat inadequate, but as you can appreciate the limitations of time and also the difficulty of explaining a plan that works as this does, makes it very difficult to do it very clearly in the general run of debate.

However, I do think that Mr. James is entirely correct in saying that there should be a more adequate explanation of the situation. Under the Pennsylvania plan if a man's unemployment compensation benefit rate would be twenty dollars under this act, and during a week, any particular week, he earns the sum of fifteen dollars, which is five dollars less than the amount that he would be entitled to for a week of total unemployment the Pennsylvania bill would give to him the difference, five dollars plus three dollars, which would be eight dollars, which added to fifteen dollars would be twenty-three dollars, which is in excess of the amount that he would receive if he had not been working at all.

Now, that is still based on the theory of loss of earnings. Loss of earnings is the principle on which your act has been based from the time it was passed. It was the underlying principle of all the bills that were introduced by all of the States and which have been adhered to by all of the States with the exception of New York. Our commission which made this study felt that we should adhere to the loss of earnings basis rather than the New York plan, which is loss of time regardless of loss of earnings. They based their plan on loss of time, and under certain circumstances the unemployed employe would receive more money than he would under this loss of earnings plan. However, New York put a saving clause of twenty-four dollars tieing in loss of earnings because they realized the inherent danger in their plan, and which safety factor we do not have in the amendment proposed by Mr. Cohen.

Furthermore they have a plan in New York, which if the employer employs for one hour on any one of four effective days he would not be entitled to compensation, whereas in Pennsylvania that would not be the case because the total loss of earnings is the basis upon which we figure our compensation.

Then another matter in view of all the practical considerations involved, all of our employers will tell you at the present time, if they are not engaged in the business of filing reports, that simplification of reporting is a matter of serious concern to them, and that is the reason they do not like to see the Legislature get together, because they don't know what additional reports are going to be required. Therefore, we felt that under the loss of earnings provision, they could use the same report that they use for reporting their contributions, without increasing the work as they do under the New York plan, where the employer not only is required to report on his payroll, but he is also required to keep a time record. So we eliminated that duplication, or that extra superfluous report.

That seems trivial, and it sounded trivial to me when it was first explained to me, but all we have to do is to go over and look at the mechanics of these things, and if you will give consideration to the clerks who make these reports, you will find that that department is one that is most businesslike under the present conditions.

I neglected to mention that in our bill we have changed from a fixed base year to a shifting base year. Heretofore it has been impossible for our Department because of lack of machinery to take some twelve million reports every four weeks each year and until such time as they were able to handle such a voluminous number of reports, it was impossible for us to turn back to the shifting base year which we are now going back to because of the matter of the difficulties in administration, which difficulties have now been overcome.

In regard to the total amount of benefits, the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James, has expressed a desire to support an amendment raising the maximum to twenty-two. I would just point out to the House that the record of Pennsylvania for the last three years is one to be truly proud of, because when you examine the schedule of benefits that we had in 1942 and up to the present time, we find we began at fifteen weeks at thirteen dollars, or a total of one hundred and ninety-five dollars; we moved next to sixteen weeks at eighteen dollars or two hundred and eighty-eight, and we propose now to move to twenty weeks at twenty dollars, or four hundred dollars. In the past three years Pennsylvania has seen fit to add two hundred and five dollars to the amount that these people received three years ago. That represents substantial progress, because one hundred per cent is one hundred per cent, and it is two hundred and five dollars by actual mathematical computation.

I think too that if it were solely a question of another dollar or two we might conceivably stretch our conservatism, as the gentleman from Philadelphia wishes we would, but at the same time I walked back into my own home town and asked somebody about unemployment compensation. He employs three or four people, and for a long time there was no unemployment problem, and some of them as members of the old school well remember when they paid three per cent without any credit or anything else. You do not fire a stenographer in a law office today, because you can not get a new one, but at the same time the small business people of Pennsylvania have a stake in that credit so that they can continue to pay one per cent.

I feel very keenly about this and as we are deciding these broad sweeping amendments, let us look about us and see what made America great. We have got to take into consideration the individual intrepreneur who hires two or three or four people, because they contribute substantially to the welfare of the United States, and if they should maintain a record of employment they are entitled to the one per cent and perhaps the greatest part of the one per cent they contributed was never used to pay benefits, because of their lack of unemployment, should we further jeopardize the fund at this time, in view of the unsettled conditions ahead of us we might arrive at the point where conceivably we would cause the safety factor to come into operation and increase the costs of that little man's doing business.

Let me point out to you, if it is not obvious to you already, we never have any trouble when we have employment for fifty million people; we never have any trouble when our payrolls are in the billions of dollars, astronomical figures, and the contributions reach high levels. However, when we get into those periods of depression or recession of the economic laws or whatever you want to call it, we want to be sure that instead of raising the cost of doing business to the employer we make it as light as we can and try to maintain the rates that were set up, which have been worked out from biennium to biennium, and keep in mind that it was originally intended by those who supported this measure, and decided by them that it was three percent which was the proper tax they needed in order to accomplish the gradual accumulation of funds so that you always had a fund that is producing an income and revenue greater than the outgo.

We have not changed our system in this country, so that it is not self evident from the past record that we have made what the differences would be, and because of the steps we are taking I say that Senate Bill 658 represents something that labor and industry can say to us "You handled the matter properly."

In regard to the third point of difference of Mr. James concerning willful misconduct, if the word "willful" is obnoxious to anyone interested in the fund, I for one would be pleased to accede to an amendment. I want to say to you that the word "willful" was inserted because we felt that it enlarged the number of people that would be able to draw on the fund. If I go out here and kill somebody, my killing does not make it murder in the first degree; it must be killing with malice aforethought. If an employee is guilty of misconduct he is not arbitrarily excluded from the benefits under this act unless it goes farther and is willful misconduct. I leave it to you, ladies and gentlemen of the House for whose benefit was the word "willful" inserted?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Delaware will state it.

Mr. JAMES. May I assume, Mr. Speaker, that the various amendments will be dealt with separately as they deal with separate sections of the bill?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Not in this instance. The bill is on third reading. We are considering the amendments as a whole.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, is there any procedure whereby those amendments dealing with liberalization of the benefits and the time may be treated separately?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would say by a division of the question, if the Chair is instructed by the House how the division shall be made.

MOTION TO DIVIDE QUESTION

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I then move that the question be divided and that the division separate the amendments which deal with increasing the benefits and extending the time.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. McDOWELL. Mr. Speaker, as a practical matter that cannot be done, because the rate schedules include the day base plan. It would require the re-writing of all the amendments to accomplish the purposes which Mr. James seeks. For that reason I ask that we vote the motion down.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from McKean, Mr. McDowell.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McDOWELL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the gentleman from McKean that he means to infer that we cannot separate the amendments concerning increase of benefits and length of time or extension of time without bringing in also the rate problem?

Mr. McDOWELL. That is true, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know then from the gentleman on what basis he relies to reach that conclusion.

Mr. McDOWELL. Because, Mr. Speaker, in the schedules in the amendments offered by the gentleeman from Philadelphia he has included the day base plan or effective day plan which is not included in Mr. James' suggestion.

Mr. LEVY. A further question, Mr. Speaker, the mere fact that the amendment deels exclusively with the increase of benefits and the extension of time does not necessarily mean that it follows that the rate amendment must also be included.

Mr. McDOWELL. They are together, they were written together, Mr. Speaker; they are incapable of being separated, and you must take them in toto.

May I point out further to the gentleman from Philadelphia that others who might be in accord with the general principles that Mr. James has enunciated would not necessarliy agree to a uniform duration of this particular kind.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman from McKean turn to the amendments as offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia?

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the problem that we are concerned with now is an attempt to divide a question that is impossible of division, because to take one portion of the amendments out would leave a serious question as to whether we could consider the other amendments at all. The other amendments might be affected in such a way that we could not consider them at all.

I have, however, this suggestion to make, and it is not being made in a naive way either; I suggest that we adopt these amendments, let the Senate disagree and not concur then let us have a conference committee and fight it out there. I can assure the gentleman that what I have in mind is exactly what the other side wants, and I think we can work out a proper arrangement on the entire bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will read Rule 69:

> Any Member may call for the division of a question, which shall be divided, if it comprehends questions so distinct, that one being taken away, the rest may stand entire for the decision of the House.

In view of the explanation of the gentleman from Philadelphia, will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James, withdraw his motion?

MOTION TO DIVIDE QUESTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, in view of the explanation I do withdraw my motion and desire to make a brief statement.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that the very important questions of increases in benefits in this bill and extension of time cannot be voted upon separately from all other provisions I am going to vote therefore for all the amendments offered, in the hope that the program outlined by the gentleman from Philadelphiaa, Mr. Cohen, and I think probably there are a number of men who are in accord with that idea, can be adjusted in a conference committee.

Mr. McDOWELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the position taken by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. James, and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, for this reason: when we came in with a plan for improving and bettering our system of workmen's compensation we came in with nothing up our sleeves. It represents the settled good judgment of those who have worked on this thing and we believe that we have done what we should have done, so that for us now to recede from our position and to tactitly admit that the bill was insufficient in its inception, for reasons that have already been given to the House, I ask that the House vote the motion down.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The motion has been withdrawn.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to leave any Member of this House with the impression that I in my position have anything up my sleeve. I am conscientiously concerned about this bill in its present form, in only one particular, and that is that I do not believe, and I think there are some here who agree with me, that this bill as drawn does not carry sufficient liberalization in benefits to conform with the conditions of the times in which we live. As I said before, I have not taken this position lightly; I believe that I know at least a little something of what we are talking about.

In the last session of the Legislature we adopted the merit rating system which has been productive of very great savings to the employers of the state of Pennsylvania. That system has worked and it is working. It has not only saved money but it has created an incentive in business to make employment more regular, and I think now, having the experience of a great saving to the employers of Pennsylvania the time has come when it is right and proper and just to share with the employes some portion of the benefit.

Mr. McDOWELL. I rise, Mr. Speaker, to correct the impression that might have been left by my last remarks. Ladies and gentlemen of the House, we ask that you vote upon the amendments, because by voting for the amendments you are voting for them in the form in which they have been introduced by Mr. Cohen, and as I have pointed out, there are many objectionable features in those amendments. It is not for us here, having a bill that has been considered as this bill has been to anticipate any action which might be taken in a conference committee.

I might also say that in making my remarks in regard to the matter of having something up our sleeves, it was not directed in any way to Mr. James; it was merely this, that in presenting this bill to the Legislature, in presenting the program that has been agreed upon, we feel a lot better than we would if we felt that it was something that was elastic after debating the matter in the House.

We came in here and we offered what we thought the fund could stand, and that brings up the question of the adequacy of the fund. Sure, five hundred sixty-seven million dollars looms up large to us, but as I pointed out to you in the year 1938 which was about an average pre-war year we exceeded the amount of money that we took into the fund. We have no guarantee that we will not be taking out more than we put in in the near future. I might read this excerpt to you, because I believe it sums up some of the difficulties with regard to the adequacy of the fund.

> Beyond this problem of liberalization, however, is the more difficult one of fund adequacy. With the limited experience the states have had with Unemployment Compensation administration, it is impossible for anyone, regardless of how expert he may be, to state categorically that a fund of certain stated size is "adequate." Adequacy can be measured only in terms of probable drains, and the estimation of these must, in turn, depend on an estimation of the probable future of employment conditions. Certainly any catastrophic decline such as that experienced during the early 1930's would drag the fund balance with it, and it would be wishful thinking to indulge in the fancy that the Nation will not again experience a major depression.

The matter of adequacy of the fund is one of an honest question of judgment. We are sitting here today, two hundred eight of us, as a board of directors of a large insurance company, and we are being paid not only as directors of that corporation but we are also part of the directors of a large Commonwealth which is spending many millions of dollars, but at the same time this problem is disassociated from the other run of mine problems that concern the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, because we are dealing with money that is earmarked, and when we say that in our judgment this fund should be preserved and remain intact we feel that the provisions of the act, while they do not exactly show up in dollars and cents, still are in the bill itself. For instance no one has seen fit to ask about the probable cost of partials which are based upon the experience of other states and which might run from five million dollars to twelve million dollars. All of these amendments that are offered so change the whole schedule and scheme of unemployment compensation that you cannot affect one without affecting the other. For that reason we are asking that you vote down the amendments.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I realize that it is a matter of honest difference between Members of the House on the advisability of an increase in benefits and a proper extension of time. Therefor, Mr. Speaker, I request that the present House Bill being considered be passed over until an opportunity can be given those actually interested in amending section 10, (section 404) of the bill. We can very readily then take up the entire bill with the proper amendment tomorrow, which gives us ample time for the present consideration of adjournment sine die of the House.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The request to have the bill passed over requires the unanimous consent of the House. Will the House give its unanimous consent? The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Cohen and Mr. Lovett.

Messrs. Moran, Lane and Lovett asked for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. MADDEN and WEISS. RESOLUTION No. 64.

In the House of Representatives, May 1, 1945.

The eyes of the world are upon the city of San Francisco, where is convened the Conference of the United Nations, whose task it is to work out the solution of the tremendous problem of freeing the world from future scourges of war and its attendant inhumanity, privation and pestilence.

A task of this magnitude must have the unqualified support of all the people of each of the Nations represented at the momentous conference. Its success depends in large measure upon the confidence which the rank and file of the various peoples place in the efforts of their representatives who speak for them and who are formulating the plan which alone can guarantee the future security of the world; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, at this its regular session of 1945, hereby express to the delegates of the United States, and of the civilized Nations of the world cooperating with her, at the San Francisco Conference, its full confidence and support in the work which lies before them, and its unqualified faith in the success of their vast Honorable Edward B. Stettinius, Jr., Secretary of State shall never again recur, and that all wars that may be attempted by aggressor Nations in years to come will at once be subdued before they can spread to other countries or envelop the entire world; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, certified by the Chief Clerk of this House, be transmitted to the Honorable Edward B. Stettinius, Jr., Secretary of State of the United States, and Chairman of the American Delegation at the San Francisco Conference.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, we have now arrived at that part of the calendar of bills that were on first reading last night and are now on second reading. The calendars were not available until nearly eleven o'clock when we were called into the hall of this House. We have not had on this side, neither have they had on the other, an opportunity to read these bills. If you are going to proceed on the second reading calendar I would ask permission to have a Democratic caucus so that we know where we stand on these second reading bills.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman consent to any bills that were amended on second reading in order to keep them moving?

Mr. ANDREWS. Yes, Mr. Speaker, amended yesterday.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. That would be with reference to amendments that would be offered today, so that we can keep them moving for the Printer.

Mr. ANDREWS. That is all right, Mr. Speaker, if when amendments are offered they will tell us what they are about we will hold our caucus and decide immediately.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will notify every sponsor to see that you have a copy of the amendments.

Mr. ANDREWS. It is not the amendments, Mr. Speaker, it is what they are about. If they are explained on the floor of the House we will not have to caucus.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. REAGAN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Agriculture to meet during the session of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall.

Mr. CHUDOFF. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know from the gentleman from Lehigh as to whether or not his amendments have any effect on the doing away with the toll bridges in Pennsylvania?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Certainly they have, Mr. Speaker; the entire bill deals with doing away with the toll bridges.

Mr. CHUDOFF. But this will not affect the original purpose of the bill?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Oh no, no, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHUDOFF. I thank the gentleman.

On the question recurring.

Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 307), page 12, lines 17 to 28, both inclusive, by striking out all of said lines.

Amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 307), page 13, lines 1 to 7, both inclusive, by striking out all of said lines, and inserting in lieu thereof: This compensation shall be paid during [three] four hundred weeks, and in the case of children entitled to compensation under this section the compensation of each child shall continue after said period of [three] four hundred weeks until such child reaches the age of [sixteen] eighteen, at the rate of [seventeen and one-half] thirty per centum of wages, but not in excess of [four] six dollars per week, if there is one child; [twenty-seven and one-half] forty per centum of wages, but not in excess of [six and a half] nine dollars per week, if there are two children; [thirty-eight and one-half] fifty per centum of wages, but not in excess of [nine] twelve dollars per week, if there are three children; [fifty] sixty per centum of wages, but not in excess of [eleven and a half] fourteen dollars per week, if there are four children; [fifty-five] sixty-six and two-thirds per centum of wages, but not in excess of [twelve dollars and seventy-five cents] sixteen dollars per week, if there be five children; and [sixty] sixty-six and two thirds per centum of wages, but not in excess of [fourteen] eighteen dollars per week, if there be six children or more.

Amend Sec. 1, page 13, by inserting after line 28:

Section 4. Subsection (a) of section three hundred eight of said act, as amended by the act approved the twelfth day of June, one thousand nine hundred forty-one (P. L. 125), is hereby further amended to read as follows:

Section 308. (a) When compensation is awarded because of disability or death caused by silicosis, anthracosis, pneumoconiosis, anthrace-silicosis, asbestosis, or any other occupational disease which developed to the point of disablement only after an exposure of five or more years, the compensation for disability or death due to such disease shall be paid jointly by the employer and the Commonwealth out of moneys to the credit of the Occupational Disease Fund hereinafter created in the State Workmen's Insurance Fund in accordance with the following provisions: If disability begins between October 1, 1939, and September 30, 1941, both dates inclusive, the employer shall be liable for and pay fifty per centum of the compensation due and the Occupational Disease Fund fifty per centum thereof. Thereafter, depending upon the date when disability begins, the proportions of compensation for which the employer and the Occupaitional Disease Fund shall respectively become liable shall be: If disability begins between October 1, 1941, and September 30, 1943, the employer sixty per centum and the Occupational Disease Fund forty per centum; and if between October 1, 1943 and September 30, 1945, the employer seventy per centum and the Occupational Disease Fund thirty per centum; if between October 1, 1945, and September 30, 1947, the employer eighty per centum and the Occupational Disease Fund twenty per centum; if between October 1, 1947, and September 30, 1949, the employer ninety per centum and the Occupational Disease Fund ten per centum. The employer shall pay the full amount of compensation provided in this act for disability or death in all cases where disability begins on or after October 1, 1949.

Section 5. Article three of said act is hereby amended by inserting between sections three hundred eight and three hundred nine thereof, a new section to read as follows:

Section 308.1. The public policy of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is hereby declared to be that the method of computing wages as set forth in this section and the rates to be paid the disabled employes or their dependents under sections 306 and 307 of this act are just and reasonable.

Wherever in this article the term "wages" is used it shall be construed to mean the money rate at which the service rendered is recompensed under the contract of hiring in force at the time of the accident, except that if the disabled employe was at the time of the disability a minor and his disability shall continue after he shall have reached the age of twenty-one years, his average weekly wage for the purpose of determining the compensation payable under this act shall be determined on the basis of the earnings that such minor, if not disabled, probably would earn at the age of twenty-one years. In determining such probable earnings, due consideration shall be given to the employe's aptitude, education and experience fitting him for any employment not only in the trade or business in which he was engaged at the time of the injury but in any other trade or business. In determining such probable earnings the referee and the board shall have the right to receive into evidence as competent testimony the earnings of other employes of similar aptitude, education and experience engaged in a similar trade or business and findings based upon such testimony shall be final. The term "wages" shall include board and lodging received from the employer. Whenever the employe receives board and lodging as a part of his wages, the board shall be rated at fifty cents per day, and board together with lodging shall be rated at one dollar per day for the purpose of computing wages. In seasonable occupations the employe's weekly wages shall be taken to be one-fiftieth of the total wages which he has earned from all occupations during the year immediately preceding the accident, unless it be shown that during such year by reason of exceptional causes such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the earnings of the employe, in which case the period for calculation shall be extended so far as to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings. In continuous employments, if immediately prior to the accident, the rate of wages was fixed by the day or hour or by the output of the employe, his weekly wages shall be taken to be five and one-half times his average earnings at such rate for a working day, and using as a basis of calculation his earnings during so much of the preceding six months as he worked for the same employer: Provided, however, That if the employe regularly and habitually worked more than five and one-half days per week the weekly wage shall be found by multiplying his average earnings for working day by six, six and one-half or seven according to the customary number of working days constituting an ordinary week in his occupation or trade, where the employe is working under concurrent contracts with two or more employers, his wages from all employes shall be considered as if earned from the employer liable for compensation.

In cases where the employe has been in the employ of the employer less than one full week, and by reason of the shortness of time during which the employe has been in the employment or the employer or the nature or terms of the employment, it is impracticable to ascertain the average weekly wages as hereinbefore provided the average weekly amount which during the six months previous to the disability has been earned by other persons employed by the same employer under similar contracts of hiring, or if there are no persons so employed, by other persons employed by other employers under similar contracts of hiring under similar conditions shall be taken as the basis for the ascertainment of the weekly wages of such employe.

Section 6. Section three hundred nine of said act is hereby repealed.

Amend Sec. 1, page 14, lines 21 and 22, by striking out all of said lines, and inserting in lieu thereof:

Section 8. Subsection (a) of section three hundred twenty of said act is hereby amended, and subsection (g) of said section is hereby added, to read as follows:

Section 320. (a) If the employe is a minor under the age of eighteen years, employed or permitted to work in violation of any provision of the laws of this Commonwealth relating to minors of such age, compensation, either in the case of disability or death of such employe, shall be [one hundred and ten per centum of] double the amount that would be payable to such minor if legally employed. The amount by which such compensation shall exceed that provided for in case of legal employment may be referred to an "additional compensation."

Section 9. Sections four hundred twenty-eight and four hundred thirty-four of said act are hereby amended to read as follows:

Amend Sec. 1, page 18, by inserting between lines 4 and 5:

Section 434. A final receipt given by an employe or dependent entitled to compensation under a compensation agreement or award reciting that the disability or dependency has terminated shall be prima facie evidence of the termination of the employer's liability to pay compensation under such agreement or award: Provided, however, That the board or a referee designated by the board may at any time within [two years] five hundred weeks from the date [to which payment is made as evidenced by such final receipt] of the disability set aside a final receipt upon petition filed with the board if it be [conclusively] proved that [such receipt was procured by fraud, coercion or other improper conduct of a party, or is founded upon mistake of law or of fact] at the time of the execution of the receipt the disabled employe was not in fact able to return to work without loss of earning power, or that the employe had a condition which resulted from the accident which condition existed at the time the compensation agreement was executed and which was not covered by such agreement, or that the employe had an existing disability at the time the final receipt was taken.

Payments shall be made by the employer or insurance carrier on every agreement or award other than for a definite period until a final receipt has been filed with and approved by the department, or until a petition to terminate or modify has been filed under section four hundred and thirteen.

Section 10. Article four of said act is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof three new sections to read as follows:

Section 435. Any hospital, institution, physician, surgeon, or other person who has furnished surgical, medical, dental or nursing services, hospital treatment, artificial appliances, medicines or supplies for which the employer is made liable under the provisions of this act shall be deemed a party in interest and have standing with the consent of the claimant before the board or any referee designated by the board and the courts of this Commonwealth to present a claim for remuneration for such services, hospital treatment, artificial appliances, medicines and supplies, and have the same heard and determined, and shall be entitled to receive an award for such remunerations. Any such claimant shall be entitled to enforce any such award in the same manner as claimants of compensation are entitled to enforce awards of compensation.

Section 436. The board or a referee designated by the board or any court of this Commonwealth in granting an award of compensation to an injured employe or his dependents, or in affirming or modifying and affirming such an award, or in reversing the disallowance of such an award shall in addition to such compensation include in such an award or judgment expert's fees, if any, rendered in any such proceeding, payment of which may be enforced in the same manner as the payment of an award may be enforced under the provisions of this act.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, at the outset permit me to publicly apoligize to the majority party on behalf of the minority because of the fact that unfortunately one of our Members who was to debate the amendments offered today to both House Bill No. 657 and House Bill No. 656 was taken suddenly ill last night and is not very well today. It was for that reason that a copy of the amendments was not sent to the Majority Leader in sufficient time, lengthy as they are, to peruse and consider in the light of the Republican party's theory on Workmen's Compensation.

However, Mr. Speaker, before considering the amendments to House Bill No. 657, commonly known as the Workmen's Compensation Bill, may I say to the majority that ever since the beginning of the session, in the first address of the Governor of the Commonwealth, there was mention made of liberalization of Workmen's Compensation, and these bills have been in Senate committee for quite a while. I am quite sure that the Members on the majority side are familiar with their contents and can familiarize themselves with the amendments offered in the short space of time alloted to them.

I want to add, Mr. Speaker, that it was at the instigation of the Governor himself at the beginning of the session, when he asked, you will recall, that the miners of Pennsylvania and the Union representing them consider first amendments to the present Workmen's Compensation Act and occupational disease act. As a result the Union of the Miners met and considered the proposed changes and after consideration by their recognized Union they approved a set of amendments. The amendments were forwarded to the Governor's office, but they were never sent to the legislative leaders. The Governor then told the labor delegation that he thought it only fitting and proper that amendments to bills affecting both labor and industry should be considered by both labor and industry, and I do not think we could have any quarrel with that statement.

The Governor informed them that he would like them to get together with the industrial leaders in Pennsylvania, or a committee of the industrial leaders, and after their conferences they would then be in a position to express their thoughts on amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act.

This was done, Mr. Speaker, I am happy to say, but after very many meetings labor could not see eye to eye with industry. After repeated meetings of the two groups it was ascertained that there could be no meeting of the minds on these proposed changes, and there were no proposed changes made by the conference to the Governor. However, the proposals of labor were a matter of written record and the proposals of industry were also a matter of written record. Then subsequently introduced in the Senate was Senate Bill No. 656 and Senate Bill No. 657, which in essence are the viewpoint of the industrial leaders of Pennsylvania, and strange to say, the thoughts of the labor unions and of organized labor conferences were not included in these two bills.

I, therefore, Mr. Speaker, want to make it very clear that I believe the Governor of the Commonwealth was on the right track. I believe the Governor of the Commonwealth felt that no amendments to Workmen's Compensation, vital as it is to the people of the Commonwealth, should be made without a meeting of both parties in interest. However, when the views of one group are set into a series of bills, and by now it becomes apparent it is the majority viewpoint on workmen's compensation, I would be remiss if I did not offer to the House the amendments which concern themselves with the viewpoint of labor.

In these two bills, Mr. Speaker, in the amendments rather, are embodied the philosophy and the viewpoint of labor in these conferences. I would ask that each Member of the House delegate himself as a committee of one, moreso than as a member of a party in considering that workmen's compensation is not an economic problem. Workmen's compensation since its inception in Pennsylvania, without a shadow of contradiction, has been a social problem, and because it is a social problem, because it affects a great army of working men and women in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania I say to you these amendments should be given every consideration.

It is true that one bill concerns itself with occupational diseases, concerning which the present bill before us I find lacking. The other concerns itself with workmen's compensation and needs very little explanation other than the bills coming over from the Senate have given to the working man and woman in Pennsylvania a slight favor, but in view of all the circumstances at hand, in view of the much increased cost of living, in view of the inflationary cost of living brought on by a great war, certainly no one will deny that if a working man or woman be injured in Pennsylvania today the benefits under the new proposed amendments in Senate Bill No. 657 are wholly inadequate, even though they give, as I say, one little favor.

So I say to you, Mr. Speaker, I offer these amendments in the interests of the working men and women of Pennsylvania as against,—and I want a denial if this statement is not true,—as against the view of the industrial leaders of Pennsylvania as incorporated in Senate Bill No. 656 and Senate Bill No. 657. In view of all these facts, Mr. Speaker, I ask the membership to consider the amendments and vote in favor of the same.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is very kind to admit that we have had very little opportunity to peruse the voluminous amendments that have been offered to Senate Bills Nos. 656 and 657. Just for my own information, without the opportunity to carefully study these specific amendments I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Levy.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LEVY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. Will the gentleman indicate to me, Mr. Speaker, the purport of the fifth amendment to Senate Bill No. 657 as proposed on page one of the amendments?

Mr. LEVY. Is that at the bottom of page one, Mr. Speaker, the amendment to which the gentleman is referring?

Mr. SORG. In the middle of the page it says "Amend Section one, section 306, page 2, line 24."

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, we are amending it from ten dollars and twenty dollars to twelve dollars and twenty-two dollars.

Mr. SORG. If the gentleman will follow the amendment with the bill he will get the purport of the amendment.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Elk might not have heard what I said. I only want to repeat to the gentleman that the amendment referred to deals with the increase of the minimum and the maximum benefits from ten to twelve and from twenty to twenty-two, which is a later amendment in the bill.

Mr. SORG. I have in mind, Mr. Speaker, because I do not see those particular figures here, just below the middle of the page where it says "Amend Section one, section 306, page 2, line 24".

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I deeply regret that I probably have the wrong amendment to which the gentleman is referring. I understood he was referring to the amendments to Section one, "Strike out the word ten and insert the word twelve". Is that the amendment the gentleman is referring to?

Mr. SORG. I am not, Mr. Speaker. I am referring to the amendment which reads "Amend Section one, section 306, page 2, line 24 by striking out the word——".

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman I might inform him that if he has a copy of the bill handy he will find that unfortunately the amount of money prescribed in this bill ends at the word seventy—on page two and then continues with the word five hundred on page three and that is followed in order by the other amendment.

Mr. SORG. I understand, Mr. Speaker, that the two amendments are corollary to each other.

Mr. LEVY. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SORG. I would like to have the gentleman state the effect of the amendment, that particular amendment, and the one immediately following:

Mr. LEVY. The amendment referred to by the gentleman is quite clear. By the present bill there is an overall aggregate sum to be granted of seventy-five hundred dollars, and the amendment to Senate Bill 657 to which the gentleman refers would make it ten thousand dollars.

Mr. SORG. Would the gentleman read the amendment for the information of the House as it is worded?

Mr. LEVY. "Amend section 1, page 2, line 24 by striking out the word seventy in brackets." And the following amendment, I might add, includes the words "five hundred" in brackets.

Mr. SORG. For the purpose of clarification, Mr. Speaker, I might word my question in this manner, I would like to ask the gentleman if it would not be the effect of this amendment to reduce the maximum amount to the workman from ten thousand dollars to seventy-five hundred dollars?

Mr. LEVY. It would, Mr. Speaker; it would.

Mr. SORG. Would the gentleman indicate any other salient feature that might be of most interest to the Members of the House and the intent to be accomplished by this amendment?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman, I would say that the real purport of the amendment to 657 would increase the percentage of benefits under the amendments from the original bill coming from the Senate. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Elk, I might say that the purpose of all the amendments have to deal with increasing the percentage of benefits; that is under the amendments to what the present bill provides for.

Mr. SORG. But nevertheless, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman will admit that it is the purpose of this particular amendment to reduce the total amount payable from ten thousand dollars to seventy-five hundred dollars.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I might say to the gentleman that that is not the fact.

Mr. SORG. Did the gentleman understand my interrogation?

Mr. LEVY. Yes, Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman, I say that is not the fact.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I desire to read for the purpose of the record the following amendment: "Amend Section 1,"—I will read the pertinent parts, "Amend Section 306, page 3, line 1 by striking out the word ten thousand and inserting in lieu thereof seven thousand five hundred."

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Elk, I would say that this amendment was prepared before the bill had been amended in the Senate, and for the purpose of the whole aggregate amount, the amendments would tend to make it the same as it was amended in the Senate. Nevertheless, this is only one feature of the bill where the amendments were not brought up to date. The other features, however, have, and it would tend to increase the benefits.

Mr. SORG. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, this is not going to be long. All I want to say is this, that the proposals before this House as embodied in Senate Bills 656 and 657,—if we might discuss both at the same time. because they are supplementary measures, in that one deals with occupational disease compensation and the other deals with what is generally known as workman's compensation for injuries sustained. As the gentleman has previously indicated, amendments were arrived at as the considered judgment of those who had the opportunity to confer with both the representatives of industry and the representatives of labor involved, and of course, the government will also have an interest in that particular problem. I want to say that this does not present the view of any particular class or of any particular faction. These measures do not represent the views of industry and they do not propose to represent the views of labor. They propose to represent the views of the Governor of Pennsylvania, who is interested in the problem of legislation of this particular type.

Mr. Speaker, I want to say that the bills are up to date and we are placed in somewhat of a parodoxical position when we are asked to vote on amendments not up to date. Actually the effect of some of these amendments that I have been able to peruse hurriedly in a period of five minutes, I find call for an actual reduction in the amount of compensation that might be received by an injured person. The measures propose to represent an extension of compensation. I might say briefly, for the information of the Members, that we can start with a general increase of at least, I would say advisedly eleven percent over the compensation that might be received by an injured workman, injured as of today. If, the day after this act becomes effective he should receive an injury he will be entitled to at least eleven percent or more, immediately, and in many instances far beyond that amount. It calls for an increase from seventy-five hundred dollars to ten thousand dollars in the total amount that might be received by one who has been permanently and totally disabled. It increases the medical services to which injured workmen are entitled; it increases the hospitalization to which injured workmen are entitled; it extends the time of payment for a number of injuries and the amount to which any injured workman might be entitled. It extends the number of injuries that are compensible. In nearly every respect the benefits of workmen's compensation are expanded by this particular measure.

I want to say that we here,—not to a man, because I do not have the authority to say that,—we here feel no shame in the measures which we propose. They are not inadequate in view of all the conditions that must be considered in determining the amounts that might be payable to the injured workman under such legislation. We have no shame; we present it as our program and will stand or fall with it. We feel that it has been given adequate study; numbers of conferences have been conducted. Naturally, of course, there has been no agreement. There never is complete and final agreement in any collective bargaining matter. It has been opened and re-opened and closed often, as is usual in such cases, but we present it as the ultimate in provisions that might be made, having regard both for the problems of the workman who is injured and the problems of the employer who hired him and in whose employ he is injured.

It is not for us here just to say, "We should like to see this man get so much"; and it is not simply a question for us to say, "You shall pay so much, and you shall guarantee the payment of so much." But it is for us to have respect and regard for all the attendant circumstances under which these conditions must be met. We do have here in Pennsylvania a definitely greater problem than is found in many of the other States where the same problem is dealt with perhaps in other ways.

I have heard the statement made that other states are more liberal. I have seen attempts at comparison, and I tell you, Mr. Speaker, there is no rock-ribbed way of making comparisons. If you take those who have the reputation for being most liberal you will find the hitches, the twists and the catches in the various provisions. You will find here over-all provisions to bring about a situation that far exceeds the advantages of much more liberal words in terms of dollars. In one state that I have in mind that has always been brought before us as a more liberal state than ours, it can safely be said that the actual amount of dollars paid to the injured workman is twenty to thirty percent less than ours because of the nature of the injuries covered, because of the things covered and perhaps also because of the method and manner of administering it. I say that this is a program upon which we are willing to stand or fall, no matter who it might be that will take a different view of it so long as he be reasonable and so long as he be open to our reason for such. The program that is offered here is such that it needs no amendments, and Mr. Speaker, I ask the Members of the House to vote "no," and vote the amendments down.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to indulge in a technical discussion of this bill. I was very much interested in the statements made by the gentleman from Elk, and I wondered at his sudden truculence, his defiance, his assuming, when he should be on the aggressive, a defensive attitude.

As to the pronouncement of the words "we stand or fall upon the bill pending" the gentleman from Elk knows that it was not until this very week that any one on this side of the House had the faintest notion of what kind of a bill it would be necessary to amend when workmen's compensation came before the House. The gentleman from Elk knows that amendments were drawn for the bill as it came from the Senate, drawn by the Legislative Reference Bureau, and he knows that as a result of the parliamentary procedure those amendments ceased to fit the bill, and he better than I knows why.

At the close of the session and at the close of a long day he brings these measures for consideration. Now, it is not his fault: it is not his fault that the man who is prepared technically to debate these measures is not able to be upon the floor, but I say that the gentleman from Elk presumes upon his own technical proficiency when he questions an amendment. He knows that the provision regarding the seventy-five hundred dollars was stricken out, and he knows why,—because the amendments would make the compensation for total disability run for five hundred weeks, irrespective of the amount, and it was not a reduction in compensation, something perhaps that an untechnical person on this side of the House would not be expected to know, but which those familiar with compensation laws know.
